Gyeorgos Hatonn present in service unto the One Source of Light which is All Source.

In this place we are a bit at a loss as to how to bring current information into your attention. Much very valid, current editorials are sent to us. Our effort was to respond to letters with as much personal input as possible, although I repeat to you ones, please do not ask us for personal input to be responded to via this placement. Our mission in this place is to bring knowledge which is suitable unto the multitudes and if Aunt Minnie cannot find her spectacles and, precious ones, I understand the reason that you would write with such inquiries and it is fine if you write to me with those types of perceived prayers, if you will, but I shall decline to answer them via this mode of communication. We have very precious ones who are completely involved in their life as it circulates around their beings. Some of these ones are in their shadow years as you count, in their 80's, and I honor them and I respect them as the elders having grown into these shaded, years. The years of change have been very difficult for these beings for they have watched a world descend from respect of elders into total disrespect of all things, all property and all people.

Ones will fight out toward the ones who are oppressing or taunting. I can only remind you ones that God answers all prayers and perhaps your perceived enemy is also praying for God to solve his problem. Wisdom and justice are always from two varying directions. What is right for one will not be presumed right for an-

if possible. Know that the petitions are heard and as we can find time we will respond because these are very precious, very beloved beings. Please be patient with us as we grope through the time restraints of the physical dimension.

Another situation that has come to bury us in paper-work are the myriads planet. I will call you in about a week when I return. I am going down to explore a bit of Mexico. Regards, R."

I have great frustration from my scribe. The first response is that, well, but X should know the validity of this information because it is all expressed in the PLEIADES CONNECTIONS and in prior JOURNALS even before the PLEIADES CONNECTIONS regarding our connections--this earth connection with Pleiades--and our own person should be privy to that information and not have to require that Hatonn speak on the subject because it will be repetition with the exception of dated material. Hatonn never gives dated material. I will give you generalities, I will give you what is projected by others and sometimes, or maybe not, make comment about it because, as you are moving into these latter days of experience on the planet, you will find that many, many prophecies and projections from the past are coming into integration now.

I don't want to speak on whether or not a channel or speaker is valid or invalid--only on information--and our effort is to give you whole Truth, whole cloth from which to cut your garment so that when it is finished it has all of its parts and not a missing collar or a missing arm hole. I have no way to update JOURNALS except through these messages and, therefore, we will be making more and more audio tapes which will also be transcribed for your use and you will have to upgrade those JOURNALS. Without that prior information you are not going to understand it, still. For instance, this particular document in point is extremely valid, extremely important and it regards the Photon Belt. If you have not read the other. These are physical, earthly, conscious quarrels. God is about your soul progression and if you're harboring hate then you're not harboring God, but for elderly ones who cannot remember from day to day even what was their quarrel, I just can honor them, give them respect and ask them to seek God and find peace and solace of inquiries regarding certain elements of that which we have written, but more specifically, writings from other placements asking for thorough comment as in this example: I have a note sent to one of our people in this location and it is appended to a very good presentation which was published in Australia and let me just quote it. "Dear X. This data comes through, via fax, from Australia on April 14th from one of my contacts down there. Try to find out what Hatonn will come up with concerning this matter. # Introduction To Hatonn

1/13/92 #1 HATONN

I am Gyeorgos Ceres Hatonn, Commander in Chief, Earth Project Transition, Pleiades Sector Flight Command, Intergalactic Federation Fleet. You may call me Hatonn. I am come in service unto the ONE GOD of Lighted Creation, and as "Host" unto His people who will be brought into His places long prepared for you. My own "Captain" is Sananda, the Christed Being you have called by many names--now one totally with Creator/Creation. [Sananda: simply meaning of/with God]. We are not "mystical" nor even "mysterious" aliens. We are the "Hosts" sent in preparation for His return, bringers of Truth according to His promise and to reveal the lies foisted upon you to claim your souls for the physical evil Elite controllers. We come in total love and without intent of force, coercion or judging. "Judging" is a state of evaluation of self in the presence of Creator in which actions in the physical experience are evaluated.

The information within the documents revealing Truth, THE PHOENIX JOURNALS and LIBERATOR, are the outlays of lies and hidden facts for which you can find confirmation. If you don't know the problems and the source of the problems, you can have no solutions.

I do not "channel"; I transmit on a frequency attuned to my "receiver" who is simply a translator of the pulses into English. This is true of all receivers who receive from any of this Command come forth with God for this transition of species and planet.

The receivers mostly have no reference for material given until after the giving and then, only for their own confirmation and yours. My petition is that you pay no attention to this resource if it is confusing and uncertain unto you--LET TRUTH STAND ALONE IN ITS PRESENTATION IN THE BEST WILL FOLLOW IN THE PROPER SEQUENCE.

PLEIADES CONNECTIONS and understand electricity, light and its function and its projection, you have nothing upon which to base information of an educational nature regarding this story no matter what I tell you because, to lay a foundation, I would have to repeat what is in some seven JOURNALS to allow you to understand that, for instance, there is only one kind of electricity, one kind of light functioning into capacities.

There is not a positive electricity and a negative electricity and if ones write a story under these assumptions, the conclusion may even be correct, but the information is erroneous. I can only ask you to go back and get that information else much of the current information is going to be very frightening to you and this is a very, very good example because it's going to put into your vernacular and your perspective basically what I have been talking about--about a brilliant light which will blind and then followed by darkness which will come with the appearance of the entire Heavens falling.

If you have not understood and studied carefully that which was given in the PLEIADES CONNECTIONS by Pleiades contacts before this, because we are your elder brothers, we are from whence will come the information. We are efforting to give you explicit instructions and pulling these final prophecies into some reasonable mode of your ability to comprehend them.

Because this one is so very important, I'm going to take it bit by bit and then we will be able to discuss it. I'm not going to take the time required to go into "Now I'm going to quote and now I'm going to speak and, etc." We're going to just handle this as a general dissertation, please.

The studies have shown that your solar system is about to enter a cosmic cloud. This is a part of a 12,000 year cycle--or so man on earth is projecting. Now there was an article written in approximately 1981 that was very thoroughly and well documented. This came out of Australia and we honor those ones. For one thing, they have had the Aborigines of that nation, Australia, to come out of their dream time expecting the cycle to end and now know that the new cycle has begun and they are in this period of what you can call a null or a void, awaiting the unfoldment of these times. I have told you over and over that these Aboriginal people, the human people as given the name by God, have ended this dream time. Their calendars ended on the 17th of August, 1987, in your counting. That is why we number and label the writings on a daily basis--this being your year five. The 12,000 year cycle is a bit off. We have labelled the progression of time and consciousness levels of man on the planet in two or three places in the PLEIADES CONNECTIONS. So I'm not going to go into that. I'm not going to go greatly into this null time or when the system rests, but it will be mentioned here and therefore, I must mention it.

All over your world people are grasping and reaching out for these little bits and pieces of knowledge of enlightenment. Your hope for the future and the future of your children in a world of growing degradation is uppermost. The prophets of doom of which, brothers, I am not one, if anything, if you must label me a prophet, call me a prophet of hope and fulfillment. I do not come with doom. I come with your way off there--or a new resurgence of lighted knowledge on your place. Those prophets of doom, as you want to call them, preach physical horror and annihilation. Well, precious ones, it depends on which side of the coin you are in service or in serving. If your service and balance is unto the lighted God, you will be moving back into following those guidelines given to you for harmony and balance on your planet.

If you are not moving in that direction but continue to demand that which is of totally the physical plane in greed and lust and misbehaviors or breaking the laws of God, you're in trouble and it is doomsville. They're telling you truth. This is one of the darkest planets in the universe and it's one of the most beautiful planets in the universe, but you go farther away from the Truth and teachings of God of Light and go more and more into the clutches of doom, as a matter of fact. And all of the rebuttal, all of the disagreement that you might feel about it actually has little impact on the physical changes unless you take action and move back with that pendulum swinging unto the Light because, as you are going, you are headed for that destructive pause at the end of the pendulum swing. At the end of the cycle it will either come back into Light or it will end in devastation so that you can begin again.

I don't know how better to explain it than to say it's like a great, great vortex. Everything in your universe is a cycle, a circle, a spiral and this one that you're in is a great vacuum or a great sucking spiral and it's leading ever downward into blackness and despair for you, the people. You are clutching at straws and the straws are sinking because of the lies and the facade thrust upon you. The freedoms have been removed while the politicians and the elite anti-God people have taken control. If you just stop and look, you can see the Light at the top and you can grasp and take our hand and together we can come up out of that despair.

Precious ones, the Truth sometimes is so simple that you miss it. It's right in front of you and yet, you end up not seeing it or if in seeing it, it is so overwhelming or so blatant that you choose to ignore it and, in ignoring it, you must then look and try to find a much more complicated answer to things and yet God is simplicity--open, completely open. Only mystery and mysterious because you have not yet understood all, but there is nothing mystical related to God. Nothing hidden, nothing intentionally kept secret from you. Just illusive to you until you can grasp understanding, but the answers are there right in front of you all the time--staring you directly in the eyes, right in the face, and it's your passport out of this vortex. Unless you get out of this vortex, you cannot move into a more positive future. That is gained through experience and learning.

Now we have to go back to some of the most fundamental thought processes which are completely outlined with diagrams and in total in the PLEIADES CONNECTIONS by Germain. You're going to have to start with a little atom and those cute little electrons that run around it. I'm not even going to go into gravity, etc., and how a substance seeks its own density because if you have not studied that, it isn't going to make sense to you anyway. So I'm going to just push right on by this and let you know that the entire thing, the entire subject lies in that one little atom. Dr. David Anderson, I believe his name was Carl David Anderson, did some very insightful writings in the early 1930's and that material is still very valid. He has not really grasped the truth of there only being one pulsed wave action and he chooses to still call things by a bit of an erroneous label. For instance, when he discovered anti-electrons as he calls it, positrons, he gave them names according to what he perceived in his discoveries and they're alright for the purpose of this kind of a discussion because where we will go is to the photon--to light. So the little errors in the statement are not massive enough to require great instructions because that has already been given and you can find it in diagrams, but this man discovered a little particle, a little element, a little being, that was somehow, in his acceptance, an anti-electron and he chose to call it a positron. As you moved on then in advanced technology, you moved into the 1950's and with that kind of information to back it up, a couple of other particles were discovered and those were labelled anti-protons and anti-neutrons. Well they perceived when an anti-particle is formed it comes into existence in a universe of ordinary particles and it is only a matter of time, in fractions of a second, before it's going to meet and collide with an electron.

Now, these things cannot be new, can they? Only the perception, only the "finding" of these things is different because within the laws of the universe, those laws of physics, universal physics, these are always present. So they didn't just happen in the 1930's and the 1950's. So it means they are either reintroduced into your environment after having somehow been removed or they were always there and you just didn't know it. That's what higher education and knowing is about, the unveiling of the mysteries.

Well, these charges cancel each other in the laboratory and, when they do that, the total mass of the pair is then converted into energy in the form of photons and now we have at least a bit of an assumption upon which you can visualize this. You have now had these two particles come into contact, merge and basically become a converted form which we'll call a photon and, of course, what you actually now hold is the unprecedented powerful source of energy. The thing that controls your planet is energy and the ones who can control the energy utilized by you--the masses, control the world. That is the elite bankers. They are not your friends. They are your enemy. Obviously, the planet cannot continue in its abuse. It's damaged. The logical, balanced approach to energy is through these photons--light. I'm not even going to consider whether or not light is a source of heat or cold. Light is. Light is the source of all things. God is Light.

Let's talk about a band of energy. By speaking of band, I call it a binding or a thing, a group, a belt, if you will, and this belt, this photon belt or band was discovered in your place in outer space in the early 60's. Now I'm talking about 1960. Where was it before that and why had not you found it? Because you ones live in this narrow little world of lies. It was not that it was not there and that it was not coming up in your perceived future at some point because that would be a logical sequence of this spiralling illusion in which you are acting out your experiences, but at any rate, let us just go with the story and say in 1961 it was discovered. Well, they get around to telling you what they want you to believe by saying it was through means of one of your satellites--that instruments got out there and you could measure these things and there's no point in arguing it. It's good enough, it's there, it most certainly is there.

Well, what in the world would this have to do with Pleiades other than possibly information having come through this manner of communication? Well, it has a lot to do with Pleiades and I would ask that you listen up here. Pleiades is called the Seven Sisters by ones on your planet, by the ancients. It's recognized as the Wee Dipper or always the Seven Sisters by any language. It's an estimated--this man has estimated it as 400 light years away from earth. That is incorrect. It is a little over 500 light years from planet earth and that really is quite a remarkable difference in accuracy.

This little group of stars, which is not little at all, but only in your perception, forms the basis of mythology in many, many of your countries that once ruled your world, were the highest, the highest in knowledge in your world. In Greece, for instance, the Seven Sisters were all integrated with the Greek gods, completely, completely utilized in the mythology of the Australian Aborigines in their dream time and in the ancient Chinese mythology. The books are filled with the association with these Seven Sisters constellation. Ones made a special study of the Pleiades. For instance, years ago one by the name of Sola was an outstanding researcher into that particular constellation and you're going to find that the Pleiades were discovered that they form a system of which your sun is a part. Now that may end up being very interesting to you, but the fact is, it should be most urgently important to you.

This should have more of an important ring to you when you realize that, being so attached from our life source, we're very similar in beingness, in Creation. When planets of your solar system get in trouble as you have, many ones are often shifted to Pleiades--to various and sundry planets in Pleiades--and you will have to realize at some point that much of your populations come from Pleiades. That is the source of your ancestry. Pleiades is different from your solar system, however, because in Pleiades there are several other suns and all of them have orbiting planets or different singular planetary systems. You're going to find that some of your great astronomers will be getting more and more attention as more phenomenon comes from the heavens and one, Frederick Bessel, has shown that there is a proper motion of some 5.5 seconds of arc per century in that same direction of Pleiades.

Now you've got a lot of false information and ones who have written great future shock stories and much science fiction, such as Issac Asimov, will say that you can, therefore, assume that all the stars in this cluster (meaning the Seven Sisters) are the same chronological age. Well, you can't say that because you don't know that and there cannot be such an assumption if you understand anything at all about Creation and formation of planets, their purpose and their creation. That is like saying, "Well, Pluto and Earth must be the same age." That is an assumption you cannot make where you have no facts upon which to base it.

Now Dr. Halley, or you sometimes call him Haley, but it's spelled H-A-L-L-E-Y, who studied the position of the stars, made note that at least three stars were not in the spots in Pleiades as recorded by the Greeks. Well does that mean that the Pleiadians get around a lot or there's great shifting or maybe you just don't understand the system and maybe you don't understand what a star ship is and how, under controlled mental authority, you can move anything? You don't know what you're looking at and star ships can very frequently move very rapidly. Like with the speed of thought. I did not say light; I said thought. Well Mr. Halley discovered that the difference was so great, in fact, that it was unlikely that either the Greeks or Halley could have made a mistake. It wasn't like they were just so close that both could assume and therefore, you have to know that these stars at least move within some given system. Just as do your revolving, cycling, spiralling planets.

So another made a great study of the system--this wondrous system of Pleiades of which your sun is a part--and it was discovered that at absolute right angles to the movements of the suns, a Photon Belt--or also called Monastic Ring--a phenomenon which scientists have not yet been able to reproduce with laboratory instruments, was noted. Now it takes your sun 24,000 years to complete an orbit of your own system and as seen or could be seen by a diagram. (See diagram at end of article.) That orbiting cycle is divided into sections. There's the 10,000 years of "darkness" and this is the period as you know it now--daytime and nighttime--and the 2,000 year period of all light and again 10,000 years of "darkness" and 2,000 years of light. Now what does this mean? Well basically it means that you're now poised, precious ones, to enter this Photon Belt. It's inevitable that you do so and your own people (and this takes it out of the realm of an invisible voice), your own people have worked diligently and they have come up with the probability that it cannot be past the end of your century. What does it mean? It means that you've completed the full circle and you're now back at the beginning, precious ones.

It is described in detail in your Bible, even with its flaws. Historically they could not remove the truth of this. They could not just write it away because through the oral traditions it was known that this would come again and, therefore, it had to be a portion of the prophecies. So it's in your Bible; it is in all of your valid books on mythology; it's been told to you by that one you really enjoy, Nostradamus and, quite frankly, by your modern day scientists if any one would but listen to them. They're so busy feeding you lies and putting up telescopes and radiosopes so that they can hear if we're out there. They know that we're out there. They're picking up this transmission right now. It's you that they do not wish to know that we're out here.

But let's quote your scientists. This is what they say. If the earth enters first into the Photon Belt--get this--the sky will appear to be on fire. Very, very, incredibly bright, very damaging to the eyes, but not to be concerned, they say, just be assured this is a cold light. Well, as a matter of fact, the sun is cold. Heat is not what you perceive those big flashes from the sun to be. Space is cold, precious ones, and that sun is shining right through that space. So heat is not created by what comes off that sun. It is created as it comes off and as it again enters into atmosphere.

If the sun enters this Photon Belt first (because it's invisible and you're not going to literally be able to see it; this is an instrument reading), but if the sun enters that belt first you're going to have immediate darkness and this is now even computed, at your speed traveling through space, to last some 110 hours, approximately. Nobody can be absolutely sure. This would run you into the fifth day, the projections having been that there will be three days and nights of total darkness without the sun rising. The interaction between the solar radiation and the Photon Belt will make the sky look as if full of falling stars because you're going to get reflected matter. As the earth moves into this radiation belt all molecules will become excited, all atoms will change, things will become luminescent. There will be then constant light. There can't be darkness. Not within the deepest cave, not within the human body. So you're going to have to realize that there will be a perception of total voidance of light, but then luminescent objects will begin to create their own light system and then, according to your biblical projections, all the stars will fall from the sky and the sky will be no more. Well it isn't logical, is it, and where will it fall to and where will they fall from?

That is the mysticism approach. Please go and study your lessons. It is not mystical. It has a foundation of pure physics upon which to base knowledge. So what can you expect next? Well, it's expected that the rotation of the earth will diminish, speeds are going to change, impacts are going to occur and you don't know enough about it so you cannot calculate it. Because of the reduced solar radiation the temperature can be expected to become cooler and then the ice caps are expected to extend down to a latitude of about 40 degrees in both of your hemispheres. This simply indicates, just as your history books can tell you, that you have had at least five what you call "Ice Ages" which have been recorded and these seem to last about 2,000 years.

So it can be noted that in the world communication centers and fixed satellites, U.S. bases and experimental sightings are within the "safe zone". Is that by design or by accident? Obviously, somebody knows. Someones have enough historical knowledge to know where to place these things. So what are you faced with? You're faced with having to wonder about you, yourself. There are at least three types of people in your cosmos...corporeal, like you--solid and human; atmospheric or atmospherean, also solid to a point, but the molecular structure is quite different, and ethereans, with no mass at all--energy forms.

When you enter the Photon Belt a normal, healthy person is expected to feel a jolt similar to putting your finger in a live light socket. It's a true shock. This is like going through a light wave and some bodies cannot stand it. The transformation, however, will be complete. You will, in that period of time, have changed from a Corporeal person to an Atmospherean person and if you can't make it, you'll be changed to immortality and here comes the important concept--without the separation from death and it will happen in the twinkling of an eye. Your theologians have written at great depth on Bible characters and they assert that they have lived in the period of light. The sky and atmosphere was different and apparently it never rained. Nostradamus, in his quatrain about the end of the world as you know it in 1999, "and it will rain no more, but in 40 years, it will be normal."

An Aboriginal myth said, "Men were different to what they are now. We had a bridge to the stars." In all their stories if they fell out with the chief or elder, they fled to the sky and so did the Greeks. So it appears that space travel is simple when you're within that Photon Belt, you see, because you come into total Light.

The year 1962 was the year that you came within the influence of that Photon Belt. And what happened in 1962? In the late 50's, well, all through the 50's and into the 60's, were great years for the sighting of UFO's and you still go back to that period of time just before you begin to enter into this Photon Belt when sightings were the most pronounced and you did not yet have the technical capabilities that you do today and, therefore, the sightings were more valid than they are today. As you move closer and closer you're going to have more unidentified flying objects and persons surveilling your place. This is a great time of change--of great responsibility for the cosmic brotherhood.

Does this mean you came more closely in range of space travelers? For space travellers often use that Photon Belt, that Light Belt--because you see, thought is a projection of light. What do you come up with? That possibly it's easier to travel through that Photon Belt? Well it is and for space beings not quite as far advanced as some others who travel by thought projection, you need that speeded up perception of time through light. Since you don't have this experience with which to relate in your educational process, it's very hard to comprehend, but it's very, very simplistic if you're looking in from where we look.

I have a little reminder for you ones who forget your stories, even the far-fetched ones. I'd like to go back to what Eric von Daniken found when visiting South America in his search for Chariots of the Gods. It was discovered that there was a tribe which was given an object by the "Sky People" thousands of years ago. They have the oral traditions, everything is handed down, but the object still exists and they tend it very, very well. They were told by these Sky People to keep it clean and to listen and watch and when it hums like a thousand swarms of bees, we will be returning. Well, it started humming, friends, about 1978. So now you have a cosmic alarm clock alerting you to the coming of the Light.

Now aren't we finding this interesting? I certainly hope so because you have had a description in detail of how this works and this is a very, very important timing clue. In fact, some civilizations live permanently within the Light and when your planet leaves this period of Light and returns to the 10,000 years of darkness, what happens to them? Do they return to the Light and wait your eventual re-entry? Ah so! When we speak of remnants, of what do we speak? Somehow isn't it beginning to make a little bit of sense?

What happened to those Mayans? The Mayans departed hurriedly with the message also of their return which scholars will now say is imminent. Well, how so? There are rock carvings around the world and they all show drawings very, very similar to the system of Alcione. It's important. Then you have Ball Lightning--a phenomena about which little is known. Could this be little pockets of the Photon Belt? Little utilized balls of electricity? Please note these are being considered and have been seen before every earthquake. Might not they have something to do with the time of the cycle in which you are experiencing?

You may as well realize that these little craft are also always showing an interest in your nuclear installations because that's a serious, serious problem to unleash. Where you could make it through undamaged, the release of nuclear energy can devastate the planet. So what will happen to a reactor within the belt? Photon energy is the energy of the future and reports indicate Photon rockets on experimental craft. You have it now. The headlights, if you will, appear to be on the rear of the craft. That is because you are utilizing light for the thrust system. When you have a system of Photon density, what may have been a very cumbersome, slow craft, now becomes very speedy and very efficient and during that period of time you would be able to do great and wondrous things in space technology just as have the Russians with their space platforms and their light particle beams, etc., their cosmospheres. They have learned to utilize a lot of this Photon energy and you have not yet perfected it well enough to get beyond their defense system.

Because the radiation of your sun will be modified by that Photon energy, is why your scientists only pay small lip service to the development of solar energy? You could have had massive amounts of energy, but you have noted--note please, that it is very, very scarcely used.

So let us think a minute about your planet coming out of the Light and into the darkness. Well, the Aboriginal mythology says, "You were cast out into darkness and were much afraid, so the Gods gave you a sun to warm you and a moon to see at night." If the ice caps form within the light years, then the increased solar radiation when leaving the belt must surely melt the ice and, therefore, you will have floods. If it doesn't rain within the period of light, then it's certainly understandable, isn't it, why Noah might have been extremely awed by the sight of that first rainbow? The Gilgamesh talks of great floods, but that, precious ones, was apparently 10,000 years before Noah's flood. So look again at the cycles.

You think a lot about your world and the effect on a single person. It's natural to name self as the first thought in your existence, but what about humanity as a whole? Is it not conceivable, precious ones, that many people cannot, will not, survive the initial jolt if they're not prepared for it? If the ice extends to latitude 40, that covers half the USA and most of Europe and Asia. That's a lot of people without a home and will they be accepted in other countries? In this limited space of fertility, will it be possible to support untold millions? I think you know the answer to that and I think you must come into realization that your politicians know the answer to that. They are prepared to attend their own needs in either event, they think. They have made preparations in places like New Zealand, Australia, in the Southern Hemisphere right at the Antarctic so that of these times come, they have protection. It is only you, the masses, who will perish and make transition. This is what they are preparing for and they will prepare for this with the inclusion of war so that if they are wrong in one perception, they can make it through and rebuild at the proper time or the proper sequence according to their desires.

This is not however, the remnant. It's a very serious time. I'm not going to place years as have some of your prophets. I'm not interested in years, for if you are prepared, it matters not. If you are not prepared, it matters not. What will make you get prepared for such a transition? Only education and Truth can give you the freedom to make this transition. Ignorance will not see you through it. Ignorance is worthy of God's forgiveness for acts, but if you don't know what you're about or where you're going, if you have no goal, you cannot arrive. So be it. May God walk with you.

This, again, is Gyeorgos Hatonn continuing with the subject regarding the cosmic cloud, or Photon Belt, as we have been discussing it. This is April 25th in your year 1992.

I have been discussing relationships with Pleiades, orbiting cycles, etc. I believe that you need a little bit of summary because when you get into this electromagnetic null zone which you are going to really begin to feel the impact of very soon and, by your next year in your counting, 1993. Because of the reaction of the particulate and its electrical charges, you're going to have even more radioactive material released, still bearing its radioactivity, falling back toward your earth, seeking its own density. All of these things are shocking but all of these things we have discussed at great length, more particularly in the PLEIADES CONNECTION volumes because this was an outlay of how factually and physically sequences emerge in your experience. Always remembering, please, that anything to do with the physical manifestation of the human entity, this thought projection from God in manifestation, is not spiritual as such. It is an illusion of experience in a format of coalesced material and elements which make up your very beings.

I would caution you as we move along here with this discussion not to assume, as some ones project, that this is The Transition or somehow magically you will move into a 4th or higher into a 5th dimension. When you speak of dimensional changes, you cannot put finite levels onto them. You are living and experiencing in what is called a 3rd or 2nd dimensional compression.

There are typical factors involved in this manifestation. You have the five senses with which to deal. The physical aspect is totally encompassing of your being and your thought, your consciousness. You are not able to comprehend a timelessness or a spacelessness and if you do not study your lessons, you shall not be able to understand it because there is a perfectly logical physics response to the question of, "What do we mean, that everything is happening at once?" because in your dimension everything happens according to time.

In the outer dimension, everything occurs according to sequence of events; therefore, it is highly unwise for ones to give a specific date to some happening because all factors can impact that date and cause it to not be accurate. Usually ones projecting a date only give the adversary advantage. Sometimes that is exactly what is planned so that other ones receiving that information can say, "Well nothing you said has come to be," and energy plays go into effect to affect and effect the coming events to either stall them, speed them up or, depending on its purpose, pull them off at the right time depending on what is wished to be accomplished and these things can be done on the physical plane. The physical plane cannot affect, however, the spiritual plane except as man descends into that allowance. You have to agree to be "had", in other words. You cannot be made a fool of by another. Only you can allow that to happen to you, as a for instance.

We're going to talk a little bit about the null zone. This is an electromagnetic zone where there is an energy vacuum and there is an absence of electromagnetic fields. Everything is canceling everything.

Your solar system, whether you can accept this or not, you will at some point know that this is true: you are a part of the larger Pleiades solar system and this solar system is just about to enter a cosmic cloud which, as I have said, is recognized by the label of Photon Belt or Manasic Ring and it's a part of your Earth Shan's earth, if you wish. It's a part of a 24,000 year cycle of events and this event has occurred on a regular basis ever since the Creation. Every time you come around in this spiral, in this circle, you're going to hit it. All of this revolves around solar systems, solar systems out from solar systems all revolving around Alcione which is the sun, central sun, of Pleiades and you're, let us say, the seventh solar system out from that sun. So a lot of changes have to take place regarding your ability to live closer to that great central sun.

I cannot be more specific than to say that this Photon Belt, through which you will pass, generally is in a duration because it will vary somewhat, expand and contract as all in this universe do expand and contract, but you can by rule of thumb say that this Photon Belt passage represents some 2,000 years of your timing in your earth solar system.

Now the null zone influence where you have this energy vacuum--and this is very important because it will affect you greatly during this relatively short, short period of time--but as you make those changes it is going to be exactly like a space craft in front of your car interfering with all electromagnetic pulses and killing your motor. You're going to go into nullville.

The major influence will be of about 120 hours, some 4 to 5 days in duration. You're going to have some signs and indications of its approach. You're already getting some of them. You're going to, number 1: have some very strange lighting--strange colors in the sky--and a perception actually of less light even though it be mid-summer in your time zone. It will seem a little less lighted to you. In other words, you're going to have a gradual darkening of the planet itself.

You're going to note that some of the animals, most of you will not notice it, but you're going to have early hibernations and some animals even moving into hibernation in the early fall if it comes into the fall, you see. Right now you have already experienced that wherein many of the animals have just gone into longer hibernation.

In all of the United States, you have just experienced the warmest winter since you have been keeping records. This is one of the signs of approaching this belt.

You're going to pick up more of what you think is Tinnitis and you ones who experience what we call those Woodpecker pulses are going to recognize the difference. Also, ones such as Dharma, who pick up the very shrill or very high pitched frequency of our transmission, will recognize this as just from time to time you will simply be conscious of this humming sound that seems to come from all around you and has no source of transmission that you can find and, along with that, you're going to have more and more experience with unidentified flying objects that are not from your place because you have surveillance crews watching over you. Don't let that concern you because most of what you are experiencing now in your skies are earth made, earth-manned craft sent forth for you to experience under the assumption that they are alien craft. They are not.

Right now, in these few years right at this time, you're in what is known as a Space/Time overlap and you're getting increasing cosmic bombardment of the polar regions which is in fact causing melting of the polar ice caps. This is also releasing some built up, what you would call in an engine, torque. Torque is also something like the pressure built up in an earthquake fault, for instance. This is manifesting itself as volcanic and earthquake action along Earth's crust fault lines, but the little quakes or the specific quakes that you might be experiencing right now are manmade, man-triggered for their own purposes.

You just experienced one in the Palm Springs or Palm Desert area of California and that was man-made. The hope was that it would trigger the San Andreas Fault and a lot of hoopla came out with that earthquake that within the next few hours you would probably have the "Big One" and everybody went helter skelter, running hither and yon, unprepared as usual and each hour that passed they said, "You get safer and safer," so everybody immediately goes back to sleep. Those are intentional. I would ask that my ones pay close attention to those and act accordingly. That particular quake in that particular location can give you incredible information regarding one of the projects you're working on, regarding the growing of chlorella. So let us take every opportunity in what the adversary does to allow for whatever lessons or insight you can gain from that information.

I better explain a little bit what a Space/Time overlap is. It's when Electromagnetic-Magnetohydrodynamic changes begin to take place prior, just before entering this null zone and this moves, we can call it, Life Zone of gravitational compression into a larger graviton spectrum. Now you're going to have to understand and go back and read what I have given you on gravity to truly understand this. It will let your mind adapt more easily to a new frequency, this new type of light coming in, and it's going to allow you a much lighter compression so that you can come into knowing and more understanding much more easily.

Ones want to pin it down and say, "That's the 5th dimension. You're all going to move into the 5th dimension." No, you will not all move into the 5th dimension. Many of you will simply experience some most incredibly terrifying times wondering what in the world is happening, but the whole of you and the whole of your planet will not be moving into any 5th dimensional level of experience.

The final process of the Space/Time overlap will be an interfacing of two evolutionary structures. This is a touching or an integration in some experiences between this 3rd and 4th dimension of experience and an experience of the 5th.

Because of the expansion and compression of this Photon Belt, if you will, it's very hard to predict with any accuracy (especially with instruments on your place) which will enter this band or this Photon cell first--the planet or your sun--and, therefore, you're going to have to be prepared for each and both because there will be a relatively short but very, very important impacting time during those anywhere from three to five days that it takes to adjust.

Now if the sun enters first, there will be immediate darkness. This is going to last about 120 hours and then it will move into continuous light because you will be refocusing magnetically and this pulls you more into the orbiting system of Pleiades where you're going to have at least two suns and we're not talking necessarily of the larger central sun other than that at any given time for a long period of time you will be experiencing a form of light or sunlight throughout your 24 hours. You won't be having darkness because of the balance of the rays from either direction.

If the earth enters first, you're going to have the phenomenon occur which basically is more dreadful to us because you will act probably in panic. In the dark you may act in panic, but there's very little you can do other than run into things. If the light comes and you're unprepared for this type of light, you're going to be damaged, seriously damaged.

Now you're experiencing what they call "Ozone Holes" and extra ultraviolet rays. No, you are experiencing the coming into this Photon Belt and you're going to have to consider this to be x-rays, invisible penetrating rays of light, and this can be extremely damaging. Your scientists, your higher elite controllers, know about this. There has been great discussion and great attempts made to ignite that radioactive belt about your planet which will then burn for approximately three days and then these Photons can be drained off, but in this period of time it is going to be intensely hard on the eyes and if that is ignited it is going to cause massive blindness completely encircling your globe.

At any rate, the sky will appear to be on fire but you will know that you made it past that point, at least, in security and safety, and with adequate protection you will be fine because this is a cold light. In other words, you will not get burned as in a heat burn, but it will be a penetrating type of light (and your bodies are not prepared for that type of light) so you're going to have to begin to consider a protection.

The interaction between the solar radiation and the Photon Belt will make the sky look as if it is full of falling stars and all the molecules will become excited and atomic structures will change and all things will become luminescent. You will all glow in the dark, so to speak. Then there will be constant light following this period of darkness, but you're not going to have the day and night rotations which you take for granted for that entire next cycle.

Now, you're entering the very outlying lip of the null zone and you entered that some years back but the effects really began to get serious in your 1991, early in the year. You are literally being moved, shifted into a different location in the galaxy and it's a location where you will, as I said, get light from two suns.

Now, ones want to call this the "ascension of planet". No, it isn't the ascension of a planet. It is a place created for the inhabitants who make the transition and this will probably take place during the period of the null zone when everyone is responding to the correct vibration frequency so that it is easier for us to get you off your planet and replaced onto the new and the more beautifully created place where you will have more balance and harmony to continue. That is not necessarily the 5th dimension. You don't go from a mental mind set of 3rd dimension automatically into a 5th dimension. It just doesn't work that way.

The ones on a higher level of understanding and knowing will probably go at least to the 5th dimension but you will set up a society in Truth in that dimension and continue with manifested experience but without the evil counterpart to pull you down. This is where you will come into knowing and higher, greater knowledge of your worthiness as a creation of Creator.

Now a lot of you have been told, and especially if you have been exposed to the "Keys of Enoch" which some ones consider to be a very valid Bible, Holy Bible, prophesies of how it will be. Well, I'm not going to get into prophesies or how it will be because, you see, the oral traditions of the Ancients of Wisdom and the wisdom-keepers have handed forth all of this information. So, it's hard to tell what one has brought with him into this experience or what has been handed down historically and it really doesn't matter because you are now being given instructions so that you can count your timing. And information is being opened up to you and genetic files, for instance, are being returned to the planet for your discovering again so that you can make this transition and begin to heal the damaged planet and the damaged physical beings.

There's great thought that your whole solar system will be picked up and reseeded in a different vibratory dimension in the galaxy. Your whole solar system will come into closer proximity to Pleiades and you will be rearranged somewhat, but reseeded, no, it is not quite like that. So don't get carried away if ones say, "Oh well, they're going to now reseed every planet and upgrade civilizations, etc." That is not so. That is not going to happen.

So, what do we have? The solar system will actually be projected off the lip or off the edge of the null into that different operating system--that different frequency, harmonic frequency, tone--and you're not going to need these dense physical bodies that you have. Does that mean you have to get rid of your body? Many will because you're not going to be prepared to make that transition. However, what will happen will be a further lightening weight-wise, a light-like density, vaporous density almost, which then can be compared to a 5th dimensional being.

I believe, I'm searching my memory banks, but I believe if you would refer to the Book of Revelation somewhere in the early, early chapters, maybe chapter six, you'll find that is says, "There will be no sun, moon or stars." Well, precious ones, there's not going to be any electricity. The batteries will simply not work. That means cars will not run and after a day or so, you won't have any water, you won't have any gasoline. You're going to be pretty hard up so you'd better be a little bit prepared. It's going to be as bad or worse than in an earthquake because everything will just simply be shut down and auxiliary power is not going to fill the need, fill that void. Electric power generation systems on your planet utilize earth's magnetic grid to function and therefore, no grid, no electric power.

You're going to have to make sure you have adequate food and water for at least a week. Now that's for everywhere. You who are prepared for earthquake damages will probably be all right if you have an alternative method of heating your food or heating your room by a little propane or something. I wish that I could offer you more in the form of generating capacity, but most of your interim generators simply are not going to work either. They will come back into service for you first, if you have your own generator run by a separate fuel system than, say, your big electric grid because many things are going to be happening at the same time as this shock hits.

Everything will be jolted tremendously and therefore, you are going to have earthquakes and other geographic types of incidences occurring which will also probably interrupt your flow of lifeline necessities, especially to the western coast, say California. Beyond the San Andreas Fault, you can expect to be without those lifeline services at any rate. So, you need to be prepared with water, toilet facilities and some manner of heat. In other words, you must be prepared to be without electricity for some 4 days to a week and that means that you'll need some alternative means of lighting and cooking or be prepared with foods that do not need cooking.

You're going to end up with people completely panicked. This is why the instructions so far have been to stay absolutely indoors. During that period of time, keep off the roads. Some people are going to literally be blind and it is going to be very, very dangerous to travel.

Now, these are the things that are simply going to happen. They are known by your scientists that they will happen. You cannot be sending any probes at all into your atmosphere and into the reaches of space to any extent and not know of this Photon Belt that you're going to pass through. There is no way that it has been missed, only you have been lied to.

So the next big deal is "when?". "Well, Hatonn, when, when, when?" I can only tell you what the indications are. I do not even necessarily agree with them, but because I want you prepared and ready, I'm going to tell you the worst scenario. It will not be later probably than the end of July. Many predictions put it right on the 25th of July of 1992. That's not very far from now and you're already experiencing a great many pulse system strikes that are nullifying your electromagnetic field. You are having plane crashes. You are having ball lightning around, before and during earthquakes. You are experiencing earthquake action with preceding explosions. This indicates a striking of the earth with some kind of electromagnetic pulse system. It gets harder and harder for you to distinguish which would be mother earth or universal.

There is one very interesting thing that will happen, the phones won't ring, either, and that could be good for tape-makers!

The reason that I'm not going to give credit or denounce that particular time projection is that you are already into the fringes, and have been for some time, of this Photon Belt. Your adversary has perfected technology enough to utilize it to his own advantage and it's why you must know about your enemy who is doing these things to you, and what their game plan is and by when do they expect to take the planet. It goes along, precious ones, with the year 2000 plan of total global

In this deeply disturbing JOURNAL, Jesus Sananda exposes the truth about the energy called "Satan", the adversary to God of Light. Satan's fall from status as "Lucifer" is outlined. We learn how to recognize evil and how to protect ourselves from it. Satan's presence is documented within "Satanic Cults" with specific cases of demonic possession, control, murder, sexual perversion and ritual sacrifice of babies, children and animals. Topics include: Satan's Beginning - Satanic Commandments - Witchcraft - Satanic Symbols & Music.

AND THEY CALLED HIS NAME IMMANUEL: I AM SANANDA

By Sananda & Judas Iscariot
$10.00

The story of the life of the one known as Jesus of Nazareth (Immanuel) is told by Jesus and his disciple and scribe, Judas Iscariot. Judas Iscariot's name is cleared and the actual one who betrayed Immanuel is revealed. Absolute clarification is given about the numerous falsifications and misconceptions concerning Immanuel's teachings and his life, such as: The purpose of His Life, His 40 days with Cosmic Beings, His Crucifixion and Resurrection and His journey after his resurrection.

control. Even if there was the ability to guarantee a day and a moment of something like this happening, you must go back to what I have told you prior to this about life. What is life? What is this experience? You are a portion of the whole of it, any segment of which can change that whole. If you understand and can comprehend the projection of manifestation of Creator/Creation, then you can see that under the right set of circumstances this could be called off instantly. It would be simply un-created.

Don't worry so much about new appearing planets in your solar system. I'm asked about this every day, "Well, what about this black hole that wasn't when we got there?" and "What about this new planet?" and "What do we talk about this star over here?" and "There was a star over here...." What you are not being told and what you are not capable of perceiving is that you are shifted, you are being shifted. You are in the process of now shifting and it doesn't mean that ones are coming into your solar system. It means you are moving on into a higher level of solar orbiting.

You must come out of this me-ness about your corner of this little universe or this great universe or the whole universe. You are but a part of it. You are not the center of it and you are now coming into, let us call it, the inhaling of the Creator portion. He's sucking you back to the central source and other things will be appearing in your telescopes because there's much going on out there, not the least of which are those considered planets and stars that are actually starships and they do appear to be moving closer to you because they are closer to you, but guess who's moving? Isn't it an interesting concept? This is only a clue. This is only a sign. Don't go off the deep end. "The sky is not falling," as Henny Penny says and after this period passes, things will come back on-line. You will notice, it has happened over and over scattered places about your own nations. Different cities have gone off grid, electricity shut down, radar systems have malfunctioned. This is sometimes done deliberately, other times it is simply a fluke, a passage through this zone, this null zone.

After this period of time, everything should work completely well and then, of course, you will begin to experience more daylight, more daylight, more daylight. I realize you ones want specifics. I'm not going to give you specifics. I'm not going to let you fudge on your homework. You say, "Well, why don't you give us what we need?" We have, to the tune of some 56 books now.

I can tell you that (or actually remind you) that all things, all bodies are continuous, spiraling, cycling, absolutely continuous. They never cease but they do reverse their potential. They reverse their potential twice in every cycle of their eternal journey within and beyond the range of your sensing by compressing into visibility and then expanding into their invisible seed recordings. Now if you don't understand what that means, I suggest you get PLEIADES CONNECTION, Volume 7. All of these bodies are expressed in cycles and a cycle is a continuous 2-way spiral journey from the expanded condition of a body to its opposite compressed condition and back again to its wondrous expanded condition. You have it happening every day. It's called Day and Night and each is the opposite half of the other, just as is one's breathing in and out.

You see, you have a cut and dried perception of things such as life. What actually is daylight? Why do you have daylight? Why do you have dark? Well, let's look at it from a side of physics. Daylight is nothing in the world but light compressed and you can't label everything either dead or alive because you can't logically state that invisible night light is somehow dead. You can't truthfully say that only those things which respond to your senses are living and others which are beyond your senses are dead. I don't even understand, for instance, when we spoke at the Community Church when we were asked to consider a Pleiadian's view, or my view, if you would, of reincarnation. I can't even understand why you have to ask yourselves whether or not you believe in reincarnation or do not believe in it. A human being is a unit of an imperishable eternal idea from Creator. Human's body manifests that idea. When his body disappears, it passes beyond his sensing but his identity as idea cannot be other than continuous, just as infinity and eternity are continuous. You can go another step and I can remind you that the form is just as visible to us in this dimension as it was to you in yours. It's never changed in the vision or idea of God, its source, and therefore, it cannot cease to be. For instance, sometime you can pick apples from a certain tree. In October you cannot pick those apples if they ripen in August because that tree is going to produce its apples for you to pick every August and you're going to wait or pick early or whatever the cycle of that tree might be.

So, you're going to have to think of life as beginning at birth and ending in birth. You can't continue to think in erroneous terms. Man of earth literally has written reincarnation out of his books because it lessens the control that human man has over human man. You've not learned to think of it as a continuity such as the cycle, say, of a piston stroke in an expansion/contraction engine, yet, one is just as continuous as the other. Somewhere about your middle life expression, your regenerative power reverses and you begin to die just as you begin to live that first half of your cycle, but what does that mean? It means that you're only getting ready to begin another cycle as you end that one because nature balances all of her divided cycles. If the visible body disappears, it means only that the whole life is shortened somewhat for this particular cycle and it will balance itself out and you don't have to really worry about it.

To you who have studied your lessons and, as we speak of this null time, I don't want you, please, to consider this void time or the voidance point and I'm not sure just how to express it so that you do not misunderstand it because it's a very important difference. You see, actually there is not a void in experience as you enter this null time or this null cycle, this few days. You are still experiencing. You are just experiencing differently and there is no gap, there is no void in any other portion of the cycling to interrupt the absolute continuity of every effect of motion into its opposite effect. The cause of all effect is eternal and if there were any gap or any void or discontinuity in effect, precious ones, cause could not be eternal. So this is a part of the continuing spiral in an effort to reach this point of voidance where there is rest because there does come one voidance point where all is at rest.

At this time, you have a limited range of perception and it's born the idea of discontinuity within you. Your concept of death is one of the results of that gap in your range of perception and it's something you're going to have to go beyond in understanding. Therefore, you're going to have to reconsider and come into understanding of this absolute cycling of all things before you can move into the next dimension of experience. Therein lies what it is you're searching for. How do you get past that and into understanding and, of course, it is through the soul. You're not going to achieve this kind of understanding and knowing through the physical aspects of your experience. There is no way. It can only be experienced from the soul. The soul is the fulcrum from which the polarized lever of motion extends to manifest the polarized body, but all those bodies are then divided. Therefore, by the same token, all bodies are polarized.

Now, what does that mean? It means a body which is divided into two seemingly separate male and female parts because of two opposite conditions which cause that seeming separateness, but the whole universal body is polarized into these mated pairs. It is also multiplied into compressed light waves of matter which you can see, and into expanded waves which you cannot see, and this gets, again, into the lessons as given for your study and your higher understanding so that, as you come to these places in your cycles, you will be able to move into the next portion without panic, without fear and simply move forward.

I would ask you to please note what takes place in your political arena. It's especially prevalent at this moment since you are now into your called "election year". Look what is happening with your nation relative to other nations in your hemisphere and on the entire globe. The United States, for instance, was making a move to bring some troops and some more added power and confusion into Peru is what brought down your plane, not the lies that you have been told. Your plane was five hundred miles from its customary course and what would a C130 cargo plane, a huge cargo plane, be doing with Air Force troops, military personnel? Those are geared for flying, in and out, cocaine, and unfortunately for you ones, you have to face the fact that that is a very large business for the United States of America, the shipment of cocaine. There is so much more to every political move than meets the eye that you're going to have to look beyond what you are shown so that you can know the truth of it. These are all distractions. These are all very physical-oriented impacts, bombardments against you, the people. You're going to have to separate what is soul evolution from what are the cycles, ordinary cycling of planets in

Consciousness Defined

4/24/92 #1 HATONN

THE OLDEST WISDOM IN THE WORLD TELLS US THAT WE CAN CONSCIOUSLY UNITE WITH THE DIVINE WHILST IN THE BODY; FOR THIS MAN IS REALLY BORN.

Consciousness is defined as: "aware, mentally awake or alert and intentional". This word is also one which obviously indicates "action", having changed from unawareness into awareness, etc. Are you determined to remain in ignorance while you take your physical opinions along lines of the physical while expecting to unite with the Divine? Or, shall ye lift up your vision to allow God to tell you how to unite with that divineness? Oh, I see, you went to an Ashram and someone (usually a MAN) told you how to unite with God? Did it work? Is perfection in peace overflowing thine being? So, why does not ALL MAN understand? Because you can only learn from the physical experience--how to achieve the divine. Further, if you vote-out the guidelines in order to allow the journey as YOU DESIRE IT

TO BE, you have only lied to self for the ultimate judgment of readiness is made by the Divine Source.

If this all be true then why "do" anything? Because you won't know "Divinity" when you find it if you know not that for which you search and serve. If you know not what is "wrong" with your perceptions now--how will you ever find the path of lighted wisdom?

HOPÍ PROPHECIES

forth a prophesy some years ago. It was not ready for publication but ones took it upon themselves to decide the time was ready. In it the years of action and changes were listed--but man had not studied his lessons and did not correctly decipher the messages. For instance 1992: "The earth will have its true reality formed. It will join the sisterhood of planets, the Daughters of Copperwoman, and it will create within itself all forms of all things in harmony with the everything."

Do you see "harmony"?? Have you joined other planets?? Who is Copperwoman, much less, the daughters of?? HOW WILL YOU FIND OUT THE TRUTH OF IT? Will you go forth in your own direction as led by some MAN who "claims" to know all? Or, shall ye listen for the instructions sent from God via His Hosts who have attained wisdom through their journeys? Will you be fighting over whether or not Saturday night adultery is acceptable? Or, will you be finding out what God requests that you do and be? It is up to you, students (chelas).

I see, you now say you will wait around and maybe 1993 will bring perfection showered upon you. So, 1993: "We will see a whole new way of perfection. There will be plants on this Grandmother Earth that will give life and sustenance as never before seen. Starvation on the earth--all those things will be gone."

HOW is this going to come about? WHO will bring these things into being? The Israelis, your Government, how about George Bush or de Klerk in South Africa where the multitudes are starving and dying of AIDS? WHO WILL BRING THESE THINGS UNTO YOU? ONE CALLED JESUS? WILL THE JEWS FIND THAT ACCEPTABLE? HOW ABOUT THE POPE? HE WAS CREATED AND PUT INTO POWER BY THE COMMITTEE OF 300. WHO WILL BRING THESE THINGS AND MIRACLES UNTO YOU AND HOW? THROUGH MAGIC? WELL, YOU HAD BEST GET IN TOUCH WITH DAVID COPPERFIELD AND ASK HIM TO WORK ON MORE SUPPLEMENTAL MAGIC.

It's coming through to you in the form of political speeches, ideology that says, "One World, New World Order". This sounds like grand order with freedom for all but that's not what it is. In fact, I wonder how many of you actually have a definition of Mr. Bush's New World Order that he likes to spout off about and under the guise of which he gives away your nation in the most heinous, treasonous manner on your place to date. What did this President Bush mean after winning a non-war, after this horrendous affront to your world and your senses called the Gulf War? He announced to you that you're in the era of the New World Order. Well, what in the world did he have in mind? How many of you know what he meant? Let me tell you what the 5th Socialist International Congress in England defined it as being: "The New World Order is a world order that has a Super National authority to regulate world commerce and industry. An International Organization that would control the production and consumption of oil. An International Currency that will replace the dollar and a World Development Fund that will make funds available and an International Police Force that will enforce the edicts of this New World Order."

Many of you ones take great exception with the projection that you can have robotoids, that you can restructure and recreate and also create life forms from genetic and DNA alterations and actually having a DNA code you can replicate. How is it that you can completely discount whatever we bring to you and, at the same time, your own public announcers are telling you, just yesterday as a matter of fact, that you are now able to, by taking DNA particles from plastic substance introducing it into plant substance, create plastic that will be biodegradable. Why is that less far-fetched? But it's true. You ones are going to have to catch up with the times because there is an entire vacancy, a vacuum where you have been given nothing but lies on your media and in your press so that you will believe exactly what you are told to believe and it is to keep you blinded so that, as the cyclic changes come, you will be terrified, uninformed and you will automatically depopulate your own planet.

Now, I cannot do this for you. I have no intention of doing this for you. I have no intention of intervention. This person sending information on this Photon Belt asked this question and then states, "I knew they would intervene before these culprits could pull down this world." No, we will not intervene. You will go right through the cycles and that is not intervention. When the proper sequence of time for integration is at hand, there will be integration. This is not intervention. I ask you to think upon these things and I thank you for your attention for I shall be writing and speaking more often now for, as we move out of some of the necessary unfolding of information, we'll be moving more in depth into some of these subjects which I certainly hope you will find far more interesting because you have a wondrous journey in front of you, but you have to know what to expect or you won't be around to make that journey. I bid you good day. Salu. Hatonn to clear.

SO, WHAT HAVE WE? Imagine the goodly researchers taking apart sequenced T-RNA chains that hold primitive expressions of your ancestral heritage. Through the triplet nucleotides as a genetic remnant, imagine those genetic codes expressing themselves in the energy milieu of the solution in point, a solution that matches the energy of any specific segment of time. Picture these microscopic mobile creatures emerging from your genetic past, from the remnants of three nucleotides: intelligent, protective, a reproducing ambitious enzyme manufacturing micro-culture dedicated to preserving human life at the colloidal life level.

Could this be the discovery representing the bionic immunity of your ancestors of some millions or billions of years ago--I tell you now, it is again present upon your place! Could this be the "Methuselah" gene for which untold explorers have searched in pools, fountains and springs?--Or, are these "creatures" the actual blueprint in substance of life form itself, in this instance, "human" cells?

Oh yes indeed, future generations will know and use this wondrous knowledge--but who will come with me as we share the incredible opportunities with man of Earth. Probably not those who are so foolish and ignorant as to spend time denouncing us for we pronounce that Zionism is not Judaism. Will YOU miss the very miracle and knowledge of LIFE ITSELF because you were so narrow of consciousness that you refused to look beyond? Did the cave-man picture the rocket shuttle? As a matter of fact--yes, for the cave man was pure enough in openness to see that which was shown unto him. He did not understand it--but he drew pictures of it upon his walls within the caves for ye as "human people" were beginning your journey of learning so that you might one day again integrate within the human people among the stars.

On a microscopic level, friends, these ancestors of yours live in a highly ordered society with an intelligence and a manufacturing and engineering skill that you can only envy at this time for you refuse the gift for you assume the price is too high--a price which requires only that you live in balance within the Laws of God and Creation. Perhaps one of the most interesting aspects of this is that these little "chondria" are "gendered"--both male and female. The male is called the chondrion and resembles the precursor "mitochondria" of your cells, thus the derivation of its name. The mitochondria of your cells is a very unique "organelle". Isn't this a bit of fun? How much of this did you already know? Why not? It is open knowledge--why do you not know?

THEREFORE, IS IT POSSIBLE THAT THERE ARE OTHER THINGS WHICH ARE KEPT FROM YOU?? THANK YOU.

Yes, I know that you wish to go on with the subject in point of mitochondria and organelles, etc. But we are not, for it matters not if you cannot change of your circumstances in the world in which you exist. Those who bring this information unto you and openly share are murdered and suppressed, ridiculed and set-upon.

You can make all the little "boxes" for frequency and do all sorts of things with a so-called "Rife-Microscope" all to no avail if you do not know what you are seeing and how LIFE functions and comes into physical being. Perfection can flow only from perfection and all else is simple reproduction of errors. You will never find the perfection if ye are searching in an adultery bed on Saturday night--you search for perfection of knowledge in the places of perfection of knowledge--not hiding in the dark secret places of the human "animal" trained to have erroneous and unbalanced instincts--toward sure death and not for any semblance of eternal life form.

FOR YOU CAN'T EAT THE CAPABILITY OF FLYING AND IF YOU CAN'T EAT YOU WON'T HAVE THE STRENGTH TO FLY AT ANY RATE.

Now I understand, you are waiting for year 1995 when: "The new race of humans will begin to design their new reality of life on this planet as they intended it to be when they came from the stars." Oh no, "...when they came from the stars?" But that is "extraterrestrial" or something. Well, "Satan and evil come from out there--my preacher told me so." Ah, and where might this "Jesus" form, or messiah, come from? Oh, the stars? But that cannot be--for that IS extraterrestrial! MAKEUP YOUR MINDS--WHICH IS IT? I leave it to you!! By the way--the prophecies END WITH YEAR 2000. Worse, for you who have stolen the Aboriginal terminology and call yourselves "human people" did not take time to also understand that the ancient calendars of "time" ran out on August 17, 1987! What might those pagan redmen know that you white-eyes do not? It might be good to find out.

4/24/92 #1 HATONN

The prophecies are exactly correct--right down to having technology and knowledge to heal all disease. We have capability and it is now on your placement which can be programmed to, like a pac-man, to change any mutant cell--simply by ingesting the programmed "new" cell which is simply a crystalline (crystal) life form--also called "virus". This is created through DNA and programmed for specific targets. By the way--it is already on your place and now you can quit wondering why only the Elite Global Masters have it available.

Moreover, you who should be noting that the pharmaceutical companies are insuring that substances which associate with this new technology are being removed from your markets!

Let us just take one example in point of capability: Taking a vial of this programmed solution and putting one drop of human insulin in it, within 48 hours there will be pancreatic beta cells producing insulin. So, did the solution hold the key to life itself? No, the key to life is the DNA sequence, the genetic code sequenced by the engine of LIGHT. The insulin contained enough of the genetic information to generate the pancreatic beta cells from whence it came. THE SOLUTION WAS THE SPARK, THE CATALYST, THE BRICKS AND ENERGY REQUIRED TO GROW THE BETA CELLS AND REPRODUCE THE INSULIN.

You might well think of this as "magic"--no, it is simply an elixir for the DNA. The directions of this one element of "insight" are totally staggering. So what is wrong? The Elite keep it from you and claim that Hatonn is an evil liar. THE INTENT OF THE GLOBAL GOVERNMENT 2000 IS DEPOPULATION OF THE PLANET TO AROUND 550 MILLION PERSONS. THIS WILL NOT BE ACCOMPLISHED IF EVERYBODY SICK GETS WELL!

I use the example of insulin production simply because a diabetic patient at this point cannot be "cured" on your planet. Herein within a few simple treatments the system will rebuild itself and in a matter of weeks the insulin system is functioning again--in perfection.

Further, this "directed" DNA form can be introduced, say, into an algae base which will both nourish the physical body to perfection and also give total perfection to all body cells along with getting rid of all mutant cells. Right now, as in cancer and AIDS, you have mutant cells which finally overwhelm a person's immune system with nothing to rebuild "from". Mutations are totally normal--but if the immune system cannot contain them all--the body dies.

You don't believe me?? Go right back to your lessons and look again at how "life" begins. Remember, the pictures of the developmental stages of the human embryo, where you began as a primitive creature looking like a skinny fish. Remember the human embryo with gill bars and a tail--called a sperm? Remember the fact that essentially all mammal embryos go through these stages? Perhaps you even studied this in your school process. Your professors would have said the descriptive phrase for this phenomenon in point: "Ontogeny Recapitulates Phylogeny", the Biogenic Law of Genetics.

CIA And Control Of The Press

4/24/92 #1 HATONN

Times reporter Szule states that he was not consulted about the heavy editing of his article, and he mentions that President Kennedy made a personal appeal to publisher Dryfoos not to run the story. Yet, less than a month after the invasion, at a meeting where he was urging newspaper editors not to print security information, Kennedy was able to say to the Times' Catledge, "If you had printed more about the operation, you would have saved us from a colossal mistake."

The failure of the Bay of Pigs cost CIA Director Dulles his job, and he was succeeded in November 1961 by John McCone; McCone did little to revamp the agency's policies in dealing with the press, although the matter obviously concerned him, as became evident when he reprimanded and then transferred his press officer, who he felt had been too forthcoming with a particular reporter. In McCone's first weeks at the agency, the New York Times got wind of the fact that the CIA was training Tibetans in paramilitary techniques at an agency base in Colorado, but, according to David Wise's account in The Politics of Lying, the Office of the Secretary of Defense "pleaded" with the Times to kill the story, which it did. In the Cuban missile crisis of 1962, President Kennedy again prevailed upon the Times not to print a story--this time, the news that Soviet missiles had been installed in Cuba, which the Times had learned of at least a day before the President made his announcement to the country.

According to the Times' Max Frankel, writing in the Winter 1973 Columbia Forum, there was still a feeling that the paper had been "re-miss" in withholding information on the Bay of Pigs, so the Times extracted a promise from the President that while the paper remained silent he would "shed no blood and start no war". Frankel notes that "No such bargain was ever struck again, though many officials made overtures. The essential ingredient was trust, and that was lost somewhere between Dallas and Tonkin."

Then, in 1964, McCone was faced with the problem of how to deal with an upcoming book about the CIA and his response was an attempt to do violence to the First Amendment.

The book was THE INVISIBLE GOVERNMENT, by reporters David Wise of the New York Herald Tribune and Thomas Ross of the Chicago Sun-Times. Their work provided an example of the kind of reporting on the agency that other journalists might have done but had failed to do. In short, it was an example of investigative reporting at its best and, perhaps as a result, it infuriated the CIA.

McCone and his deputy, Lieutenant General Marshall Carter, both personally telephoned Wise and Ross's publisher, Random House, to raise their strong objections to publication of the book. Then a CIA official offered to buy up the entire first printing of over 15,000 books. Calling this action "laughable", Random House's president, Bennett Cerf, agreed to sell the agency as many books as it wanted, but stated that additional printings would be made for the public. The agency also approached Look magazine, which had planned to run excerpts from the book, and, according to a spokesman, "asked that some changes be made--things they considered to be inaccuracies. We made a number of changes but do not consider that they were significant."

The final chapter in the agency attack against THE INVISIBLE GOVERNMENT came in 1965 when the CIA circulated an unattributed document on "The Soviet and Communist Bloc Defamation Campaign" to various members of Congress and the press. This long study detailed the many ways used by the KGB to discredit the CIA, including the "development and milking of Western journalists. Americans figure prominently among these." The study singled out as an example of KGB disinformation a Soviet radio broadcast that quoted directly from THE INVISIBLE GOVERNMENT. The agency's message was not too subtle, but then the CIA never put its name on the document.

HELMS AND THE PRESS

When Richard Helms took over the agency in 1966, press relations changed noticeably. Helms himself had been a reporter with United Press in Germany before World War II, and he thought of himself as an accomplished journalist. He would tell his subordinates, when the subject of the press came up in the agency's inner councils, that he understood reporters' problems, how their minds worked, what the CIA could and could not do with them. He had certain writing habits (which may have originated either with a strict bureau chief or a strict high-school English teacher) which set him apart from others in the clandestine part of the agency, where writing is considered a functional, as opposed to literary, skill. For instance, he would not sign his name to any document prepared for him that included a sentence beginning with the words "however" or "therefore".

It soon became clear within the agency that Helms was intent on taking care of most of the CIA's relations with the press himself. Acutely aware that the agency's image had been badly tarnished by the Bay of Pigs and other blown operations during the early 1960's, he was determined to improve the situation. He later told a congressional committee, "In our society even a clandestine outfit cannot stray far from the norms. If we get...the public, the press or the Congress against us, we can't hack it."

So Helms began to cultivate the press. He started a series of breakfasts, lunches, and occasional cocktail and dinner parties for individual reporters and groups of them. On days when he was entertaining a gathering of journalists, he would often devote part of his morning staff meeting to a discussion of the seating arrangements and make suggestions as to which CIA official would be the most compatible eating partner for which reporter. While a few senior clandestine personnel were invited to these affairs, Helms made sure that the majority came from the CIA's analytical and technical branches. As always, he was trying to portray the agency as a predominantly non-clandestine organization.

Helms' invitations were not for every reporter. He concentrated on what the New York Times' (See, now you know WHY--they are among the Elite controlled resources) John Finney calls the "double-domes--the bureau chiefs, columnists, and other opinion makers". David Wise, who headed the New York Herald Tribune's Washington staff has a similar impression: "In almost every Washington bureau, there's one guy who has access to the agency on a much higher level than the press officer. Other reporters who call up get the runaround." Finney states that Helms and his assistants would "work with flattery on the prestige of" these key journalists. CBS News' Marvin Kalb, who attended several of Helms' sessions with the press (and who was bugged by the Nixon Administration), recalls that Helms "had the capacity for astonishing candor but told you no more than he wanted to give you. He had this marvelous way of talking of suggesting things with his eyes. Yet, he usually didn't tell you anything."

Helms' frequent contact with reporters was not a sinister thing. He was not trying to recruit them into nefarious schemes for the CIA. Rather, he was making a concerted effort to get his and his agency's point of view across to the press and, through them, to the American public--a common activity among top government officials. Furthermore, Helms was an excellent news source--for his friends. Columnist Joseph Kraft (another Nixon-Administration bugging victim) generally sums up the view of Helms by reporters who saw him frequently: "I wanted to see Helms a lot because he was talking with the top men in government. He was a good analyst--rapid, brief, and knowledgeable about what was going on." Kraft recalls that Helms was the only government official who forecast that South Vietnamese President Thieu would successfully block implementation of the Vietnamese peace accords until after the 1972 American election, and other reporters tell similar stories of Helms being among the most accurate high government sources available on matters like Soviet missiles or Chinese nuclear testing. He did not usually engage in the exaggerated talk about Communist threats that so often characterizes "informed sources" in the Pentagon, and he seemed to have less of an operational axe to grind than other Washington officials.

It becomes quite obvious that if you are among the Elite making the plans and setting the stage as well as "writing the play"--you will know the lines and how the "act" goes. If you hold power as did Helms with the blessings of the ones in the game building--you don't have to guess or even pretend "informed sources" for you are "informed".

Let us leave this writing at this point for we have other pressing duties. I believe we can make it to "Conclusions" at the next writing and then we can follow with some most interesting observations.

If you were wise enough to watch your President Bush giving away your nation and industries through free-trade last evening--you are much more insightful this day. You are going to have to be alert and search for these public "slippings". The entire speech was one incredible act of treason against your nation and I marvel that you have made it so far in total ignorance of Truth. May God walk with you patriots for your journey is most difficult indeed. This man even made sure he was dressed with a blue tie and was focused in front of "blue flags" (not the U.S. banner) which spoke more than words could ever project. He made no attempt to cover intent but spoke openly of the results of this NEW WORLD ORDER now in play--"this new world now established....." He was speaking to the American States Organization including Canada, Mexico, Latin American, etc. Indeed this man fits the role set for him. What will you do, Americans?

Hatonn to stand-by.

4/27/92 #1 HATONN

The source of a news leak is not usually revealed in the newspapers. Yet when Helms, or any other government official, gives a "not-for-attribution" briefing to reporters, he always has a reason for doing so--which is not necessarily based on a desire to get the truth out to the American people. He may leak to promote or block a particular policy, to protect a bureaucratic flank to a foreign government, or simply to embarrass or damage an individual. Most reporters are aware that government officials play these games; nevertheless, the CIA plays them more assiduously, since it virtually never releases any information overtly. The New York Times Washington bureau chief, Clifton Daniel, notes that although the agency issues no press releases, it leaks information "to support its own case and to serve its own purposes...It doesn't surprise me that even secret bureaucrats would do that." Daniel says, however, that he "would accept material not-for-attribution if the past reliability of the source is good. But you have to be awfully careful that you are not being used."

In early 1968, Time magazine reporters were doing research on a cover story on the Soviet Navy. According to Time's Pentagon correspondent, John Mulliken, neither the White House nor the State Department would provide information on the subject for fear of giving the Soviets the impression that the U.S. government was behind a move to play up the threat posed by the Soviet fleet. Mulliken says that, with Helms' authorization, CIA experts provided Time with virtually all the data it needed. Commenting on the incident five years later, Mulliken recalls, "I had the impression that the CIA was saying 'the hell with the others' and was taking pleasure in sticking it in." He never did find out exactly why Helms wanted that information to come out at that particular time when other government agencies did not; nor, of course, did Time's readers, who did not even know that the CIA was the source of much of the article which appeared on February 23, 1968.

From the days of Henry Luce and Allen Dulles, Time had always had close relations with the agency. In more recent years, the magazine's chief Washington correspondent, Hugh Sidey, relates, "With McCone and Helms, we had a set-up that when the magazine was doing something on the CIA, we went to them and put it before them...We were never misled."

Similarly, when Newsweek decided in the fall of 1971 to do a cover story on Richard Helms and "The New Espionage", the magazine, according to a Newsweek staffer, went directly to the agency for much of its information. And the article, published on November 22, 1971, generally reflected the line that Helms was trying so hard to sell: that since "the latter, 1960's...the focus of attention and prestige with the CIA" had switched from the Clandestine Services to the analysis of intelligence, and that "the vast majority of recruits are bound for" the Intelligence Directorate. This was, of course, written at a time when over two thirds of the agency's budget and personnel were devoted to covert operations and their support (roughly the same percentage as had existed for the preceding ten years). Newsweek did uncover several previously unpublished anecdotes about past covert operations (which made the CIA look good) and published at least one completely untrue statement concerning a multibillion-dollar technical espionage program. Assuming that the facts for this statement were provided by "reliable intelligence sources", it probably represented a CIA disinformation attempt designed to make the Russians believe something untrue about U.S. technical collection capabilities.

PRE-PUBLICATION CENSORING

Under Helms, the CIA also continued its practice of intervening with editors and publishers to try to stop publication of books either too descriptive or too critical of the agency. In April 1972 this book [H: The one by "IMA" which I am utilizing (pub. 1974)]-as yet unwritten--was enjoined; two months later, the number-two man in the Clandestine Services, Cord Meyer, Jr., visited the New York offices of Harper & Row, Inc., on another anti-book mission. The publisher had announced the forthcoming publication of a book by Alfred McCoy called The Politics of Heroin in Southeast Asia, charging the agency with a certain degree of complicity in the Southeast Asian drug traffic. Meyer asked old acquaintances among Harper & Row's top management to provide him with a copy of the book's galley proofs. While the CIA obviously hoped to handle the matter informally among friends, Harper & Row asked the agency for official confirmation of its request. The CIA's General Counsel, Lawrence Houston, responded with a letter of July 5, 1972, that while the agency's intervention "in no way affects the right of a publisher to decide what to publish...I find it difficult to believe...that a responsible publisher would wish to be associated with an attack on our Government involving the vicious international drug traffic without at least trying to ascertain the facts." McCoy maintained that the CIA had "no legal right to review the book" and that "submitting the manuscript to the CIA for prior review is to agree to take the first step toward abandoning the First Amendment protection against prior censorship." Harper & Row apparently disagreed and made it clear to McCoy that the book would not be published unless first submitted. Rather than find a new publisher at that late date, McCoy went along. He also gave the entire story to the press, which was generally critical of the CIA.

The agency listed its objections to Harper & Row on July 28, and, in the words of the publisher's vice president and general counsel, B. Brooks Thomas, the agency's criticisms "were pretty general and we found ourselves rather underwhelmed by them." Harper & Row proceeded to publish the book--unchanged--in the middle of August.

U.N. RIDDLED WITH KGB

The CIA has also used the American press more directly in its efforts against the KGB. On October 2, 1971, the week after the British government expelled 105 Soviet officials from England because of their alleged intelligence activities, the New York Times ran a front-page article by Benjamin Welles about Soviet spying around the world. Much of the information in the article came from the CIA and it mentioned, among other things, that many of the Russians working at the United Nations were KGB operators. According to Welles, the agency specifically "fingered as a KGB man" a Russian in the U.N. press office, Vladimir P. Pavlichenko, and asked that he be mentioned in the article. Welles complied and included a paragraph of biographical information on the Russian, supplied by the CIA. Ten days later the Soviet Union made an official protest to the U.S. government about the "slandorous" reports in the American press concerning Soviet officials employed at the U.N.

The Times' charges about espionage activities of the Soviets at the U.N. were almost certainly accurate. But, as a Washington-based media executive familiar with the case states, "The truth of the charges has nothing to do with the question of whether an American newspaper should allow itself to become involved in the warfare between opposing intelligence services without giving its readers an idea of what is happening. If the CIA wants to make a public statement about a Soviet agent at the U.N. or the U.S. government wants to expel the spy for improper activities, such actions would be legitimate subjects for press coverage--but to cooperate with the agency in 'fingering' the spy, without informing the reader, is at best not straightforward reporting."

The CIA has often made Communist defectors available to selected reporters so news stories can be written (and propaganda victories gained). As was mentioned earlier, most of these defectors are almost completely dependent on the CIA and are carefully coached on what they can and cannot say. Defectors unquestionably are legitimate subjects of the press's attention but it is unfortunate that their stories are filtered out to the American people in such controlled circumstances.

David Wise remembers an incident at the New York Herald Tribune in the mid-1960's when the CIA called the paper's top officials and arranged to have a Chinese defector made available to reporters. According to Wise, CIA officials "brought him down from Langley (for the interview) and then put him back on ice." Similarly, in 1967 the agency asked the Times' Welles to come out to CIA headquarters to talk to the Soviet defector Lieutenant Colonel Yevgeny Runge. On November 10 Welles wrote two articles based on the interview with Runge and additional material on the KGB supplied by CIA officers. But Welles also included in his piece several paragraphs discussing the CIA's motivation in making Runge available to the press. The article mentioned that at least some U.S. intelligence officials desired "to counter the international attention, much of it favorable, surrounding the Soviet Union's 50th anniversary", which was then taking place. Publicizing the defection, Welles continued, "also gave United States intelligence men a chance to focus public attention on what they consider a growing emphasis on the use of 'illegal' Soviet agents around the world."

According to Welles, the paragraphs stating, in effect, that the CIA was exploiting Runge's defection for its own purposes infuriated the agency, and he was "cut off" by his CIA sources. He experienced "long periods of coolness" and was told by friends in the agency that Helms had personally ordered that he was to be given no stories for several months.

CERTAIN REPORTERS FAVORED

The CIA is perfectly ready to reward its friends. Besides provision of big news breaks such as defector stories, selected reporters may receive "exclusives" on everything from U.S. government foreign policy to Soviet intentions. Hal Hendrix, described by three different Washington reporters as a known "friend" of the agency, won a Pulitzer Prize for his 1962 Miami Daily News reporting of the Cuban missile crisis. This is the same Hal Hendrix who later joined ITT and sent the memo saying President Nixon had given the "green light" for covert U.S. intervention in Chile. Much of his "inside story" was truly inside: it was based on CIA leaks.

Because of the CIA's clever handling of reporters and because of the personal views held by many of those reporters and their editors, most of the American press has at least tacitly gone along, until the last few years, with the agency view that covert operations are not a proper subject for journalistic scrutiny. The credibility gap arising out of the Vietnam War, however, may well have changed the attitude of many reporters. The New York Times' Tom Wicker credits the Vietnam experience with making the press "more concerned with its fundamental duty". Now that most reporters have seen repeated examples of government lying, he believes, they are much less likely to accept CIA denials of involvement in covert operations at home and abroad. As Wicker points out, "Lots of people today would believe that the CIA overthrows governments," and most journalists no longer "believe in the sanctity of classified material". [H: I would guess that is some other kind of understatement!] In the case of his own paper, the New York Times, Wicker feels that "The Pentagon Papers made the big difference."

The unfolding of the Watergate scandal has also opened up the agency to increased scrutiny. Reporters have dug deeply into the CIA's assistance to the White House "plumbers" and the attempts to involve the agency in the Watergate cover-up. Perhaps most important, the press has largely rejected the "national security" defense used by the White House to justify its actions. With any luck at all, the American people can look forward to learning from the news media what their government—even its secret part—is doing. As Congress abdicates its responsibility, and as the President abuses his responsibility, we have nowhere else to turn.

[H: From this point on until this writing concludes are strictly the opinions of the authors of the book in point. I reach very few of the conclusions as presented herein—but then, hindsight is often perfection and this book was written in 1974 under great duress and censorship. I publish the material in the "CONCLUSION" in total for two reasons. One, I honor these writers and further know that, given opportunity to look back, the conclusions would be different. Secondly, to utilize this material without specific written permission of these authors and the CIA, I had to reprint "exactly" the material in point—without listing names as is law with non-fiction material. Further, to validate the reason for utilizing the information I have to have different "conclusions". At the end of this writing I shall clear-up all the actions and identify the authors in point. I shall also give information where you can contact the lead author and urge all who read this to get a copy of the Journal in point—through him. We have been declined information from the Dell Publishing Co.—perhaps the author and you shall have better response.

CONCLUSIONS

(FROM THE DOCUMENT

OF 1974)

In the eyes of posterity it will inevitably seem that, in safeguarding our freedom, we destroyed it; that the vast clandestine apparatus we built up to probe our enemies' resources and intentions only served in the end to confuse our own purposes; that the practice of deceiving others for the good of the state led infallibly to our deceiving ourselves, and that the vast army of intelligence personnel built up to execute these purposes were soon caught up in the web of their own sick fantasies, with disastrous consequences to them and us.

SECRECY: DISEASED WAY OF LIFE

"It is a multi-purpose, clandestine arm of power...more than an intelligence or counterintelligence organization. It is an instrument for subversion, manipulation, and violence, for the secret intervention in the affairs of other countries." Allen Dulles wrote those words about the KGB in 1963 so that Americans would better understand the nature of the Soviet security service. His description was a correct one, but he could—just as accurately—have used the same items to describe his own CIA. He did not, of course, because the U.S. leaders of Dulles' generation generally tried to impute the worst possible methods and motives to the forces of international Communism, while casting the "defensive actions of the free world" as honest and democratic. Both sides, however, resorted to ruthless tactics. Neither was reluctant to employ trickery, deceit, or, in Dulles' phrase, "subversion, manipulation, and violence". They both operated clandestinely, concealing their activities not so much from the "opposition" (they couldn't) as from their own peoples. Secrecy itself became a way of life, and it could not be challenged without fear of the charge that one was unpatriotic or unmindful of the "national security".

In the dark days of the Cold War the Communist threat was real to most Americans. Sincere men believed that the enemy's dirtiest tricks must be countered. Fire was to be fought with fire and America's small elite corps of intelligence professionals claimed they knew how to do this.

The public and the country's leaders were willing to go along, if not always enthusiastically, at least without serious opposition. Consequently, clandestine operatives from the United States as well as the Soviet Union were turned loose in virtually every nation in the world. Each side won secret victories but the overall results were decidedly mixed. For its part, the CIA played some role in forestalling a Communist takeover of Western Europe, but the agency's record in the Middle East, Asia, and elsewhere in the world left much to be desired.

When the CIA's invaders were defeated in 1961 on the beaches of the Bay of Pigs, it should have been a signal to the country that something was wrong—both with the CIA and the government that directed the secret agency's activities. It should have been clear that events in the Third World could (and should) no longer be easily and blatantly manipulated by Washington. It should have been obvious that the times were rapidly changing; that the fears, following on the heels of World War II, that the "Communist monolith" was on the verge of dominating the "free world" were invalid. It should have been apparent to the American public that the CIA was living in the past.

Columnist Tom Braden, a former high-ranking CIA covert expert, reflecting on the latter-day life of the CIA, wrote in January 1973: "Josef Stalin's decision to attempt conquest of Western Europe by manipulation, the use of fronts and the purchasing of loyalty turned the Agency into a house of dirty tricks. It was necessary. Absolutely necessary, in my view. But it lasted long after the necessity was gone."

Yet after the initial public outcry over the Cuban fiasco, the personnel shake-up at the agency and the high-level reviews of its performance ordered by President Kennedy had little effect. The CIA went back to operating essentially the same way it had for the previous decade, again with at least the tacit acceptance of the American public. Not until the Indochinese war shocked and outraged a significant part of the population were CIA's tactics, such as secret subsidies, clandestine armies, and covert coups, seriously called into question. Now Watergate has brought the issue of an inadequately controlled secret intelligence agency home to us. The clandestine techniques developed over a quarter-century of Cold War have, at last, been dramatically displayed for the people of this country, and the potential danger of a CIA which functions solely at the command of the President has been demonstrated to the public.

* * *

The CIA has a momentum of its own, and its operatives continue to ply their trade behind their curtain of secrecy. They do not want to give up their covert activities, their dirty tricks. They believe in these methods and they rather enjoy the game. Of course, without a presidential mandate they would have to stop, but the country has not had a chief executive since the agency's inception who has not believed in the fundamental need and rightness of CIA intervention in the internal affairs of other nations. When a President has perceived American interests to be threatened in some faraway land, he has usually been willing to try to change the course of events by sending in the CIA. That these covert interventions often are ineffective, counterproductive, or damaging to the national interest has not prevented Presidents from attempting them.

Kissinger and Nixon were concerned with what they believed to be a legitimate end—preventing a Marxist from being elected President of Chile—and the means employed mattered little to them, as long as secrecy could be maintained.

The new CIA Director, William Colby, has indicated on the public record that he intends to keep the agency functioning largely as it has in the past (while pledging to shun future "Watergates"). When Senator Harold Hughes asked him where the line should be drawn between the use of CIA paramilitary warriors and the regular U.S. armed forces, Colby replied that the dividing line should be "at the point in which the United States acknowledges involvement in such activities." Senator Hughes specifically put this answer into perspective when he said on August 1, 1973, "Mr. Colby believes that CIA-run military operations are perfectly acceptable as long as they can be concealed."

United States a free hand for covert intervention abroad (and at home) is an anachronistic hangover from the Cold War. Perhaps such actions could once have been justified when the future of the country was seemingly at stake, but no such threat now looms on the horizon. The only two foreign powers with the potential to threaten the United States--the Soviet Union and China--have long ceased to be meaningful targets of CIA secret operations. Instead, the agency works mainly in the Third World, in nations that pose no possible threat to American security

2 LINES DELETED

The CIA is not defending our national security. It seeks rather to maintain the status quo, to hold back the cultural clock, in areas that are of little or no significance to the American people. These efforts are often doomed to failure. In fact, at least since 1961, the CIA has lost many more battles than it has won, even by its own standards. Furthermore, the very fact that the United States operates an active CIA around the world has done incalculable harm to the nation's international position. Not only have millions of people abroad been alienated by the CIA's activities, but so have been a large number of Americans, especially young people.

The time has come for the United States to stand openly behind its actions overseas, to lead by example rather than manipulation. The changeover might disturb those government officials who believe in the inherent right of the United States to exercise its power everywhere, clandestinely when that seems necessary; but in the long run non-interference and forthrightness would enhance America's international prestige and position.

Even in an era when the public is conditioned to ever expanding and ever more expensive government activities, the $6 billion yearly cost of American intelligence represents a significant slice of the national treasury. The government spends more money on the various forms of spying than it does on the war against crime and drugs, community development and housing, mass transportation systems, and even the country's overt international programs carried out by the State Department, the USIA, and the AID combined. Yet, unlike other federal activities, information on the intelligence community--how much money is being spent and where the money goes--is systematically withheld from the American people and all but a handful of Congressmen. Behind this wall of secrecy (which exists as much to conceal waste and inefficiency as to protect "national security") intelligence has grown far beyond the need of the nation.

The time has come to demysticize the intelligence profession, to disabuse Americans of the ideas that clandestine agents somehow make the world a safer place to live in, that excessive secrecy is necessary to protect the national security. These notions simply are not true; the CIA and the other intelligence agencies have merely used them to build their own covert empire. The U.S. intelligence community performs a vital service in keeping track of and analyzing the military capability and strengths of the Soviet Union and China, but its other functions--the CIA's dirty tricks and classical espionage--are on the whole, a liability for the country, on both practical and moral grounds.

But because of bureaucratic tribalism, vested interests, and the enormous size of the intelligence community, internal reform never makes more than a marginal dent in the community's operations. The people in charge like things essentially as they are and they have never been subjected to the kind of intense outside pressure which leads to change in our society. Presidents, furthermore, have not wanted to greatly disturb the existing system because they have always wanted more, if not better, intelligence; because they were afraid of opening up the secret world of intelligence to public scrutiny; because they did not want to risk losing their personal action arm for intervention abroad.

CONGRESSIONAL NON-CONTROL

The Congress, which has the constitutional power and indeed, the responsibility to monitor the CIA and U.S. intelligence, has almost totally failed to exercise meaningful control. Intelligence has always been the sacred shibboleth that could not be disturbed without damaging the "national security", and despite loud protests from a few outspoken critics, neither legislative house has been willing to question seriously the scope or the size of intelligence activities. Yet, if there is to be any real, meaningful change in the intelligence community, it must come from Congress, and, judging from past experience, Congress will act only if prodded by public opinion. The Watergate affair has, to some extent, played such a role, and the full review of the CIA's secret charter promised by Senate Armed Services Chairman John Stennis should be the first step in limiting the CIA's covert operations and cutting down the duplication and inefficiency of the rest of the community.

Congress should require the various intelligence agencies to keep it informed of the information collected. This kind of data should be routinely supplied to the legislative branch so it can properly carry out its foreign-policy functions and vote funds for the national defense. If the same information can be given to foreign governments and selectively leaked to the press by administrations in search of votes on military-spending issues, then there is no "security" reason why it must be denied to the Congress. The Soviets know that U.S. spy satellites observe their country and that other electronic devices monitor their activities; it makes little sense to classify the intelligence gathered "higher than top secret". No one is asking that technical details such as how the cameras work be given to the Congress or made public--but the excessive secrecy which surrounds the finished intelligence product could certainly be eased without in any way limiting the nation's ability to collect raw intelligence data by technical means.

As for the CIA proper, Congress should take action to limit the agency to the role originally set out for it in the National Security Act of 1947--namely, the CIA should concern itself exclusively with coordinating and evaluating intelligence. At the minimum, if clandestine activities must be continued by the U.S. government, the operational part of the CIA should be separated from the noncovert components. In the analytical and technical field the agency can make its most important contribution to the national security, but these functions have been neglected and at times distorted by the clandestine operatives who have almost always been in control of the CIA. Intelligence should not be presented to the nation's policy-makers by the same men who are trying to justify clandestine operations. The temptation to use field information selectively and to evaluate information to serve operational interests can be irresistible to the most honest of men--let alone to the clandestine operatives.

However, the best solution would be not simply to separate the Clandestine Services from the rest of the CIA, but to abolish them completely. The few clandestine functions which still serve useful purpose could be transferred to other government departments but, for the most part, such activities should be eliminated. This would deprive the government of its arsenal of dirty tricks, but the republic could easily sustain the loss--and be the better for it.

The Clandestine Services' espionage operations using human agents have already been made obsolete by the technical collection systems which, along with open sources, supply the United States government with almost all the information it needs on the military strength and deployments of the Soviet Union and China. The truly valuable technical systems--the satellites and electronic listening devices--should be maintained, although without the present duplication and bureaucratic inefficiency. Since Oleg Penkovsky's arrest by Soviet authorities in 1962, there has been no CIA spy who has supplied the United States with important information about any Communist power, and it is difficult to justify the expenditure of over $1 billion in the last decade for classical espionage simply on the hope that another Penkovsky will someday offer himself up as a CIA agent. Assuming that the CIA's most valuable agents will continue to be volunteers--"walk-ins" and defectors--a small office attached to the State Department and embassy contacts could be established to receive the information supplied by these sources.

While the CIA has been much more successful in penetrating the governments of the Third World and some of America's allies, the information received is simply not that important and can be duplicated to some extent through diplomatic and open sources. While it might be interesting to know about the inner workings of a particular Latin American, Asian, or African country, this intelligence has little practical use if the CIA has no intention of manipulating the local power structure.

The Clandestine Services' counterespionage functions should be taken over by the FBI. Protecting the United States against foreign spies is supposed to be the bureau's function anyway, and the incessant game-playing with foreign intelligence services--the provocations, deceptions, and double agents--would quickly become a relic of the past if the CIA were not involved in its own covert operations. Playing chess with the taxpayers' money against the KGB is unquestionably a fascinating exercise for clandestine operatives, but one that can properly be handled by the internal-security agency of the United States, the FBI.

CONSTITUTION UNDERMINED

As for the CIA's paramilitary tasks, they have no place in an intelligence agency, no place in a democratic society. Under the Constitution, only Congress has the power to declare war, and the United States should never again become involved in armed conflict without full congressional approval and public knowledge. If "American advisors" are needed to assist another country legitimately, they can be supplied by the Pentagon. The other forms of covert action--propaganda, subversion, manipulation of governments--should simply be discontinued. These are more often than not counterproductive and, even when successful, contrary to the most basic American ideals. The CIA's proprietary companies should be shut down or sold off. The agency would have little use for one of the largest aircraft networks in the world if it were not constantly intervening in foreign countries. The proprietaries, with their unregulated profits, potential conflicts of interest, and doubtful business practices, should in no case be allowed to continue operations.

The other countries of the world have a fundamental right not to have any outside power interfere in their internal affairs. The United States, which solemnly pledged to uphold this right when it ratified the United Nations charter, should now honor it. The mechanisms used to intervene overseas ignore and undermine American constitutional processes and pose a threat to the democratic system at home. The United States is surely strong enough as a nation to be able to climb out of the gutter and conduct its foreign policy in accordance with the ideals that the country was founded upon.

We need to wait here a minute to allow Dharma to recover breathing--she just realized we are now over two-thirds the way through year five. This means she has known me since 4 days B.C.B. (Before Counting Began). Yes, we surely have covered a lot of material and kept the fingers busy and the "mind whirling" in 17 hundred and 17 days (not a bad mathematical symbol for this very day). We have only been writing JOURNALS, however, for the past 3-1/2 years so with 56 JOURNALS and a weekly (at least) newspaper--we have had very busy hands!

Why do I mention this? Because Dharma, and hopefully YOU, will understand that she could not have done this alone and I do not even include the Editors--of which there were none for a year or more. I ask that you use this for some level of confirmation when you try to equate reality to this work. Further, life and life resources had to be tended also--this can only mean, chelas--SHE HAD A LOT OF VERY EFFICIENT HELP!!! HOW could she be so consistent and persistent? Because she recognizes our Truth and presence and her committed mission as attached to us of the higher Brotherhood--no more and nothing less--she knows who we are and serves as agreed, as do ye other ones who have heard your call and respond. You are each (because EACH will answer for all experience on this plane of experience in action) quite allowed to believe or act in any manner chosen--but those actions and beliefs are what will decide how you get off that planet or HOW you remain upon it. God promised the WORD and it is manifest and He PROMISED TO PREPARE A PLACE FOR EACH OF YOU--AND IT IS SO--I SUGGEST YOU LOOK ABOUT YOU FOR THE RELATIONSHIPS OF THE REMAINDER OF THE PROPHECIES AND EXPECTATIONS OF EVENTS.

FOR THINGS ARE REALLY GOING TO START POPPING WHEN OUR APPEARANCE IS ACTUALLY ACCREDITED APPROPRIATELY. YOU WILL PARTIALLY, OR THOROUGHLY, DESTROY YOUR WORLD PRIOR TO ACCEPTING THE TRUTH OF IT, HOWEVER. HOSTILE ALIENS? OH, I THINK NOT--UNLESS OF COURSE, YOU ARE IN SERVICE TO THAT VERY ADVERSARY IN POINT. HOWEVER, IF YOU DO NOT HAVE, IN HAND, YOUR TICKET TO THE FACILITIES IN EITHER AUSTRALIA OR NEW ZEALAND--THE ELITE DO NOT INTEND TO SPARE YOUR LIVES. IT IS MOST CERTAINLY WORTHY OF HEARING THE REST OF OUR STORY AND PAYING ATTENTION TO OUR LESSONS ABOUT GOD, HOSTS AND TRANSITION REGARDING LIFE PROTECTION AND PASSAGE INSTRUCTIONS--JUST IN CASE?!

We must write more on the CIA, no matter how weary you are of the matter and want to get on with the above instructions--but the CIA is the police clandestine force which will be in charge of bringing down your nation and is the President's army to be used against you. It is mandatory that you know what you have to face from what has gone before in at least a few instances.

I thank the one who sent the recordings of a speech given by Philip Agee (to whom I dedicated the last Journal in part). If any of you want CONFIRMATION of our outlay--we will see how those tapes might be made available. They are simply copies of the meeting that someone recorded so we shall see what we can work out. Perhaps we can get THE WORD to offer them on "cost" or "rental" or something--like the video tape EXECUTIVE ACTION movie as referred to some weeks past. I shall turn that over to the "tape department".

I want to stop right here, right now, and honor the workers who make this material available to you. They give hours upon countless hours with little but appreciation (and often only abuse and evil assault) to get information out to you within one day of delivery from this computer or the microphone. Costs are kept to an absolute minimum and personal time and expenses, in addition, are contributed to be able to continue to send forth as much as humanly possible. There is no way that I can express my appreciation or my cherishment and love I feel for these unfaltering gifts unto this service. MY CREW IS THE BEST ON YOUR PLANET AND I HONOR THEM WITHOUT LIMITS FOR THEIR WAY HAS MOST CERTAINLY BEEN ONE OF DIFFICULTIES BEYOND THE REASONABLE. I most humbly thank them and can only promise that I SHALL STAND BEFORE THEM AGAINST THE ENEMY. THEY HAVE SEEN IT, FELT IT AND EXPERIENCED AS MUCH--I WOULD HOPE THAT YOU WHO RECEIVE WILL KNOW AS MUCH. THERE IS NOTHING THAT CAN STAND AGAINST THE LIGHT--FOR WE KNOW WHAT IS THE LIGHT AND EXACTLY HOW TO USE IT! Further, we are efforting to share that knowledge to all of you who will accept same. It is NOT "ascending"--it is simply growing into and within that Source of infinite being. This is NOT mysticism--simply a wondrous mystery unfolding in universal Truth reality. Please know that all of your letters, even if they be negative in content--are gratefully accepted in appreciation for it is the only measure of value for service at this time of pressure.

At any rate, I shall suggest confirmation types of tapes also be made available somehow for ones of the reader circle are generous with us with confirming input until there is no way to share it all. We have heaps and piles of documentation, clippings and writings.

As I am blasted with "Why don't you show yourself!", I am in wonderment--I do! Further, what makes you think if I went on a television show that you would be convinced or that it would be aired? I find it interesting to note that very often you are not shown, say, Bush--and yet you seem to doubt not that it is he you are shown--and how many of you have actually met the man in point? You are far, far more apt to MEET ME, my friends! I am "here" all the time, you just haven't yet learned to hear me. If you do so--you immediately go to the physician and "get it fixed" because "my ears are ringing, etc." If you don't hear the telephone ring and don't pick up the receiver--how can you hear the call or know who is on the other end of the line? I come with GOD--and I suggest that every time you look at a tree or a flower--or another being--that you remember as much. Look at your own hand or ponder your eye--I think you will have to agree that it is most interesting how you as a being came to be and how miraculously you operate as a machine--not to even mention the mind and soul of all creation held within that mind of yours. Deny me? So, shall ye then deny God and disallow His entry into thine places for you have become PEOPLE OF THE LIE and fear that which comes to attend HIS flock. The time is short now, for the KNOWING--and GOD WAITS--BUT NOT MUCH LONGER SHALL HE WAIT FOR IT IS COME, THE TIME OF CHOOSING AND SORTING. SALU.

"COMMUNISTS" WILL TAKE YOUR NATION FOR THEY ARE ANTI-GOD BY PRO-NOUNCEMENT AND ARE THE NEW WORLD ORDER

Where can we begin? There are so many episodes of documented involvement of your so-called "leaders", the CIA and integration with the Soviet Elite and Bankers of the Committee of 300 and the British Crown through British Intelligence.

Let us just give you a few to finish off this "TANGLED WEBS" volume starting after the book just honored. Let us go to a November 13, 1978, offering of the SPOTLIGHT--which by the way, the "big boys" have been trying to shut up and close down since it began publication. It has faltered in intent on several occasions but by and large was your only source of much information. We certainly give credit where due and without such publications--YOU WOULD HAVE NO INFORMATION AT ALL. We are simply compiling and integrating information so you can have "the whole" in sufficient volume to confirm our truths to follow. But, I repeat, without knowing what "went wrong" in your world--you cannot "fix it". To solve a problem you must know the problem and this is but simple deductive reasoning.

I shall omit some of the article as to references to non-pertinent information or information which I do not confirm by my own scanners and data. In the interest of time and space, please keep this in mind as you read for we are too short of time and space to allow dallying. So: SPOTLIGHT, Nov. 13, 1978: SOVIET SPY OPERATING INSIDE THE WHITE HOUSE.

One of the Carter Administration's top officials is a long-term Soviet clandestine agent, a so-called "mole", who has penetrated the National Security Council, giving Moscow both the opportunity to listen in on the U.S. government's most sensitive policy deliberations and the ability to influence their outcome.

These are the alarming conclusions of an unprecedented "senior executive-level" counterintelligence probe, undertaken recently in deepest secrecy on President Carter's personal orders.

"Not since Watergate has Washington sensed the approaching tremors of a comparable scandal, or the making of a bigger cover-up." This was stated by a top counterintelligence investigator. This was reminiscent of the early stages of the Watergate affair; the cover-up of the "mole" crisis is being spearheaded by senior security officials. [H: Also, in the interest of space and to allow more relationship to current "time", I shall paraphrase this material and place it in proper "tense" so that you will continually realize this is "old" documentation. Thank you.]

FBI Director William H. Webster invited himself to a private luncheon with the senior editors and executives of the Washington "Post" on October 27, (1978), mainly to belittle the rumors about the discovery of a Soviet agent in the highest echelons of the "Carter team" to which he belonged. If such a "mole" did exist, FBI Chief Webster told the "Post's" bosses, "I've had no information about it."

CIA Director Stansfield Turner paid similarly soothing calls on NBC and CBS, and even allowed himself to be interviewed on a national panel show during the last week of October to reassure the public that "I have no knowledge that there is a mole, a secret agent, inside the Central Intelligence Agency."

Such overeager advance denials were self-defeating, in fact devastatingly self-revealing: Directors Webster and Turner were decrying something the American public could not learn until after a 23-year-old former CIA watch officer named William P. Kampiles went on trial November 8 in Hammond, Indiana, charged with having sold a top-secret satellite manual to Soviet military intelligence. Kampiles himself appeared to have been merely a pawn in an international game of sellout and betrayal, in which the principal accused was the Carter Administration itself.

Having launched an investigation of the "mole" affair, the following facts were determined:

* It was assumed by most of the administration's senior security officials, including Zbigniew Brzezinski, that an unidentified long-term agent had been infiltrated by Soviet intelligence into the "senior executive echelons" of the U.S. Government. [H: I do find this most humorous, however, since the most clandestine agents of all are Kissinger and Brzezinski.] How this conclusion was reached will be related later in this report; the point was that the presence of an "adversary" infiltrator in the administrative councils which produce the nation's vital strategic decisions represents a grave security problem for which Carter's most trusted aides have been unable to find a solution.

* Moreover, beyond the threat of a Soviet penetration to the very heart of U.S. government, the "mole affair" gave rise to a second, potentially even more explosive security crisis, which emerged when a committee of experts--including a number of independent scientists--was set up to review all major strategic programs inaugurated since 1973 in order to assess the compromise and damage wrought by the Soviet penetration.

OWN WORST ENEMIES

It was found, in the words of a scientist who participated in this review, that "Carter and his people have damaged and attenuated American defenses far more disastrously than a dozen Soviet secret agents could."

That the most shocking revelations of the "mole affair" concerns mindless mismanagement and possibly malignant sabotage of key U.S. defense programs by Jimmy Carter and his "team" of peanut praetorians would come as a surprise to most of the American public which depends on the Establishment media for its news. [H: About that same time you must remember that a big cut-back and suppressing of the super-secret research programs aimed at developing decisive weapons for America's technological arsenal--electronic countermeasures and high-energy beam weapons (called "death-ray") was made. This was deliberate and set the U.S. light-years behind the Soviets. It is true, you see, that the long-range weapon of today and the future is actually that "death-ray" technology and not, after all, the hydrogen bomb. The bombs just make the insurance of total destruction so much more likely. It is now noted that there were projections by insightful physicists that those actions would, in fact, be the one thing which would insure the subservience to the Soviets and forever render the U.S. incapable of supremacy. In fact, it was projected that "By the early '80's Moscow would command combat-effective beam weapons--and the U.S. still wouldn't have one."]

The documented exposes were studiously ignored by the administration. In private, Defense Secretary Harold Brown and other Carter cohorts treated it with cynical sneers. Brown, himself an experienced technobureaucrat with a Ph.D. in physics, knew that this was conclusively the views of [above] some of America's ablest young scientists and engineers who KNEW some of what was going on but never to the extent of the clandestine eventualities. They spoke with open bitterness, not just because some had lost their jobs when the defense bureaucrats known as "Carter's stranglers" canceled, underfunded or shelved their research and development programs, but because they knew, with the certitude of insiders, that the U.S. was losing the crucial death-ray race to the Soviets. The Pentagon's Central command post, the "E-ring", where Brown's top aides officiate, resounded with scoffing disparagement at suggestions that the Soviets were near "break-through" with the technology.

SCIENTISTS ALARMED

The White House suppressed or emasculated a series of intelligence reports warning that the Soviet government had targeted the development of a military death ray as its first-priority crash program. The smug sneers by Carter--who liked to describe himself as a "nuclear engineer"--and defense chief Brown, expressing the complacent conviction that the Soviets could never solve the high-energy physics problems inherent in the acquisition of beam weapons, proved fatuously wrong if not criminally negligent. The harsh truth is that the Soviets made enormous strides in those years in their all-out effort to develop the death-ray weapons. There is absolutely no way, once those cosmospheres and space platforms began to utilize that technology that you could ever again gain supremacy in any military race. It was a simple and unified plan set forth by the Elite Global Planners and it worked--you fell into the trap--never to again extricate yourselves.

A check of some highly classified files revealed that while U.S. intelligence monitored eight separate successful Soviet space experiments with death-ray weapons involving both the manned Soyuz transport spacecraft station, as well as the unmanned Cosmos spacecraft, the top-secret memo-randa reporting that vital information was totally suppressed directly by the White House.

U.S. spy satellites detected mysterious charged-beam experiments at the Soviet test facility near Semipalatinsk, in the vastness of Central Asia. Unusual levels of thermal radiation and nuclear debris in the atmosphere clearly pointed out that high-capacity, pulse-power experiments were being carried out by Soviet scientists. These warnings were similarly dismissed by "nuclear expert" Carter and his defense bureaucrats. Now it is KNOWN that the remote Semipalatinsk test site was one of the KEY Russian death-ray development centers.

More alarmingly, USAF and CIA intelligence sources found ground-based beam weapons tests at the Sarova test site near Gorki. These were particularly advanced in variety, showing that the U.S.S.R. could field what was technically identified as an "anti-ballistic missile defense proton beam weapon"--that is, a long-range death ray powerful enough to knock U.S. intercontinental missiles from the sky--as early as the late '70's.

TERRIFYING FORECAST

At this point, over a decade past, this was a terrifying forecast and realization because the forecast has come to be--total control of the planet. The warnings of the concerned scientists and engineers were never allowed to reach public ears but were, rather, snuffed-out and clandestinely hidden from you-the-people except through a few "leaks" and through a few "discounted" publications labeled "treason" and "heretics". The reports, at most, were totally understated and on the conservative side. I must tell you that in the 1980's the Soviets would begin to unveil a generation of incredibly effective proton-beam death-ray weapons bound to alter the entire strategic balance of power--forever.

Confronted with the prospect of an angry congressional investigation that might "make the worst furies of Watergate sound like a mild debate and lead to Jimmy Carter's impeachment", as one observer put it, the White House galvanized into frantic action. Behind the cover of clam-tight "national-security secrecy" the Defense Department and the National Security Council took the following crash measures:

* A "working group" of top American scientists was convoked by the Defense Department to lay out a first-priority national beam-weapon technology program for the following five years. Included in the special team were such leading authorities on physics and electronics as Edward Lee of the Lawrence Livermore Laboratory, Bruce Miller of the Sandia Corp., Martin Lampe of the U.S. Naval Research Laboratory, Ray Pettis of the CIA, and some 18 others.

* Crash projects to develop various aspects of a combat-effective death-ray weapon were being set in motion at the famed Lawrence Livermore facility in California, at the Army Ballistic Missile Defense Command near Los Alamos, and at Austin Research Associates in Texas, as well as at other top-secret placement sites. How many of you still believe we have given you "false" information regarding incidents reported here in the JOURNALS and LIBERATOR? These are facts, readers--FACTS!

* As Clarence A. Robinson Jr., military editor of the prestigious "Aviation Week and Space Technology"--the one journalist who consistently fought the downgrading and neglect of beam weapons--reported in mid-October of 1978, "There does exist one promising and moderately advanced death-ray development program in the American arsenal. This is the super-secret naval research project code-named 'Chair Heritage'. If propagation tests scheduled for late 1981 prove successful, U.S. carriers will begin to deploy powerful electron-beam death rays against Soviet cruise missiles and attack aircraft. But just when this charged-particle weapons system will become truly combat-effective is still unpredictable. Beam dynamics, conditioning, aiming and propagation are major scientific uncertainties in the U.S. because no work was done in those areas up until now--that we know of."

Moreover, the Carter Administration's sudden emphasis on death-ray development represented not a well thought-out program but frantic emergency measures by politicians anxious to cover up their mismanagement and dereliction of America's most vital strategic interests. And the long odds against the prospect that Washington could catch up with Moscow in that crucial area of defense technology were rendered well-nigh hopeless by the known presence of the unidentified high-ranking Soviet infiltrator in Carter's entourage. I can tell you this--a massive move to get underground facilities into place and operational became the top priority because it was then KNOWN that you as a nation could never win a confrontation when the Soviets would be ready to close-in. This was when the American public was left to pay the bill in total but have no facilities for survival under any circumstances of war. The certainty of this fact is now evident.

TREASON IN HIGH PLACES

Reconstructing the progression of events which led to the discovery that one of Carter's closest collaborators was a Moscow mole pieced together an almost incredible jigsaw puzzle of official misconduct, disloyalty and treason in the highest quarters and it has never diminished--only increased by leaps and bounds into more massive deceit and criminality.

The story traces back to the mid-70's when senior American military leaders were plagued by fears that the so-called SALT arms limitation deals with the USSR would weaken U.S. defenses to the point where simple submission to the Soviets might come to seem as the most reasonable course.

In an attempt to ensure that Washington should have at least a measure of forewarning about Moscow's real intentions, the senior service commander coaxed and coerced from the White House the approval and the required funds to develop the most efficient spy satellite ever built.

Code-named KH-11 when it became operational in 1977, the then-new spy-in-the-sky was a wizard at stratospheric surveillance. Equipped with three discrete sensing systems and a new generation of viewing lenses, it could identify military personnel on the ground by service insignia and rank, from an altitude of 200 miles. Infrared and multi-spectral sensing systems, as well as advanced side-looking radar, made the KH-11 as sharp-sighted at night as it was by day, whether in rain, shine or heavy overcast. It endowed the satellite with the ability to locate priority targets on the ground--such as missile silos or train depots--no matter how cunningly camouflaged. In fact, the incredible KH-11 could instantly tell real trees and vegetation from camouflage greenery.

In every way, the KH-11 represented some kind of a giant breakthrough in surveillance technology. All previous reconnaissance satellites, even the famed Big Bird, were limited to recording their observations on special film, which had to be air-dropped in parachute packs, recovered by special aircraft and then developed on the ground. KH-11 was different. It transmitted its information continuously, in a special digital computer code via instant communications links to ground control stations where it was immediately reconstructed in visual form on huge display boards and "acquisition panels". With the KH-11 up on high, U.S. intelligence could keep an eye on every sort of Soviet military activity as never before--or so they said.

But for all their dazzling technological bravura, spy satellites had such a massive Achilles heel; they are vulnerable to duplicity, to sophisticated electronic countermeasures known in the intelligence trade as "cover and deception". They, like all your "space" travel vehicles are also subject to instant take-out by the superior Soviet arsenal--which was utilized from onset of your eager-beaver trial runs. In truth, robot spies are as susceptible to being duped as any live ones if the enemy has the know-how to feed them information or "smoke". For that reason alone, the design, the internal systems and the targets of sky snoops are among every great power's most closely guarded secrets, and the information transmitted by these technospies is extra-carefully monitored for authenticity--but, if one can monitor a satellite--SO CAN ALL.

Soaring high over the Soviet heartland, the KH-11 performed with some brilliance at first. But in early 1978 it began to behave suspiciously. KH-11 was then transmitting information which struck the CIA and Pentagon evaluation analysts as adulterated and doctored. Was it possible? Had the Soviets' intelligence pierced the KH-11's secrets? Were Russian deception specialists feeding misinformation to the U.S. super-satellite?

In strict secrecy, the National Security Council conducted a security check on the KH-11. The counterintelligence probing proved fruitless for months. In July, however, there came a break in the investigation. The suspicions concerning KH-11's reliability were confirmed in a dramatic manner: The master spy who had sold the satellite's secrets to the Soviet KGB came forward and stumbled into the hands of the FBI.

INDICTMENT FOR ESPIONAGE

The FBI seemed happy. It had "solved the case", obtained a federal indictment for espionage, and since it had a confession from a suspect, it looked forward to a speedy conviction. But other counterintelligence specialists in the CIA and in the Defense Intelligence Agency were far less happy. There was a "case" alright but everything about it stank of fish.

To begin with, the agent who had pulled off the master coup for the KGB was NOT a master spy at all. He was an inexperienced and subdued former CIA watch officer trainee named William P. Kampiles, barely 23 years old, who told the FBI that one morning in February, after having stood night watch in the control room of the operations center at CIA headquarters in Langley, he simply took home the ultrasensitive and mega-classified KH-11 manual, quit his job, flew to Athens, and sold the invaluable compendium to a Soviet agent named Michael for $3,000.

It all sounded simple and straightforward enough, but more than one veteran counterspy at CIA and DIA sensed that it was neither. Kampiles had told the FBI, for one thing, that in two parts--first the cover and the opening pages, then the whole book--he had sold the KH-11 manual to the KGB in late February and early March. But U.S. intelligence had grown suspicious of the KH-11's security by mid-February; and if it was to be assumed that by then the Soviets knew all about the new spy satellite, then their information was acquired from someone else besides one named Kampiles.

CIA and DIA experts raised the question: Was Kampiles a pawn and a patsy? Had the KGB received its key information about the KH-11 from a much more highly placed and experienced Soviet agent in Washington than the green and naive Kampiles? Was the Kampiles case just another puff of smoke, of disinformation meant to deflect suspicion from the real Soviet mole?

A number of unhappy developments during the second half of 1978 supported this theory. July brought the case of Ion Pacepa, Communist Rumania's vice-minister for security affairs, who suddenly "defected" to the West. In public view, Washington resounded with the jubilation of the administration's highest intelligence officials, who told the Establishment media that Pacepa had come over to the "free world" with mountains of invaluable information.

It was, of course, nothing but a show. Behind the locked doors at Langley, Pacepa got a grim and inquisitive reception. For the Rumanian vice-minister was not really a "defector". Working under deep cover, Ion Pacepa had been a CIA agent for years. His sudden flight from the Soviet bloc meant the loss of a valuable agent-in-place. Why had Pacepa suddenly decided to cut and run? "Because," the angry Rumanian minister told his CIA interrogators, "someone here in Washington betrayed me to Soviet intelligence. I was lucky to get away with my life. I was about to be arrested."

Was Ion Pacepa telling the truth? Of course, during August the CIA lost several covert agents operating within the Soviet bloc. Their sudden arrest showed that a high-level mole was at work in Washington, passing vital security information to the KGB. By early September the hypothesis of deep Soviet penetration had gained enough substance to warrant a special counterintelligence probe.

Unknown to everyone except the President, the DCI and the small team of senior security experts who conducted the test, secret memoranda containing seemingly top-secret information were circulated among government leaders. The information in these files was designed to induce a traceable response from Moscow if a spy passed it on to Soviet intelligence. When the Russians displayed the expected reaction, right on schedule, counterintelligence could draw but one conclusion: There was indeed a hitherto unidentified, very highly placed, efficiently functioning Soviet agent somewhere in Jimmy Carter's "official family".

Carter's first reaction to these developments was, characteristically, a giant blunder: he ordered a review of all national-security programs for "damage assessment" and involved, as previously noted, independent scientists in the review. Their verdict: by far the worst damage was attributable to Carter himself and his hand-picked defense bureaucrats.

Was Jimmy Carter the Soviet mole in your midst? Well, the President seemed safe, for most intelligence experts dismissed the suggestion with words to the effect that "Carter isn't smart enough." But then again, a really sophisticated Soviet intelligence agent could be expected to play it dumb. The enormity of the sabotage he inflicted on America's defenses certainly pointed to Carter.

It was noted that Carter had begun to act robotic and programmed. He did foolish things even to the extent of making public statements regarding "killer rabbits"--by all means the people within the Administration and Secret Forces were concerned and making every effort to get rid of him.

The two reigning Rockefellers, former Vice President Nelson and Chairman David (at the time), had between them planted dozens of their intimate retainers--house scholars, policy planners, senior bureaucrats--deep into the national-security establishment. Henry Kissinger is only the most celebrated specimen of this breed; there were dozens of others. Was the Soviet mole to be found among them? If so, it could turn out that he was merely implementing the Chase Manhattan empire's own policy of building closer ties with the Soviets. IS ANYBODY OUT THERE? ARE YOU EVEN A TAD NERVOUS? SO BE IT!

Could this "mole" be traced to CIA headquarters at Langley? If so he would only receive a murmured "naughty, naughty" and a false passport to spirit him out of the clutches of any interested congressional committee.

But, for the American people, the presence of an unidentified Soviet infiltrator in the highest circles of the administration which is responsible for their collective fate was not a joke. Although most of the facts were withheld from it, the nation's sense of urgency became a bit more clear; it demanded a congressional investigation to clear up some things such as the Augean stables of the Carter White House. Of course, once again, you used the very foxes for the hunt who just ate the chickens. These particular "foxes" doing the hunting are not the prey but the hunters in point.

I hope you will find it interesting to note that there never was a release of a mole--at the time of inquiry. It was, however, decided that Carter had to GO.

Let us take a rest please, while our readers do a bit of pondering--because we still are only up to 1978. Look where you are today!

God bless and give you insight.
Salu, Hatonn to clear, please.

I can see that I need to move right along with the CIA material for you are now getting a dose, in America, of what is coming. What occurred in Los Angeles last night because of an incredibly horrendous judicial system gone amuck and drivel uprising churned and spurred on by planted rioters--along with a Police Chief who "waited" to resign until AFTER this fiasco--is what will be happening all around your nation very soon now. With one exception--YOU WILL INSIST ON LAW AND ORDER AT ANY PRICE--EVEN TO THE LOSS OF ALL FREEDOM.

The point was to wait for an incident to occur to precipitate such a massive show and tell. Worse for you ones, at this moment there are negotiations and compromises, blackmail and pushing--to blow the San Andreas Fault so that you can add "earthquake" to the disaster line-up in California. Note that there was another in the desert area--BUT NOT ON THE SAME FAULT AS THE LAST ONE. THAT INDICATES THAT IT WAS INTENTIONAL--IN AN EFFORT. AGAIN, TO TRIGGER THE BIG FAULT.

Dear ones, it cannot get "better" for things are so critical and so oppressive to these minority "victims" that it will not "go away". IT IS NOT PLANNED TO GO AWAY--ONLY WORSEN!

Moreover, the citizens will have DEMANDED it. No guns, no ammunition--not even gas except directly into a "traveling" vehicle, curfew and state troops at ready for martial law--in an already declared "state of emergency". It is following the protocols of enforcement right down to the last detail.

Gates did not take leave of the service until following this incident--and I promise you that there will be a great cry to keep him as this unfolds and he establishes order through massive force. You are between the proverbial rock and hard place, citizens, with no Elite intention of your winning either way.

Please let these things be visible proof of what we bring--and please, GET PREPARED for it is upon you--NOW. Pray that the minorities stay under control elsewhere as these days unfold for your nation of America is due for the worst race-riots in history--just waiting the trigger. This will give the police and army the opportunity to go in and kill and destroy with license. Ah yes indeed, you will demand the New World Order--right on schedule. May you be given into seeing and understanding.

Dharma, we need to give some more examples for the CIA cover-ups are the most apparent to discern the workings of the enforcement groups in action. You will note that the police in L.A. operated exactly like a military organization--with discipline and total restraint. That is GOOD TRAINING! This kept the city intact but the hate and revenge is boiling and churning and will be exploded out at anyone as the cauldron boils and spews.

When the judicial system has no integrity--there is no hope. I believe all of you, right down to my scribe, are tasting the horrendous brunt of a Judicial system become devoid of any Justice. It is simply a sign that you are further "gone" than you might have imagined. May God be with you for there are treacherous times ahead.

The next writing is from, again, Victor Marchetti in April, 1979, some five years after publishing the book we have presented. This is a daring Patriot and I give great honor and respect to him for his efforts to inform you of the citizens of the Americas.

From a publication: CIA DESPERATELY TRYING TO COVER UP OWN SPY SCANDAL. "Soviet espionage has reached into the top ranks of American government for decades. Even 'liberal' scholars who used the Freedom of Information Act to get new FBI information in an attempt to clear the name of Alger Hiss now are themselves convinced that the former deputy secretary of state under Franklin Roosevelt passed secrets to the Soviet Union. In the three decades since, the public has found it 'chic' to shrug off the spy threat. Now, the problem has grown, as America slept, to the point that many officials fear that within the U.S.'s super-spy organization, the CIA, our own spies, could be working for the Soviet side."

QUOTE: (April, 1979)

There is a new spy scandal brewing in the nation's capital, and the CIA is desperately struggling to keep the lid of secrecy on the controversy. Intelligence experts and informed sources, however, believe the pot will soon boil over, revealing a scandal more damaging to U.S. national security than the infamous Rosenberg atomic spy case.

The immediate reasons for all this concern are two strange incidents involving CIA officers. One is the mysterious death of John Paisley, a former high-ranking agency official with access to sensitive information on Soviet military capabilities and the sophisticated technical methods (spy satellites, e.g.) by which such data are acquired. Paisley, "retired" but still a consultant to the CIA, disappeared while sailing his sloop "Brillig" on the Chesapeake Bay last September.

When a body, shot in the head, washed ashore several days later, it could not be positively identified either from fingerprints or dental records. But the CIA claimed that "Paisley" had "committed suicide". Paisley's wife of more than 20 years does not believe the corpse, which she was never allowed to view and which was soon cremated, was that of her husband. The Maryland police handling the case are not sure, either. Nor are they certain of the cause of death. Therefore, they have not yet closed their file on the case.

Furthermore, there are many other curious circumstances associated with Paisley's death. Numerous classified documents--which should not have been in his possession--were found on his abandoned boat and in his bachelor apartment in Washington.

When Paisley's disappearance was first reported, the CIA said he was a former "low-level economic analyst". Later, however, it was learned that he had been deputy chief of the agency's Office of Strategic Research and had participated in many of the SALT negotiations.

In addition, he had been a member of the "Pipes B Team"--the group assembled by then CIA Director George Bush and headed by Professor Richard Pipes of Harvard to review the CIA's "soft estimates" of Soviet strategic military capabilities.

These facts, plus all the anomalies surrounding the case, have raised profound questions in the minds of intelligence experts. Was Paisley's death suicide or murder? If he was murdered, who did it? And why? Was he a Soviet spy, a KGB "mole" who had burrowed deep inside the CIA?

As a result, the Senate Select Committee on Intelligence has quietly ordered an investigation into the mysterious death of John Paisley--and the CIA's internal security system.

KAMPILES TREASON

The other incident which set Washington's intelligence community on edge is the William Kampiles affair. A young, former low-level officer in the CIA's Watch Office (Operations Center), Kampiles stole a copy of the KH-11 spy satellite manual just before he resigned from the agency. A few months later in Athens, Greece, he sold the document--compromising one of the nation's most valuable reconnaissance systems--to the KGB for $3,000.

The CIA, however, only learned of the theft months afterward, when Kampiles returned to the agency's headquarters in Langley, Virginia to promote himself as a possible double agent against the KGB. He was arrested, tried, and convicted late in 1978.

But during the damage assessment of the case, it was learned that several other copies of the KH-11 manual were missing from the CIA, as well as many other sensitive documents relating to U.S. satellite reconnaissance capabilities.

Suddenly, the Kampiles affair was no longer just an odd, isolated incident. What else had he stolen and sold to the Soviets? Was there anyone else in the CIA doing the same thing? And why did the KGB allow Kampiles to expose himself to his former employers? Was the KGB protecting a mole, a more valuable spy, inside the CIA? [H: Isn't this fun? We know those answers and this is what "learning" is about--having some insight and fun along the way.]

A couple of weeks after Kampiles was arrested, John Paisley was shot in the head and fell or was pushed overboard from his sloop into the Chesapeake Bay. Is there a connection between the two cases? The CIA denies it. But intelligence experts recall some other strange operations...and wonder.

CIA DEEPLY SPLIT

Nicholas Shadrin (originally, Nikolai Aramotov) was a Soviet naval officer who defected to the U.S. in 1959. Years later he became a double agent for the CIA and disappeared while on a mission in Vienna, Austria in December, 1975.

Sources close to the operation differ on what may have happened to Shadrin. Some believe he was captured or killed by the KGB in a complex spy scheme which backfired, or even that he was murdered by CIA agents because he was secretly planning to defect back to the Soviet Union.

In any event, the case, which involved the CIA, Defense Intelligence Agency, and FBI, has never been solved--despite personal pleas by Presidents Ford and Carter to Soviet Premier Brezhnev. The Kremlin boss told the U.S. presidents to look in their own closets for the culprits.

Intelligence experts feel there may be some truth to what Brezhnev has implied. Even White House officials who have worked on the case say privately that the U.S. intelligence agencies are not telling the whole truth. As a result the president's own Intelligence Oversight Board is discretely investigating--and at least one member of the three-man group believes the intelligence agencies are trying to cover up the Shadrin incident.

A few intelligence experts suspect that Shadrin, who was given U.S. citizenship and made a consultant to the Pentagon, may have been a KGB double agent all along...and that is why the U.S. agencies have been withholding the truth from the White House.

Meanwhile, the case of Igor Nosenko, a KGB officer who defected in 1964, has come under renewed scrutiny--revealing that a deep split still exists among those CIA officers who worked on the operation. One group believes that Nosenko was sent out by the Soviets to cover up the fact that Lee Harvey Oswald, the alleged assassin of President Kennedy, was actually a KGB agent and to plant disinformation in the U.S. intelligence community. Thus, Nosenko was held in a specially built jail and subjected to hostile interrogation for three years. But he never broke, although he was caught in numerous lies.

The other CIA group accepted Nosenko as legitimate and had him released from confinement. Later, he was made a U.S. citizen and a $35,000-a-year consultant to the agency, a position he still holds.

ANGLETON ACCUSES COLBY

But last year, the CIA's former chief of counterintelligence, James Angleton, exposed the Nosenko affair, suggesting that the KGB officer's real mission was to disrupt the agency's and FBI's defensive efforts against the Soviet spying. He further suggested that he and several other senior officers who doubted Nosenko were fired by Director William Colby for only that reason. He even implied that Colby might be the KGB mole, or sleeper, Nosenko was attempting to protect.

Since then, Colby and the CIA pro-Nosenko group have struck back with vengeance. During the hearings of the House Select Committee on Assassinations last fall, the CIA gave Nosenko a clean bill of health--based largely on investigations ordered by former Director Richard Helms and his deputy, Adm. Rufus Taylor. The CIA spokesman, John Hart, a retired chief of station whose wife is now the CIA's chief in London, admitted that Nosenko was a liar--but an "honest" one. Therefore, he was a legitimate defector, but nothing he said could be believed. Hart also insinuated that Angleton and his fellow doubters were fired because they were incompetents. (The CIA has a nifty way of turning things upside down.) [H: So does Satan and that's why you must beware of him AND HIS TROOPS!]

For good measure, the agency loyalists leaked a story only weeks ago to the Establishment press claiming that Angleton himself had been under investigation as a security risk at the time he was fired by Colby.

That there is something seriously wrong with the CIA's internal security system cannot be questioned.

Adm. Stansfield Turner, present CIA director, said, "I won't say there is no mole in the agency." Turner recently instituted new, stringent security measures for all employees--no matter how high their rank. And he has launched an investigation, headed by Cleveland Cram, another retired chief of station, into the secret agency's past and present dealing with the KGB.

ANOTHER COVER-UP

Cram's "investigation" is likely to produce nothing more than another cover-up. The higher up the Soviet mole is in the CIA, the more political protectors he probably has in the White House and the Eastern Establishment--and, therefore, the less likely it is that he will ever be exposed.

This is not the first time that the question of KGB moles in the CIA has been an issue. There have been many Soviet double agents dispatched to the U.S. and naively accepted as "legitimate defectors". And there have been security investigations in the past of senior officers thought to be working for the enemy. But, always, everything has been swept under the rug of secrecy.

Still, one cannot dismiss the fact that the KGB has been able to penetrate all the leading intelligence agencies of the western world, or that the Soviets have been able to plant spies in the State Department, the military intelligence services, the National Security Agency, on the Joint Chiefs of Staff and, even in the White House.

All things considered, it is only logical and prudent to assume that Moscow has had the same success with the CIA. But you may never know because the agency and its allies in the media and elsewhere will cover up such a gross failure and embarrassment.

And meanwhile, it's business as usual between the CIA and KGB. CIA officers working out of the embassy in Moscow are caught red-handed and released without publicity. KGB officers operating out of the UN are trapped by the FBI, convicted, and released on bail--never to be seen again.

And the spy trades between the two clandestine services continue. In summer, 1978, a low-level American agent, a college student captured in East Germany, was traded for an important Soviet illegal (a KGB officer with a false identity) and an Israeli agent caught in Mozambique while working with (or against?) Rhodesia and South Africa. It was a strange trade, especially when one realizes that the man behind it all was not Wolfgang Vogel, the famous East German spy trader, but rather Samuel Flatto-Sharon, a member of the Israeli Knesset and a criminal who escaped from France before he could be prosecuted for embezzlement and check fraud.

Such are the mysteries of the international spy game.

END QUOTING.

I believe the above speaks for itself without my comments.

Holocaust Again?

4/30/92 #2 HATONN

I am, however, asked to comment again on the Holocaust of World War II. I don't know what is your problem that you have such trouble dealing with that which is factual. I do not discount the value of each and every person's life or limb in any altercation--but children, when facts are presented to counter errors or outright lies, why do you not rejoice in finding that so many LIVED, rather than that one should submit that not so many perished? Is it possibly that someone or someone(s) gain much by the error in perception?

The "pictures" in great measure against which all stories are based are very influential in placing blame and horror. This is why you must be SURE from whence come the pictures and of whom they are. For instance, we have written of this before with this same truth but just this week I am blasted and then presented with a picture of this child as "proof" of the fate of the multitudes. The picture in point is the famous "little ghetto boy". So, now for some FACTS:

This picture in point is probably the most famous "holocaust" photo of all: a bewildered Jewish boy with his arms raised, standing on a Warsaw (Poland) street under the watch of an armed German soldier.

The poignant picture has been reproduced millions of times, in countless magazines, films and newspapers. The world has been told over and over again that the little boy's fate was sealed: He became one of the 6 million Jews exterminated by the evil

Germans during the "holocaust".

The historic picture was one of several dozen taken by official German photographers during the military operation against the Jewish Warsaw uprising of 1943.

Then, it happened--almost 40 years later, Dr. Tsvi C. Nussbaum, a physician in Rockland County, New York, said that he is the famous boy in the photo!

UPSET THE PUBLICISTS

When the story of truth broke it broke big, friends, in the New York Times on May 28, 1982. The report was that Dr. Nussbaum's statement upset the Jewish "holocaust" publicists who utilized the picture and who were "convinced that the symbolic power of the picture would be diminished were the boy shown to have survived."

Despite the striking physical resemblance and similar circumstances of Dr. Nussbaum and the boy in the photo, the publicists "refuse to consider it at all". Perhaps this is identical to refusal to allow speaking out with actual numbers proving that someone for some reason has miscalculated with proper arithmetic. You see, when ones blatantly refuse to allow truth because facts present truth and numbers don't lie--then you must make laws which disallow the matter to be refuted in any manner.

So, let us look at what happened immediately after presenting in the Times that "Holocaust historians have long considered the photograph a sort of sacred document."

Dr. Lucjan Dobroszycki, a historian with the prestigious Yivo Institute of European Jewish history in New York, declared that "This great photograph of the most dramatic event of the holocaust requires a greater level of responsibility from historians than almost any other. It is too holy to let people do with it what they want." Like perhaps, tell the truth? In other words, historical facts must not be allowed to diminish the picture's emotional impact and political usefulness in the name of truth.

Poor Dr. Nussbaum was simply not prepared for the almost hostile skepticism. "I never realized that everyone puts the entire weight of 6 million Jews on this photograph," he said. "To me it looked like an incident in which I was involved, and that was it."

WELL REMEMBERS EVENT

Dr. Nussbaum can recall the incident shown in the famous picture very well. In response to persistent rumors that the German authorities planned to exchange Jews for German citizens abroad, Nussbaum and some other Warsaw Jews emerged from hiding and gave themselves up in 1943. Their names were put on a so-called "Palestine List", and the group was sent to the Bergen-Belsen concentration camp in Germany. The photo was taken when the group departed from Warsaw.

"I remember there was a soldier in front of me, and he ordered me to raise my hands," Nussbaum recalls. After his uncle intervened, the seven-year-old boy was allowed to join the rest of his family.

The young Nussbaum was liberated from Bergen-Belsen in 1945 by American soldiers. He spent the next eight years in Israel, but moved to New York in 1953, where he became a doctor.

Without a shred of evidence, countless millions have been told that the Jewish boy in the famous photograph was murdered by the Germans. That claim has now been exposed as nothing but malicious slander. And the reaction of Jewish historians to Dr. Nussbaum's revelation once again underscores the self-serving, subjective and emotional nature of what passes for "holocaust history".

Worse, ones who simply question the possibilities of things not being exactly as presented are met with such hate accusations as to be bewildering and international laws are set forth to prevent even speaking on the subject--WHAT IS BEING HIDDEN FROM YOU? HAVE YOU NOT HAD ENOUGH OF THE LIES? ARE YOU NOT READY TO REGAIN TRUTH AND FREEDOM? SALU.

There is another item which is being used as a battering ram against us and it is our simple statement, which is now widely known, is that the Federal Reserve is not "Federal" but is simply privately owned. It is, therefore, all entangled within and for the IRS which serves as the enforcement collection agency for said bank and it's mother. I shall give you chapter and verse of a COURT RULING from the Ninth Circuit Court and published publicly in Jan. 1983 that

The Search For Understanding

4/27/92 SANANDA

Greetings precious little dove, Druthea. I AM Sananda. I come in service to Holy God Creator of Light and Life. I come as promised to bring instructions for Our Creator's children...to you my brethren on earth Shan.

I am not yet upon your place, although I have come holographically to many ones. My time of gathering God's lambs is near as We of God's Hosts gather to make preparations for the "new time". Our mission is TRUTH through THE WORD that each ONE of you may be allowed to choose to balance the imbalances within selves and return to living in harmony within the Laws of God and Creation.

We neither will force, nor coerce--we offer. You may choose to deny God and His Hosts and The WORD, but that denial, whether it be in ignorance or deliberate, will not change The Truth of it. The consequences of defying God's Laws are all about you. Only KNOWLEDGE will set you free from the errors and limitations which you each have put upon selves.

What is the CRUCIAL knowledge, you may ask? KNOWING how to GIVE equally in ALL of your transactions and interactions with one another and this beloved planet - Recognizing your testers and your enemies and refusing them power OVER your divine GODLINESS within - KNOWING THE LAWS of Balance and LIVING them each moment - HONORING SELF and ALL within CREATION equally - Understanding the processes of God and Nature and what YOUR responsibility is to Our Creator and His Creations - Understanding The Law of ONE, the giving principle of LOVE which is LIGHT in its highest form, so that you may fulfill your portion as Co-creator in honor, integrity and balance.

As you consciously live the WILL of GOD, you are "fine-tuning" your frequency so that when the lessons and tests are accepted and understood and the knowledge gleaned from them, you are NEVER destined to repeat an error against the Love principle in the same manner for it simply will not occur to you to do so. This does not imply innocence as such, which is the case with newer, evolving soul fragments. It is knowledge which opens the door to higher awareness, which inspires you to experience a higher merging with our Creator. This in turn creates the DESIRE within you to KNOW and LIVE experiences which allow you the opportunity to GIVE more LOVE which is LIGHT.

Chelas, there is NO greater ecstasy than that of GIVING all that you are in pure LOVE intent and have it accepted graciously and then to witness the transformation in the one or ones who have become inspired by your giving. This is what is meant on your place by the cliché "Making a difference".

This is why I, Sananda, and Commander Hatonn and ALL of the rest of God's Hosts are assisting Our Father. We are compelled and deeply inspired within by this tremendous opportunity to inspire as many of you as we can. None of us, and that includes you of God's lighted workers ON Earth, would be doing this work unless we had earned this opportunity by our deepest compassion and commitment toward giving ALL that we have become to our "younger" relatives (fragments of God) who have been lost in spiritual poverty and ignorance and who with outstretched arms are calling to God for LIGHT and TRUTH that they may be freed.

THE CALL COMPELS THE ANSWER, PRECIOUS ONES. AND WE COME IN ANSWER TO YOU ONES WHO HAVE CALLED WITH PURPOSEFUL INTENT TO GROW BEYOND YOUR IGNORANCE AND JOIN US IN GLORY IN THE PLACES PREPARED FOR YOU IN GOD'S HIGHER KINGDOMS OF BALANCE.

And yes, Druthea, my sister, we are as excited as are you ones. Your excitement is becoming apparent to many of you ones now as you become free from the shackles of FEAR by KNOWING and accepting your personal mission and part in this grand play of Creation. You ones KNOW and FEEL the time is at hand and you really want to "give it all you've got" that you experience the fulfillment of PERSONAL BEST in HONOR to our Creator Source. Simple, yes and TRUE!

I would like to give honor and suggestion of viewing of a most splendid film which Dru has recently witnessed and has inquired about. It is called "City of Joy" and yes, chela, it most beautifully presents a smaller play of this bigger one in which you live within. It is about transformation, conquering fear and the meaning of life. And one young actor in the film has experienced his own personal transformation and sense of fulfillment because of living this film. Yes, a few meaningful films do get produced. God does not leave you who call to Him. He tends to every fragment who allows His tending. So be it.

Thank you, Dru, for your service and for sitting with us today. The road has been particularly difficult of late, I know. I also KNOW that you, precious, are understanding your lessons and responsibility much more thor-states as much. We shall look at it when we again sit to write.

Dharma, since I kept you up all night and working, I ask that you take time this afternoon to rest so that we do not get behind as again, court looms in our near future over your home. I am so grateful to you precious readers who have shown love and concern over the problems for it is through that caring concern that we shall prevail intact and spiritually strong and unbroken.

The legal people have put together a superb appeal for "stay" and rehearing which will be hand-carried to the appeals court in Fresno today. This is an effort to have hearing on the facts of "bench" refusal to allow hearing (and other abuses by the Judge). We shall simply have to await response from the appeal panel of Judges. I shall keep you posted for if not "stayed", we have problems but can find alternative delays for a few extra weeks.

I see no hope for your Judicial system without sweepingly massive changes. It is indeed terrifying to realize the extent of the problems evolved--but we can change it if we stick right with it and move ever onward.

Hatonn to clear.

oughly than YOU think. And so it is for all of you. The way is becoming clear and the moments of sorrow do pass as understanding is gleaned and responsibility accepted. I cherish EACH one of you of my brethren. I honor you for the task which you have chosen contains so many illusions of confusion and distraction, and yet EVERY one of you has been gifted with the INNER POWER, DESIRE and STRENGTH to work through EVERY lesson and testing presented and to achieve KNOWLEDGE and FULFILL YOUR MISSION AND PURPOSE. You will do it! For GOD WINS and those who live with Godly intent are blessed indeed, for yours is the glory and freedom of conquering Self-EGO and KNOWING GOD.

Be gentle with selves and one another, my precious chelas, for tempers run short, and frustration is high when FEAR and CONFUSION are allowed within your space. The adversary waits for any chance to influence discord. Be ever watchful of your intent and keep your shields intact. Be tolerant and communicate in honesty and ALL perceived differences will be no more. You are doing well. Petition for clarification and then wait for your instructions. God's delays are not God's denials. I AM Sananda. One with GOD of LIGHT. Salu.

(Editor's Note: Huge efforts are being made by U.S./Scientific community to delay entrance into the NULL period. A delay of as much as five years might be possible. Preparedness, not panic, is the message.)

Introduction to HATONN:

I am Gyeorgos Ceres Hatonn, Commander in Chief, Earth Project Transition, Pleiades Sector Flight Command, Intergalactic Federation Fleet. You may call me Hatonn. I come in service unto the ONE GOD of Lighted Creation, and as "Host" unto His people who will be brought into His places long prepared for you. My own "Captain" is Sananda, the Christed Being you have called by many names--now one totally with Creator/Creation. [Sananda: simply meaning of/with God]. We are not "mystical" nor even "mysterious" aliens. We are the "Hosts" sent in preparation for His return, bringers of truth according to His promise and to reveal the lies foisted upon you to claim your souls for the physical evil Elite controllers. We come in total love and without intent of force, coercion or judging. "Judging" is a state of evaluation of self in the presence of Creator in which actions in the physical experience are evaluated.

The information within the documents revealing Truth, THE PHOENIX JOURNALS and LIBERATOR, are the outlays of lies and hidden facts for which you can find confirmation. If you don't know the problems and the source of the problems, you can have no solutions. I do not "channel"; I transmit on a frequency attuned to my "receiver" who is simply a translator of the pulses into English. This is true of all receivers who receive from any of this Command come forth with God for the transition of species and planet.

The receivers mostly have no reference for material given until after the giving and then only for their own confirmation and yours. My petition is that you pay no attention to this resource if it is confusing and uncertain unto you--LET TRUTH STAND ALONE IN ITS PRESENTATION--THE REST WILL FOLLOW IN PROPER SEQUENCE.

INTRODUCTION TO THE PHOENIX JOURNALS:

America West began publishing the Phoenix Journals in December 1989. In that short span of a little more than two years, we have published over FIFTY Journals! These books are called "Journals" because they represent the compilation of DAILY transmissions from several Cosmic Light Beings, who call themselves "THE HOSTS OF GOD" or "THE HEAVENLY HOSTS". The Commander in Chief or "Captain of the Hosts" as He is referred to Biblically is called Gyeorgos Ceres HATONN. He commands a cosmic space fleet of over ONE MILLION craft. His Craft is called "The Phoenix" which prior to August 17, 1987, the end of the Mayan Calendar, was called "The Bethlehem". This is the same craft which appeared as "The Star of Bethlehem" during the birth of the one known as Immanuel or Jesus Christ. Each transmission contained within each Journal is timed and dated from the beginning of the "new" time on August 18, 1987. We are currently in YEAR FIVE.

There are now over 12,000 pages of information uncovering the lies and betrayals of Earth Humans historically, geophysically, socially, politically, and most importantly, SPIRITUALLY. God, Our ONE Creator, promised before the ending of this cycle that THE WORD of TRUTH would go forth to the four corners of the Earth, so that each human could make his choice to either live in harmony within God's natural Laws or in continued defiance of God and His Laws of Balance. The destruction of moral character and unity that we are witnessing is a result of our spiritual ignorance, defiance of God's Law of Love and mistaken belief in the deceptions developed by God's adversary, the anti-Christ.

We suggest that if you can, read EVERY Journal in the sequence that they are written. (SEE ORDER FORM). We do realize that "catch up" for some of you seems almost impossible, so we have efforted to categorize the books in very GENERAL categories to help you with your selections. We do suggest that in addition to your book choices, that you definitely subscribe to THE PHOENIX LIBERATOR which gives the current events and up-to-date information. We do have a toll free ordering number, 1-800-729-4131. (By MasterCard, Visa or COD). We ask that you use that number ONLY for ordering books or information packets. If you have general questions, please write or call 805-822-9655.

One last note, we at America West have concluded after much personal soul-searching that these Journals are THE MOST IMPORTANT books on this planet. We Thank you and may God be at the center of ALL of your choices.

KHAZARS ZIONISTS

EXPLANATION OF TERM USAGE:

Because many of you who are new readers may be confused or offended by the terminology used in some of the JOURNALS and JOURNAL descriptions, we have included a list of definitions.

The Commander is presenting historical evidence and facts which most often are contrary to the media propaganda. The people upon our planet have been betrayed and deceived by THE ELITE FEW, called "The Committee of 300" who have infiltrated nearly ALL governments, cultures, religions and movements. Commander Hatonn offers us the Truth which can and has been verified. The Elite few would deny you TRUTH to further their own aims. They HAVE made--and will continue to make--laws to keep the Truth hidden. In these JOURNALS you will find out by WHOM, WHY and HOW this has happened.

We request that you examine ALL of the evidence contained within the JOURNALS before you make your final judgement because the choices and decisions you make today will determine the future of our human civilization. Remember God WINS in the end of this play. The question is, will you choose to serve God of Light or His evil adversary?

KHAZARS/ZIONISTS KHAZARS/ZIONISTS

We are ALL (and each) equal reflections of the ONE Creator, and thus, all "related". The sooner that WE THE PEOPLE of all races, sexes and religions become UNITED in Truth, Love and mutual respect, the sooner we will bring back God-Balance upon THIS beloved Creation.

DEFINITIONS:

Zionism: Founded in the 19th century by Atheist, Theodore Herzl. Historically recognized as a secular political movement centering around a conspiratorial scheme of the ingathering of "Jews" of the world to the Marxist/Fascist country called "Israel". In reality Zionism is a world political engine of massive power allied with the power of the "Committee of 300" supercapitalists. These Elite few effectively control all aspects of western political, intellectual, religious and cultural life. There are many non-Jewish Zionists, just as there are many "Jews" who vehemently oppose Political Zionism. The Elite Zionists use the mask of religion to hide their blatant nationalism, racism and atheistic philosophy. Some of the International Zionist "watchdog" control and propaganda tentacles are The Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith (ADL), Jewish Defense League (JDL) and World Zionist Organization (WZO). All of the Zionist associations, starting with the ADL, are fabrications and branches of BRITISH intelligence.

Jew: This word did not come into existence until the year 1775. Prior to that year the word "Jew" did not exist in any language. The word was introduced into the English for the first time in the 18th century when Sheridan used it in his play "The Rivals", "She shall have the skin like a mummy and the beard of a Jew". Shakespeare never used the word "Jew" in any of his works, contrary to popular belief. In his "Merchant of Venice", V.111.i.61, Shakespeare wrote: "What is the reason? I am a Iewe, hath not a Iewe eyes?" "Iewe" is an English word for the Latin, "Iudaeus" which means "Judeans". The generally accepted "secondary meaning" of the word "Jew" today is a composite of FOUR almost universally believed assertions. A so-called "Jew" is (1) a person who today professes the form of religious worship known as "Judaism", (2) a person who claims to belong to a racial group associated with the ancient Semites, (3) a person directly the descendant of an ancient nation which thrived in Palestine in Bible history, (4) a person blessed by Divine intentional design with certain superior cultural characteristics denied to other racial, religious or national groups, all rolled into one.

The one known as Jesus was a "Judean", meaning one who lived in Judea OR a follower of the corrupted Babylonian religion (Pharisaism) of the area. Jesus was not a "Jew" as is commonly preached and he abhorred and denounced the form of religious worship practiced in Judea in His lifetime known then as "Pharisaism" and now called "Judaism". (For more in depth information on this subject, read, THE BITTER COMMUNION).

Khazar/Chazar: A warlike, phallic-worshipping group of people from Russia of Nordic, Mongolian and Turkish bloodlines. They ruled a portion of lower Russia, between the Black and Caspian Seas, for several hundred years and were at the "peak" of their power from the seventh to the tenth centuries. They adopted and merged themselves with the Judiasts of Judea in the year 740 AD. Most ones who call themselves "Jewish" actually are from the Russian Khazarian line, also called the false 13th tribe and they are not Semites. (For more in depth information read, COUNTERFEIT BLESSINGS and THE BITTER COMMUNION.)

Semite: This is the bloodline of one of Noah's sons, Sem or Shem of which came Joseph, the husband of Mary the mother of Immanuel/Jesus. The Semites are a bloodline which began with Semjasa, the heavenly son and guardian angel of God who is the "father" of the white human race. When we asked Commander Hatonn where the other races have come from, he says it makes NO difference whatsoever. All souled humans are God's children, even those who project evil. Most importantly, "God is Light, NOT white". (Read AND THEY CALLED HIS NAME IMMANUEL: I AM SANANDA and THE PLEIADES CONNECTION series for further information.)

Anti-Semite: Contrary to the current propaganda from the so-called Jewish-Zionist community, this term does not mean bigotry or racism against "Jews". Most ones who call themselves "Jews" are not even from the bloodline of Sem in Judea. They are Khazars (see definition above). The actual "anti-Semites" are the Zionist Elite of the Committee of 300. Most Zionists are racist because they project an irrational belief in the superiority of their own race--whatever they think that race may be--by calling themselves "God's Chosen Ones".

This manuscript was written in early 1987 as a movie and is being published at this time to protect the copyright.
