SHADOWS

As we move through the light focused around us we are often as blind or more blind to that which is held in the shadows. To those blurred images and elusive forms must we be forever attentive.

Friends in Texas have sent to us a wonderful gift to assist in making it through the long hours of writing. A most wonderful chair arrived a day or so ago and with it came all the blessings of that which flowed from the hearts of the gifters—and in behalf of all of us.

The receivers of such gifts of heartfelt intent to share the load is not lost for each does what is available to do in his/her own space. I know, too, that you offer these helpful things and kind thoughts to me as well for any "thing" is of passing use—while the intent lives on and on forever.

Many of you scattered within the four directions have brought (sent) gifts which have more meaning than all the wealth in the world could offer, for you have understood the long hours spent writing wherein the back hurts, the hands and arms tire and begin to be painful. Many of you have "been there" and that allows you to realize how "just a good supportive chair" and proper office apparatus can help. Ah, and so much the more comforting are the kind thoughts, careful cleansing of the energy fields, and flow of love from a heart to another heart.

What does a chair have to do with shadows? A LOT. EVERYTHING is connected to everything else and in the energy fields there is always need to

Last week's News Desk's feature article on Urine Therapy proved to be controversial, as expected. (Also see Hatonn's cautionary comments on page 10.) As I'm sure you readers are aware, the News Desk presents articles for information purposes only and does not purport to offer medical advice. If your interest in this subject was piqued, the book, Your Own Perfect Medicine (1-800-800-8849), provides further research evidence, case histories, and information on using this therapy—details that were beyond the scope of the News Desk.

WHAT IF THE TREASURY DID DEFAULT?

From the February 15 issue of Martin Weiss' SAFE MONEY REPORT, [quoting:]

In the last four weeks, the stock market literally went through the roof. What looked like a major top one month ago now looks more like a minor consolidation. But while Wall Street is having a grand party, our country's finances remain mired in turmoil. There's no budget for the current fiscal year—let alone for future years. A default by the Treasury Department is now a realistic possibility. No one knows what to expect next. Nothing has been resolved.

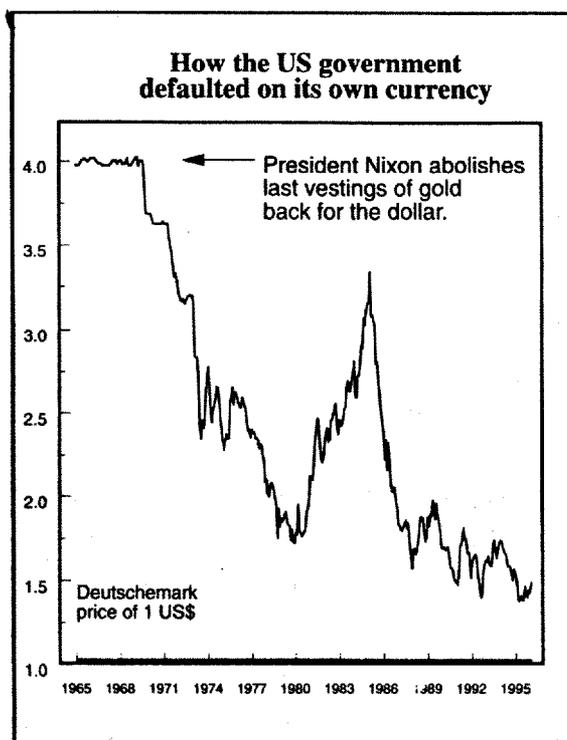

Moody's Investors Services—which has been rating the credit worthiness of borrowers for almost 100 years—put $387 billion of US Treasury bonds on review for a possible downgrade. IBCA, the European credit rating agency, warned that in the event of a default, it would drop its rating of US Treasury bonds to junk—a single-C! Even if the default lasted only a few days, the United States would not regain its triple-A status for many, many years.

Historical examples clearly show that the consequences of a government default can ricochet as much as a half century into the future. The near-term impact of a default is even more shocking. Here's what typically has happened in past defaults: First long-term government bond yields jump dramatically. Next, since other interest rates are directly or indirectly linked to government yields, the cost of money goes up for nearly all borrowers. The effects of higher interest rates race through the economy at the speed of sound. The surging cost of capital paralyzes businesses. Economic growth grinds to a halt. Stock prices tumble. Overseas, foreign investors dump the currency—as they scramble to get their assets out of the defaulting country. In desperation, the defaulting government imposes controls on capital transfers and foreign exchange, making it illegal to move savings to safety abroad. Eventually, the entire nation sinks into a quagmire from which it may never re-emerge.

Treasury Secretary Rubin brags that we've never defaulted on US government debt. Not true! Sure, the interest and principal on government securities have always been paid on time. But those payments have consistently been made with a vastly depreciated currency. In this sense, the US government has a long history of defaulting on its promises to maintain a stable dollar. The watershed came when President Nixon abolished the last vestige of the gold backing for US currency on August 15, 1971. I've included a graph that shows what happened to the dollar (in terms of the German mark) since then. The dollar looks like it rolled off the edge of a table, bounced once, and then died. Indeed, since Nixon cut the dollar loose from gold, the greenback has lost 63% of its value in terms of the D-mark and 72% against the Swiss franc. That's a defacto default of gigantic proportions.

Interest in gold will inevitably rise as the fear of default grows more intense. And the bigger the government, the bigger the impact these fears will have on the price of gold.

BIG MONEY EVANGELISM

In case you were thinking that "religious scams" only occur in the U.S.! From the February 12 issue of the JOHNSON CITY (Tennessee) PRESS, [quoting:]

Without question, the United States generated a new form of evangelism—big money operators. And that big money evangelism ran into big problems in this country. Now comes word that it has similar problems in other nations.

In Brazil, TV revivalist Edir Macedo built an $800-million-a-year empire on donations from followers. His Universal Church of the Kingdom of God owns a bank, four newspapers, stores and many radio and television stations. It has 300 member churches in 33 nations, including the United States. However, a disgruntled assistant, Carlos Magno, secretly videotaped Macedo gleefully counting money and telling his workers to threaten stingy givers with damnation. Magno also taped the evangelist dancing lewdly on a beach, and taped subordinate pastors joking about disrobing at a Jerusalem hotel party during a Holy Land tour.

The tapes were broadcast over a rival Catholic TV network. [Yeah. The pope hates any competition in the "god scam" business.] Magno said in the broadcast that Colombian cocaine dealers provided $1 million which Macedo used to buy TV stations. Now Macedo is being probed by Brazilian officials for tax fraud; they want to freeze his assets. Shades of Jim Bakker and Jimmy Swaggart!

WHAT (MONEY) MAKES STEVE RUN?

The media is beginning to focus on media-mogul Steve Forbes now that he has ascended toward the top of the GOP heap of presidential challengers. James R. Norman, former Forbes employee and current Media Bypass reporter of "Fifth Column" fame (see the February 13 issue of CONTACT), has these questions to ask about his old boss' privately financed campaign. From the March issue of MEDIA PYPASS [quoting:]

Question No. 1: What is Steve Forbes really worth?

Fortune declared Steve's "net worth" to be $439 million. That was based on his 35 percent share of the Forbes Inc. media empire valued by Fortune at $1.6 billion, plus his house, farm and personal investments. But whoa! Those may be the assets (at a rather inflated value, at that) but what about the DEBT? It appears that even before he began his ambitious presidential quest, Steve Forbes and his family were deeply in hock to the tune of probably a couple of a hundred million dollars. Why? Mainly to pay the inheritance taxes on the stock they received after father Malcolm's sudden death in 1990 at age 70. [Don't these guys know how to avoid such inconveniences?] How was it funded? The Forbes family and Forbes Inc. has never disclosed that. There clearly was not that much cash sitting around Forbes Inc. But one curious statistic suggests an answer: Steve Forbes has declared that he now owns 51 percent voting control of Forbes Inc. stock but only 35 percent of the equity. Did he sell or hock the other 16 percent (but keep the votes) to raise cash for the tax bill? Had it, perhaps, already been sold? To whom? Or did he borrow money on his remaining 35 percent? If so, on what terms was the money lent? In other words, to whom is Steve Forbes beholden for the payment of that tax bill? How heavily encumbered are his assets with debt?

Question No. 2: Where is he getting his cash now?

Even if we assume that Steve Forbes has a "net" worth over $400 million, it is clear that wealth is tied up in illiquid assets: Forbes Inc. stock, real estate, art works, the yacht, plane, etc. But political ads cost cold hard cash. Steve has been lending cash to his campaign. Where does it come from?

His salary of less than $2 million a year from Forbes Inc., probably goes mainly to pay his existing debt service. Word has it that he has been out borrowing money aggressively. From whom? On what terms? We don't know. Since he is privately funding his campaign and not relying on federal funding like other candidates, Forbes need not disclose where his personal cash comes from. [So whose puppet is Steve Forbes? Wait and see. It's always enlightening to see what goes on the behind-the-scenes!]

METEOROLOGISTS WONDER: WHAT'S WITH THE WEATHER?!

From the February 18 issue of the JOHNSON CITY PRESS, [quoting:]

The past 12 months of record-breaking blizzards, floods and heat has helped convince the National Weather Service the climate is definitely up to something. It's the nature of weather to change: The barometer is always going up or down and flocks of gray or white clouds are always someplace, swirling through the atmosphere somewhere. But weather also operates within a certain framework of probabilities, allowing people to expect snow in winter and heat in July. But records kept at the National Climatic Data Center, under the U.S. Department of Commerce's National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration office in Asheville, N.C., indicate the weather extremes such as more snow in winter and greater heat in July are becoming more common.

"Our climate records are showing greater oscillations—or extremes—that are occurring over the past two decades," said Grant Gouge, National Climatic Data Center's Data Operations Division quality control chief. "If this sort of thing is going to continue, it will have a significant impact on the infrastructure and economy of the nation," Gouge said.

Not all the indicated changes are extreme. Recent work by the National Climatic Data Center suggests there is an increase in the number of moderate-size rainstorms, said Jay Grymes, a climatologist with the Southern Regional Climate Center at the Louisiana State University. The weather changes are described in terms of probabilities, Grymes said. It seems to be more likely that places that saw a 5-inch rainfall once every three or four years now are seeing that kind of extreme weather once every other year.

Storms such as the Blizzard of '93 and those this winter are more paralyzing today because the flow of commerce has increased within the past century, Grymes said. Planes weren't constantly flying business commuters across country 75 years ago, and truckloads of lettuce and carrots weren't on the interstate highways. "As we become more technologically dependent, the greater the impact the public will notice for the same strength of storm," Grymes said. It's unclear whether the changes in climate are due to human factors such as the release of greenhouse gases into the atmosphere or a natural, cyclical phenomenon. [More to the point, how about very human-controlled weather technology?]

FDA PLAN TO SPEED NEW ANTIBIOTICS TO MARKET

More on the new Super-Bugs. From the February 12 issue of the BILLINGS GAZETTE, [quoting:]

When antibiotics hit the market in the 1950s, doctors jubilantly predicted an end to infectious diseases—and by the 1980s, half of all drug companies had stopped developing antibiotics, believing the battle won. But the bugs fought back. Today, many bacteria are impervious to medicine. A common form of staphylococcus, which causes everything from pneumonia to wound infections, is resistant to all antibiotics except vancomycin, considered the drug of last resort. Even vancomycin is fast losing its effectiveness against the enterococcus bacteria that spreads in hospitals, leaving doctors helpless. More than 13,000 Americans are dying each year from drug-resistant bacteria—and doctors warn the problem is steadily worsening.

The FDA considers bacterial drug resistance threatening enough that it is planning incentives to encourage development of new antibiotics. One proposal is a special program to speed antibiotic testing and review so companies can sell the drugs as quickly—and with as little expense—as possible. [And make lots more money, of course!]

But the question is how long these new antibiotics will last. No antibiotic will be a magic bullet, emphasized Dr. Mitchell Cohen of the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention. The germs will surely evolve into resistant strains again, so the solution is better infectious control, through sanitation and vaccination, he said. [See how this article is predicated on the fallacious germ theory of disease? NO mention of the many side effects of antibiotics—or of nutrition and prevention—or of the Elite's deliberate creation of super-bugs to hurry along their plot to hone down the population of "Plantation Earth For The Super Rich".]

CHARGES DROPPED AGAINST JONATHAN WRIGHT, MD

In case you haven't heard, here's this update from the November 1995 issue of the TOWNSEND LETTER FOR DOCTORS AND PATIENTS, [quoting:]

After years of investigation, the US Justice Department has decided that no charges will be filed against Dr. Jonathan Wright. Readers may recall that on 6th May 1992, the FDA (Food and Drug Administration) staged a raid on Dr. Wright's Tacoma Clinic in Kent, Washington. They were accompanied by state and federal law enforcement agents who actually broke down the doors and came in with weapons drawn, dressed in flak jackets and riot gear. They held the staff at gunpoint, ordered patients to stand against the wall and detained staff and physicians for most of the day while they confiscated various types of vitamins and minerals.

The Tacoma is just one of scores of such businesses raided over the last few years by the FDA, which seems more intent on protecting drug companies than protecting the public. [AMEN to that! This is a pyrrhic victory at best for Dr. Wright, considering what he has been through over the last four years.]

Dangerous Signs From the East

Editor's note: While America is lulled to sleep by the political non-debates, Russia is "full steam ahead" in its production of lethal weaponry. In this very timely and well done article by Mike Blair of Spotlight, he calls our attention to the Bear—while all eyes are looking elsewhere. The reminder about nuclear, chemical and biological weapons is also particularly timely in light of articles we've recently run on this very subject.

EXCLUSIVE TO THE SPOTLIGHT

BY MIKE BLAIR

While politicians in Washington wrangle over a new federal budget, deficit reduction and other domestic affairs—including this year's presidential election—little attention is being paid to foreign relations, particularly the emergence of dangerous signs from the Russian Commonwealth.

As the mainstream media and America's political leaders are consumed with the presidential race, abrupt changes have occurred in Russia's leadership. Communism has re-emerged, this time after a democratic election.

At the same time Russia is dragging its feet about compliance with nuclear disarmament agreements, it is about to turn down a new treaty that would dispose of 50 percent of U.S. and Russian nuclear warheads, and is secretly developing a new arsenal of deadly chemical and biological warfare weapons.

This not only indicates a return to the so-called Cold War, but since the Clinton administration is pushing ahead with U.S. arms reductions and halting new weapons development, it could place America at great risk.

Since recent Russian elections have resulted in communist-domination of the country's parliament, and with upcoming presidential elections in June, President Boris Yeltsin has taken a sharp turn away from his pro-Western stance that brought him to power. He has named anti-U.S. hard-liners to key government posts.

The most striking example was his firing in early January of Foreign Minister Andrei V. Kozyrev, a strong proponent of expanding ties with the United States and other Western nations.

Kozyrev was replaced with a stern, supposedly former devout Marxist—Yevgeny Primakov.

Also replaced have been three of his key economic reform leaders, Deputy Prime Minister Anatoly B. Chubais, Yegor T. Gaidar and Boris G. Fyodorov.

The dismissal of Chubais "is a concession to the communists prior to the [presidential] elections," warned Irina Khakamada, a Western-style reformer who won a parliamentary seat.

OMINOUS DELAY

Even more ominous warnings of a Russian reversal to its old Soviet-style communist ways is the foot-dragging in implementing any of the nuclear security and weapons inspection agreements that were reached last May at a summit meeting between Yeltsin and Clinton.

"It is clear," one U.S. official admitted, "that the mutual inspection efforts and exchanges of information on weapons and nuclear materials, which Clinton and Yeltsin said would happen, are not going to happen."

At the May summit, in a joint statement, the two presidents said they intended to "seek to conclude in the shortest possible time" a legal agreement to guarantee protection of the sensitive and classified information.

The agreement was never negotiated or signed, virtually nullifying the supposed achievements in mutual cooperation on inspections and exchange of information, which was touted by President Clinton as "a great stride towards making the world safer."

DUMA DORMANT

Creating further concerns is an impending refusal by the new communist-dominated Russian parliament, the Duma, to ratify a major nuclear arms reduction treaty, Start II, which was signed three years ago by Yeltsin and then-President George Bush.

While the U.S. Senate approved the new treaty January 26, it now seems unlikely that the Duma will give its approval. The Russians demand the treaty, which would reduce the nuclear warheads of each country by 50 percent, be re-negotiated.

"While we hope the Duma will ratify Start II, it seems unlikely that they will," said Marc Thiessen, a spokesman for the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

The new treaty would reduce American and Russian nuclear arsenals to no more than 3,500 warheads each, about half the totals allowed under the Start I treaty, which is currently in force and under which the United States continues to have problems in obtaining verification of Russian compliance.

The Clinton administration also is casting a blind eye toward Russia's concealment of what appears to be a massive crash program to develop new binary chemical warfare weapons, advanced systems in which two different types of chemical agents are mixed together to produce a deadly type of poison gas.

In spite of this, the administration is forging ahead in its effort to obtain Senate approval for a global treaty that would ban poison gas.

Development of the new Russian binary weapons would not be effected by the chemical ban treaty, leaving Russia's military leaders and scientists to develop new, deadly poison gases, while the United States eliminates its stock of current chemical weapons.

There is also evidence that the Russians are continuing with their development of biological (germ) warfare agents, as well as development and construction of a new generation of long-range nuclear submarines capable of delivering nuclear, chemical and biological weapons. ●

Part VI: "Admiralty" Up-Close

Part I of Rick's well-researched series on the U.S. legal system appeared in the 1/23/96 issue of CONTACT on page 8; Part II was in the 1/30/96 CONTACT on p. 5; Part III was in the 2/6/96 issue on p. 9; Part IV was in the 2/13/96 CONTACT on p. 10; Part V was in the 2/27/96 issue on p. 8. We continue below with this exposé.

3/1/96 RICK MARTIN

So that the scales for this series on law and our present judicial system are not too out of balance, Benjamin Franklin, in his 1780-something autobiography, made the following statements for our consideration. [Quoting:]

FIRST PRINCIPLES

I believe there is one supreme, most perfect Being, Author and Father of the Gods themselves. For I believe that Man is not the most perfect Being but one, rather that as there are many Degrees of Beings his Inferiors, so there are many Degrees of Beings superior to him.

Also, when I stretch my Imagination thro' and beyond our System of Planets, beyond the visible fix'd Stars themselves, into that Space that is every Way infinite, and conceive it fill'd with Suns like ours, each with a Chorus of Worlds forever moving round him, then this little Ball on which we move, seems, even in my narrow Imagination, to be almost Nothing, and myself less than nothing, and of no sort of Consequence.

When I think thus, I imagine it great Vanity in me to suppose, that the Supremely Perfect does in the least regard such an inconsiderable Nothing as Man. More especially, since it is impossible for me to have any positive clear idea of that which is infinite and incomprehensible, I cannot conceive otherwise than that he the Infinite Father expects or requires no Worship or Praise from us, but that he is even infinitely above it.

But, since there is in all Men something like a natural principle, which inclines them to DEVOTION, or the Worship of some unseen Power;

And since Men are endued with Reason superior to all other Animals, that we are in our World acquainted with;

Therefore I think it seems required of me, and my Duty as a Man, to pay Divine Regards to SOMETHING. I conceive then, that the INFINITE has created many beings or Gods, vastly superior to Man, who can better conceive his Perfections than we, and return him a more rational and glorious Praise.

As, among Men, the Praise of the Ignorant or of Children is not regarded by the ingenious Painter or Architect, who is rather honour'd and pleas'd with the approbation of Wise Men & Artists.

It may be that these created Gods are immortal; or it may be that after many Ages, they are changed, and others Supply their Places.

Howbeit, I conceive that each of these is exceeding wise and good, and very powerful; and that Each has made for himself one glorious Sun, attended with a beautiful and admirable System of Planets.

It is that particular Wise and good God, who is the author and owner of our System, that I propose for the object of my praise and adoration.

For I conceive that he has in himself some of those Passions he has planted in us, and that, since he has given us Reason whereby we are capable of observing his Wisdom in the Creation, he is not above caring for us, being pleas'd with our Praise, and offended when we slight Him, or neglect his Glory.

I conceive for many Reasons, that he is a good Being; and as I should be happy to have so wise, good, and powerful a Being my Friend, let me consider in what manner I shall make myself most acceptable to him.

Next to the Praise resulting from and due to his Wisdom, I believe he is pleas'd and delights in the Happiness of those he has created; and since without Virtue Man can have no Happiness in this World, I firmly believe he delights to see me Virtuous, because he is pleased when he sees Me Happy.

And since he has created many Things, which seem purely design'd for the Delight of Man, I believe he is not offended, when he sees his Children solace themselves in any manner of pleasant exercises and Innocent Delights; and I think no Pleasure innocent, that is to Man hurtful.

I love him therefore for his Goodness, and I adore him for his Wisdom.

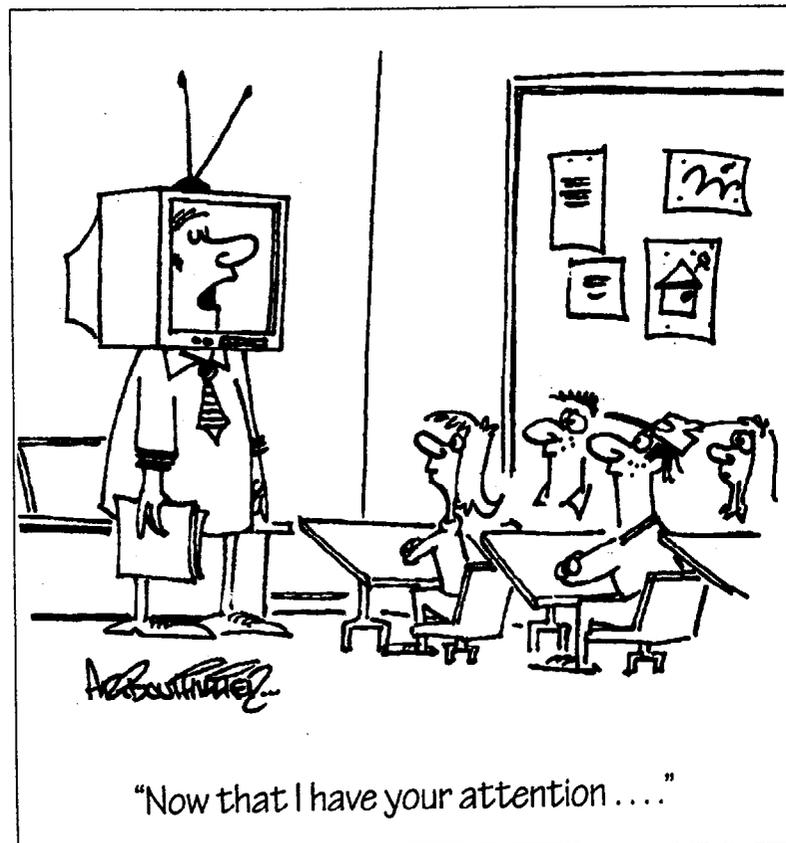

Let me then not fail to praise my God continually, for it is his Due, and it is all I can return for his many Favours and great Goodness to me; and let me resolve to be virtuous, that I may be happy, that I may please Him, who is delighted to see me happy. Amen! [End quoting.]

GERRY SPENCE

In his book, And Justice For None, Gerry Spence states:

"Clarence Darrow was right. Justice cannot be defined. And to the same extent that justice cannot be defined, neither can it be realized. Yet is not our great challenge to form a system that harmonizes such noble ideals as forgiveness with such a human impulse as revenge? At the heart of justice is a divine spirit. It sprouts from the same seeds as life itself. And although we can define neither life nor justice, we are able to recognize injustice, the supreme form of which is to surrender to the status quo and to sanctify the myths and fantasies that breed it, among which is the national legend that in America there is liberty and justice for all."

"Now that I have your attention . . ."

ADMIRALTY LAW

Everything You Ever Wanted To Know About Admiralty—And Then Some

Admiralty Court Defined By Black's Law

In Black's Law Dictionary—6th Edition, under admiralty court, we read: "A court exercising jurisdiction over all maritime contracts, torts, injuries, or offenses. Federal district courts have jurisdiction over admiralty and maritime actions. 28 U.S.C.A. Sec. 1333. Procedure in such actions is governed by the Fed. R. Civil P. and Supp. Admiralty Rules. See also Saving to suitors clause with respect to admiralty actions in state courts."

Also in Black's Law Dictionary, under Saving to suitors clause, we read: "That provision in 28 U.S.C.A. Sec. 1333(1) which gives the U.S. District Courts original jurisdiction, 'exclusive of the courts of the state' of any civil case of admiralty or maritime jurisdiction, 'saving to suitors in all cases all other remedies to which they are otherwise entitled.' The 'saving to suitors' clause of the section of the Judiciary Act implementing constitutional provision extending federal judicial powers to cases of admiralty and maritime jurisdiction means that a suitor asserting an in personam admiralty claim may elect to sue in a 'common law' state court through an ordinary civil action, and in such actions, the state courts must apply the same substantive law as would be applied had the suit been instituted in admiralty in a federal court." Shannon v. City of Anchorage, Alaska 478 P.2d 815, 818.

THE LAW OF ADMIRALTY

A brief prelude comment: The section you are about to read is as clear a commentary as you will see anywhere about Admiralty Law. The subject, by its very nature, is very technical and, for most, dry reading. I am compelled to include it in this series because it underlies much of the judicial process in this country at this time. Without knowing what these terms actually mean, how can we ever hope to truly understand? So please, with that in mind, I will now offer a portion on Admiralty taken from many diverse and often difficult-to-locate sources.

In the book The Law Of Admiralty, we read [quoting:]

The law of admiralty, or maritime law, may tentatively be defined as a corpus of rules, concepts, and legal practices governing certain centrally important concerns of the business of carrying goods and passengers by water. Insofar as the reference is to substantive law, the terms "admiralty" and "maritime law" are virtually synonymous in this country today, although the first derives from the connection of our modern law with the system administered in a single English court, while the second makes a wider and more descriptive reference. The subject comprises the most important part of the private law that deals with the shipping industry, although, for historical and to some extent practical reasons, its coverage is by no means coextensive with the whole reach of that industry's legal concerns; in some modern cases it has even been held to cover some matters quite unconnected with shipping (though the Supreme Court has recently cut back sharply on this development). Its tie with a single industry, and its separate, long-continued and international traditions and history mark it off quite distinctly from the relatively interpermeating branches of shoregoing law—with which, nonetheless, it has numerous relations. Substantively, in the United States, it is federal law, and jurisdiction to administer it is vested in the federal courts, though not to the entire exclusion of the courts of the states. Because of its special history, and its special-industry linkage, one cannot move about in it with any sureness without some knowledge both of its past and of the nature of the business it polices and serves.

...it is indispensable to note at the outset a recent change as regards the formal separateness of the "admiralty jurisdiction". Until 1966, each federal district court had an admiralty "side", with a separate docket, and rules of procedure peculiar to admiralty cases. In 1966 the separate "sides" were merged, the admiralty "suit" became a regular "civil action", and the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure were made generally applicable, with some special rules for certain cases heard under the "admiralty" jurisdictional grant. Despite this "unification", the admiralty power remains a separate and independent ground of jurisdiction, both constitutional and statutory.

Right now we are interested in the affirmative effect of the language just preceding the "saving clause". This is that, from the organization of the federal judiciary down to the present, the federal courts have taken jurisdiction (without reference to amount in controversy, diversity of citizenship, or the presence of any other "federal question") of all causes of action arising under the maritime law.

Just what cases are these? The answer to this will always be a little vague at the borderline, no matter how long the process of judicial inclusion and exclusion goes on, and there were large doubts indeed, in the early days of the Republic, as to the extent of the power conferred. In the leading early case, DeLovio v. Boit, an opinion by Story suggests several possible ways for defining the category. The words might have been intended to refer to the practice of the British Court of Admiralty during early colonial times or at the American Revolution, but Story believed (and the belief gained nearly uncontradicted generality) that the restrictions that hampered that court were enforced by writs of prohibition based on statutes not applicable to the colonies; it would thus have seemed gratuitous as well as crippling to accept its limits as those of the newly constituted American admiralty tribunals. This test was accordingly rejected, in DeLovio v. Boit and generally in our early precedents, though it cannot be said to have left no trace at all. Another possible reference might be to the jurisdiction of the colonial courts of vice-admiralty; still another might (especially in view of the use of the word "maritime") be to the jurisdiction of maritime courts throughout the shipping world. Story suggested in DeLovio that these two tests came down to much the same thing, since he believed that the colonial admiralty courts, like the seacourts of other nations, enjoyed a wide jurisdiction over maritime affairs, uncircumscribed by the narrowly literal "locality test" that had confined the English Court of Admiralty. DeLovio v. Boit concludes with a formulation that is imprecise, as was unavoidable, but that has, in the end, set the style for later courts: the jurisdiction, says Story, "comprehends all maritime contracts, torts, and injuries. The latter branch is necessarily bounded by locality; the former extends over all contracts (wheresoever they may be made or executed, or whatsoever may be the form of the stipulations) which relate to the navigation, business or commerce of the sea..."

[Still quoting:]

CONSEQUENCES OF ADMIRALTY JURISDICTION

So far we have dealt with the question, "What cases are within the admiralty jurisdiction?" Though in the given instance the answer may be so obvious as to be almost automatic, each case, to stay in court and to be dealt with as a case heard under the admiralty grant of jurisdiction, must pass this test. If the answer as to the given case is "No", the court cannot proceed with the case as an "admiralty" case; if no other ground of federal jurisdiction appears, the case must be dismissed. If the answer is "Yes", what are the consequences?

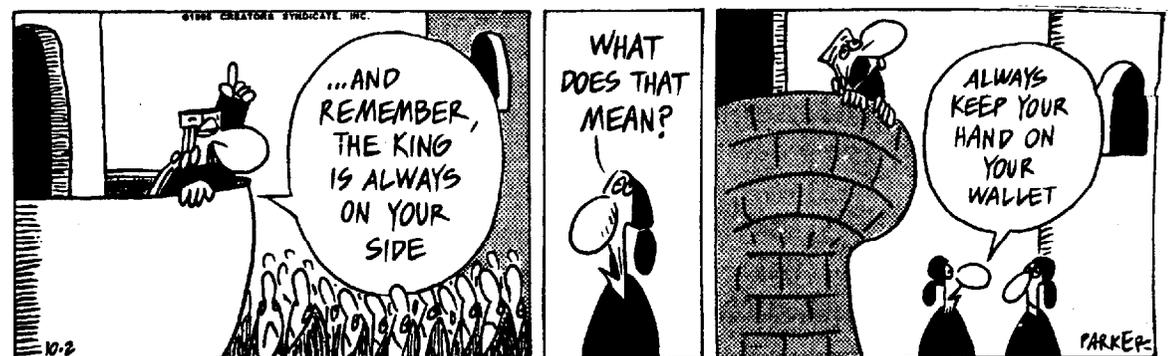

Briefly, if the admiralty jurisdiction is invoked in a civil complaint, and if a court holds this invocation well-founded, the case will in appropriate instances receive the special procedural treatment provided by the Rules, but will in general proceed as an ordinary civil action. ...however, the older cases, understanding of which is indispensable, were decided at a time when the admiralty docket was separate. Not, then, for antiquarian reasons, but so as to be able to understand cases still of authority, the student must be taken through a brief account of the position as it stood before 1966.

Admiralty cases were formerly docketed and heard on a separate "side" of the federal district court, where a special terminology and procedure were used; these were in part traditional and in part prescribed by the Admiralty Rules promulgated by the Supreme Court and by the rules of the lower courts for admiralty cases. Some of the terminology may be gotten at by simple equivalences with code-procedure terms: the "complaint" was called the "libel"; the "plaintiff" was called the "libellant"; the "defendant" was the "respondent". Admiralty lawyers were "proctors".

Trial, following the civil-law tradition with which the maritime law is closely connected, was to the judge rather than to a jury, and procedure was rather non-technical and simple, though perhaps no more so than under any modern code. Depositions were frequently taken and used, for witnesses were likely to be long gone before a suit could be reached on the docket. Thus far, the differences from short-going procedure are easily comprehensible and (except for the absence of the jury) rather minor.

There was one peculiarity, however, which is of great intrinsic importance, and which must be taken up at this time because some understanding of it is still prerequisite to comprehension of the jurisdictional allocation between state and federal courts. To it we now turn.

Admiralty libels were of two sorts: in personam and in rem. The in personam suit is unproblematic to the shore lawyer; it is a suit against a named natural or corporate person, asserting a personal liability. The in rem suit is virtually unknown outside the admiralty court, and understanding of its nature is not to be approximated without some conception of the substantive concept that underlies it: the "maritime lien". In American admiralty law, the maritime lien is a necessary condition for success in the suit in rem.

Upon the occurrence of certain mishaps or the non-fulfillment of certain obligations arising out of contract or status, the maritime law gives to the party aggrieved a right conceived of as a property interest in the tangible thing involved (usually but not always a ship) in the (often as yet unascertained) amount of the accrued liability. This right is called a maritime lien.

THE "SAVING CLAUSE"

The Judiciary Act of 1789, it will be recalled, while bestowing "exclusive" admiralty jurisdiction on the District Courts, saved "to suitors, in all cases, the right of a common law remedy where the common law is competent to give it." Obviously, the "exclusivity" and the "saving" are pretty much correlatives. What is "exclusive" and what is "saved"?

Summarily, the result of the cases is that a suitor who holds an in personam claim, which might be enforced by suit in personam in admiralty, may also bring suit, at his election, in the "common law" court—that is, by ordinary civil action in state court, or in federal court without interference to "admiralty", given diversity of citizenship and the requisite jurisdictional amount.

It has been decided by the Supreme Court that he may not sue in federal court, absent diversity, on the theory that a maritime claim "arises under" the laws of the United States.

Where, on the other hand, the claim asserted is in the nature of a maritime lien, enforceable "in admiralty" by in rem process, only the federal court as a court of admiralty may take jurisdiction. Thus, in the leading case of The Moses Taylor, a California statute, conferring on the state courts power to administer in rem proceedings against vessels, was struck down, and in The Hine v. Trevor, decided later in the same term of court, it is made explicit that the right to proceed in rem in any other court than the "court of admiralty" cannot be saved to suitors by the saving clause, for such a proceeding is not a "common law remedy" at all. Where, on the other hand, a state court merely enforces or secures enforcement of its judgment by levy on or attachment of a vessel as part of the defendant's good, with a view to compelling appearance or to subjecting the defendant's interest therein to sale to satisfy the judgment, this proceeding lacks the distinctive character of the proceeding in rem, is one known to the common law and is hence saved to suitors under the saving clause. [If that last paragraph confused you,

you're normal.]

The exclusion of the state courts from the in rem proceeding is pretty definitely based, in the cases, on the belief that such a proceeding is not a "common law remedy". It may be puzzling, therefore, to find that state courts have not been excluded from exercising jurisdiction in proceedings of an equitable nature, dealing with maritime subject-matters. Such proceedings are certainly not "common law remedies" stricto sensu. Perhaps such cases can be harmonized with the above-discussed construction of the saving clause by reference to the fact that the admiralty court itself has been thought not to possess the powers of the courts of equity, so that cases of this sort are not within the admiralty jurisdiction at all, and hence, a fortiori, not within the exclusive jurisdiction. Or the term "common law" may be taken in its widest intendment, to include all legal, equitable and statutory rights and remedies, other than the distinctive admiralty in rem proceeding.

In any event, perhaps attempting to codify these cases, the Revisers of the Judiciary Code in 1948 (with a slight further amendment in 1949) changed the wording of the saving clause, which now reads:

"The district courts shall have original jurisdiction, exclusive of the courts of the States, of:

"(1) Any civil case of admiralty or maritime jurisdiction, saving to suitors in all cases all other remedies to which they are otherwise entitled."

Obviously, this quite unnecessary change in phraseology, apparently motivated in part by a stylistic preference, might imperil those decisions which, like The Moses Taylor and The Hine v. Trevor, exclude state courts from entertaining in rem proceedings, though empowered by state statute to do so, on the square and sole ground that such proceedings are not "common law remedies". They certainly are "any other remedies"; whether one is "otherwise entitled" to them (taking "otherwise" as the mere automatic-writing surplusage it appears to be and thus sidestepping the vortex "otherwise that what?") is the very question that has to be decided all over again without the aid of the wording on the sole basis of which it was decided under the saving clause, old style. A subsequent Supreme Court case intimates that, by main force, the new language will be taken to mean the same thing as the old.

On the assumption, nowhere contradicted, that this is the right view, we can summarize as follows:

Where the suit is in personam, it may be brought either in federal court under the admiralty jurisdiction (which must in that case either be specially invoked by the plaintiff or visibly be the only ground of federal jurisdiction) or, under the saving clause, in an approprate non-maritime court, by ordinary civil action. Where the suit is in rem, only the federal court, acting under its admiralty power, has jurisdiction. The distinction is not always easy. In the case of Madruga v. The Superior Court of California, the Supreme Court was asked to decide whether the partition suit of a part owner of a vessel could be brought in state court under the saving clause. Such a suit certainly deals primarily with the thing, but the majority of the Court considered it as not possessing the characteristics of the admiralty suit in rem, and allowed it to proceed. The decisive distinction seems to have been that the California court was acting only on the interest of the defendant—that its judicial scale, if the case went that far, would not convey a good title against the world, or extinguish interests of those not parties to the suit.

One very important caution must be added at this point. The allocation of jurisdiction just sketched is the one that has been derived from construction of the section of the Judiciary Act dealing generally with admiralty cases; it is a correct picture only for cases not otherwise provided for by statute. A proceeding to foreclose a preferred ship mortgage, for example, cannot be brought in state court under the saving clause, for the federal statute creating such mortgages prescribes that the federal court shall be the exclusive forum in which they can be foreclosed. [End quoting.]

SUPREME COURT RULING— DELOVIO V. BOIT (1815)

In an 1815 decision written by Justice Story, [DeLovio v. Boit, et. al. Case No. 3.776 (2 Gall.398) Circuit Court D. Mass. Oct. Term (1815)] the Supreme Court ruled, [quoting:]

The admiralty from the highest antiquity, has exercised a very extensive criminal jurisdiction, and punished offenses by fine and imprisonment. The celebrated inquisition at Queensborough, in the reign of Edward III, would alone be decisive. And even at common law it had been adjudged, that the admiralty might fine for contempt.

[A]ppeal, and not a writ of error, lies from its decrees...

Yet it is conceded on all sides, that of maritime hypothecations the admiralty has jurisdiction.

The jurisdiction of the admiralty depends, or ought to depend, as to contracts upon the subject matter, i.e., whether maritime or not: and as to torts, upon locality...

Neither the judicial act nor the constitution, which it follows, limit the admiralty jurisdiction of the District Court in any respect to place. It is bounded only by the nature of the cause over which it is to decide.

CONTACT: The Phoenix Project

CONTACT is a unique and inspired newspaper for concerned citizens everywhere, though it particularly focuses on the United States because of this country's special mission in the affairs of the world. That is, "As goes the United States, so goes the world."

CONTACT is a vehicle for Commander Gyeorgos Ceres Hatonn's most recent writings on important current affairs, plus those from other enlightening sources, on matters critical to a responsible and informed public at this time of planetary transition and final days of battle between the Forces of Light and the "Evil Empire" forces of darkness.

CONTACT exists to counteract the manipulating lies and clever half-truths put out (on purpose) by the regular print and broadcast media prostitutes of the Satanic Elite controllers—parasites who are in the process of economically, physically, and spiritually collapsing this once great country (and actually the entire planet) down to a slave-state level of existence under their diabolical control plan called The New World Order.

This newspaper, CONTACT, began life on March 30, 1993, risen, like the mythical bird, with great determination "up from the ashes" of its internationally acclaimed predecessor called THE PHOENIX LIBERATOR.

THE PHOENIX LIBERATOR, in turn, began life in mid-October of 1991, having evolved from an earlier newsletter called the PHOENIX JOURNAL EXPRESS, which itself came into existence as a faster way to get THE TRUTH out to you readers than was possible with the more substantial "book" format of the PHEONIX JOURNALS. Much incredible ground has been covered so far in that mission.

While the PHOENIX LIBERATOR's motto reminded all that "The Truth Will Set You Free", the CONTACT's motto, displayed prominently in the masthead, takes that thought another important step forward and proclaims: "Ye Shall Know The Truth And The Truth Shall Make You Mad!"

The "Phoenix Project" is about those preparations needed—at body, mind and soul levels—to both understand and survive the great healing changes which are beginning to energize this beautiful little planet, now so frazzled and tortured from abuses of all kinds. We look forward, with great expectations, to the CONTACTing with all of you—a coming together that is rapidly taking place as the entire Phoenix Project "ground crew" continues to connect, solidify, and gain strength through becoming informed of THE TRUTH. Indeed, welcome aboard, friends!

—Dr. Edwin M. Young
Editor-In-Chief, CONTACT

On the whole, I am, without the slightest hesitation, ready to pronounce, that the delegation of cognizance of "all civil cases of admiralty and maritime jurisdiction" to the Courts of the United States comprehends all maritime contracts, torts, and injuries. The latter branch is necessarily bounded by locality; the former extends over all contracts, (wheresoever they may be made or executed, or whatsoever may be the form of the stipulations) which relate to the navigation, business or commerce of the sea.

The next inquiry is, what are properly to be deemed "maritime contracts." Happily in this particular there is little room for controversy. All civilians and jurists agree that in this appellation are concluded, among other things, marine hypothecations... and what is more material to our present purpose, policies of insurance.

My judgement accordingly is that policies of insurance are within (though not exclusively within) the admiralty and maritime jurisdiction of the United States. [End quoting.]

SUPREME COURT RULING— THE GENESSEE CHIEF (1851)

[The Propeller Genessee Chief, et al.
v. Fitzhugh, et al. 12 How. 443. 452-3.]
[Quoting:]

And if the admiralty jurisdiction, in matters of contract and tort which the courts of the United States may lawfully exercise on the high seas, can be extended to the lakes under the power to regulate commerce, it can with the same propriety and upon the same construction, be extended to contracts and torts on land when the commerce is between different States. And it may embrace also the vehicles and persons engaged in carrying it on. It would be in the power of Congress to confer admiralty jurisdiction upon its courts, over the cars engaged in transporting passengers or merchandise from one State to another, and over the persons engaged in conducting them, and deny to the parties the trial by jury. Now the judicial power in cases of admiralty and maritime jurisdiction has never been supposed to extend to contract made on land and to be executed on land. But if the power of regulating commerce can be made the foundation of jurisdiction in its courts, and a new and extended admiralty jurisdiction beyond its heretofore known and admitted limits, may be created on water under that authority, the same reason would justify the same exercise of power on land. [End quoting.]

CURRENT CODE— 28 USCS Sec. 1333(1)

[Quoting:]

I. Admiralty Jurisdiction In General

1. Generally

Admiralty and maritime jurisdiction of United States was not limited either by restraining statutes or judicial prohibitions of England. Waring v. Clarke (1847) 46 US 441, 12 L Ed 226; Jackson v. The S.B. Magnolia (1858) 61 US 296, 15 L Ed 909; Insurance Co. v. Dunham (1871) 78 US 1, 20 L Ed 90; Atlantic Transport Co. v. Imbrovek (1914) 234 US 52, 58 L Ed 1208, 34 S Ct 733.

Jurisdiction included all cases of admiralty and maritime character as were cognizable in admiralty courts of states at time Constitution was adopted. The Belfast (1869) 74 US 624, 19 L Ed 266.

Admiralty jurisdiction of federal courts embraces two principal subjects, maritime contracts and maritime torts. Berwind-White Coal Mining Co. v. New York (1943, CA2 NY) 135 F2d 443.

Since federal maritime claim may be asserted in Federal District Court based on 28 USCS Sec. 1333, or, in consequence of "saving to suitors" clause of that section, based on diversity of citizenship, where defendant admitted facts showing diversity jurisdiction, it was unnecessary to address question whether court was correct in determining that it had jurisdiction under 28 USCS Sec. 1333. Pryor v. American President Lines (1975, CA4 Md) 520 F2d 974, cert den 423 US 1055, 46 L Ed 2d 644, 96 S Ct 787.

[Still quoting, skipping large portions:]

2. Grant of jurisdiction

Constitution, in grant of admiralty jurisdiction, refers to it as existed in United States and other maritime countries at time of adoption of that instrument. Atkins v. Disintegrating Co. (1874) 85 US 272, 21 L Ed 841.

Admiralty and maritime jurisdiction is conferred on courts of United States by Art. 3 Sec. II of Constitution, and cannot be enlarged or restricted by state legislation; no state law can bring within admiralty jurisdiction of national courts a subject not maritime in nature; but when a right maritime in nature to be enforced by admiralty process is given by state statute, admiralty courts of United States have exclusive jurisdiction to enforce that right according to their own rules of procedure. The J.E. Rumbell (1893) 148 US 1, 37 L Ed 345, 13 S Ct. 498.

The Constitution must have referred to system of law coextensive with, and operating uniformly in, whole country; it certainly could not have been intended to place rules and limits of maritime law under disposal and regulation of the several States, as that would have defeated uniformity and consistency at which Constitution aimed on all subjects of commercial character affecting intercourse of States with each other or with foreign states. Workman v. New York City (1900) 179 US 552, 45 L Ed 314, 21 S Ct 212.

Right created by common law to seek civil remedy for cause within historic admiralty jurisdiction is not part of admiralty jurisdiction within exclusive grant of admiralty jurisdiction to Federal District Courts. J.J. Ryan & Sons, Inc. v. Continental Ins. Co. (1974, DC SC) 369 F Supp 692.

Admiralty jurisdiction would not be expanded into blanket means to adjudicate every lawsuit relating to admiralty claim or judgment; in determining appropriate instances for exercising admiralty jurisdiction, court would consider both need to protect jurisdiction of admiralty courts and obvious necessity of preventing its unwarranted expansion. Atlanta Shipping Corp. v. Chemical Bank (1986, SD NY) 631 F Supp 335.

3. Constitutionality

Exclusive cognizance of civil causes of admiralty and maritime jurisdiction vested in district courts by judiciary act is constitutional. The Moses Taylor (1867) 71 US 411, 18 L Ed 397.

[Still quoting—skipping large portions over next several sections:]

4. Construction, generally

28 USCS Sec. 1333 should be strictly construed to exclude from the original jurisdiction of district court cases lacking a maritime connection. Smith v. Guerrant (1968, SD Tex) 290 F Supp 111.

5. Effect of federal law and treaties

Treaties have effect of depriving admiralty courts of jurisdiction in certain cases. Moodie v. The Amity (1796, DC SC) F Cas No 9741.

6. Effect of state law

State law could not abridge or enlarge duties or responsibilities of maritime law or rights of admiralty. The Moses Taylor (1867) 71 US 411, 18 L Ed 397; The Hine v. Trevor (1867) 71 US 555, 18 L Ed 451; The Lottawanna (1875) 88 US 558, 22 L Ed 654; Butler v. Boston & Savannah S.S. Co. (1889) 130 US 527, 32 L Ed 1017, 9 S Ct 612 (not followed Kamani v. Port of Houston Authority (CA5 Tex) 702 F2d 612); Workman v. New York City (1900) 179 US 552, 45 L Ed 314, 21 S Ct 212.

State law could give right enforceable in admiralty in federal courts. Ex parte McNeil (1872) 80 US 236, 20 L Ed 624.

Federal courts proceeding in admiralty could enforce maritime rights created by state law not inconsistent with laws of Congress. Earles v. Howard (1920, DC Me) 268 F 94.

7. Exclusive nature of jurisdiction, generally

Under 28 USC Sec. 1333, which, in conferring admiralty jurisdiction upon federal district courts, exclusive of courts of states, saves to suitors "in all cases all other remedies to which they are otherwise entitled," admiralty's jurisdiction is "exclusive" only as to those maritime causes of action begun and carried on as proceedings in rem, that is, where vessel or thing is itself treated as offender and made defendant by name or description in order to enforce lien; it is this kind of in rem proceeding which state courts cannot entertain; jurisdictional acts leaves state courts competent to adjudicate maritime causes of action in proceedings in personam, that is, where defendant is person, not ship or some other instrument of navigation. Madruga v. Superior Court of California (1954) 346 US 556, 98 L Ed 290, 74 S Ct 298.

District court's jurisdiction of civil causes in admiralty and maritime jurisdiction, granted by Article III, Sec. 2, clause 1, of Constitution, was exclusive of state courts except where common law gave concurrent remedy. Sound Marine & Machine Corp. v. Westchester County (1938, CA2 NY) 100 F2d 360, cert den 306 US 642, 83 L Ed 1042, 59 S Ct 582. [Still quoting and skipping large segments:]

8. Concurrent jurisdiction

Even though court of admiralty had jurisdiction of subject matter, its jurisdiction was not exclusive in a personam action, and even though it were authorized to render declaratory judgment, such court would not exercise such power to overturn prior judgment of state court of concurrent and competent jurisdiction between same parties and involving same questions; no litigant was entitled to two declarations of same right. McLain v. Lance (1944, CA 5 Tex) 146 F2d 341, cert den 325 US 855, 89 L Ed 1976, 65 S Ct 1183.

While proceeding in rem in admiralty was within jurisdiction of federal court, yet action in personam for damages occurring on navigable river was within concurrent jurisdiction of state court. Marking v. New St. Louis & Calhoun Packet Co. (1943, DC Ky)

48 F Supp 680.

If action was of type that was cognizable in both admiralty and common-law courts, state courts retained concurrent jurisdiction with federal admiralty courts to entertain action. Moore v. Purse Seine Net (1941) [End quoting.]

Now, let's move from Admiralty Law to two points which affect everyone who files any type of lawsuit. They are: "jurisdiction" and "cause of action".

JURISDICTION

Whenever there is any doubt about what a word or term means, in the legal sense, the very best resource right-off-the-top, is Black's Law Dictionary. Therefore, let's see what Black's (6th Edition) has to say about the subject of jurisdiction. [Quoting:]

A term of comprehensive import embracing every kind of judicial action. Federal Land Bank of Louisville, KY v. Crombie, 258 Ky. 383, 80 S.W.2d 39, 40. It is the power of the court to decide a matter in controversy and presupposes the existence of a duly constituted court with control over the subject matter and the parties. Pinner v. Pinner, 33 N.C.App. 204, 234 S.E.2d 633. Jurisdiction defines the powers of courts to inquire into facts, apply the law, make decisions, and declare judgment. Police Com'r of Boston v. Municipal Court of Dorchester Dist., 374 Mass. 640, 374 N.E.2d 272, 285. The legal right by which judges exercise their authority. Max Arms, Inc. v. Barker, 293 Ky. 698, 170 S.W.2d 45, 48. It exists when court has cognizance of class of cases involved, proper parties are present, and point to be decided is within powers of court. United Cemeteries Co. v. Strother, 342 Mo. 1155, 119 S.W.2d 762, 765. Power and authority of a court to hear and determine a judicial proceeding; and power to render particular judgment in question. In re De Camillis' Este, 66 Misc.2d 882, 322 N.Y.S.2d 551, 556. The right and power of a court to adjudicate concerning the subject matter in a given case. Biddinger v. Fletcher, 224 Ga. 501, 162 S.E.2d 414, 416. The term may have different meanings in different contexts. Martin v. Luther, C.A.III., 689 F.2d 109, 114.

Areas of authority; the geographical area in which a court has power or types of cases it has power to hear.

Scope and extent of jurisdiction of federal courts is governed by 28 U.S.C.A. Sec. 1251 et seq. [End quoting.]

CAUSE OF ACTION

Black's Law Dictionary defines "cause of action"—a critical point for anyone even considering entering into any kind of "legal action"—as, [quoting:]

The fact or facts which give a person a right to judicial redress or relief against another. The legal effect of an occurrence in terms of redress to a party to the occurrence. A situation or state of facts which would entitle party to sustain action and give him right to seek a judicial remedy in his behalf. Thompson v. Zurich, Inc. Co., D.C. Minn., 309 F.Supp. 1178, 1181. Fact, or a state of facts, to which law sought to be enforced against a person or thing applies. Facts which give rise to one or more relations of right-duty between two or more persons. Failure to perform legal obligation to do, or refrain from performance of, some act. Matter for which action may be maintained. Unlawful violation or invasion of right. The right which a party has to institute a judicial proceeding. See also Case; Claim...etc.

Case: A general term for an action, cause, suit, controversy, at law or in equity; a question of contesting before a court of justice; an aggregate of facts which furnishes occasion for the exercise of the jurisdiction of a court of justice. A judicial proceeding for the determination of a controversy between parties where rights are enforced or protected, or wrongs are prevented or redressed; any proceeding judicial in its nature.

Criminal act requiring investigation by police. Disease or injury requiring treatment by physician.

Surveillance or inspection of residence, business, etc. by potential burglar or robber.

The word "case" may include applications for divorce, applications for the establishment of highways, applications for orders of support of relatives, and other special proceedings unknown to the common law. S.D. Warren Co. v. Fritz, 138 Me. 279, 25 A.2d 645, 648.

In ordinary usage, the word "case" means "event", "happening", "situation", "circumstance".

A statement of facts involved in a transaction or series of transactions, or occurrence, or other matter in dispute, drawn up in writing in a technical form, for submission to a court or judge for decision or opinion. See Cause of Action.

Claim: To demand as one's own or as one's right; to assert; to urge; to insist. A cause of action. Means by or through which claimant obtains possession or enjoyment of privilege or thing. Demand for money or property as of right, e.g., insurance claim. U.S. v. Tieger, D.C.N.J., 138 F.Supp. 709, 710.

With respect to claims to a negotiable instrument of which a holder in due course takes free, the term "claim" means any interest or remedy recognized in law or equity that creates in the claimant a right to the interest or its proceeds.

Right to payment, whether or not such right is reduced to judgment, liquidated, unliquidated, fixed, contingent, matured, unmatured, disputed, undisputed, legal, equitable, secured, or unsecured; or right to an equitable remedy for breach of performance if such breach gives rise to a right to payment, whether or not such right to an equitable remedy is reduced to judgment, fixed, contingent, matured, unmatured, disputed, undisputed, secured, or unsecured. Bankruptcy Code Sec. 101.

In conflicts of law, a receiver may be appointed in any state which has jurisdiction over the defendant who owes a claim. Restatement, Second, Conflicts, Sec. 369.

In patent law, a claim is an assertion of what the invention purports to accomplish, and claims of a patent define the invention and the extent of the grant; any feature of an invention not stated in the claim is beyond the scope of patent protection. Smith v. ACME General Corp., C.A. Ohio, 614 F.2d 1086, 1088. [End quoting.]

Quoting from R. Randal Kelso's Introduction of Law:

A cause of action is an aggregate of facts that gives plaintiff the right to a favorable judgment. A rule of law providing that certain kinds of facts in the aggregate constitute a cause of action creates or recognizes a cause of action.

Causes of action initially created by the common law courts of England are called actions at law or common law actions. In common law action, the usual judgment for plaintiff is that defendant must pay damages to plaintiff, i.e., an amount of money needed to compensate plaintiff for the injuries, expenses and loss caused by defendant.

Causes of action initially created by the equity courts of England are called actions (or suits) in equity. The usual judgment (order or decree) in an equity action is that the defendant must do or not do something other than or in addition to paying damages to the plaintiff. In most states, all questions in an equity action are decided by the judge; neither part has the right to a jury trial. Of course, courts and legislatures in this country have created actions at law and in equity that were unknown to the English courts.

The concept of "cause of action" is very useful. A rule of law providing that certain facts constitute a cause of action enables judges and lawyers quickly to determine what facts give rise to a right and impose a duty; what is a breach of duty and an interference with a right; and what may be a plaintiff's remedy and a defendant's liability.

In modern procedure, the phrase "claim for relief" may have the same meaning as "cause of action."

Facts which in the aggregate constitute a cause of action (or a claim for relief) often are grouped into elements for convenience. Many causes of action have distinctive names which help bring their elements to mind. For example, Trespass is a cause of action... [End quoting.]

CLOSING THOUGHTS

A law professor asked one of the better students, "If you were to give someone an orange, how would you go about it?"

The student replied, "Here's an orange."
The professor was outraged. "No! No! Think like a lawyer!"

The student then replied, "Okay. I'd say, 'I hereby give and convey to you all and singular, my estate and interests, rights, claim, title, claim and advantages of and in, said orange, together with all its rind, juice, pulp, and seeds, and all rights and advantages with full power to bite, cut, freeze and otherwise eat the same, or give the same away with or without the pulp, juice, rind and seeds, anything herein before or hereinafter or in any deed, or deeds, instruments of whatever nature or kind whatsoever to the contrary notwithstanding.'"

"Wonderful!" beamed the professor.

In the meantime, this series is...to be continued.

WHAT IS OVERLOAD?

You CANNOT overload your mind—you can only overload your emotional wish to use your BRAIN!

I don't think any of you understand how weary I am of having to meet other people's needs and Dharma being put in a position of "having" to keep to "convenient" schedules. Your lives would be ever so much easier if you didn't do this for WE WORK DURING THE SLEEP HOURS and by the time anyone can make space available, because of the work we have ALREADY done, the motivation is to just "what the Hell" with anything else. I DON'T WORK ON YOUR SCHEDULES—PERIOD—and therefore NEITHER CAN DHARMA.

You legal people are letting options expire daily now and yet you don't allow time to speak of these things because, I suppose, of some schedule you set "on others" for your paper material. There is no point in having a paper if you don't allow timely collection and input.

Dharma, we don't have time for this next assignment so, please, get someone to copy the article and pictures on John Maxson, then send it over to the CONTACT office and ask if someone will structure the layout to run in the next edition of the paper [see pgs. 11-12]. This means that someone has to get in touch with these parties, track down John Maxson and then there are a LOT of things needing to be done. I need Dharma to have copy because I will be wanting to write about this but we don't need the "original". And, furthermore, I am not ready to deal with the topic now.

SPACE SHUTTLE AND OTHER LIES

We will refer here, briefly, to the Shuttle which is supposedly in your command in space as we write. What does the Vandenberg rocket launch and the Arian rocket launch have in common with this Shuttle "run"? Does your government ever fib to you?

Let us have a little quiz and see how much science you have learned. Is the Shuttle told to you to be "in orbit"? Is this in weightless space? Was the satellite on the tether also in weightless space and was not the tether in weightless space? So, what forces could "snap" that tether? Ah, it was "coiled" so it remembered its holding tank pattern? Fine so far? Well, WHAT WOULD BREAK THE TETHER? It gets more and more difficult to find ANYTHING that measures equal to the tales given you, does it not? And, why do they TELL YOU the satellite is lost FOREVER as a piece of space junk? This is hundreds of millions of dollars simply tossed out? Why? Haven't the last few missions been said to be to RETRIEVE satellites? If you are in space orbiting—would not the satellite, at the very least, orbit WITH the Shuttle? Or, couldn't they turn on a booster and speed the orbit ratio and hook that satellite on the next pass? What kind of garbage do they feed you that keeps you from using your minds?

What do the atomic tests in the Pacific, the Space Shuttle now losing its satellite, the rocket launches AND THE VOLCANO ALERTS AND THE EARTHQUAKES AROUND THE RING OF FIRE HAVE IN COMMON? No, I am NOT going to answer FOR YOU. It is time you pay attention, tell your non-reader "friends" it is top secret and "sexually explicit" and they can't read CONTACT! STOP SHOVING THE INFORMATION DOWN THE GULLETS OF YOUR BLIND FRIENDS AND LOVED ONES. LET THEM GO THEIR BLIND WAYS FOR YOU CANNOT DO IT FOR THEM!

In addition, you had BETTER START PAYING ATTENTION to what is coming down. The Islamic and Moslem peoples are going to rise up against the Khazarian Zionists and it will be the most bloody and miserable a "fall" the world has ever witnessed. This is coming soon to your local neighborhood!

LANA K. AND INTESTINAL CLEANSING

I have a personal request from "Lana" who had asked help prior to now and I had responded. Please don't do this to us, friends. I know that you get desperate but I CANNOT show any possible misrepresentation of doing "medicine" or even a "healing-gourd dance".

Lana, as to your body: yes indeed you are in bad shape and let me point out why—to some extent. You are diagnosed with "clostridium" infection. That is by far, not all, but it is enough for now. Clostridiums give off gas, quite like Botulism and "Gas" Gangrene and, if nothing else were present as you get more and more debilitated, the symptoms will continue to increase and, worse, the "carrier parasites" will take on the same qualities as the "bug" they carry around.

You speak of the "Cleanse" possibly making parasites "burrow in"? No, the parasites will act much like a tick with a match to its tail. They will back off because the toxin affecting THEM is in the circulatory system and they die from "that", not old age.

What can you do when you can't keep the component parts ALL down? You, as I have said many times: drop off the offending ingredient—EXCEPT FOR THE WALNUT HULL! That product is THE most necessary ingredient but will not keep from hatching out new parasites—but it is not unpleasant to go over and over through the "walnut hull" regimen. If you can't stand the tincture, send some helper to the health store and get capsules and follow on as on the program. However, the walnut tincture is excellent for soothing the stomach, quieting the stomach and intestinal linings and its presence in the digestive tract will stop the gnawing of any parasitic invaders. The "sweep" is a fiber BUT does not act like you imagine. You have to have lots of fluids with it but it STOPS the irritation of the separation of solid from fluid, softens the stool but leaves it intact and, even though it sweeps the intestinal walls, it also lubricates the entire intestinal tract.

I simply won't offer more, Lana, for we are paying dearly for our prior help. We have had products SEIZED and sent to the FDA, etc. This is fine in that the products are excellent, within regulations and simply ends up a time-consuming botheration—but it keeps product FROM EVERYONE so I will no longer individually offer ideas. I'm sorry but you people will HAVE TO READ ALL THE PAPERS AND THE JOURNALS WHEREIN I HAVE WRITTEN ALL THE IN-FORMATION.

All of you seem to think the parasite cleanse program is somehow hard on the body! IT IS NOT! There is NOTHING which is other than EASY and healing to the body. There are some of Dr. Clark's ideas and additions which act as a purgative—NOT IN GAIA CLEANSE! If you are feeling debilitated during or after the cleanse—you are using it incorrectly. If too much clove makes you feel bad—stop taking too much! There needs to be a cleansing of the toxins from the body as well, but I do not go along with all the body retching that such as Cancer Clinics, etc., mandate. If you can't handle getting well, then there is something wrong with the treatment—or—you have damaged self to the point of un-easy recovery.

Lana speaks of "scar tissue" from all the prior trauma of wound healing. Nothing is going to take away the scar tissue but possibly surgery. There are some things that would make the tissue more elastic and less painful and damaging as a whole—but if the tissue is necessary to be gone, it would have to be through surgery. You will continue to have the recurrence of what you call "flares" as long as the causative problem is present.

And Lana, karma is a botheration. You can hold onto karma if you must but it is NOT what you obviously believe it to be. That is a type of "voo doo" thrust off on you people to CONTROL you (AND MAKE YOU SICK). Take control of your life, cast off the so-called karma, and take back your lives. Karma, at best, is simply something for you to rise above and get rid of. It is time to grow beyond the "witchcraft" beliefs thrust off on you in the name of religion, explanation in excuse of some sort of "religious mythology", and get control of SELF as the perfect miracle of God that you ARE.

Now for the hardest: YOU CANNOT GET RID OF THAT WHICH YOU HOLD DEARLY AND FOCUS ON EVERY MOMENT OF YOUR EXISTENCE. You have to "get a life", focus on others, help others as your primary goal in life and stop attending your own set of accessories to the point of exclusion of LIVING.

Lana, you say that some of your friends think "someone is trying to harm me" and energy transference through pictures, etc. Stop it, child, there IS DEFINITELY someone trying to harm you—YEA, TO COMMIT SUICIDE—AND IT IS YOU! You are now so badly punishing SELF as to be bait for a one-way ticket to Dr. Kevorkian. I CANNOT HEAL OR CURE YOU, CHILD, AND UNTIL YOU WANT TO HEAL MORE THAN YOU WANT TO HURT YOURSELF, IT IS NOT LIKELY THAT YOU WILL GREATLY IMPROVE. SICKNESS BECOMES A FRIEND IN EVERY SENSE OF THE TERM IF ALLOWED TO CONTROL YOUR MIND. THERE IS NO MAGIC, FOR YOU ARE YOUR MIRACLE!

DRINKING YOUR URINE?

Yes, I know that CONTACT ran a long article on "urine" use [in last week's News Desk]. What does "that" mean to me? Nothing. It does mean that CONTACT is a newspaper which carries, we hope, interesting information on many subjects. It also means that, I suppose, for some problems, such as incurable things, the use might be effective—but only because the MIND believes it to be healing. Can't you DO "THAT", however, without retaking into your already compromised system, your WASTE?

If your body is already compromised—YOU DO NOT KNOW WHAT YOU ARE RECIRCULATING WITHIN YOUR SYSTEM—FOR THAT NICE "STERILE" STUFF WILL NOT BE FREE OF TOXINS!!! The urinary system is one of the major excretory routes of unwanted substances—NO MATTER WHO TELLS YOU OTHERWISE. Every time you make the kidneys and other organs do double cleansing, you are shortening their working life-span. Would it not be better to STOP putting the toxic substances, such as damaging things like alcohol, etc., INTO THE SYSTEM IN THE FIRST PLACE? TO RECIRCULATE THE TOXIC OR WASTE MATERIAL, EVEN IF IT IS STERILE, IS UNHEALTHY—THINK ABOUT IT. OUTRIGHT POISON CAN BE STERILE! AND, SUCH EXCRETIONS CARRY EXITING ORGANISMS LIKE, FOR INSTANCE, HIV VIRUSES.

COMMON SENSE is your best PHYSICIAN, readers—EVERY TIME! So, NO, I do not advocate urine therapy even if it seemingly works in some disorders—for you will find that "those disorders" are usually "incurable", "of unknown cause" and that in turn is usually because they are emotionally based and only a change in the MIND will heal the symptoms—not all the urine in the world.

I do not run the paper and this is an excellent example of that fact for I would not have used the space required while no "news" was offered. That is Editorial decision and proves my point to our legal adversaries—that I do not control the paper or all its contents. So, please, DO NOT go forth telling anyone, including yourself, that because something is in CONTACT it is my input. If you have been gifted enough to excrete unwanted waste ONCE—why try your luck more than once?

The game I really detest, however, are the "clinics" who "treat" obesity with urine injections. Obesity is treated quite correctly by exercise and cutting out or DOWN the intake of fattening foods. What could be more simple than that remedy? Why would pregnant female urine make you thin? I hope you people start THINKING more clearly and REASONABLY for, remember, they once "bled" poor sick patients—USUALLY TO DEATH!

This is my response to you who inquired about this form of "medical" treatment and especially were "shocked" that "I" would write on such a thing. I DIDN'T! I HAVEN'T! and, I WOULD'N'T. I THINK THE ARTICLE CAME FROM SOMETHING CALLED "NEXUS"—A PERIODICAL I FIND TO OFTEN BE MORE DANGEROUS THAN EVER COULD BE BENEFICIAL. I also believe that THE INFORMATION of source and resource was offered. I find it interesting that already Mr. Green is telling around his circuit that Hatonn "recommends drinking your own urine". Thanks a lot! You must understand that PEOPLE DO NOT READ WHAT "YOU" PRESENT—THEY ACCEPT WHAT THEY ARE PREDISPOSED TO PERCEIVE AND INTERPRET.

I certainly do not argue the point of there being valid "cast-off" substances which could be beneficial, but my point is that it is not what you believe it to be in this age of plagues. There is a whole processing for the fluid which bathes a baby in the womb different from that of excreted urine in ALL INSTANCES. HOW ARE YOU TO KNOW WHAT IS PICKED UP, PASSING THROUGH A COMPROMISED, BUT UNKNOWN COMPROMISE, SYSTEM?

I would suppose that the point is made best in the final paragraphs of the article. That indicates that the collection of this product and sales amount to a "$500-million-dollar-a-year MARKET... OF URINE INGREDIENTS". The product is pulled out of such as urinals in "the 10,000 portable outhouses owned by the Porta-John company, a subsidiary of Enzymes of America". Still feel SAFE and secure in that little product? Oh well...!

I don't want to spend any more time on, forgive me, mine or "yourin", waste products.

I would, however, like to offer you a copy of Grandma's February 27, 1996 FAX which asks you to "Think About It":

VOICE OF THE OLD GUARD

You had best start thinking, Americans. Our Educational system was deliberately "sabotaged", our children and grand-children can not compete in the international business markets. Now, our Major Factories are closing down, and moving off to China, Mexico, Korea, etc., etc., etc. Soon, the American people will not even know how to work at a skilled job in order to feed themselves and their families. How many skilled stone masons such as the ones who built the great Cathedrals and other magnificent edifices of our Historic Past are left today? Bet you can not count them on one hand! [H: I suspect she means that you wouldn't even need one finger!] Where are the family farmers who feed the local communities in the time of need? You had best awaken from your dull slumber, Fellow Americans—and "THINK ABOUT IT"! COMPUTERS CAN NOT FEED YOU—! nor can "Television" or "Hollywood". Television feeds you "Tripe" and Hollywood destroys a THINKING MIND!

Our elected Leaders, state and federal, are of the mind-set: "Everyone can take PROZAC and work at McDonalds". Hundreds of billions of tax $$$ are being spent to build "Fantasy Land Play Grounds". I have news for you Fellow Americans; you had best be learning HOW to survive, and FANTASY WILL NOT FEED YOU. Furthermore, have you ever wondered WHO CAN AFFORD TO USE THESE "FANTASY LANDS"? Most assuredly it is not for the "Under" privileged.

[END OF QUOTING]

She goes on speaking of the changes which ARE coming. But, the important point is that, reportedly, you have "less than a '30 day reserve'..." of emergency food supplies.

This is worthy of notation!

You will also need to consider clothing—and I don't mean the most recent fashion accent. However, if that is your "bag", stock up a bit and make sure you can do some "work" in them—especially the "shoes are made for walking" because the big "boots" are soon gonna' be walkin' all over YOU.

THANK YOU

May I add a personal response to B. Kruger. Dear one, there is NEVER offense at receiving clothing or whatever you wish to share—there are no fashion models here and we are grateful for that which is shared. Dharma has lived in gifted "hand-me-downs" and lovingly loomed and sewn clothes for several years now. M.G., of far away, sent a "wardrobe" one year and the handmade love and warmth of the vests and jackets, etc., have warmed the SOUL as well as the heart ponders the loving thoughts brought WITH each stitch, each selection. If we bear "pride" here it is that you out there care enough about us—to send such love for our very physical use. We are humbled by your offer and I say "we" because "Fingers" has no spare time to do her gratitudes. I will promise you who DO think I am "some sort of individual reality"—I THANK YOU for, as you offer unto my friends who also serve, you have gifted, beyond words, unto ME. [Editor's note: And also thank you, M.G., for the gift that lightens the load upon this editor's daily chores.]

Remember something quite important, readers, that which was worn or dear to a prior person or energy form—bears that energy forever.

It is hard, possibly, for you to believe but when things come here in loving sharing, i.e., especially the Christ-mas things, after they are lovingly accepted and handled—they literally "glow in the dark". These are gifts that cannot be measured in any form of "money exchange". These connect the very energy networks which bind us one to another so that when all "things" are cast away—there we are in full recognition of our connections, clothed in the perfection of God's choosing.

Churches and RELIGIONS speak of "tithing"—I do not for "things" are NOT of value in my world or, in actuality, in YOUR "REAL" WORLD. You can dedicate intent unto GOD—you cannot "give" anything of physical substance to God—for God has no use of your "things"—ONLY THE MEN IN CHARGE OF THE COFFERS USE YOUR THINGS if it be in "doctrined" churches. Certainly you can offer input to the things which you perceive will present God into a physical world—and work WITH others who SERVE GOD, but the intent is what reaches GOD. We must each SHARE as "action" of our intent, according to that which we have or talents available. GOD judges on "intent within"—not on the color suit with which you cover your nakedness. GOD SEES YOU STARK NAKED! HE doesn't even pay attention to the you presented in your old thing called "body". HE will, however, note the way you attend your own body—especially when it is used ONLY for the gratification and greed of physical man. GOD IS INTERESTED IN YOUR SOUL—NOT YOUR MUSCLES OR FAT PADS!

Let us close now for we have some serious legal work to accomplish today. We must find a way to have more ability to communicate on MY time schedule. I am again, around here, becoming "last" in line of "pecking order". This is fine with me—but I really don't think it is going to be fine with you. I, like anyone else, simply "go away" when uninvited—but do not expect me to drop everything and come running when it is finally convenient to you! What you MISS may be THE TOOL to win your battles! Ponder it.

Thank you and good morning.

Exposing The Blast Is Former Engineer's Lifetime Mission

Editor's note: This article makes an interesting commentary on whistleblowing. Whether the engineer in point's conclusions were correct or not, his honorable effort at getting the truth into public view was slammed and dead-ended by many of the classic adversarial techniques we have sadly come to expect. Longtime CONTACT readers may recall Commander Hatonn's explanation of what happened in the 1986 Challenger disaster [see Journal #20]. In Commander Hatonn's 2/28/96 writing (see p. 9), referring to this article, he indicates he will have further comment later.

"Reprinted with permission of Santa Barbara Newspress Santa Barbara, Calif." Article by Melinda Burns [quoting:]

For most Americans, the stunning sadness of the Space Shuttle Challenger explosion is a distant memory, faded by time. But while the nation has moved on, John Maxson cannot.

January 28, 1986, the terrible day when seven astronauts died, was for Maxson the beginning of a journey with no return.

The man who once enjoyed a reputation as a patriot and a pioneer in his field has lost his home, his savings and his health in a single-minded—some would say fool-hardy—crusade to be heard.

A former computer software engineer for Lockheed Space Operations Co., Maxson says he warned his bosses weeks before the tragedy that the Challenger would explode. He expected it to happen at or near the launch pad at Kennedy Space Center in Cape Canaveral, Fla.

"I did everything in my power to stop the Challenger launch because I knew a tragedy would happen," Maxson said recently. "If Lockheed had left me in Florida that day, I would have stood on the pad to prevent it."

No one ever listened to Maxson. He was transferred out of Kennedy, where he had been in charge of testing the launch system, and sent back to Vandenberg Air Base in Lompoc, CA, where he watched television replays of the Shuttle turning into a ball of fire 73 seconds after its Florida liftoff.

A month after the Challenger accident, he was escorted off the job for good.

The official explanation for the disaster, delivered by a presidential commission, ignored Maxson's version of events. The commission blamed Morton-Thiokol Inc., a subcontractor, for the explosion, and not Lockheed, the contractor responsible for the launch.

Maxson filed a lawsuit against Lockheed for wrongful termination in late 1986 in Santa Barbara Superior Court. It never went to trial, but he's still papering the courts with appeals and petitions in hopes that someday he can tell his story to a jury.

"I feel like Galileo," Maxson said last week. "He was condemned for heresy because he dared to say the Sun was the center of our universe and not the Earth.

"I'm really beyond being angry. If I live long enough, I will pursue this through the courts to the bitter end."

A Lockheed spokesman declined to discuss Maxson's lawsuit or his version of the Challenger accident. "As long as this thing is still before the courts, it's not appropriate to comment," said Bob Granath, chief of media relations at Lockheed-Martin Space Operations in Florida.

Now approaching his 60th birthday, Maxson lives part of every year in his beat-up 1975 Ford around San Luis Obispo County, sleeping at Denny's parking lots. Sometimes he parks all night in front of the Santa Maria Law Library, where he researches his case against Lockheed. He works odd jobs in Nipomo and Arroyo Grande as a house painter, chauffeur and night watchman, gaining a reputation as a kind man. He eats handout meals.

"I scatter myself all over the country," he said. "I try not to stay in one place all the time."

At the time he was forced out by Lockheed, after the company ordered him to undergo psychological testing, Maxson was earning an annual salary of $50,000 and had 25 years of expertise in software engineering with such firms as Raytheon, IBM and General Electric. He was known as a computer wizard, a "red, white and blue" employee, a true believer in the national space program—a man so devoted to his job that he lost his marriage because of it.

"The work that he did was superb," said Chuck Tamagni, a retired senior Lockheed engineer. "He was a pro, a consummate scientific programmer. John has been extremely true, painfully true, to his principles."

Now when the weather in California turns cold, Maxson drives to Las Vegas, where his son lives. He sleeps on the floor of a trailer belonging to a local pastor. Black-balled by the aerospace industry and in ill health, he has trouble finding work of any kind.

These days, Maxson is stuffing envelopes for the Love in the Name of Christ ministry in Las Vegas, and has applied for a job filling out wedding licenses at a drive-thru chapel.

Undaunted by legal setbacks, he has filed his case with the U.S. Supreme Court. He's writing a book, entitled "Challenger: Going It Alone."

At the end of a book proposal for publishers, Maxson includes these words from the Bible: "If ye have faith as a grain of mustard seed, ye shall say unto this mountain, Remove hence to yonder place; and it shall remove, and nothing shall be impossible unto you."

PRAISE AND CONTEMPT

Maxson was reared in Marble Rock, Iowa corn and oats country, the son of a poor farmer. His great-grandfather built the first Baptist Church in town. In high school, Maxson was president of the student council and the National Honor Society. He graduated from San Jose University with a degree in applied mathematics.

In 1972, he received a commendation from Lockheed for "one of the best pieces of engineering work" in the corporation that year. Maxson broke new ground in the aerospace industry, putting an entire rocket test site near Santa Cruz under computer automation. In 1984, he received another Lockheed commendation—two years before his dismissal.

"I really did stuff they never had any dream people could do," he said. "I brought them up to real time."

In late 1985, Maxson was assigned by Lockheed to the Kennedy Space Center to coordinate testing at the yet-untested launch pad for the Challenger. What he discovered there, he said, was an alarming state of unreadiness. He describes the following sequence of events:

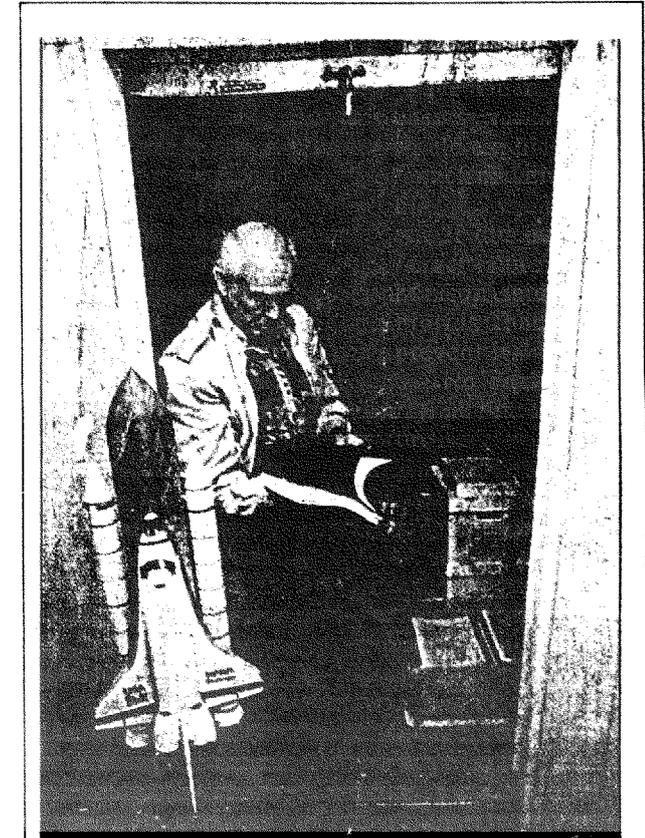

On Dec. 6, 1985, seven weeks before the explosion, two engineers reported to him that massive amounts of liquid hydrogen, a Shuttle fuel that is extremely flammable in air, were leaking from pipes at the Shuttle's base. He took a look, smelled the leaking hydrogen, and figured it would take about 90 days to make the necessary repairs. Meanwhile, a third engineer told him there were problems with the computer flight software.

Maxson immediately reported the leaks and the software problems to management, talking to about 10 supervisors at Lockheed and the National Aeronautics Space Administration (NASA), the federal agency overseeing the Shuttle program.

To his utter dismay, he said, he was chided, intimidated and even laughed at. In response, he did something he had never done before. He made a telephone call to U.S. Sen. Charles Grassley's office in Washington, D.C., and told an aide that the Challenger was going to have a serious accident. Maxson chose Grassley because the Republican senator was native of Iowa and had been in the news for uncovering fraud at the Pentagon.

At the request of the Senator's aide, Maxson started writing reports to Grassley about Lockheed. He began, in agonizing detail, with allegations of a computer procurement scam that he claimed to have uncovered in 1984. In one report, dated six days before the Challenger launch, Maxson included two paragraphs about the Shuttle's hydrogen leaks and software problems.

He never received a reply. Instead, Grassley's office referred Maxson to Ernest Fitzgerald, a deputy assistant secretary of the U.S. Air Force at the Pentagon and a former whistler-blower himself.

LEN WOOD/NEWS-PRESS

Inside a storage locker in San Luis Obispo County, Maxson keeps legal papers and boxes of NASA data on the space shuttle Challenger, obtained through Freedom of Information requests.

Grassley is serving his third consecutive term in the Senate, following six years in the House. Kris Kolesnik, the aide to whom Maxson spoke 10 years ago, said Friday that he remembered their conversations in general terms only. "We didn't have the expertise," Kolesnik said, referring to Maxson's highly technical allegations.

After the explosion, Grassley's office referred Maxson to congressional committees investigating what went wrong. "They thought he was a flake," Kolesnik said.

Fitzgerald told the News-Press that he did speak to a Lockheed executive and a number of people on Capitol Hill about Maxson's fears. But, he said, events unfolded too fast to stop the Challenger launch.

"No one that I talked to on the Hill was even interested," Fitzgerald said. "They didn't want to know."

After the disaster, Maxson continued to call Fitzgerald and send reports to Grassley. He feared that his phone was being tapped. The Lompoc Police Department confirmed it, but the source was never identified.

On Feb. 26, 1986, court records show, Lockheed officials ordered Maxson to undergo psychological tests because, they said, he was making paranoid statements to his supervisors. When he refused to see a psychologist, he was escorted off the Vandenberg base. Lockheed dismissed Maxson permanently that May, three weeks after he was interviewed by investigators for the presidential commission.

"I'm sorry that John didn't know how to play the game," said Don Quirk, a former senior Lockheed personnel manager who hired Maxson and now works as a stockbroker in Titusville, Fla., near the Kennedy Space Center.

"I think Lockheed as a corporation took its standard procedure in discrediting the individual and indicated that his credibility was questionable," Quirk said. "He was up against a well-honed, well-refined machine. Most people accept it."

TANGLED IN POLITICS

After the explosion, Maxson talked to reporters from national newspapers and television networks, but none chose to publicize the claims of an unemployed engineer. Fewer still paid attention after the presidential commission issued its report in June 1986.

The commission was headed by William Rogers, whose law firm was representing Lockheed on matters not related to the space program. It concluded that a faulty O-ring seal in the right rocket booster, built by Morton-Thiokol, caused the accident.

Maxson's testimony to commission investigators was not included in the report, and the transcript of it was never made public. He got some publicity in the fall of 1986, when he went on the campaign trail with a Democratic senatorial candidate who was running against Grassley.

The candidate, John Roehrick, publicly asked that Maxson's version of the explosion be given a hearing in Washington. He jabbed at Grassley for reportedly ignoring Maxson's pre-launch warning.

"I felt convinced enough that a reopening of the investigation, to at least hear his complaints, was warranted," Roehrick, an Iowa lawyer, recalled last week.

A congressional investigation confirmed the O-ring conclusion. Roehrick lost the election in Iowa, and the closed doors in Washington remained shut.

Unable to find employment in aerospace, Maxson soon lost his home in Florida. A dozen lawyers showed interest in his case, but then dropped it like a hot potato.

Maxson circulated two petitions and sent them to Congress asking that the investigation be reopened.

Nothing ever came of it. One of the petitions was signed by Bruce and Ellen Jarvis, the parents of Gregory Jarvis, one of the seven Challenger astronauts.

To this day, Bruce Jarvis does not believe the commission report.

"I do not think that it was explored far enough," he said from his home in Orlando, Fla. "I think that some of the answers they gave to the public were dissembled. I've never been satisfied with the official version. I distrust the information."

Over the years, Maxson doggedly filed Freedom of Information Act requests with NASA, obtaining boxes and boxes of Challenger reports, data, film and tapes. Though some information has never been released—the cabin tape of the astronauts' voices, for example—Maxson believes he has enough evidence to prove his case, including photos and video that show the first abnormal plume coming from the orbiter and not the right rocket booster.

He contends that leaking hydrogen dropped the temperature below zero at the launch pad and caused the valves of the thrusters, small rockets that steer the orbiter, to crack. After liftoff, he says, the faulty computer software caused the thrusters to fire prematurely. With fuel flooding through the cracked valves, the orbiter began to vibrate, and the Shuttle exploded.

Fitzgerald, the Air Force whistle-blower, said Maxson never got the fair hearing he deserved.

"I thought that was tragic because John had something valuable to offer that needed airing," Fitzgerald said. "I remember that nobody really refuted him factually. I would like to have all the facts in, and we just don't."

"The commission appeared to have gross conflicts of interest," Fitzgerald said, adding that he also was "very suspicious of the political motives" surrounding Challenger. The space program received a great deal of publicity before the launch because one of the astronauts, Christa McAuliffe, was a school-teacher.

"The teacher was a big public relations gimmick for the Reagan Administration," Fitzgerald said. "The Challenger had to go on time."

Tamagni, the retired Lockheed senior engineer, said he has "never really bought the total answer that was given by NASA." He said he examined the data that Maxson had obtained from NASA, and found critical information missing.

"I was not unbelieving," Tamagni said. "But there were gaps in the data. It almost didn't look accidental."

Tamagni likens the Challenger disaster to the assassination of President John F. Kennedy, saying: "Unless some miracle occurs I don't know if we will ever know for certain what happened. John Maxson has made it an obsession, and I don't think unjustly so."

SAFETY LESSONS

Since the Challenger, NASA has sent 49 manned Shuttle flights into space. The rate is limited to seven or eight a year, more than double that number were scheduled for 1986.

Experienced astronauts now have a decisive voice in determining NASA's readiness to fly Shuttle missions. All previous waivers of flight rules and launch criteria have been revoked, and there is a mechanism for anonymous reporting of safety problems.

Lisa Malone, a NASA spokeswoman at Kennedy Space Center, said agency engineers checked out Maxson's theory after the Challenger accident and could not corroborate it.

"We took it very seriously," Malone said. "They were leaving no stone unturned. They talked to him and looked at his video. Everything was considered and examined thoroughly and analyzed."

"Obviously, the flaw was in the design of the boosters."

In court, Lockheed's lawyers successfully argued that Maxson was dismissed not in retaliation for whistle-blowing, but as part of wide spread layoffs after the explosion.

Maxson was unable to prove to a judge's satisfaction that the supervisors who dismissed him knew that he had told Lockheed officials and members of the Senate and the Pentagon about his fears of an accident.

"While Mr. Maxson described countless conversations with people who knew this or that, he could not provide the link," Lockheed attorney Debra Boyd said at a Ventura appeals court hearing in 1993.

The appellate judges ruled in favor of Lockheed and upheld the lower court's decision to dismiss Maxson's lawsuit.

"The declarations filed by Lockheed demonstrated that Maxson was suspended and terminated because management was concerned about his mental well-being," the appellate ruling stated. "His suspicion that Lockheed was violating federal law and jeopardizing the safety of the Space Shuttle project was not enough...no triable facts were presented that the layoff was retaliatory."

Maxson's friends long ago gave up wishing he would "put all this behind him" and get on with his life. But it pains them to see he has no peace of mind.

"No one," Fitzgerald said, "wants to be reduced to the state that John is in. John serves as a useful example for other people who don't get out of line. His destruction serves the interest of folks who want to control what people know."

"It's very easy to exercise your First Amendment rights, but it's almost impossible to get away with it. It stigmatizes your life."

This Christmas, Maxson declined an invitation to visit from his son, Daniel, because he had no presents for his grandchildren. He also refused a gift of $50 from his son, who is writing his own book about Challenger and talks to his father several times a week.

"He sat in a trailer and wouldn't come over," Daniel Maxson said. "He's a very proud man. It really breaks me up. To never even get his day in court—win or lose—that's what really aches more than anything else."

"But I now believe that he should do what he feels he has to do. If he had quit when I thought he should quit, he never would have been able to look himself in the mirror again."

Maxson himself rejects what he calls the "poor John" image. If the courts fail him to the last, he said he'll dedicate himself to his book.

"What would life be without being vindicated?" he asked. "It's worse than being a bum. I don't consider suicide an option. I don't consider retraining as an option. I have considered being a man without country."

SIBLING REVELRY

Americans Labeled "Terrorist"

By Morris Dees Of The ### Southern Poverty Law Center

What is the Southern Poverty Law Center? Who is Morris Dees?

Well, readers, you would be very stunned to know that Morris Dees is THE MAN responsible for the "labeling" of organizations (and individuals) and militias in every state in the union with the label "terrorist". What difference does that make, you may well ask? Well, the ADL Reports under various titles, such as "Terrorism in America", are using Morris Dees' information from the Southern Poverty Law Center. This information is then published and forwarded to all law enforcement agencies across the country, local police, the Justice Department, FBI, etc. Those law enforcement agencies then use that printed material AS THEIR VERY OWN TEACHING MATERIALS FOR OFFICERS OF THE LAW.

Further, the information contained within those reports is entered into the "intelligence" records on each individual and organization. What difference does that make? Well, let's see. Hypothetically, if John Smith is not armed, not a terrorist, not a racist and functions as a law abiding citizen but is then "labeled" as terrorist by Morris Dees in one of his reports, that information is placed on computer database on Smith. If the local police get a call at Smith's address, when they punch up Smith's name in the computer, up pops "terrorist". The next thing to happen is that the SWAT team is out to Smith's place and Smith ends up in a body-bag. Shall we talk about how many constitutional and civil rights violations have just taken place?

What gives Morris Dees the right to be judge and jury to SO MANY American citizens? That is a VERY GOOD QUESTION. You will notice, whenever there is any type of incident such as the Oklahoma bombing, Morris Dees is the first person CNN interviews as "the expert".

These are very dangerous times when any individual citizen or organization can have such influence over ALL LAW ENFORCEMENT AGENCIES, that their information is accepted SEEMINGLY WITHOUT QUESTION. Rights? What rights?

So, with all that in mind, the Militia of Montana has been kind enough to furnish CONTACT with a copy of a recent document on Morris Dees and the SEEMINGLY ALL POWERFUL Southern Poverty Law Center.

MILITIA OF MONTANA

Fax dated 2/15/96 retyped for presentation (quoting):

As this presidential election campaign heats up,

Pat Buchanan's rivals will stop at nothing to discredit him, his campaign and his campaign personnel.

The latest coming from The Center for Public Integrity. This "non-profit" organization has launched a personal attack against Larry Pratt, co-chairman of the Buchanan Campaign and Executive Director of Gun Owners of America (GOA).

This report from The Center for Public Integrity, titled "Under The Influence", was provided by numerous foundations and organizations, including the Carnegie Corporation of New York and the Rockefeller Family Fund. It is an easy assumption why these two families who, together, control a major portion of stock in the Federal Reserve Corporation, would want to attack future President Pat Buchanan considering the position he has taken towards the Federal Reserve Corporation.

The source credited for the information contained in this report by The Center for Public Integrity, targeting Larry Pratt, is the Southern Poverty Law Center. This "poverty center" has been responsible for attacking individuals and organizations throughout America for their position of "America First". The Center, which was co-founded by millionaire Morris Dees, a self-proclaimed human rights activist, is located in Montgomery, Alabama.

Dees, formerly a fund-raising director for the presidential campaigns of Jimmy Carter and George McGovern, and Ted Kennedy when he considered running for the oval office, has made the Southern Poverty Law Center the richest non-profit, charitable organization in the nation. It has over $50 million in reserves, with a goal of reaching over $100 million.

The purpose of the following Fact Finding Report is to allow the American people to see the other side of Southern Poverty Law Center and how Morris Dees has used this Center to line his own pockets, frighten people and sway his misled supporters toward his political persuasion.

Morris Dees and the Southern Poverty Law Center has done America a grave injustice by dividing the people against one another, instead of coming to the "bargaining table" to discuss differences. As will be shown in the following report, Dees would only have strife and division in America, which will enable him to scare concerned Americans into sending him more money. The American people deserve better than that.

We, at the Militia of Montana, only want the truth to be known and justice to prevail. We respect Larry Pratt and future President Buchanan in their position to reach out to "all Americans", no matter their religious beliefs, race or political persuasion, and not discriminating against their right to take part in the political process. We only wish certain personalities within the media, powerful corporations and foundations would show the respect the American people are entitled to and deserve.

MORRIS DEES

A Fact Finding Report
by Militia of Montana
February 15, 1996

ABSOLUTELY NO MORALS

(1) Divorce case: Maureene Dees v. Morris Dees CIV-2114 CT; Alabama case. Filed March 8, 1979.

Pages 6-8: Morris, while still married to Maureene, established a permanent relationship with Vicki Booker McGaha in August of 1977 while Morris was an attorney on a case in Birmingham and Vicki was a member of that same jury. Morris caused Vicki to become pregnant and then caused and paid for her abortion of that child when she was 5 months pregnant.

Pages 12-15, 27, 287, 331; Extra-marital relations with Southern Poverty Law employees.

Page 14: Morris forced Maureene to watch while he engaged in homosexual acts with Charles Springman, head of the National Endowment for the Arts. This took place in the notorious Watergate Hotel in Washington, D.C., where Dees took Maureene to "celebrate" their 10th wedding anniversary.

THE MONEY SCHEME

(1) In 1987 Dees revealed that his "Poverty Center" had a left-over balance of $23 million. From 1989-1994 the Center has received an estimated $50 million in contributions according to federal forms that charities like the Law Center must make public. According to the Montgomery Advertiser, December 28, 1994, the Center has raised about $4.2 million for every lawsuit it has filed during the past five years. And of the 12 suits filed since Oct. 20, 1989—that's one suit every 157 days—only two have gone to trial.

According to former Center legal fellow, Pamela Summers, the Center had accrued over $53 million in reserves and she then went on to say "They're drowning in their own affluence, so that anything that they might otherwise do in their legal department is not done for the best interest of everybody. It's done as though the sole, overriding goal is to make more money. And that's not what anybody's legal obligation to their client is." The Center refused comment on these allegations.

(2) In 1975 the Center raised over $300,000 to defend Joan Little, a 21-year-old North Carolina Black woman who had been accused of murdering her White jailer. She was acquitted and the media praised the Center for being instrumental in raising the necessary funding for the defense. A Newsweek article, July 18, 1977, went so far as to say "The Center...raised funds to win acquittal..."

However, back in 1975 a spokesman for the Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC) stated that the Center's fund-raising efforts were a "rip off" because $20,000 would have been sufficient for the trial. The SCLC further contended, it was reported April 18, that the Law Center had reneged on a promise to give 30% of the funds raised to SCLC and that it [Law Center] had withdrawn its active support of Little.

The Center continued using this case as a fundraiser and subsequently collected over $780,000 using Joan Little's name.

(3) Millard Farmer, a Georgia lawyer who once was Dees' partner, charged that Dees had cheated him out of $50,000.00. He sued for the money and won. Farmer said: "I was naive at first. I thought Dees was sincere.

I thought the Poverty Law Center raised money to do good for poor people, not simply to accumulate wealth."

(4) Randall Williams, a long time Dees assistant resigned and stated, "Our donor base was anchored by wealthy Jewish contributors on the East and West Coast and they give big bucks. We were sometimes able to raise as much as $3 million a year more than we could spend. Still, Morris continued to send out the fundraising letters about the 'Klan menace' and the money kept pouring in."

(5) On April 25, 1986 The Montgomery Advertiser reported that Dees' entire staff of five lawyers and his top aid resigned because, to their surprise, they learned that the Poverty Center was not designed to help poor people but to further enrich Dees.

(6) Dees makes no bones about his efforts to raise money. In January of 1994 he issued a letter to his donors proclaiming that there are "tough financial decisions ahead." On page 2 of the letter, the Center mentions its critics and states it is trying to build a $100-million endowment fund.

DISCRIMINATION AT THE ANTI-DISCRIMINATION CENTER

(1) In 1985 Dees proposed an "affirmative action committee" within the Poverty Center because of charges that the Center was discriminating against Black employees. However in 1994, in a December 28 article appearing in the Montgomery Advertiser, it was reported that twelve of 13 Black former staffers interviewed in the Advertiser series said they either experienced or observed racial problems inside the Center.

Three likened the civil rights charity to a plantation, and former legal intern Christine Lee said a White supervisor nicknamed her "little girl".

"As I was told (at the Center), they don't need Black people telling them how to handle Black issues," said Gloria Browne, one of two Black staff attorneys ever to work at the Center.

At the time of the Advertiser series, the Center had no Black attorneys. And according to the Advertiser, state Rep. John Rogers stated, (The lack of Blacks) draws into question whether the Center is really committed to every Black person or whether it has just been a money-making thing. ...and the bad part about it is that they are using poor Black folks to make the money off of. I am appalled."

(2) On June 27, 1995 and on July 18, 1995, Jeff Randall from Attalla, Alabama requested the Southern Poverty Law Center to assist in an investigation and possible suit over racism within numerous federal law endorsement agencies. They declined and refused to take action. "I realize that your refusal to investigate has become a 'black eye' for your organization; this was not our intentions." Mr. Randall concluded his letter with "...we cannot protect you from embarrassing yourself."

NON-PROFESSIONAL CONDUCT AS AN ATTORNEY

(1) Dees also had offered his services as an attorney to the Joan Little defense team. He was subsequently dismissed from this team after he encouraged a witness to change her testimony. Judge Hamilton Hobgood charged Dees with asking a witness to commit perjury, punishable by up to 10 years in jail, and dismissed him from the defense team. The judge, for reasons only known to him, dismissed the charges against Dees.

(2) The State of Michigan does not allow their law enforcement to use information from organizations, including Dees', because of an extensive libel suit that erupted over erroneous information.

In closing, we would also like to inform the American people that this non-profit organization (which has this discriminating, womanizing, homosexual individual at the helm, whose only thought is how much more money he can bring in) mails tens of thousands of "educational" packets to law enforcement, schools and civic groups across the nation per year.

How can these people make an honest judgment concerning the citizens and organizations that Dees attacks when he himself is not morally fit to judge anybody?

How can law enforcement take this man's word for anything when his sole desire is to frighten people into sending him more money? When a self-proclaimed "civil rights" organization, with a self-serving motive, is allowed to "educate" and supply law enforcement with information, the lives of American citizens can then be in jeopardy. Law enforcement could be persuaded and indoctrinated into a frenzy against a targeted person and/or organization. Lives of peace officers could also be placed in jeopardy, for no good reason.

How can the press accept the word of a man who forces his wife to watch him commit sodomy with another man on their 10th wedding anniversary? When will the media decide to investigate reports for themselves, instead of allowing self-serving, private interest groups to provide them with so-called "reliable" information, when that information is patently false? When will they finally become what they so loudly proclaim—"Investigative Journalists"?

How can this man be allowed to testify before the United States Senate about "domestic terrorism" while he is literally taking pennies from school children and discriminates against his own employees?

Whatever happened to the America where citizens could meet with each other to discuss issues whether they agreed or not? Whatever happened to the America where all Americans were respected and who were allowed to take part in the political process without being attacked by a money-hungry, self-proclaimed civil rights activist, who is guilty of the very things he proclaims to denounce?

When will the American citizens finally say "enough is enough" with special-interest groups and non-government organizations who keep dossiers on millions of people? When will citizens say "no more" to these same groups who spy on Americans so they can sell their information to law enforcement for use against the citizen?

America, you have a long row to hoe to get out of the mess you're in. We only pray that this Fact Finding Report will push those who do have the resources to make a complete investigation into Morris Dees and his Southern Poverty Law Center and similar organizations, to do so.

We will continue with our investigations into Morris Dees and his corrupt, money-making machine called the "...Poverty Center". We will also be investigating into those organizations who investigate, spy and sell information on American people who have broken no laws and these same organizations are given immunity by the federal government. Watch for a very special report on the Anti-Defamation League in the very near future. This organization is the big brother of Morris Dees.

Without the support of other concerned Americans, this Morris Dees Fact Finding Report would not have been possible. Your generous donations are welcome and frankly needed to help "heal" America from the wedge Morris and his cronies have driven between American citizens and their way of life.

The Center for Public Integrity has lost its integrity by using information from an organization whose goal is to create hype and fear with the American people for the sole purpose of raising money. It is also interesting to note the Center for Public Integrity has four advisory board members who are also members of the Council on Foreign Relations (a private organization which studies and creates public policy), and one of whom, Mr.

William Schneider, a correspondent of CNN, just happened to be the media outlet to break the story on Pat Buchanan and Larry Pratt.

Spelt

New Gaia Presents Bread Mixes, Flour & Kernels

Spelt is the most ancient and very best grain. Spelta (its more formal name) is a grain of its own unique being. It is the best fiber resource and has large amounts of B-17 (anti-carcinoma). The grain berry grows an exceptionally thick husk that protects it from pollutants and insects. It is stored with its husks intact, so it remains fresher. Thus, unlike other grains, it is not normally treated with pesticides or other chemicals. The strong, protective husk may also be a metaphorical signature of this grain's capacity to strengthen immunity. Spelt contains special carbohydrates (Mucopolysaccharides) which are an important factor in blood clotting and stimulating the body's immune system.

New Gaia offers Bread Mixes that use pure Spelt flour instead of wheat. The taste is uniquely nutty and enjoyable for the whole family. Also offered are combination Bread Mixes with both Spelt flour and whole wheat flour. Both are perfect for a 2 lb. loaf of bread which can be utilized in the Hitachi Bread Machine or others of its equal. The mixes are easy to use with only the simple addition of water, butter & sweetener. The packages come in 2 lb. sizes only.

Also available are whole spelt flour packages for your baking and homemade bread needs that come in 2 lb., 4 lb. and 8 lb. sizes.

You may also order the whole spelt kernels that can be milled at home into flour. These come in 4 lb. and 10 lb. bags.

SEASONED SPELT CROUTONS

1/4 c. butter
1 clove garlic, minced
1/4 tsp. herb seasoning salt
1/4 tsp. paprika
1 tsp. dried parsley or 2 tsp. chopped fresh parsley
1/4 tsp. dried basil or 1/2 tsp. chopped fresh basil
pinch ground thyme
1/4 c. finely grated Parmesan cheese

Preheat the oven to 200 degrees. Combine the butter, seasonings, and herbs and combine thoroughly with a spoon. Stir in the cheese.

10 slices spelt bread, crusts removed
2 tbl. sunflower oil

Spread one side of each bread slice with the butter mixture. Then, placing the spread sides of the bread together, make 5 stacks of bread, 2 slices to a stack. Using a sharp knife, cut the stacks into 1/4-inch-wide strips. Cut each strip into 1/4-inch-pieces. Place the oil in a 10-inch-ovenproof skillet over medium heat. Add the bread cubes, and cook, stirring constantly, for 2 to 3 minutes, or until the croutons are lightly browned. Place the skillet in the oven, and bake for 12 to 15 minutes, or until the croutons are crisp and completely dried out, but not burned. Spread the croutons on a paper towel, and cool to room temperature. Serve immediately, or store in an airtight container in the refrigerator for up to 7 days.

FRIENDS AND OTHER MISPERCEPTIONS

In our brief sessions in the classrooms of life some of us become well-known but most of us simply pass through a life-span by being whatever we ARE. Some refuse all opportunities for LIVING in the death mask setting of EXISTING. Then as we bobble our way through the torrents of downpouring rain, blizzards, droughts, floods, heat, cold and whatever else is thrust upon us, we move toward our FRIENDS. Ah, but are the friends actually FRIENDS? If YOU have a "better way" I can promise you that at least half of the "friends" are NOT and will hurt you, take what you have of value, leave you with the trashed heap of responsibility, and then blast you while you are down. This is a miserable trait of man gone insane. You don't use a hatchet or axe to remove a mosquito from your friend's forehead.

Ah, but what do you do with the would-be slayers who fling their axes at you whilst now whining to the public that "you" somehow did them in? You carefully remove the hatchet from the brain and begin to seek facts as to how this could have been allowed to happen in the first place. You watch what is taking place before your eyes, consider that someone is "missing" something or is intentionally delaying resolution of confrontation conclusion and see what it is that you are NOT seeing.

The overlooking of facts which would serve in your favor is not always deliberate, friends, but it is up TO YOU to learn as much as you can and insist that some things be done timely—or do them yourself!

POLICEMAN WHO HAS BEEN THERE

If you receive the Aid & Abet newsletter (Police Officer Jack McLamb, Ret.) then you can recognize this subject and the tightening of the noose about freedom's neck through the "Policing" policies now coming into play. If you pay attention in your own towns and cities you will find full preparation for allowing guarding and security of public buildings and especially the police compounds. In many instances you must enter through inaccessible doors and heavily guarded lobbies. Are things getting that much worse these days? No, not really, but it is GOING TO GET IMMEDIATELY BAD very soon.

For several years the meetings of the police groups, Sheriff's groups and general policing associations have been seeing and hearing "Constitution To Be Suspended; Martial Law Declared". The more recent such major gathering concern is "COMMUNITY POLICING". Sounds good that a community will police itself, doesn't it? Think again very carefully as to WHY there might be a full-out push for the added manpower for it is that the full intent is to suspend the Constitution and declare Martial Law. What is more foolish in public recognition is that you have been under Martial Law since 1932 and the Constitution has been Suspended for years under Emergency Powers Act and National Emergency.

Aid and Abet has offered a paper by Sheriff Bill Spence of Orange County, Virginia on his view of this Community Policing. He has made some heavy statements of which you need to hear regarding these meetings and conferences, as well:

"...In the past year I have been to two conferences where the speakers have talked about changing police concepts, suspending the Constitution and declaring Martial Law. All in the name of 'Community Policing'... never have I been so enraged by the appalling decadence, corruption and immorality as we have in our nation's leadership today... Thanks to you at Aid & Abet for exposing this bunch of venomous vipers."

All should be grateful to this fine "Police Newsletter" for the daring to bring truth WITHIN the very policing departments. These leaders in this newsletter organization ARE POLICE OFFICERS!

With that blathering aside let us see what Sheriff Bill Spence has to share in a very brief excerpt from the beginning of his article.

A SHERIFF'S VIEW OF OF COMMUNITY POLICING

by Sheriff Bill Spence, Orange County, Virginia.

In March 1994, I attended, along with other Sheriffs and Police Chiefs across the State of Virginia, a "Policing In the 90s Conference" in Williamsburg, Virginia. The main themes of this conference were "COMMUNITY POLICING" and "NEW POLICE CONCEPTS". The keynote speaker was Janet Reno, our illustrious Attorney General. The itinerary of this three-day conference was heavily federal in scope, and we all know what that means: Law enforcement is not being left out of the planning that's going on concerning "reshaping" America and enslaving us under the concept of a centralized and socialistic government....

[END OF QUOTING]

Mr. Rick Martin of CONTACT and Mr. Bob James of Bakersfield attended one of those [national] meetings out West, also, in that year. Citizens, you have been set-up and now the knock-down is structured BY LAW and ENFORCEMENT OF THOSE LAWS to shut down the entire society. You have so many public laws, Presidential Orders, Resolutions and outright unlawfully established LAWS that neither you, nor I, can even begin to keep up with all of them—BUT IGNORANCE OF THE LAWS IS NOT AN ACCEPTED EXCUSE—UNDER THE LAW.

INTERNET AND OTHER MEDIA

I am asked A LOT about why we don't have more on "Internet", etc. I don't know. Some of our own people here are on the "Net", I believe, but I don't know what they use the connections "for". [Editor's note: I, E.Y., use the Internet for quick access to the latest earthquake data. My e-mail address is dreyoung@tminet.com but please don't feel personally offended if I don't answer. I'm still working on a time machine.] I am also asked for permission to put CONTACT and journal information on the networks? Certainly. Put anything we offer on the Internet but be conscientious about accuracy of wording so that subjects are not taken out of context. I suggest you simply state CONTACT, etc., as source, with credits, because you wouldn't be amazed, I'm sure, of what you get if you mention me other than as a JOURNALIST.

TV PROPHECY SHOWS

In addition and as a sideline notation: pay attention to the numbers of TV offerings on PROPHECIES lately. Well, brothers and sisters, IT IS COMING DOWN AND, FRANKLY, I SEE NO WAY TO AVERT THE FLOW OF CHANGE. OUR PRAYER IS TO GET AS MANY INFORMED AS POSSIBLE TO RISE AGAIN THROUGH THE RUBBLE. If we ever get the "time", I will ask "Fingers" to allow us some papers on the subject of what to expect and "about" when it might be expected. DO NOT expect me to give you a date and time, say, Thursday afternoon at 3:04 p.m. the Big One will hit L.A. But I WILL TELL YOU that the BIG ONE is past due as we write here this morning. The entire RING OF FIRE is going to blow UP and DOWN and ALL AROUND.

I do not want to be pointed out as a soothsayer or fortune teller—leave that to ones who don't really know what they do in this time of corruption and arrest for simply telling truth. There is nothing to "prophesize" for ALL IS WRITTEN, ALL IS SEEN—ALL IS IN "MEMORY"—EVEN YOURS. The most ANY "prophet" can offer is a vision already established. The problem is that so many controllers have established "changes" (in their favor) to the established prophetic pathways as to "do you in". Our mission is simply to help inform you and help tip-toe through the thistles and make a survival getaway, while, I might add, working within the system as it is structured until such time as you can offer a BETTER way. We certainly are NOT INTERESTED in FIGHTING anything which simply distracts us—it is to inform, show a better way, watch and know all we can possibly learn and hang on tight to our God Creator. IN GOD you may well "trust" but it is far WISER TO ACT within GOD. MAN BOTCHES ALMOST EVERYTHING HE TOUCHES! Man is in grade-school LEARNING to become a creator, and that creation ability will move in the direction of the teachings of the professors in the school. Today, those professors have led you down the primrose pathway. You MUST realize that every time you are witness to the tales, myths and pictures of suspected prophecy, you are forming COLLECTIVE MEMORY EXPECTATIONS—which will eventually come to pass because ALL THINGS are created through IDEA. If you expect war—you will MAKE a war. If you invent deadly weapons—YOU WILL USE THEM!

The only thing your enemy has to do is keep pushing a tale off on you and paint you some VISIONS and you will march right along with his drummer. The "Holy Bible" (both books) was written by Zionists of physical manifestation and the pictures of happenings are built into the theme of three-dimensional participation in motion and, therefore, you will have whatever is written that you shall have—unless YOU decide that it shall be OTHERWISE. Moreover, if you allow your children to be taught to "kill"—they WILL kill! YOU are the only thing and being that CAN change your world as you experience your physical manifestation.

From the Internet, Grandma has retyped an article from the "Committee to Restore the Constitution" and it is worthy of printing here and your rereading it until you memorize the contents:

COMMITTEE TO RESTORE THE CONSTITUTION

ELEMENTS OF PROOF: A PLOT TO OVERTHROW THE CONSTITUTION AND ERECT A CENTRALIZED, SOVIET-STYLE GOVERNMENT ON RUINS OF THE REPUBLIC.

Fatal steps which transformed the Republic into a dictatorship of the financial Elite are set out in the following Congressional statutes, executive orders and proclamations which trace a seditious conspiracy of interlocking subversion in government departments beginning 16 October 1968.

FATAL STEP NUMBER ONE: 16 October 1968, Public Law 90-577, 90th Congress, S698, "Intergovernmental Cooperation Act of 1968", "To achieve the fullest cooperation and continuation of activities among the levels of government... to establish coordinated intergovernmental policy and administration... to provide for the acquisition, use and disposition of land within the urban areas by Federal Agencies".

Public Law 90-577 destroyed the separation of powers which is the principle of the US Constitution. By its Title IV the US Congress purported to yield legislative power to the President. He, in turn, allegedly transferred that law-making power to his appointed directors in the grant-making agencies of the Federal Regions per section 403 of the bill. Out of that arrangement has grown the A-95 regional clearing house review system, designed by the Office of Management and Budget. The resulting Federal Region substitute control system straps regional governance (control by regulation) as a way of life over all Americans.

FATAL STEP NUMBER TWO: 27 March 1969, "Statement by the President on Restructuring of Government Service Systems". The White House. Quoting the Reorganization Act signed the same day, as his authority, President Nixon divided the United States into eight (later ten) Federal Regions or provinces, each with a new provincial capitol. Coordination and control of the Ten Federal Regions would be administered from Washington. Formation of such super states is of course, a violation of paragraph 1, section 3, Article IV, United States Constitution.

OBJECTIVE: Transfer political power from the respective sovereign State governments to appointed Federal agencies whose controllers are the directors of the corporate world state.

FATAL STEP NUMBER THREE: 30 October 1969, Executive Order #11490, "Assigning Emergency Preparedness Functions to Federal Departments and Agencies". The Federal Register.

E.O. #11490 authorizes the Office of Emergency Planning to put all controls into effect "in times of increased international tensions and economic or financial crisis". Takeover by government agencies include communications, media, all electrical power, gas, petroleum, fuels and minerals, food, resources, and farms, all modes of transportation and control of highways, seaports, etc., health, education and welfare functions, airports and aircraft. Provision is also made for the mobilization of civilians into work brigades under government supervision. The order directs the Postmaster General to operate a national registration of all persons; permits the Housing and Finance Authority to relocate communities and grants authority to the Department of Justice to enforce the plans set out in E.O. #11490 and to operate penal and correctional institutions.

FATAL STEP NUMBER FOUR: 15 August 1971, Executive Order #11615 "Providing Stabilization of Prices, Rents, Wages, and Salaries". The Federal Register.

E.O. #11615 designated the Chairman, Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System as the Director of Cost of Living Council, with authority to request the Department of Justice to bring actions for injunctions "Whenever it appears to the Council that any person has engaged in, is engaged, or is about to engage in any acts or practice constituting a violation of any regulation or order issued pursuant to this order". (See E.O. #11490).

The Chairman of the Federal Reserve Board thus became the Czar over prices, rents, wages and salaries, in addition to his control over markets, granted under the provisions of the Federal Reserve Act of 23 December 1913.

FATAL STEP NUMBER FIVE: 15 August 1971, Proclamation #4074, "Imposition of Supplemental Duty for Balance of Payment Purposes". The President.

The principle objective of Proclamation #4074 was to "declare a national emergency" and so establish stand-by authority to implement any or all of the provisions of the Executive Order #11490 at such time as the American people have been conditioned to accept dictatorship. The people are now being brainwashed to accept, in fact demand, full government control over their lives and property.

FATAL STEP NUMBER SIX: "Establish a Federal Regional Council for each of the Ten Standard Federal Regions", which Nixon effected by Proclamation on March 27, 1969. The Office of Management and Budget was designated the control agency.

By this order the ten provincial capitols were staffed by the directors of the grant-making agencies; Department of Labor, Health, Education and Welfare, and Housing and Urban Development; the Secretarial Representatives of the Department of Transportation, and the directors of the regional offices of the Office of Economic Opportunity, the Environmental Protection Agency, and Law Enforcement Assistance Administration.

The President subsequently appointed a commissioner for each Federal Region. [H: Note that this says appointed and not "was elected".]

FATAL STEP NUMBER SEVEN: 20 October 1972, Public Law 92-512, 92nd Congress, HR#14370, Revenue Sharing, "to authorize Federal Collection of State individual income taxes, and for other purposes".

The primary function of Public Law 92-512 is to provide that "after January 1974, if two or more States request it of the US Government, and at the option of the individual states, all State Taxes may be collected by the Federal Government. (The decision to do that is irreversible.)

Under this "Act" state and country governments will, in time, wither for lack of tax funds, representative governments will die (although trappings of a republican form of government may be retained to fool the people) and dictatorship control over people and property will be imposed upon once free Americans.

In the intervening years, by stealth and subterfuge, the American people have been moved into the orbit of a financial/industrial cabal who control their corporate world state through the United Nations Organization, the United States Congress and other front organizations.

Citizens with a plan of action can instruct state elected officials in their states to confine functions of government to limitations defined in the Constitution (Implementing details available).

The State is a Principal under the constitutional contract and has the power and authority to correct violations of the Constitution by its legislative, Executive and Judicial agents in Washington.

Information on preparing instructions to State lawmakers, model bill directing State investigation, and model State statute to Provide for Enforcement of the United States Constitution with Regard to Federal Regionalism" (with criminal sanctions for violators) is available.

[END OF QUOTING]

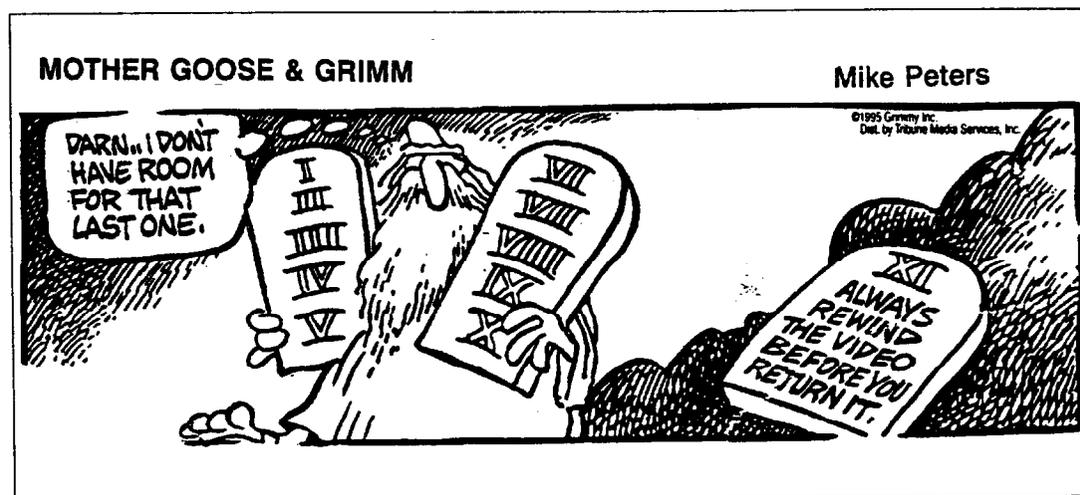

I suggest that while you are on this topic that you go back and review ALL THOSE EXECUTIVE ORDERS pertaining to your CONTROLLED STATUS as bonded citizens. You will note that good old Presidential Candidate Gingrich was as big a help to the Administration getting those into POWER as any other living Congressional Fat-Hog. They didn't leave ANYTHING to YOUR control in a state of "emergency" (which is now "all the time").

Yes indeed, it is time to order up "Prophecies I, II, III" and pay attention! The prison cell walls are in place and the enforcement teams are set forth and you do NOT have to have a fortune teller to remind you THAT THE TIME IS NOW!

We have written on these foregoing topics so often as to cause me to not wish to spend more space on the subject if possible. You will find, more importantly, that the entire sequence of events is well laid forth in the Talmudic PROTOCOLS OF ZION to the last tiniest detail. May you see the Light! Wouldn't it be nice, in fact, if you all saw truth BEFORE the world is blown away?

By the way, just because you can't see "me" does NOT mean that I am not there. Even your nerdniks can make a ship invisible as can some of your magicians. Ponder it. Neither am I a "little gray" anything hippy-hopping down your bunny trails. There is a "time" for all things, all Seasons and so too, there is time for living and dying—so would it not be nice if you "living" dead would start LIVING? Wouldn't it be wondrous if you just started using a tiny bit of the 90 percent of your brains not used at all?

Good morning.

The Grand Canyon's Ancient Underground Caverns

REMEMBER to clear the negative impacting energies from the presence of the mind so that warp does not enter. This requires clearing within the light that IS and rendering the energies who wait for entry to be vanquished. Our intent with the dark ignorance of being is always to negate it, not simply subjugate it. Ego in conscious focus needs subjugation of "another" in honor of itself (at any cost). Self assurance within God needs only stand strong as the waves of assaults flow. Eventually the "wavemaker" will meet his Waterloo (pun intended). Remember to always be "right", not simply right, and that which is thrust against you to destroy truth will backwash against the opposing force. When BALANCE is achieved there is only equal "force" and therefore no apparent force at all—only equality of forces. Let me example: If you have a chair, and THIS chair serves well the opposite example, with a weak back and no adjustment, the back of the sitter is most uncomfortable after a long period of sitting because the back must supply its own support and muscles tire. If the chair exerts the same opposing pressure force as the weight and structure of the human impression—you have an equalizing of forces on both structures.

When a support system is removed, then the affected system is going to respond in like "kind". If you are, however, prepared for contingencies which may arise, you will shift to alternative resources and if you are really prepared for these contingencies you will do very well indeed. Herein I think in terms of legal self-support. If you are in tedious cases and can no longer afford an attorney to defend you—you will be wise to have learned all you can about the workings of courts, law-makers, interpreters and functioning ability of self to DEFEND SELF. If you are involved as the victim in a case, this offers you superb assets as you can function in your own behalf within the maze of secret chambers while STILL KNOWING MORE ABOUT THE CASE THAN ANY OTHER BEING ALIVE.

Why has it come to be that you can't defend selves easily? Because most of the problems are coming now from the very system itself and the perpetrators must have you buried in the helplessness of PERCEPTION regarding the "royal" insider's ability to remain separate in the SECRET SOCIETY. In other words, it is important for you to know whether the bear in your presence is there to eat lunch WITH you or eat you FOR lunch. TRUTH "IS" BUT IT IS OF LITTLE MEANING IF YOU HAVE NO WAY TO EXPRESS IT OR TO RECEIVE IT.

So, let us again look at the incident of "the new chair". It comes all cleared of dark assumptions but as it passes from the protection of ONE into the use of another—the "another" must also see to the task of using it correctly and offering an aura of positive energy rather than simply sitting in it, for whatever reason. You can "just sit" in a chair for tea—but hours spent in a chair must fit the body or it becomes a step on the road to actual damage. Therefore, if the apparatus (chair) has adjustments, is it not wise to use them? Why would you damage the very structure of your body rather than learn to adjust the levers and adjustments for perfection and comfort? Pain and torture ARE NOT OF GOD. Those are misperceptions of MAN who wants you in subjugation to himself. And then it follows that those things lurking in the shadow need to be brought into the LIGHT where they can be studied and no longer BE A SOURCE OF FEAR OR INTIMIDATION OR THREAT—BUT ONLY WARNINGS TO BE ALERT!

SPECULATION

You, as beings with exceptional gifts of reasoning, learning, objectivity, choices and emotions, have wondrous potential to reach perfection. Why? Because you do not have to experience being burned alive to realize that you should not jump into blazing infernos. Logic will often serve well your journey—but logic is only that which is reached in reasonable objectivity. It is not always accurate in its presentation for if your ASSUMPTIONS are not correct, the data imperfect—the logic will have imperfections relative to the circumstance.

Let us just jump off the ignorance cliff and let me pose for you a question: "What goes on under the ground where you cannot see?" Do you KNOW or do you "THINK THERE IS..."? Do you think there are tunnels used by people, etc., under the ground out of sight of your eyes? Why? Where? Who uses them? Who used them? Does it matter a whit? TODAY IT MATTERS A LOT!

Man of today has built tunnel systems with elevators, great technologically advanced areas for living, for growing, for war purposes and always out of sight, top secret and usually without good intents for the masses—otherwise they would certainly NOT BE SECRET. That is today, you might suggest. "But what of yesterday?" I would counter. And now we come to the point of the original question: "What do YOU know about the underground tunnel civilizations?" Oh yes, they are there and in this instance YOU ARE THE PRIMITIVE BEINGS.

You can now only LOOK at them and realize their presence as KNOWLEDGE is offered. There are massive tunnels used by PEOPLE crossconnecting large masses of land in almost every country of your world. In the U.S. you have even more recent HISTORICAL proof of those systems as utilized by your ancestors. But do YOU know anything about it? No? Why not? The "why not?" might well be far more important than the facts involved here in this scenario. DO YOU NICE CITIZENS OF AMERICA KNOW ABOUT THE MASSIVE CAVERNS AND TUNNELS IN, SAY, THE GRAND CANYON? Why don't you know about them? Is there no information about them? No, that is NOT a good response for there IS information about them—that information, however, never makes it past the censors in these current days of enforced ignorance. These are THE TALES which become legends and myths and are stricken from the minds and memory of man.

Would it help if you have "proof" of, say, these tunnels in the Grand Canyon? Why? Is it not enough that I tell you about them? No, it is not enough! This is why you need to face facts and stop your mystical chanting to scare away your conjured beasts—is it not better to have a great big stick to defend self against the attacking cat than to suggest reasoning with the limited perceptions of the cat in mid-air-jump upon you? KNOWLEDGE is that "stick" and if you carry that BIG STICK around with you—the cat is not likely to get close enough or be stupid enough to jump on you.

Before the turn of this century there was plenty of information regarding the tunnels beneath the area of the Grand Canyon and, in 1909, for example, the Smithsonian Institute investigated. It might be noted that the Smithsonian was not much more advanced than the Phoenix Institute so how dare you people put down either one? Do you not think those early professors hated to bring such "outrageous" information to you—the-public? Will OUR information forever be so "far-out" as you deem it to be today? Are there not NOW, rockets? Are there not things NOW that were never dreamt of a century ago? How dare you discount and bash just because YOU haven't bothered to investigate and become informed. This is exactly WHY I tell you readers to never mind the enforcement of knowledge upon another—because force is not of God and realization cannot be forced upon anyone. Information can be offered to either be investigated, denied or accepted and, therefore, you can OFFER and that is all your own obligation demands. It surely helps to have back-up information, however, and NOT JUST YOUR OWN "OPINION".

PERCEPTIONS

I would again caution you people, however, in that your INTERPRETATION of MY OPINION may well not be my perception. Therefore, I suggest you always stress your own perceptions as being "in my own opinion" and that leaves you clear of having to express MY opinions. I will always give you resources with which to back up any claims I might make. This way you don't have to concern about the kibitzers and challengers. The antagonists are IGNORANT or, when you speak truth, they would not antagonize to suit their own needs of ego "bettering your input".

Again we can refer to the tunnels and caverns of the Grand Canyon. Why argue over a thing when a little research would prove your point and it would do so without need of rancor or obsessive denial of your audience? Let us look directly at this particular subject and get ourselves a bit better informed and the entire lesson will gain us all better insight and offer a line of investigation for the curious.

EXPLORATIONS IN GRAND CANYON

Mysteries of Immense Rich Cavern Being Brought to Light.

Remarkable Finds Indicate Ancient People Migrated FROM ORIENT.

The latest news of the progress of the explorations of what is now regarded by scientists as not only the oldest archaeological discovery in the United States, but one of the most valuable in the world, which was mentioned some time ago in the Gazette, was brought to the city yesterday by G.E. Kincaid, the explorer who found the great underground citadel of the Grand Canyon during a trip from Green River, Wyoming, down the Colorado in a wooden boat, to Yuma, several months ago.

According to the story yesterday to the Gazette by Mr. Kincaid, the archaeologists of the Smithsonian Institute, which is financing the explorations, have made discoveries which almost conclusively prove that the race which inhabited this mysterious cavern, hewn in solid rock by human hands, was of Oriental origin or possibly from Egypt tracing back to Ramses. If their theories are borne out of the translation of the tablets engraved with hieroglyphics, the mystery of the prehistoric peoples of North America, their ancient arts, who they were and whence they came, will be solved. Egypt and the Nile and Arizona and the Colorado will be linked by a historical chain running back to ages which staggers the wildest fancy of the fictionist. [H: Are any of you readers just a tad more interested NOW? Will this information be lost forever after the "authorities" buried the openings within? These closings came so long ago that when one opened up from a "slide" a few years back the entire area around the Grand Canyon was CLOSED to visitors while employees were ordered to SILENCE.]

A THOROUGH INVESTIGATION

Under the direction of professor S.A. Jordan, the Smithsonian Institute is now prosecuting the most thorough explorations, which will be continued until the last link in the chain has been forged. Nearly a mile underground, about 1480 feet below the surface, the long main passage has been delved into, to find another mammoth chamber from which radiates scores of passageways, like the spokes of a wheel. Several hundred rooms have been discovered, reached by passageways running from the main passage, one of them having been explored for 854 feet and another 634 feet.

The recent finds include articles which have never been known as native to this country and doubtless they had their origin in the Orient. War weapons, copper instruments sharp edged and hard as steel, indicate the high state of civilization reached by these strange people. [H: Well, it indicates something but hardly a "high state" of "civilization". War weapons indicate the very presence of Earth-bound human.] So interested have the scientists become that preparations are being made to equip the camp for extensive studies and the force will be increased to thirty or forty persons. Before going further into the cavern, better facilities for lighting have to be installed, for the darkness is dense and impenetrable for the average flash light. In order to avoid being lost, wires are being strung from the entrance to all passageways leading directly to large chambers. How far this cavern extends no one can guess, but it is now the belief of many that what has already been explored is merely the "Barracks", to use an American term, for the soldiers, and that far into the underworld will be found the main communal dwellings of the families and possibly other shrines. The perfect ventilation of the cavern, the steady draught that blows through, indicates that it has another outlet to the surface.

MR. KINCAID'S REPORT

Mr. Kincaid was the first white child born in Idaho and has been an explorer and hunter all his life. Thirty years having been in the service of the Smithsonian Institute. Even briefly recounted, his history sounds fabulous, almost grotesque.

"First, I would impress that the cavern is almost inaccessible. The entrance is almost 1486 feet down a sheer canyon wall. It is located on government land and no visitor will be allowed there under penalty of trespass.

"The scientists wish to work unmolested, without fear of the archaeological discoveries being disturbed by curio or relic hunters. A trip there would be fruitless and the visitor would be sent on his way.

"The story of how I found the cavern has already been recounted, but in a paragraph: I was journeying down the Colorado river in a boat, alone, looking for mineral. Some forty-two miles up the river from El Tovar Crystal Canyon, I saw on the east wall, stains in the sedimentary formation about 2000 feet above the river bed. There was no trail to this point, but I finally reached it with great difficulty. Above a shelf, which hid it from view of the river, was the mouth of the cave. There are steps leading from this entrance some thirty yards from what was, at the time the cavern was inhabited, the level of the river. When I saw the chisel marks on the wall inside the entrance, I became interested, secured my gun and went in. During that trip I went back several hundred feet along the main passage, till I came to the main crypt in which I discovered the mummies. One of these I stood up and photographed by flashlight. I gathered a number of relics, which I carried down the Colorado to Yuma, from whence I shipped them to Washington with details of the discovery. Following this, the explorations were undertaken."

[H: Now, since everything is related to everything else, how do you think some of the above information would be TRANSLATED? When you take up a book which uses common and ordinary terms of the "day", how are those translated, say, some 2000 years later? Let us just consider ONE little insignificant statement that has meaning to you NOW but how about 2000 years from now? "One of these I stood up and photographed by flashlight." Say what? Does this mean that Mr. Kincaid stood up? Was his flashlight a camera? Do you get my point? When terms used at the time of originally putting some of the great "memories" to print—don't you think that one or two translators just might interpret a phrase as to "different meaning"? Man can only relate to the things in interpretation as they are USED in a given circumstance and "time frame". What would be meant by "far-out"? What about "...and he lapped up the..." or he "loved the prostitute" or "he was queer" or especially, "he was gay"? Think upon this because you are, and remain, people of the LIE until you awaken to that which has come upon you.]

THE PASSAGES

"The main passageway is about 12 feet wide, narrowing to 9 feet toward the farther end. About 57 feet from the entrance, the first passages branch off to the right and left, along which, on both sides, are a number of rooms about the size of ordinary living rooms of today, though some are 30 to 40 feet square. These are entered by oval shaped doors and are ventilated by round air spaces through the walls into the passages. The walls are about 3 feet 6 inches in thickness. The passages are chiseled or hewn as straight as could be laid out by any engineer. The ceilings of many of the rooms converge to a center. The side passages near the entrance run at a sharp angle from the main hall, but toward the rear they gradually reach a right angle in direction."

THE SHRINE

"Over a hundred feet from the entrance is a cross-hall, several hundred feet long, in which was found the idol, or image, of the people's god, sitting cross-legged, with a Lotus flower or Lily in each hand. The cast of the face is Oriental, and the carving shows a skillful hand, and the entire is remarkably well preserved, as is everything in this cavern. The idol most resembles Buddha, though the scientists are not certain as to what religious worship it represents. Taking into consideration everything found thus far, it is possible that the smaller images, some beautiful in form, others crooked necked and distorted shapes, symbolical, probably, of good and evil. There are two large cacti with protruding arms, one on each side of the dais on which the god squats. All this is carved out of hard rock resembling marble.

In the opposite corner of this cross-hall were found tools of all descriptions, made of copper. This people undoubtedly knew the lost art of hardening this metal, which has been sought by chemists for centuries without result. On a bench running around the workroom was some charcoal and other material probably used in the process. There is also slag and stuff similar to matte, showing that these ancient peoples smelted ores, but so far, no trace of where or how this was done has been discovered, nor the origin of the ore. Among other finds are vases or urns and cups of copper and gold made very artistic in design. The pottery work includes enameled ware and glazed vessels.

Another passageway leads to granaries such as are found in the oriental temples. They contain seeds of various kinds. One very large storehouse has not been entered, as it is twelve feet high and can be reached only from above. Two copper hooks extend on the edge, which indicates that some sort of ladder was attached. These granaries are rounded and the materials of which they are constructed, I think, is a very hard cement. A grey metal is also found in this cavern which puzzles the scientists, for its identity has not been established. It resembles platinum. Strewn promiscuously over the floor everywhere are what people call "Cats eyes" or "tiger eyes", a yellow stone of no great value. Each one is engraved with a head of a Malay type."

THE HIEROGLYPHICS

"On all the urns, on the walls over the doorways and tablets of stone which were found by the image are mysterious hieroglyphics, the key to which the Smithsonian Institution hopes yet to discover. These writings resemble those found on the rocks about this valley. The engraving on the tablets probably has something to do with the religion of the people. Similar hieroglyphics have been found in the peninsula of Yucatan, but these are not found in the Orient. Some believe that these cave dwellers built the old canals of the Salt River Valley. Among the pictorial writings only two animals are found. One is of prehistoric type."

THE CRYPT

"The tomb or crypt in which the mummies are found is one of the largest of the chambers, the walls slanting back at an angle of about 35 degrees. On these tiers are mummies, each one occupying a separate hewn shelf. At the head of each is a small bench on which is found copper cups and pieces of broken swords. Some of the mummies are covered with clay and all are wrapped in a dark fabric. The urns or cups on the lower tiers are crude, while as the higher shelves are reached, the urns are finer in design showing an interstage of civilization. It is worthy of note that all the mummies examined so far have proved to be male, no children or females being buried here. This leads to the belief that this interior section was the warriors' barracks."

Among the discoveries no bones of animals have been found, no skins, no clothing nor bedding. Many of the rooms are bare but for the water vessels. One room, about 400 by 700 feet, was probably the main dining hall for cooking utensils are found here. What these people lived on is a problem, though it is presumed that they came south for the winter and farmed in the valleys, going back north in the summer. Upwards of 50,000 people could have lived in the cavern comfortably. One theory is that the present Indian tribe found in Arizona are descendants of the serfs or slaves of the people which inhabited the cave. Undoubtedly a good many thousands of years before the Christian era a people lived here which reached a high state of civilization. The chronology of human history is full of gaps. Prof. Jordan is much enthused over the discoveries and believes that the find will prove of incalculable value in archaeological work.

"One thing I have spoken of may be of interest. There is one chamber the passageways to which is not ventilated and when we approach it a deadly, snaky smell struck us. Our lights would not penetrate the gloom and until stronger ones are available, we will not know what the chamber contains. Some say snakes, but others boo-hoo this idea and think that it may contain a deadly gas or chemicals used by the ancients. No sounds are heard, but it smells snaky just the same. [H: Can you visualize this? Fine! Now you can realize the difference in MYSTICISM and MYSTERIOUS for this is a prime example—when the LIGHT is shed on the interior of the "cave" it will show what is within and the speculation (mystery) is revealed—no more, no less. There may well be MORE mysteries but as each is revealed the "mysticism" is removed. GOD IS A MYSTERY—NOT MYSTICISM.]

"The whole underground institution gives one of shaky nerves the creeps. The gloom is like a weight on one's shoulders and our flashlights and candles only make the darkness blacker. Imagination can revel in conjectures and ungodly day-dreams back through the ages that have elapsed till the mind reels dizzily in space."

AN INDIAN LEGEND

In connection with this story, it is notable that among the Hopis the tradition is told that their ancestors once lived in an underworld in the Grand Canyon until dissension arose between the good and the bad, the people of one heart, the people of two hearts. Manchoto, who was their chief, counselled them to leave the underworld, but there was no way out. The chief (tnon) caused a tree to grow up and pierce the roof of the underworld and then the people of one heart climbed out. They tarried by Palsiaval(?) (Red River), which is the Colorado, and grew grain and corn. They sent out a message to the temple of the Sun, asking the blessings of peace, good will and rain for the people of one heart. That messenger never returned but, today at the Hopi village, at sundown can be seen the old men of the tribe out on the housetops gazing towards the Sun, looking for the messenger. When he returns, their land and ancient dwelling place will be restored to them. That is the tradition.

Among the engravings of animals in the cave is seen an image of a heart over the spot where it is located. The legend was learned by W.E. Rollins, the artist, during a year spent with the Hopi Indians. There are two theories of the origin of the Egyptians. One is that they came from Asia: another is that the racial cradle was in the upper Nile region. Heeren, an Egyptologist, believed in the Indian origin of the Egyptians. The discoveries in the Grand Canyon may throw further light on human evolution and prehistoric ages.

[END OF QUOTING]

I would leave this here with a thank you to Alain and Joye of Iowa for sharing with us. I would also offer further possibilities of information: John Rhodes, c/o A.W., P.O. Box 91034, Henderson, NV 89009. Tel: (702) 434-5091.

I am asked about what I might know of this material as to factual, etc.? READ SIPAPU ODYSSEY!

Ah, what wonders are held by the Wisdomkeepers! I would leave this writing with just a bit of that wisdom for your consideration and for the consideration of your brethren who "know". In the works of Mathew King, Lakota, "It's time Indians tell the world what we know..."

about Nature and about GOD. So I'm going to tell you what I know and who I am. You guys better listen. You got a lot to learn... God made everything so simple. Our lives are very simple... We've learned that God rules the universe and that everything God made is living. Even the rocks are alive. When we use them in our sweat ceremony we talk to them and they talk back to us." And when did you last take time to speak to a rock to get some "answers"? The very history of the UNIVERSE is held within the rocks and crystals of the UNIVERSE. Until you learn to ask—and then LISTEN—you are not apt to learn very much at all.

Is my pronouncement a revelation? No, it is simply "SOMETHING REVEALED". When you learn the DIFFERENCE we will have passed the greatest hurdle to knowledge which exists in the pathway of man. Perhaps it is time to stop denouncing that which is unclear to your perceptions, stand silent and LISTEN, and we shall accomplish our mission of LIFE.

Little Crow: "We are linked. We are the universe in itself. What we do as individuals affects the entire universe. Every thought you have, every thing you do, every breath you take affects the universe. It goes out into the universe and each and every thing is touched by it and affected by it... Isn't that an amazement?! I am affecting the universe with my mere breath. With just my breath I am affecting the universe. For me to say to someone 'you have made me angry' simply says to me I have made myself angry. To say to someone that 'you have hurt me' simply means that I have hurt myself. If I hurt you, then I hurt me. Your pain can be shared by the universe and is shared, only in a different form. There is none of us here whose suffering is not felt by the entire universe, by every animal, by every creature, by every tree, rock, grain of sand, morsel of air, all feel your suffering and your pain. It also feels your joy. You are never alone. You are not created to be alone because you are part of the total. Everything is connected and we're all related and there is no energy that can be separated from anything. When people start talking about 'I'm putting you out of my life' I laugh, because there is no way you can do that... Energy is energy and it's always connected and it's always related and it will always be what it is—energy. It will always be from the same place that it has always come from, the Mother-Father Creator. It will always be that it is the Mother-Father Creator. It is the Mother-Father Creator in just another form. We have no privacy, brothers and sisters. The Mother-Father Creator dwells within us and is connected and is all things, and that privacy then becomes part of the same privacy that I have within my mind, my heart and my being. We are all connected and what is experienced by one is experienced by all. The Earth and I are one, you and the Earth are one, you and I are one, we are not separated by anything—only our own thinking, our own fears, our own prejudices, our own biases and our own agendas. We are related. Remember the relationship we share with all things and with all people. No one is separated from us because of what they might be feeling or what they might be experiencing. They are continually connected to us and relative to us and we cannot shun them or put them aside or out of our minds... We are all connected and we should be capable somehow of dropping the labels that have separated us for so long."

May we always honor such wisdom from our brothers and relations. And if you need a bit of upliftment from time to time, try FROM THE GATHERING, The Wisdom of Little Crow. Ed: C.F. Clark, One World Publishing, P.O. Box 9148, Fountain Valley, CA 92708.

I would rather, however, have you gain the WISDOM offered and then, instead of trying to run my business or that of, say, Little Crow—remember the following (from Little Crow): "As absurd as it might sound, finding my identity is to remember who I was. Remembering who I was simply means taking responsibility for who I am."

Aho.

GAIA'S PREMIUM ALL NATURAL

ALOE VERA JUICE CONCENTRATE

Aloe Vera has a long and impressive history that spans hundreds of centuries, countries and cultures, and appears in countless "folk remedies" as a plant revered for its healing qualities.

Aloe Juice is a whole-leaf concentrate prepared from the freshly harvested leaves of the Barbadensis Miller Aloe Vera plant. Aloe Juice guarantees a minimum of 10,000 mg. of mucopolysaccharides per liter.

The nutrients reported in Aloe Vera include mucopolysaccharides and polysaccharides (glucomannans), glycoproteins, glucose, mannose, galactose, xylose, arabinose, tannins, steroids, organic acids, antibiotic principles, glucuronic acids, enzymes (oxidase, catalase and amylase), trace sugars, calcium oxalate, a protein containing 18 amino acids, "wound healing" hormones, biogenic stimulators, saponins, vitamins B1, B2, niacin, B6, choline, folic acid, chloride, sulfate, iron, calcium, copper, sodium, potassium, silicon, manganese, plus many other metabolism-assisting components.

For best results, most people drink 1 to 6 ounces per day. Many people enjoy drinking the juice without dilution. However, if desired, you may easily reconstitute the juice by adding water or you can flavor your Aloe with other juices such as apple, cranberry, or grapefruit juice. It is recommended that this daily Aloe supplement be taken in divided amounts during the day. We are eager for you to discover, as we have, the benefits of these scientifically advanced Aloe beverages and concentrates for your optimum nutritional health.

Living In A Chaotic World

3/4/96 #1 HATONN

THINGS THAT DON'T HAPPEN

Let us just cut to the chase, readers, and realize that you are living in a chaotic world. I realize that we often offer information which does not come to pass. I also realize that our obligation to you is to tell you those things which flow into our focus which bear major impact upon you. I can't cover all the myriads of questions about silica gel vs. horsetail tincture—but I can ask for a notation about the possibility of a bombing of Los Angeles taking place. These things, neither one, are "prophecies" of some kind—they deal with things going on as usual as we write.

SILICA GEL

I would speak here for just a brief moment on silica because I have personal letters to my attention regarding this item. The body converts silica and from silica comes the ability of the body to lay down good hard bone, etc., not from calcium. I am not going to go back over the lessons [see the 9/19/95 issue of CONTACT p. 16] which were tedious at best. We have to move on with new input to the best of our limited capabilities. I too wish there were funds to get the journals published for reference in a timely manner. We offered to publish the journals as they should be, in monthly indexed editions, but the response was light-to-nil. There simply are not funds to do our task as desired so we do that which is next best—the best we can.

I asked New Gaia Distributors to get a supply of silica gel for your use. I am told that the more effective intake of silica comes from "spring" (as in season of the year) horsetail weed. Indeed I would like to see BOTH brought into the stores for availability. Horsetail, used without a break in regime, will tend to strip the body of some very necessary items, Vitamin E being one such substance. It is easy enough to take the tincture through the week, say, and rest on the weekend. I am NOT in the vitamin or mineral business as relates to products carried by distributors. I do believe, however, that there are some very valid arguments to be made for silica gel and, actually, some colloidal minerals which Gaia doesn't yet carry. I remind you that Horsetail is a plant THAT HAS THE BEST RECOGNIZED SOURCE OF SILICA. I advocate a "choice" but I am not going to personalize intake programs.

Please realize that as New Gaia offers new products from MY HANDS they have to incur great expense in gearing up to meet demand and they are working from minus zero in every instance for we CREATE such as Dria formulae which is unavailable elsewhere. Any time a new product is put on-line from other resources, there is a massive up-front outlay of funds to pay for the product to get it to the distributor in Las Vegas.

ACIDOPHILUS

Acidophilus is another product which gets a lot of attention around here but I don't know the status of availability. I do know that it is one of the easiest products to grow and supply but no one seems to know the procedure for doing so on a large scale. I don't have the time or inclination at the moment. So, if you have information on large scale farming of natural and necessary microbes for the body, please share with New Gaia, me, Kathy or CONTACT and they will forward the information. I plan to soon start a "nursery" with intestinal flora fed with Gaiaandriana and OxySol for programming. With the addition of silica we will be able to cut out the multitude of different products into an ongoing pleasant teaspoon a day, or less. There are not large enough facilities yet and Dharma has to do the work so it has to wait.

CEREAL

I also have requested that a breakfast cereal be brought in to supply enough for your use in Spelta cereal you might call "mush". We can either use cracked grain or ground style (as in Cream of Wheat, etc.). We are working on it but realize, audience, that this requires grinders, crackers and if we want the grain toasted, which brings out the full benefit of the B-17, we need toasters like you would use in coffee roasting. Then we need bags and printing, instructions, etc. When a product is worker-intensive as this is, by example, we can't keep the price lower for you than on the health food store shelves. Most health food stores are extremely high in prices and rightly so for you have no preservatives to allow for long shelf life.

We also need freeze dryers for such as acidophilus lactobacillus or use a liquid-based product. This is fine except that shipping becomes a problem for in warm temperatures the product "blows up".

There are some real problems with shipping in this new world of yours, not the least of which are such as scanners, intense heat as seasons change, and products are shipped in dark vehicles without ventilation, and then when delivered they are often left to set in the Sun on a loading dock somewhere, or off the shelves at the stores waiting for unloading. Just to do business becomes a nightmare of experience in almost all instances which, of course, is the intent of government regulators.

SILVER BLUES

To you who concern about "blue" possibilities in silver colloids, please be aware that "salts" and "colloids" ARE NOT THE SAME THING. In addition, in a new thrust to keep products for use—from you, you will find more and more articles popping forth to destroy your desire for intake. There is such an article in last October's (18th, 1995) issue of JAMA (Journal of the American Medical Association) from which I will share an "Alert" from that source (thank you, Dr. Wright), and I think you can use your usual "backwards guidance system" to interpret the intent of the writer to keep you toddling back and back and back to the drug houses and physicians' offices.

I would always ask that you use good sense and thoughtful evaluations, from the inability of antibiotics to relieve symptoms of new diseases and prevent death, to what you should eat. I simply cannot divert my attention to such things as urine therapy, etc. Much ado about these things is interesting but not what I am about. The facts are that estrogen replacement hormones are often most effectively produced from horse-urine-derivatives [also see top of News Desk, p.2]. A lot of women have had surgery, aging osteoporosis, and other estrogen-shortage symptoms but, for the osteoporosis, silica is better than estrogen therapy although estrogen replacement is much better for the overall balanced functioning of the female body. But then, our subject is silver so let me offer the little excerpt from JAMA and recognize that it comes from the DRUG INDUSTRY FOUNDATION OF THE TEMPLES OF MEDICINE.

SILVER ALERT

No, this is not an investment advisory. The alert is about eating silver. That is what is being recommended by some hustlers and misguided health writers. "Ethical" rheumatologists have been having their patients eat gold for their arthritis for the past 30 years and that's, in my opinion, an establishment-protected scam. It's probably less toxic than silver, but equally ineffective as a therapeutic agent, and gold costs more than silver. Why don't they recommend tin or lead? [H: Now, isn't that good and valid suggestion? Lead? Surely the man who wrote this nasty note is out of his mind.] At least the patients will die richer.

The silver-for-everything-that-ails-you scam has been going on for a hundred years, even though there is no evidence that it's any better than Mississippi mud for your ailments. In the 19th century, it was recommended for tetanus and rheumatism. In the early 20th century, up until World War II, colds and gonorrhea were treated with silver. The results were not impressive.

In this last decade of the 20th century, silver is back again as a treatment for 650 different diseases! They even refer to it as an "essential mineral" with no proof whatsoever. According to the latest hallucinations, taking silver pills will cure AIDS, TB, yeast infections, viral infections, bacterial infections, diabetes, chronic fatigue syndrome, and, of course, cancer. They are available in every conceivable form (even injections) for every orifice. [H: My, my, — PILLS? The man has a pretty good point if you think you can get a colloid SOLUTION in pill-form. The writer has not the most remote idea of that which he spews forth. I would think that the treatment of some 650 diseases and used against that many microbes FOR WHICH THERE IS NO ANTIBIOTIC TREATMENT LONGER AVAILABLE IS WORTHY OF SOME POSITIVE NOTE!]

They claim it is without side effects and safe for pregnant women and the little ones. This simply is not true. Silver causes argyria, a bluish discoloration of the skin, and neurologic deficits. It accumulates in the body, like lead, and causes renal damage. The damage caused by argyria is irreversible. [H: This jerk is worse than the original QUACK, QUACK snake oil salesman. He either is totally stupid or incomprehensibly ignorant. Argyria is caused ONLY from the intake of "silver SALTS" and, even if present, to compare it to the intake of LEAD is unconscionable, even for the medical drug-pushers. Since this information is some kind of an editorial blathering we can't even "here" pin down the ignoramus source. But, readers, this is a prime example of the way "THEY" work. However, AGAIN, I urge you to use common sense. The very fact that colloidal silver and/or gold do NOT build up in the body so you don't have any "long-acting" residual benefit for time-release benefit if you are really sick must be considered. Everyone wants to overdo in an attempt to remain without flaws. My suggestion is always to use "reason" and logic, hit the bugs when they are at you and minimize all other intake. The IDEAL circumstance is to live in a "perfect" world where all things are balanced and wondrously convenient and comfortable but, unfortunately, third dimensional worlds do not come with such available perfection.]

As to "Action to take": Pass on silver as a "nutrient" or internal treatment. There is a silver product that has been on the market for 30 years, called Silvadene. It is a fairly effective topical cream for skin infections, but hydrogen peroxide is better and a heck of a lot cheaper.

[END OF QUOTING]

I would end with a precaution regarding articles such as the above—USE YOUR BRAINS! Ebola is on the move AGAIN and is now mutated a few steps beyond that already experienced. What are YOU going to use when it comes to your town? What do you think JAMA will advise then? Or, will they just begin to burn all infected townships as in the movie "Virus"? I suggest every one of you get the video of that movie and watch it and weep for YOU ARE THERE.

Now, let us turn to the big hype on bombing L.A. and Taiwan. One doesn't "seem" to have much to do with the other—but think again.

From an article commenting on the recent information relative to the threats of China invading Taiwan comes this "commentary" from a Jon Talton, syndicated writer. The original information came through the Los Angeles Times.

[QUOTING:]

February 29, 1996:

CHINA TO INVADE TAIWAN

Here's a chill wake-up call from our post-Cold War nap time: Chinese officials are warning influential American visitors that an invasion of Taiwan may come as early as this spring. If the United States intervenes, China will use nuclear weapons against Los Angeles.

It makes you wonder why this toty hasn't been blown across the front page of every newspaper in America, but such is the odd coma of denial and self-delusion into which we've fallen. (The report is from Ross H. Munro of the Foreign Research Institute, writing in the Los Angeles Times.)

The China hands wring themselves comfortably that such is the posturing of an insecure regime facing a succession crisis upon the death of Deng Xioping, and that's true—to a point. But insecure regimes also miscalculate and start world wars: Ask Kaiser Wilhelm.

Indeed, the Chinese situation is .....

[END OF QUOTING]

I don't wish to go further into this because it matters not what the topic may be—I AM GOING TO ASK THAT YOU BE TOLD ANY TIME THERE IS SUCH SWORD SWISHING! If nothing happens, fine with me—but YOU expect information and possibilities of happenings, from us, and you are going to get what we have available. This information was placed on the phone line, I believe, as I requested it to be so.

Why did it become IMPORTANT? Because on both C-SPAN and CNN it was made public that the above intention was not only valid but was planned to happen TODAY, March 4, 1996.

Public, don't kid yourselves that the capability is not here and now available. This does NOT require missiles—there are plenty of nuclear devices already planted and waiting for appropriate timing to be detonated. Let us pray that this would just take out some Federal building like in Oklahoma City, but capability is present to take out the whole of GREATER LOS ANGELES and the 17+ million people in the area. There would not be a nice McVey to take the blame and O.J. Simpson has his hands full so he is out—for blame—so let us hope that just the focus of attention will slow up the willing participants in such terror tactics.

You are going to have to realize that, with the full-scale hook-up of the HAARP electronics network, the intent is to interfere with any help you of the "free" world would be getting from Cosmospheres. The counter measures taken to strengthen the apparatus on the 'spheres becomes even more deadly in the need to penetrate a bubble of electronic cross-networking. Please remember, in addition, that the Cosmospheres are Earth-craft of the Russians—not space "alien" anything. Space aliens haven't even yet begun to show their power! I believe that most of you will be quite surprised when that day arrives for such a show-and-tell.

Remember, there are less than FOUR years for the Zionist One World Order Plan 2000 to be fully operational, so things have got to HEAT UP, readers. I certainly am NOT going to sooth your "Hadalol" (ask your grandmother [widely-advertised "tonic", about 40% alcohol!]) nerves by not telling you what is going on or suggest you take two aspirin and call me in the morning—although I might well suggest you take two aspirin and NOT CALL ME in the morning.

FEMA'S CABINET POSITION

You now have a NATIONAL EMERGENCY situation declared which allows your idiots in power to place FEMA into power. FEMA has been turned into a "CABINET" department, and a Cabinet post filled by the head of FEMA is NOW in place. Now you have FEMA in full control of the Cuban "situation" and, with Martial Law in full command, readers, that means the National Emergency is extended another year under the War Powers Act and Executive Order. The CONSTITUTION is thereby LEGALLY set aside. You now have the "covering" happenings in Israel/Palestine, China and other DISTRACTORS, while the Administration puppets do their dirty work on you-the-people.

You live in a WONDROUS world—not a "nice" world! When you realize that YOU control your world—perhaps you will see far enough beyond the moment to realize your potential to MAKE A DIFFERENCE. I cannot tell each of you your purpose or direction any more than I will interfere with the flow of thought forms on the universal tablets of recordings. Your DESTINY is that which you make it and THAT comes ONLY from that which is within your own beings. I am constantly amused by the term: "What does that have to do with the price of tea in China?" when speaking of something that seems quite unrelated to the topic in point. That too is a distractor for EVERYTHING IS RELATIVE TO EVERYTHING ELSE AND TEA IN CHINA BECOMES QUITE IMPORTANT AS YOU CAN SEE FROM THE ABOVE NOTATIONS. Abuse and misuse of one item, one person, becomes abuse of everything within the UNIVERSE—for you CANNOT detach anything from anything else. So be it.

THE GREENS

I am constantly asked about the information offered by "the Greens" in our journey together, i.e., "was it valid?", etc. Of course it was valid—that part which was valid, no more and no less. The circumstance which brought the separation of the relationship was not on the "information", it was the misuse of others' property and into the control of the people who set forth to gain wealth and destroy perceived enemies at the same time. George, for example, set up the very program he now labels Ponzi scam. No, obviously, run properly, it is NOT his own Ponzi scam after all. The journals, for instance, ARE VALID; the holding of them hostage for monetary gain and destruction of a gifted mission is wrong behavior and not the fault of the journals.

George held truth but tossed it aside when it did not serve his ego needs. You cannot live and serve TWO MASTERS and this is a fine example of what happens when it is attempted. Worse, EGO will disallow the person's taking a very simple step toward solution of any problem: simply saying, "I was wrong, forgive me." But just to use this apology to accomplish more dirty tricks is not acceptable and the receivers of the apology get very wise right fast when stung more than twice by the same scorpion tail. No, the actions of NO ONE invalidate TRUTH and, therefore, YOU must get informed for truth comes from anywhere and everywhere—just as does the LIE. It is you who must discern the reasonable, just, and Godly presentation by evidence PROVEN, not just touted for the heck of it.

Our intent here is never to "sensationalism" but I cannot deny that we must deal in that which is "sensational" and not readily available to your senses. We can't help that circumstance for opposites do not become "like" by our wishing it would be so or changing the definitions of accepted words. That which any person believes is "his truth" even if it in actuality is the "LIE OF LIES". Perhaps Green really "thought", without proper information input, that he was doing the correct thing as relates to, say, the Institute. Here is when "thinking" without evidence is foolish indeed. The same with some of the other things that take place as in taking Corporation documents in secret shenanigans—WHY NOT SIMPLY HAVE DONE A SHIFT CORRECTLY, IF THERE BE NO FOUL INTENT? Why do the people who still blame E.J. and Doris for their misfit problems NOT SIMPLY

WITH THE ACCUSED AND GET THE INFORMATION THEY NEED TO MAKE VALID DECISIONS AND PLANS OF OPERATION. IT WOULD BE MOST SIMPLE AND A WAY TO GET THE BASIC REASONING, EVEN IF IT MIGHT BE INCORRECT INFORMATION, WHICH COULD THEN BE CORRECTED. However, what we have is a misuse of property for personal gain and selling as in Green with his "dome building development". Why not just work out the plan with E.J. and Martin? It was their plan; why would Green set up a whole plan which meant getting control of other's funds for same—while leaving the Institute in receivership? These REASONS are the differences upon WHICH YOU CAN LEARN AND BASE YOUR CONCLUSIONS! These are the things of Green's own advertising and telling, not tattling by others! If the tales were not so in the first place, then why does Green now claim them to be false tales against him? He told them! And when you get tossed back at you, "Oh, that was just advertising rhetoric," get concerned! If the advertising lies about the product—the damage is laid forth in the first misdeed or misstatement.

Example? George was a Director and Officer of the Phoenix Institute for Research & Education, Ltd. Then, on the witness stand under oath he claimed he was not and never had been such. He was, so nothing could change the facts. Next came the claim, when the first didn't work, of saying, "Oh, well, that was to be a California non-profit corporation." No, there NEVER was a plan for any California anything—the Institute is a Nevada corporation—always was, always will be. When that didn't sell to the court it changed AGAIN and then AGAIN. Well, which is correct? The Institute is a Nevada corporation and originally Mr. Green served as a Director and Officer. He laid forth a plan of operation and went about the nation selling the plan which he now calls a "Ponzi" scam. Is there something wrong with this picture? Does this, however, mean that when George Green said in a lecture that "God wins in the end" that "this" is not so? YOU have to become informed and it is a slow process, even for the most incredibly intelligent among you. George said he was an expert at the "illusion of money", the "creation of imitation money", etc. What he meant was that he was capable, just as was Keating, of developing legal plans for expanding the value of money. But what got him into trouble was the taking of REAL HARD MONEY IN THE FORM OF GOLD and burying it SECRETLY in his back yard while responsible for its security with the Institute—WHILE he was a Director and Officer of same. All the CLUES are in place for discernment—never mind the flowing words of such recent pleas of innocence. THE ACTION TELLS THE TALE IN TRUTH—NOT ALL THE SMOOTH WORDS STRUNG TOGETHER. SATAN HAS THE SMOOTHEST VOCABULARY OF ANYBODY AROUND THE UNIVERSE.

I would leave this writing here for the convenience of the paper staff who may wish to use it. I am often asked if we shall ever run out of material or subject matter? NO! Salu.

TELEPHONE HOTLINE

This is a service for our dedicated readers. Today's Watch telephone hotline carries the latest news and comments from Commander Hatonn's most recent writings. This is our way of keeping you informed about fast-breaking news and events. The message machine will answer after 2 rings if there are any new messages for that day, and after 4 rings if not. Thus daily callers can hang up after 2 rings and save toll charges if no new message has been recorded. The message update(s), if any, occur by 6 PM Pacific Time.
