IRS Control Strategy Over Christian Churches Separation Of Church And State?!

Editor’s note: The following is a report from Texe Marrs called “How The IRS Controls Christian Churches” which was written in response to a “disbeliever” who was questioning his earlier writing on this subject. More on this topic can be obtained on the Internet from his Living Truth Ministries (livingtr@texemarrs.com), as well as a 60-minute audio tape for a $10 donation.

Longtime CONTACT readers will immediately appreciate how this IRS control agenda fits into the larger diabolical goal set forth through the Protocols Of The Learned Elders Of Zion for collapse of the morality of a once-strong nation like the USA. After all, if Christmas trees and Nativity displays in public locations are becoming “illegal”, why not also go after any church which may actually be encouraging moral behavior?!

10/17/98 TEXE MARRS

I do not know whether you are a disinformation agent of the IRS or whether you simply are totally oblivious to the horrible dangers now facing Christian churches and groups. Are you really serious in claiming that suffering churches are not being abused by the IRS?

I beg you to immediately contact Pastor Greg Dixon of the Indianapolis Baptist Temple, Indianapolis, Indiana. Brother Dixon’s church has been slapped with a tax levy of 5.1 million dollars by the IRS. You see, Pastor Dixon and the good people of that historic, old church have long refused the IRS’s 501(c)3 status. They knew exactly what it means—control by the federal government of God’s church. In retaliation, the IRS has audited the pastor and most church members. They have seized some church (Please see IRS Control Strategy Over Christian Churches, p.8)

DEFENSE SYSTEMS DISRUPTING ALLIES' COMMUNICATIONS

From the Bakersfield Californian, 10/18/98: [quoting]

U.S. military technology deployed overseas is disrupting emergency telephone service in some countries and causing other telecommunications glitches, annoying allies and incapacitating weapons, a defense-industry publication reports.

Quoting an internal Defense Department review, Defense Week said multibillion-dollar systems—such as Patriot missile defenses and Predator unmanned aerial vehicles—won't work to their full capabilities in some countries and, in others, can't be used at all.

That's because their radio waves clash with same-frequency users in host nations, the newsletter said in its edition to be published Monday.

"At least 89 telecommunications systems ... were deployed within the European, Pacific and Southwest Asian theaters without the proper frequency certification and host-nation approval," it quoted the Defense Department's inspector general's report as saying.

Pentagon officials said in written responses to the audit that they generally agreed with the criticism. They added that steps were being taken to deal with the problem, which they conceded was serious. [End quoting]

With HAARP, plus all types of satellites, all kinds of powerful control frequencies (people control) and normal frequencies for radio, television, etc., is there any wonder that they are having troubles. Not to mention the frequencies that are probably sent out purposely for sabotage purposes.

GOVERNMENT MEDDLES WITH MEDICINE AGAIN

Appeals Court Should Void Provision In Budget Act That Punishes Seniors

From THE DAILY NEWS, Los Angeles, 10/19/98: [quoting]

On Friday a federal appeals court in Washington, D.C., will hear a case that could determine whether senior citizens will remain second-class citizens when it comes to health care.

At issue is a provision in last year's Balanced Budget Act that makes it virtually impossible for seniors to purchase health care from their doctors without going through Medicare. If allowed to stand, this provision will leave seniors with less medical freedom than any other class of citizens in the United States and even less than citizens of Great Britain, who live under socialized medicine.

The case has brought together the United Seniors Association (USA), a conservative seniors advocacy group, and the Washington Chapter of the American Civil Liberties Union. These groups don't usually agree on much, but they do agree that seniors should have the freedom to deal directly with their own doctors without interference from the federal bureaucracy.

Here's how the onerous provision works: Suppose you're a senior citizen enrolled in Medicare and for personal reasons you want to pay your own money for a medical treatment, even though it's covered by Medicare. Perhaps you want the special skills of a favorite physician, or you want medical services without the conditions imposed by the Medicare bureaucracy, or you would just rather pay for the treatment yourself. Whatever the reason, almost everyone would agree that patients, if they wish, have a right to pay directly for their own medical treatment. Everyone, that is, except the Clinton administration and some members of Congress.

Under Section 4507 of the 1997 Balanced Budget Act, doctors who treat a Medicare patient privately for a "Medicare-covered" service must give up their entire Medicare practice for two years. Few doctors can afford that. So the government punishes doctors for privately treating seniors because no taxpayer money is involved. If this sounds bizarre, it is.

Unfortunately, a lower federal court ruled against USA in the first round of litigation. The Clinton administration's lawyers argued at the time that "the right to autonomous decision-making applies only in certain limited contexts, involving marriage, contraception and abortion, family relationships, child-rearing and education." In that case, United Seniors Association vs. Donna Shalala (1998), U.S. District Court Judge Thomas Hogan bought the administration's argument and wrote, "The Court's role here is to determine whether the United States Constitution confers a fundamental right on individuals to privately contract with their physicians. The Court finds that it does not."

In other words, the legal situation is this: If you're 65 or older and enrolled in Medicare, you have a constitutional right to privacy with your doctor only if you're getting an abortion or birth control [emphasis mine]—the two medical services seniors are virtually guaranteed never to need.

American taxpayers of all ages should note that doctors and patients in other public health programs, including the Federal Employees Health Benefits Program that covers members of Congress and the White House staff, are not burdened with any provision of law remotely resembling Medicare's restrictive Section 4507. And while it's true that managed care and insurance plans often restrict the freedom of choice of doctors and patients, there is no federal penalty imposed on either doctors or patients who choose to make private agreements outside the plan. Under Medicare, by contrast, American doctors cannot even treat their mothers in exchange for apple pies without being forced to give up their Medicare practice for two years. This official stupidity is unique.

Sen. Jon Kyl, R-Ariz., Rep. Bill Archer, R-Texas, and California Rep. Bill Thomas, R-Bakersfield, have introduced the Medicare Beneficiary Freedom to Contract Act. The bill would repeal the legal requirement that doctors give up their Medicare reimbursement for two years if they enter into mutual private agreements with their patients. This legislation says nothing in Medicare law shall prevent patients from entering into private agreements with their doctors on a case-by-case basis for any length of time.

America is supposed to be a free society. The government doesn't get involved when citizens use their own money for a car, groceries or other items. It has absolutely no business interfering with the right of Americans to spend their own money on the legal medical services of their doctors.

Have you ever heard of more devious reasoning?? All they want is to take our freedom so they can kill us off at their "pleasure".

Let's stop the elite from getting away with this by getting on the phone, fax, Internet, etc., to your politicians—NOW!!

PARTISANSHIP RULES AS CLINTON, CONGRESS REACH BUDGET DEAL

HIGHLIGHTS OF THE SPENDING BILL

Excerpted from THE DAILY NEWS, Los Angeles, 10/16/98: [quoting]

The $500-billion catchall spending bill negotiated Thursday is a complex piece of legislation that covers about one-third of what the federal government will spend between now and Sept. 30 [1999].

It covers expenditures by the departments of Education, State, Health and Human Services, and dozens of other agencies. It includes a $20-billion package of "emergency" spending. And it contains a myriad of miscellaneous items, most of them policy adjustments whose details were sketchy Thursday.

The highlights:

* $1.1 billion toward the hiring of 100,000 new public school teachers.

* $700 million for missile defense systems.

* $6 billion in emergency farm aid to farmers and ranchers hammered by some of the lowest prices in years.

* $9.2 billion in tax breaks over nine years. Extends tax credits through June 30, 1999, for corporate research and for hiring welfare recipients.

* A measure that allows renewal of grazing rights on federal land without environmental assessment.

* A legal residency provision for at least 40,000 Haitian refugees.

* A provision that makes 142,500 more visas available for foreign high-tech workers between

1999 and 2001. [End quoting]

So the elite are grabbing more control of education, giving a very tiny handout to farmers whom they stole their livelihood from, with even more money as gifts to their corporate friends, allowing more immigration to take away more citizens' jobs so they can starve.

I would say that this is politics at its worst!

TURKISH SOLDIERS ENTER IRAQ TO ATTACK REBELS

From THE AUSTIN AMERICAN STATESMAN, 10/4/98: [quoting]

About 10,000 Turkish soldiers have crossed into northern Iraq to attack Kurdish rebels, and the government said it might send forces into Syria to eradicate guerrilla bases there, news reports said Saturday.

Turkey's incursion into northern Iraq on Friday followed two days of airstrikes against suspected rebel bases, the daily Hurriyet said.

Turkish Kurdish rebels fighting for autonomy in southeastern Turkey wage cross-border raids from camps in Iraq, Iran and Syria. The Ankara government accuses Syria of aiding the rebels, a charge Damascus denies.

Turkey warned the Syrian government Friday that its "patience was running out", and Gen. Huseyin Kivrikoglu, chief of the general staff, has described the mounting tension with Syria as "an undeclared war". In reply, Damascus accused Turkey of plotting with Israel to destabilize Syria.

In Jerusalem, Defense Ministry spokesman Avi Benayahu said Israel is not involved "in any way" in the Turkey-Syria confrontation.

In an effort to head off a military conflict, Egyptian President Hosni Mubarak will go to Turkey and Syria for emergency talks, the Egyptian foreign minister said Saturday. [End quoting]

More indications of the scenario rapidly moving towards a big war soon!

TALIBAN SEEK U.N. LEADER'S HELP

From THE AUSTIN AMERICAN STATESMAN, 10/4/98: [quoting]

The Taliban religious army on Saturday sought the intervention of U.N. Secretary-General Kofi Annan, warning of what it called a potentially "devastating" war with neighboring Iran.

The Taliban said their request follows the incursion of Iranian fighterjets and helicopters into Afghan air space on Friday. The Taliban threatened to retaliate if there are more incursions.

Iran called the Taliban charges "false and baseless" and demanded an apology and the release of 50 Iranians being held in jails in southern Afghanistan. [End quoting]

MAINE: NEW FUEL ADDITIVE IS POTENTIAL HEALTH RISK

From THE ORLANDO SENTINEL, 10/15/98: [quoting]

Maine has become the first state to ask to be let out of a federal program requiring the sale of reformulated gasoline, saying a controversial fuel additive is a potential health threat. Gov. Angus King took the step this week after a study he ordered last year revealed that up to 4,300 wells may be contaminated with the additive, MTBE, which was developed in the 1970s to allow fuel to burn cleanly. Officials at the Environmental Protection Agency didn't anticipate problems with Maine's request. The state, however, will have to find an alternative fuel to meet clean-air requirements. [End quoting]

When are all the states going to rise up and stop these federal polluters from mandating this destruction of our environment because of their greed and control?

SPY WON'T BE FREED

From THE MODESTO BEE, 10/2/98: [quoting]

President Clinton rejected Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu's request to free Jonathan Pollard, in jail for spying on the United States for Israel, a U.S. official said Thursday. The Israeli daily Yediot Ahranot reported Thursday that at Netanyahu's meeting with Clinton earlier this week, Clinton had agreed in principle to free Pollard. [End quoting]

As much pressure as is being applied for Pollard's release, I doubt if he will be in custody much longer.

DISAPPEARING ACT

From PC MAGAZINE, 11/3/98: [quoting]

Hoping for a paperless office? Fat chance. With the proliferation of printers, copiers, and fax machines, corporate America is using more paper than ever. By some estimates, U.S. companies feed their copiers more than 81 billion sheets of paper a month, at a cost of $600 million.

Inventor Sushil Bhatia—CEO of Decopier Technologies, based in Framingham, Massachusetts—has come up with a solution. The Decopier works by applying a nontoxic chemical at low heat to a sheet of printed paper in order to soften and loosen the toner and ink. A brush then sweeps away the flakes, and a spanking-new, clean sheet of paper emerges from the other side of the environmentally friendly machine, ready to be reused. Bhatia has perfected the chemical process, which uses a pasty liquid to remove the ink and toner instantly.

The Decopier is positioned not only as a way to save paper costs but also as a security tool that erases sensitive documents.

Slated for launch by year's end the first version of the 60-page-per-minute, $45,000 Decopier will be aimed at commercial "decopying" centers. There are plans for a personal version for under $2,000. [End quoting]

Happy trees everywhere applaud this invention!

A NEW KIND OF TELEPHONE COMPANY

Excerpted from PC MAGAZINE, 11/3/98: [quoting]

The Internet Protocol (IP) and phone networks have some great applications in store.

At first, Internet telephony held forth the tantalizing promise of practically free phone calls—local, long-distance, anywhere, anytime. The prospect of transmitting voice as packets of data over the IP network spooked the telephone companies. After all, a network that ran parallel to the public switched telephone network would have posed a serious threat. But so far long-distance bypass, as it's known, has proved less formidable than expected.

In fact, the traditional phone companies are no longer standing on the sidelines watching young telecom upstarts muscle in on their business. Internet telephony could turn out to be as much about nifty new services, such as Internet Call Waiting and push-to-talk buttons on Web sites, as it is about saving money on long-distance calls. Although Internet telephony is currently exempt from the federal regulations and charges applied to traditional telephone companies, that exemption may not be around forever....

"There will be more of a level playing field in the future," says Buzz Schadel, vice president of corporate marketing at eFusion, a developer of IP telephony software. "As the regulatory playing field gets flat, the opportunity to undercut the regular phone companies on price gets skinny. The industry says that a lot of the future attention shifted to enhanced services, more than just basic telephony service," he says.

Not everyone agrees. Newcomers such as Level3 and Owest are moving full-steam-ahead with their vast fiber-optic networks, which carry images, data, and voice over IP. According to Owest, its "hyperspeed" net-work would be able to transmit the entire contents of the Library of Congress across the U.S. in 20 seconds [emphasis mine]. Qwest's service Q.Talk is now available throughout California, where subscribers can use their telephones to make calls over Owest's TP network.

Meanwhile phone companies throughout the U.S. and Europe are getting cozy with Internet telephony developers, such as eFusion and VocalTec, to combine IP telephony services with regular old phone service... [End quoting]

Some of the technology they are releasing is mind-boggling, if it actually works as reported.

ALL ABOUT DYING

From THE MODESTO BEE, 10/1/98: [quoting]

DEAR LARRY, I found a quote by an unknown author. It is about living. I think your readers will find it thought-provoking:

First, I was dying to finish high school and start college.

And then I was dying to finish college and start working.

And then I was dying to marry and have children.

And then I was dying for my children to grow old enough so I could return to work.

And then I was dying to retire.

And now, I am dying ... and suddenly realize I forgot to live. —Peg [End quoting]

How many live this type of life??

FIRST-CLASS JOB

From THE MODESTO BEE, 10/2/98: [quoting]

The Postal service will post a $500 million to $600 million profit for fiscal year 1998, postmaster General William J. Henderson said Thursday. Also, performance at the agency has improved, with 93 percent of local first class mail arriving on time. [End quoting]

Sounds like a first-class job of milking us

“peons” when they brag about this profit and have the nerve to raise the rates in January 1999—or is that their chutzpah??

STAY TRUE TO YOURSELF

From THE MODESTO BEE, Ann Landers column, 10/3/98: [quoting]

This poem was written by a man who died at age 24. His sister sent it in, saying he had struggled to overcome years of a drug habit and wrote it when he was finally off the drugs. She asked that his name not be used.

THE MAN IN THE GLASS

When you get what you want in your struggle for self,
And the world makes you king for a day,
Just go to the mirror and look at yourself,
and see what THAT man has to say.
For it isn't your father or mother or wife
Whose judgment upon you must pass.
The fellow whose verdict counts most in your life
Is the one staring back from the glass.
Some people might think you're a straight-shootin' chum,
And call you a wonderful guy,
But the man in the glass says you're only a bum,
If you can't look him straight in the eye.
He's the fellow to please, never mind all the rest,
For he's with you clear up to the end.
And you've passed your most dangerous, difficult test,
If the guy in the glass is your friend.
You may fool the whole world
down the pathway of years,
And get pats on the back as you pass.
But your final reward will be heartaches and tears
If you've cheated the man in the glass. [End quoting]

AMEN!!

US CONDUCTING BIOLOGICAL WAR AGAINST IRAQ

From THE JUBILEE, Tom Blair, Jul/Aug 1998: [quoting]

A story has been circulating for many months that the US government has been conducting a form of biological warfare against Iraq. Until recently, the story has circulated only in small right-wing newsletters prone to conspiracy theories. But as we go to press the story has just appeared in the highly respected British journal The Independent.

Apparently the US has released a flesh-eating, disease-carrying fly known as the “screw-worm” fly against the Iraqi population. The fly has caused diseases throughout Iraq, killed thousands of cattle, and caused over 40 human deaths. The fly was developed over 20 years ago at the Department of Agriculture's Stoneville facility in Mississippi. The fly acts quickly against livestock like cattle and then spreads to humans. This outbreak of the disease was first identified as the screw-worm fly earlier this year in Iraq by UN doctors.

George Pumphrey, a German biological warfare specialist who has investigated the disease in Iraq, confirms it is caused by the screw-worm fly. He also said that the fly had been introduced into Libya a decade ago where it killed over 40,000 cattle. According to Pumphrey, the fly was developed by Dr. Jerome Jaffe of Chicago in the early 1970s under the auspices of the Department of Agriculture as part of a program designed to eliminate opium poppy plants. The Jubilee will continue to cover this breaking story. [End quoting]

The only opium plants that the elite would have been trying to destroy would have been those of their competitors.

This story doesn't surprise me at all—remember the elite's Plan 2000 to “delete the majority of the billions here on Earth by the year 2000”?

LOSS OF LICENSE MAY SET PRECEDENT IN CALIFORNIA

From CITIZENS FOR HEALTH, Sep/Oct 1998: [quoting]

The California Medical Board has succeeded in revoking the license of a respected member of the state's medical community for prescribing a non-conventional treatment program to a child with ADD. While the case is under a news embargo on the advice of the doctor's legal counsel, Frank Cuny, director of Citizens For Health's California chapter, sees the case as potentially setting a dangerous precedent for the practice of advanced non-conventional medicine in California.

In the court documents of the case, the California Standard of Practice parameters were listed. The first standard states that “A physician shall not diagnose or treat Multiple Chemical Sensitivity, Chronic Fatigue Syndrome or Candidacies. Proper treatment for these are psychotherapy because these are diseases that do not exist.”

The California Citizens chapter is preparing to introduce in January the California Freedom to Practice Act.

This bill will prevent all health and human service licensing boards from disciplining a licensee simply because they offer non-conventional therapy or treatment. The bill would affect physicians, nurses, acupuncturists, midwives, chiropractors, marriage and family counselors and psychologists.

For more information on the California developments, please contact: Frank Cuny, director, 8048 Mamie Ave., Oroville, CA, Ph: 530-534-9758, Fax: 530-534-5854, e-mail: <calcfh@cncnet.com> [End quoting]

The pressures are mounting as more and more medical personnel are going for wholistic treatments and resisting the elite's control. Expect more and more of those who resist to be prosecuted unless we make our voices heard in the state legislatures—SOON!!

POPULIST REBELLION

From THE SPOTLIGHT, 10/12/98: [quoting]

Author Terry Reed is striking back at the big media who—at the instigation of the Anti-Defamation League (ADL) and ADL front man, Morris Dees of the Southern Poverty Law Center—smeared the people who attended a patriotic rally that Reed sponsored in Carthage, Missouri. Reed has filed a class-action lawsuit and the Washington, D.C.-based Foundation to Defend the First Amendment (FDFA) has already contributed $2,000 toward Reed's effort. Keep an eye on upcoming issues of The SPOTLIGHT for further details. [End quoting]

MUSLIMS GET BAD RAP

From THE SPOTLIGHT, 10/12/98: [quoting]

Islamic groups have asked Sen. Arlen Specter (R-Pa.) to clarify his ties to a group that habitually issues blanket deprecatory statements towards Muslims. The group, known as Facts and Logic About the Middle East, recently placed an ad in several national publications claiming that Muslims are inherently virulent, anti-West and “a bunch of fanatics”. [End quoting]

Did you ever consider that the Muslims must be doing some good or these elite bastards wouldn't peddle so much hate about them?? It's about time we turn the hate laws against the true hatemongers and criminals, starting with ADL, JDL, etc.

IMMIGRATION OVERLOAD

From THE SPOTLIGHT, 10/12/98: [quoting]

Toronto, Canada, reportedly has seen a tremendous influx of immigration recently. So much so that it has been estimated Whites will become a minority in 18 months. Currently, half of the country's Blacks and over 40 percent of the nation's other various ethnic groups reside in the city. According to the report, Toronto has more foreign-born residents than any other city

PROBLEMS WITH CANADA

From THE SPOTLIGHT, 10/12/98: [quoting] South Dakota Gov. Bill Janklow initiated mandatory inspections of Canadian livestock and grain, saying these farm products would not be allowed across the border unless they are proven free of chemicals and diseases. Gov. Janklow, echoing American farmers’ growing frustration over unfair trade advantages, said that he began the inspections because Canada does not play fair when it requires certain inspections on products entering Canada from the United States that are not required in the reverse direction. Anything for greed and to destroy a country’s profitable trading policies are the elite’s goals.

SOME RESCUE

From THE SPOTLIGHT, 10/12/98: [quoting] In Stratford, CT, a woman was reportedly wounded when she was shot in the arm with a plastic bullet while watching Navy Seals run a practice rescue mission. ### CREDIT CARD DEBTS AREN’T IN YOUR INTEREST

From THE GAZETTE, Montreal, by Doug Sweet, 9/26/98: [quoting]

A Montreal businessman withholds $1 on a credit-card debt of $13,840.19, and is charged $211.61 in interest, a rate he calculates at 253,932 per cent.

Rule No. 1 about credit cards is: always pay off the monthly balance on time. Rule No. 2 is: don’t forget Rule No. 1.

Just what can happen when you forget those rules has been highlighted by an expensive little experiment by one of Montreal’s leading business figures.

The Guinness Book of World Records has been notified.

Economist Marcel Côté, a founder and senior partner of the management-consulting firm Secor, went to Europe this summer for a holiday. There, he made liberal use of his Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce Visa card, racking up a hefty bill of $13,840.19.

Côté, once an economic adviser to premier Robert Bourassa, is no stranger to four- and five-figure credit-card balances and always pays the entire bill each month.

But this time he wanted to test the system.

On his August bill, he paid $13,839.19—$1 less than the total—and waited to see what would happen.

Sure enough, because he hadn’t paid the entire amount, there was an interest charge on his September bill: $211.61. By Côté’s reckoning, that’s an interest rate of 253,932 per cent on the dollar owing.

But it doesn’t work that way, and Côté maintains that banks have been unscrupulous in not doing a better job of telling customers about the cost of credit-card debt.

As it does with everyone else, the bank charged interest (at 18.5 per cent) not on the dollar owing, but on the entire balance, from the time charges were incurred until the time he made payment. On the subsequent bill, there will be interest charge on the dollar owing.

All bank credit cards (and department-store cards, which charged even higher interest rates) work the same way.

But if Côté, who says he probably knows half the directors of Canadian banks personally, was surprised and angered to learn how the system works, how many ordinary cardholders—with little experience in high finance—know much about the mechanics of credit-card interest charges?

“I couldn’t believe that this was the system,” he said in an interview yesterday. “I don’t want to single out the CIBC, but unfortunately the CIBC is the one that bit me, so I bit back.”

Côté fired off a letter to a friend of his, federal Finance Minister Paul Martin, complaining about a system that he said “explains how they (banks) now generate $1 billion per quarter. It also explains why the banks are so eager to remind us on credit-card statements that the minimum due is only about 20 per cent of the balance. The devil didn’t do it better with Adam and Eve”.

In his letter to Martin, Côté urges the finance minister to move slowly before approving proposed bank mergers, and demands more regulation, as banks “are still too immature to self-regulate, in particular with regard to their lending to individuals and what they tell them”.

“Ban fine print!” Côté urges Martin, accusing the banks of hoodwinking customers, especially those at the lower end of the economic ladder.

“My $1 loan illustrates by absurdity the wickedness of the banks’ credit-card loan practices, as they get away with misinformation. Why don’t they tell their customers, in plain language and regular print, the actual rate incurred if a customer pays the suggested minimum amount due, as opposed to the full amount?” Côté wrote.

But, CIBC spokesman Rob McLeod pointed out, Côté didn’t borrow $1; he borrowed more than $13,000 over a few weeks.

The deal with the credit-card companies is simply that interest on that loan is waived if the balance is paid off in full and on time. If not, as the contract makes clear, McLeod said, the customer is liable for interest on the total, no matter how much of the bill has been paid.

“If you make a partial payment only, then interest is charged retroactively on all purchases from the date they were posted to your Visa account until you have paid all of YOUR NEW BALANCE (plus the interest itself),” says the fine print on the back of a CIBC Visa bill.

“It’s no different than any other type of loan,” McLeod said. He estimated that about 40 per cent of CIBC Visa customers don’t regularly pay off their bills and denied that the bank encourages them to pile up big credit-card balances.

“The point we make is that if you need to borrow money over several months, a credit card is not the best way to go. An educated consumer is in the interest of everyone, including the bank,” he said, noting it is cheaper to borrow money with a line of credit or personal loan.

Duff Conacher, coordinator of Democracy Watch, an Ottawa-based citizen-advocacy group that has long criticized bank policies, said Côté’s experiment is a clear example of gouging.

“They should only charge interest on the outstanding balance after you made your payment,” he said. “It’s mathematically impossible for banks to justify a charge like that.”

When Côté called the bank about the bill, it offered to wipe out the charge on the assumption he had made an error writing his cheque. But Côté wants a shot at the record books with his “253,932-percent” interest rate, so, in a letter to CIBC chairman Al Flood, “I asked that the bank’s offer be extended another month.”

He also urged Flood to change the bank’s practices.

“It probably inflicts a significant monetary burden on thousands of low-income Canadians who rely on their credit card to carry them through tough times,” Côté wrote. “I cannot believe that the CIBC or any other Canadian bank ... would want to make abnormally high returns off their backs.”

Last year, the CIBC made $1.55 billion in profit. [End quoting]

Interesting what happens when the “wrong” person gets stung by this scam from the banking gangsters.

THE DRAGON AND THE PREACHER

From Guideposts, Sept. 1998: [quoting]

I first met Reverend Wade Watts when we both were asked to speak on a Tulsa radio program. He put out his hand and I stepped back, offended. I was the Grand Dragon of the Ku Klux Klan in Oklahoma and he was the state president of the NAACP. There was no way you would catch me shaking hands with him.

My training in hate began early. I was five years old when my father encouraged me to lean out our car window and shout racial slurs as we passed a bus stop. Daddy grinned and patted me on the back. “That’s my boy,” he said. When I was older I sat up late at night listening to stories my Uncle Harold told about shooting at Black men who crossed his property. Daddy and Uncle Harold would howl with laughter.

My grandmother, though, read to me from the Bible and prayed for me.

Once, I came home from Sunday school singing a song I had learned: “Jesus loves the little children, all the children of the world; Red and Yellow, Black and White, they are precious in his sight...”

“Don’t ever let me catch you singing words like that again!” Daddy’s voice thundered. That was the end of Sunday school for me.

One night when I was 11, I came home and found Daddy standing with a gun to his head. As I watched in horror, he pulled the trigger. After the funeral, Mama sent me to California to live with my older sister and her boyfriend. Lonely and confused, I spent a lot of time staring at the TV, and one day I saw a talk-show host interviewing David Duke, the Grand Wizard of the Ku Klux Klan. Fascinated, I asked around about how to get in touch with the Klan, and before long a representative came to visit. “Son,” he said, “what you need is a real family—the Klan.”

Week after week he showed up to take me to meetings. Desperate to belong to something, at the age of 14 I joined as a full-fledged member. Eventually I became David Duke's bodyguard, and by the time I was 20, I had become the Grand Dragon of Oklahoma.

I was a tireless recruiter for the Klan in Oklahoma, and it grew under my leadership. I was a fiery speaker, spreading the gospel of hate. That's why, when I was asked to speak at that particular radio station in Tulsa in 1979, I jumped at the chance. Only shortly before the program did I learn it would be a debate between the NAACP's Reverend Wade Watts and myself. But I wasn't worried. I looked forward to it—a chance to put a Black man in his place.

So I refused to shake hands with the nicely dressed older gentleman carrying a worn Bible. But as I took in his strong, kind face and dignified manner, he reached out and shook my hand anyway. "Hello, Mr. Clary," he said. "I'm Reverend Watts. Before we go in, I just want you to know that I love you and Jesus loves you."

Our on-air debate went back and forth, me firing off reasons the races should never have anything to do with each other, and the reverend politely refuting everything I said and quoting Scripture. When he zeroed in on me with pointed questions about the beliefs I held, I could only mumble the generic slogans of the Klan. I became flustered by his calm. "I'm not listening to any more," I snarled, storming out.

I gathered my things and was heading through the lobby when the reverend appeared. I would have gladly pushed him out of my way except that he was holding a baby in his arms. "Mr. Clary, this is my daughter Tia," he said. "And I have one last question for you." He held out a little girl with shining dark eyes and skin, and one of the sweetest expressions I had ever seen. "You say you hate all Black people, Mr. Clary. Just tell me—how can you hate this child?"

Stunned, I turned and almost ran. I heard the reverend call after me: "I'm going to love you and pray for you, Mr. Clary, whether you like it or not!"

I didn't like it. Over the next 10 years I had two burning goals. One was to climb the Klan's national ranks to the position of Imperial Wizard. The second was to make Reverend Wade Watts pay for what he had done. I would make him hate me.

But as ferociously as the Oklahoma Klan continued its campaign, just as firmly Reverend Wade Watts worked for justice and equality. Klansmen barraged his family with threatening phone calls. His windows were broken; effigies were torched on his lawn. His church was burned to the ground. The 13 Watts children—a number of whom were adopted—were threatened and had to be escorted to school by the highway patrol. Once or twice I found myself thinking about that baby, little Tia. I drove the thought away with hate. Still, nothing the Klan did stopped the reverend, nothing shut him up. When he joined ranks with an Oklahoma senator to outlaw the telephone hot lines we used for recruiting, we called an emergency meeting. Klan members crowded around me as I dialed the Watts home.

"I want you to know we're coming to get you," I hissed when the reverend answered. "And this time we mean business..."

"Hello, Johnny Lee!" he said, as though hearing from a long-lost relative. "You don't have to come for me, I'll meet you. How about at a nice little restaurant I know out on Highway 270? I'm buying."

"This isn't a joke, old man. We're coming over, and when we're finished, you'll wish you'd never crossed us."

"This place has the best home cooking you ever tasted. Apple pie that'll make you long for more. Fluffy mashed potatoes. Iced tea in mason jars..."

I slammed down the phone. "He wants to take us out to dinner," I said in disbelief. "Talked about apple pie and iced tea."

"The old man's gone crazy," someone said. "Let's forget about him."

We left Reverend Wade Watts alone after that. I turned my energies to solidifying my position in my "family," and in 1989 I was appointed Imperial Wizard. I had just gone through a divorce and lost custody of my baby daughter, and in desperation I focused on a new goal. I wanted to unify all hate groups—from skinheads to neo-Nazis under the umbrella of the Klan. I arranged a national meeting where those groups would meet and, I hoped, unite in strength.

That was to be the culmination of my efforts. But on the day of the gathering, the Klan, skinheads and neo-Nazis all started fighting, accusing one another of stealing their members and mailing lists. By the time I arrived, my unity meeting was in shambles. As I looked out over the stormy proceedings, I realized: These groups wanted to "purify" the world and have it all be like them—but they hated one another. Did I really want to live in a world of people like that?

Were those the people I wanted to be my family? A family whose hate extended to all colors, backgrounds and ages. Even babies like Reverend Wade Watts's little daughter Tia. "How can you hate this child?" he had asked.

How far I had come from the days when I sang those words: "Jesus loves the little children, all the children of the world; Red and Yellow, Black and White, they are precious in his sight..."

Suddenly I was repulsed by the poison that swirled around me. I felt sick to my stomach. I turned in disgust and walked out the door. Eventually I told the other Klan officials I was giving up my position and leaving the group forever.

My life was a wreck. As the weeks passed, filled by a sense of shame and worthlessness, I fell into deep depression and the stultifying numbness of alcohol. Then came the terrible day I found myself in my shabby apartment raising a loaded gun to my head. Daddy, I'm following in your footsteps. There's no other way to go...

I was about to pull the trigger when I saw sunlight break through the partially closed blinds—and onto a Bible that lay gathering dust on my bookshelf, an old Bible like the one Reverend Wade Watts carried that day at the radio station. A Bible like the one I had seen my grandmother read so many times. Maybe there is another way. I put down the gun and picked up the Bible. It fell open to Luke 15—the parable of the prodigal son. I read the story three times, then fell on my knees and wept.

I quietly joined a church—whose congregation was multiracial—and kept a low profile, studying the Scripture, getting grounded in God's Word. Two years passed. And finally in 1991 I made a phone call I had to make.

"Reverend Watts?" I asked when he picked up. He knew my voice right away. "Hello, Johnny Lee," he said warmly.

"Reverend Watts, I ... I want you to know that I resigned from the KKK two years ago. I gave my heart to Jesus and I'm a member of an inter-racial church."

"Praise the Lord!" he shouted. "I've never stopped praying for you! Would you do me the honor of speaking at my church?"

How can he forgive me? How could he have cared about me all those years?

When I stepped to the podium at his church and looked out over the congregation of mostly Black faces, I told my story simply, not hiding from the past or sugarcoating the depth and bitterness of my involvement. Then I told them how God had changed all the hate in my heart to love.

There was silence when I finished. A teenage girl got to her feet and ran down the aisle toward me, arms open. I started to move in front of the altar, to pray with her. As I passed the reverend, I realized he was weeping. "Don't you know who that is, Johnny Lee?" he asked quietly. "That's Tia. That's my baby."

Yes, what I needed was a real family. And there had been one waiting to open its arms to me all along. —Johnny Lee Clary, Tulsa, Oklahoma [End quoting]

What a powerful story about what destruction racism can cause! No wonder the elite have placed racism near the top of their bag of tricks for world control and societal collapse.

The Spirit Of God

I recently met a man who had changed from a sickly, self-pitying, complaining, neurotic bore to a friendly, community-minded citizen by the simple process of reading and believing an affirmation. The affirmation said:

The Spirit of God is in me and there is no miracle that It cannot perform. I am the only one who controls Its flow. I can shut It off or I can turn It on. To the exact degree that I believe in this Power, I have this Power.

The Truth About Bosnia

10/16/98 DAVID ICKE

On December 19, 1994, writer Warren Hough [of the Spotlight newspaper] claimed that Henry Kissinger was accused by French President Mitterand of being the "master manipulator" of the Yugoslav conflict. The allegation is said to have been made at a meeting of the European Security Conference in Budapest, Hungary.

According to Warren Hough:

"As part of their war plans, the Serb leaders spent millions of dollars on contracts and payoffs in the United States. Wall Street sources say that most of these short-lived deals were apparently set up to make money for Kissinger's consulting firm, Kissinger Associates, the founding director of which was Lord Carrington, a 'peace' negotiator in the former Yugoslavia. Money was also made for two of Kissinger's cronies, Lawrence Eagleburger and Brent Scowcroft. A review of bank records in New York City revealed that as early as 1992 Eagleburger (former US Secretary of State) and Scowcroft (White House national security advisor for George Bush) concealed a compromising 'cash nexus' to the Serbs while they were supposedly formulating 'impartial US positions' toward the warring ethnic factions of the former Yugoslavia."

It is a point of interest that an advisor to Serb leader Radovan Karadzic has been Sir Alfred Sherman, who has operated from an apartment next door to Karadzic's office. According to published research, Sherman is known as the "inventor of Margaret Thatcher", and he was at the forefront of the maneuvering that led to her election. The Serbs were funded by the Elite via Belgrade banks involved in massive drug-money laundering. It is also amazing how many "foundations" were set up in the former Yugoslavia by financial speculator George Soros. He has set up these fronts in Bosnia, Croatia, Slovenia and Belgrade. Soros is a close friend of Lawrence Eagleburger at Kissinger Associates, the former US ambassador to Belgrade and a close ally of Slobodon Milosevic. According to writer and researcher Ben Vidgen, writing in Nexus magazine in February 1996, America, Germany and Israel were running a secret airlift of arms to Croatia and Bosnia from the start of the conflict.

French journalists revealed in 1994 that CIA agents were luring Bosnian Muslims into reckless and hopeless counter-attacks against the Serbs on false promises of US support—a fact backed up by George Kenney, an American official in charge of Yugoslav affairs at the US State Department until he quit in disgust on August 14, 1992. Warren Hough states that while the Muslims were set up, the Kissinger network was playing the "good guy-bad guy" game, which manipulators use so often. It involved the two Serb leaders, Milosevic and Karadzic. According to Hough:

"Under this scenario, Milosevic, the client of Kissinger Associates, publicly repudiated and condemned the illegal onslaught of Karadzic's troops against Bosnian Muslims. But covertly the Milosevic government furnished the 'renegade' forces of Karadzic with all the weapons and support they needed to wage an implacable 'war of extermination' against their Muslim neighbors. Muslim resupply was, of course, blocked by the UN arms embargo."

The research also claims that Saudi Arabia, itself a fascist tyranny, was being set up by this plan. According to some sources, King Fahd was repeatedly assured that the US planned to lift the arms embargo in time to allow weapons to reach the Muslims. As a result, the King convinced other Islamic leaders to have faith in Washington. Now, the Saudi monarchy is renounced as a traitor to Islam which, of course, suits the manipulators well. In the light of all this, there are some interesting connections between the "peace negotiators" in Bosnia. Lord Carrington (Royal Institute of International Affairs, Bilderberger, Trilateral Commission, Committee of 300), Lord Owen (Bilderberger, Trilateral Commission) and Sweden's Carl Bildt (Bilderberger) followed each other as official "peace negotiators" for the European Union in the former Yugoslavia. Cyrus Vance (CFR,TC,Bil,Comm300) was the UN "peace negotiator", while at the same time a director of Manufacturers Hanover Trust. When Vance resigned, the UN appointed Norway's Thorvald Stoltenberg (TC,Bil). And, when the understandably failed to "achieve peace", Jimmy Carter (TC) flies to Bosnia as an "independent negotiator".

Later came Richard Holbrooke (TC,CFR,Bil), the peace envoy of Bill Clinton (CFR,TC,Bil) and the US ambassador to Yugoslavia was Warren Zimmerman (TC,CFR) to report to Warren Christopher (TC,CFR). Remember the horrific genocide in Rwanda? Who arrived in Rwanda just days before it broke out on an undisclosed "diplomatic mission"? Lord Carrington and Henry Kissinger. Can pigs fly?

SO, THE CONTRIVED "BOSNIAN CONFLICT" HAS LED TO THE CREATION OF THE BIGGEST MULTINATIONAL FORCE ASSEMBLED SINCE WORLD WAR II, made possible by deliberately-caused human suffering. The main front man for this NATO world army was Bill Clinton (CFR,TC,Bil), the "yes man" for David Rockefeller and the Elite.

On December 6, 1995 we saw a full-page advertisement in the (CIA-controlled) Washington Post placed by an organization calling itself the "Committee for American Leadership in Bosnia", signed by Zbigniew Brzezinski (CFR,TC founder,Bil), Congressman Stephen Solarz (CFR), George Soros (Bil), Michael Armacost (CFR and President of the Elite Brookings Institute) and Leslie Gelb (TC, president of CFR). We have one-party states within a one-party world under a one-party army. How many more have to suffer before the political stooges stop being duped? How many more tragedies before the human race takes control of its own destiny?

We need to stop looking to politicians for answers and start organizing ourselves in our own communities to build local economies and organizations which can operate outside this manipulation. A GOOD STATEMENT OF INTENT, IN MY VIEW, WOULD BE A MASS-BOYCOTT OF ALL STATE AND NATIONAL ELECTIONS. TO VOTE UNDER PRESENT CIRCUMSTANCES IS TO GIVE CREDENCE TO A SYSTEM THAT IS DESIGNED TO CONTROL US AND NOT TO SET US FREE. BY REFUSING TO VOTE AND HAVE ANY PART IN IT, WE CAN SHOW HOW WE FEEL. WE CAN SAY TO THE MANIPULATORS: "WE KNOW WHAT YOU ARE DOING AND THE GAME IS UP. WE WILL NO LONGER BE MANIPULATED INTO SUPPORTING AND MAINTAINING THE ONE-PARTY STATE AND A ONE-PARTY WORLD. ☸

IRS Control Strategy Over Christian Churches

property and sold it at a government "auction" to a fictitious, IRS proprietary corporation.

As a result of this and similar infractions committed by the IRS against churches, Pastor Dixon and scores of other pastor have founded the Unregistered Church Coalition, made up of churches who refuse to register as 501(c)3 entities with the IRS and federal government.

The goal of the IRS is to shut the mouths of Bible-believing Christian pastors and church leaders. Please also read The Sanctuary Of Silence, by Peter Kershaw and you'll understand why obtaining 501(c)3 status is the kiss of death for America's churches.

Please also write the American Center for Law and Justice (ACLJ), P.O. Box 64429, Virginia Beach, Virginia 23467. Ask for a copy of their "Sept. 1998 Case Notes" newsletter. In it, they present voluminous evidence of an outrageous campaign by the IRS to clamp down on Bible-believing churches. The ACLJ documents how the IRS has used secret photographic surveillance and other unconstitutional methods. Further, the ACLJ was able to get to court and force the IRS to "reveal their agenda to monitor churches and censor any speech they deem to be too political."

According to the ACLJ, in its audits and investigations of churches, the IRS looks for what the agency contends are "secret code words" from the pulpit—words like "pro-life" and "conservative".

Pastor Greg Dixon can tell you about much of this same thing. For example, the Pastor recounts how the IRS and Department of Justice attempted to recruit church members as spies. The IRS's own files on the Indianapolis church included reports by agents who attended church services and took copious notes. None of what they heard was anything other than Godly preaching!

Please, research this matter and join those of us who want the government to comply fully with the First Amendment to the Constitution. Do you agree with us that churches and Christian ministries should enjoy the unfettered right to free speech and freedom of religion?

Contrary to what you say, even Jerry Falwell and Pat Robertson are not immune from IRS harassment. Falwell's group was recently forced by the IRS to pay a stiff fine. Robertson's Christian Coalition is now hobbling through an IRS audit. The Rutherford Institute, the Christian foundation that supported Paula Jones in her lawsuit against Bill Clinton, is also being audited. Sadly, the IRS threat is only too real, and our religious and speech freedoms are in dire jeopardy.

Also, you strangely defend the IRS by saying that you are "personally involved with at least four ministries that do at least half of those things ("35 Things Prohibited

By The IRS") [see article following] on an active basis and are audited by the IRS for compliance EVERY SINGLE YEAR and have never been cited yet, much less lost their rating." You contend this is proof the IRS are good guys.

But, read your own words: These four ministries are audited EVERY SINGLE YEAR, year in and year out—and you don't think that's harassment?! According to the IRS Nonprofit Division, there are 900,000 non-profit churches and organizations in the U.S.A. Each year, less than one-half percent—a tiny, insignificant number—are subjected to an audit. Yet, the four ministries you mention are all audited regularly for compliance EVERY SINGLE YEAR.

That's not fair treatment. Those Christian groups are being singled out for repeated harassment and intimidation. Audits cost time and expense—CPAs must be paid, etc. IRS audits are aggravating and morale-destroying. It is wrong to go after the same ministries year after year. Even if they are allowed for now to keep their tax-exempt status, the IRS is, by its repeated audits, letting these four groups know that at any time the feds want, the plug can be pulled, and the ministries are in big trouble. That is the reason for the repeated audits, over and over.

Please call up 20 of your local churches and organizations that are liberal, pro-Bill Clinton, and anti-Bible. Contact Planned Parenthood, an Episcopal Church, a feminist organization, or a homosexual group. And you'll find out they are NEVER audited! WHY?

So, by your own testimony, the IRS is unfairly singling out these four conservative Christian ministries. If you truly care for what Christianity and the U.S. Constitution stand for, please help us work to make sure that this unfair intimidation campaign by the IRS ceases immediately.

35 THINGS PROHIBITED BY THE IRS

Does the IRS hate the Gospel and despise Bible-believing Christians? Has the IRS become a police-state agency that regularly persecutes churches, pastors, and ministries that still believe in old-fashioned patriotism? Listed below are 35 things the IRS contends are prohibited of churches and ministries. A pastor or ministry leader who violates the guidelines of the IRS on these 35 prohibitions can have the church or group's tax exemption revoked and be dealt with harshly by the IRS.

These 35 prohibitions on churches and ministries demonstrate how the IRS and the federal government now control churches and insure politically and religiously "correct" behavior. Liberal Christian churches and false religions such as Hinduism, Witchcraft, and Scientology are not affected by these rules—only Bible-believing, Christian ministries and churches. Also, keep in mind: These 35 things are not prohibited by law nor by the Constitution. The IRS considers itself above the law and the Constitution.

1. Expose conspiracies.
2. Criticize the New World Order.
3. Say or publish anything negative about any politician, Republican or Democrat.
4. Criticize government agencies and bureaus—the IRS, FBI, BATF, CIA, EPA, DEA, OSHA, DOJ, etc.
5. Criticize an institution of government such as the White House, the Congress, the Federal Reserve Board, or the Supreme Court.
6. Encourage citizens to call or write their congressman, senator, governor, mayor, or other public official.
7. Criticize any proposed or pending bill or legislation that would take away the rights and freedoms of the people.
8. Make disparaging remarks about, or criticize, any other faith group, cult, or religion.
9. Expose or criticize the New Age Movement.
10. Support or encourage a law-abiding citizen's militia.
11. Support or encourage the Second Amendment, the right of the people to keep and bear arms.
12. Discourage young women from getting an abortion, or endorse the pro-life movement.
13. Teach that abortion, especially partial birth abortion, is murder and is the killing of innocent babies.
14. Identify homosexuality as a sin and an abomination to God.
15. Express an opinion on any subject or issue.
16. Appeal to peoples' emotions by employing an evangelization method (such as "fire and brimstone" preaching) not considered a "reasoned approach" by the IRS.

17. Discuss or identify threats to Christianity.
18. Discuss subjects or topics the IRS deems “sensationalist”.

19. Criticize well-known public figures or institutions the IRS deems “worthy”, such as the super-rich elite, international bankers, the Hollywood movie industry, etc.

20. Publish or broadcast information on any topic without giving credence to the opposing viewpoints of Christ’s enemies.

21. Publish and offer books, tapes, or products that expose the elitist plot against humanity and God.

22. Criticize the Pope or the Vatican, or contrast the New Catholic Catechism with the truths found in the Holy Bible.

(Note: Only liberal churches are permitted by the IRS to criticize the Catholic Church).

23. Criticize the United Nations or such globalist groups as the Council on Foreign Relations, the Bilderbergers, and the Trilateral Commission.

24. Criticize the Masonic Lodge, the Order of Skull & Bones, or other secret societies.

25. Highlight or otherwise bring attention to immorality of public officials or corruption in government.

26. Complain of government wrongdoing or injustice, such as happened at Waco, Ruby Ridge, and elsewhere.

27. Criticize the Jewish ADL or other Jewish lobby groups.

28. Say anything positive about the “religious right” or the “patriot movement”.

29. Support home schooling, home churches, or unregistered churches.

30. Spend money on missionary projects or charitable causes not approved by the IRS.

31. Promote or encourage alternative healthcare (herbs, vitamins, etc.).

32. Expose false teachings of any kind by anyone.

33. Support or encourage persecuted Christians suffering under anti-Christian regimes in Red China, Cuba, Russia, Israel, Saudi Arabia, the United States, and elsewhere.

34. Ordain a pastor whose training or qualifications are not approved by the IRS.

35. Advocate or teach any Bible doctrine that is politically or religiously incorrect, or is inconsistent with any “public policy” (abortion, feminism, gay rights, etc.) currently being enforced by the IRS.

Please examine the above list of 35 prohibitions on Christian free speech and activity by the IRS, and decide for yourself: Are conservative Christian ministries and churches being selectively persecuted? Is the IRS willfully violating the civil rights of Christian believers? Are Christian believers receiving the equal protection of the law? What does the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution say?

“Mr. Marrs, the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) is exploring whether Living Truth Ministries has violated its 501(c)3 tax exempt status.”

Those were the words of the IRS agent conducting an examination of our ministry’s “philosophy and viewpoints” which began some nine months ago. The agent said that we may have violated IRS policies by making disparaging remarks about faith groups and cults that oppose Christianity. We may also be subjected to penalties and fines because we have exposed the “Catholic Pope, the United Nations, the Masonic Order, the Skull and Bones Society, the Illuminati,” and other organizations deemed worthy by the IRS. The IRS also found objectionable our stand against the sexual immorality and pro-abortion views of President Bill Clinton.

The IRS warned us that Christian churches and ministries that identify “threats to Christianity” may be at risk of violating IRS guidelines. We were even told that if anything we publish does not appear reasonable to the IRS we can be punished.

I have enclosed a list [above] of 35 things the IRS contends are prohibited conduct for tax exempt Christian churches and ministries. Do you agree with me that the IRS and the federal thought police have gone horribly off the deep-end in dictating what Bible-believing preachers and Christians can and cannot preach or discuss? Whatever happened to freedom of religion and freedom of speech?

Please pray with us that the IRS and the enemies of Christ will fail in their blatant attempt to silence the true Church of the Living God and our Savior, Jesus Christ.

View From Malaysia

On Recovery Of A Sick World

10/20/98 #1 HATONN

AND HOW WAS YOUR WEEKEND?

And what has come from ours? Well, we get a very insidious, and insipid, example of foreign press in the political arena of Malaysia—while Dr. Mahathir, the Prime Minister, is away of course.

In the Sunday Morning Post of South China it has inch-high headlines which claim “10,000 RALLY FOR RELEASE OF ANWAR”.

This is an outright LIE! How do you expect to ever have respect and recognition when such international lies are posted and only to find there is NOTHING to such a statement, 10,000 or otherwise. Gatherings are not held here except with permits and, yes, Mrs. Anwar did try for something or other after giving a promise she would not attend anything. But moreover, there were no gatherings even remotely resembling anything the Chinese paper (and Associated Press) put to international headlines.

If there were 10,000 gathered anywhere in Malaysia, for anything, it would have been as celebration for Deepavali, one of the most beautiful celebrations of the Hindu people. It is a celebration of LIGHT and a time of binding family ties and renewals of values of honor and goodness.

I can promise everyone everywhere—that the people of Malaysia are getting fed up with the criminal lies being spread about concerning this political mess. If Anwar is guilty he will be fairly treated and tried in a court of law, and that is what the public demands—nothing more. They do NOT WANT A CLINTON IN THEIR GOVERNMENT! Especially are citizens here getting fed up with the feedback from the U.S. critters in power. Just one example:

[QUOTING, NEW STRAITS TIMES, Mon., Oct. 20, 1998:]

LETTER OF THE DAY:

WEST’S REFUSAL TO ACCEPT
OUR CHOICE OF LEADERS
UNDEMOCRATIC

[H: AND THAT’S THE NICEST TERM I’VE HEARD.]

Senior US officials and senators have recently made comments that amount to interference in Malaysia’s internal political affairs.

Malaysia inherited the present political system from its colonial days. This Western system of government empowers the Prime Minister to appoint his cabinet and dismiss it too (with or without reasons).

The Western media has relentlessly attacked Prime Minister Datuk Seri Dr. Mahathir Mohamad for an action that is part and parcel of this political system.

When Russian President Boris Yeltsin sacked his entire Cabinet, the Western media and politicians kept their comments (if any) to themselves.

Former US Senator Sam Nunn has called on the Malaysia Government to allow orderly demonstrations. He is either naive or chooses to ignore the potentially ugly consequences of such demonstrations.

Nunn is strangely unaware of what happened in Kuala Lumpur when the mob took matters into its own hands and things almost went out of control. The Western media thrives on the drama of such street politics and repeatedly print and televise strategically-taken photos and scenes of chase and arrest for sensation and impact.

This is irresponsible. Mob mentality cannot be given undue publicity and thus encouraged.

All peace-loving Malaysians are grateful to the authorities for the restraint shown and the firmness taken to maintain law and order. Public safety must not be compromised.

Democracy is all about majority. For the umpteenth time, can the West please take note that Dr. Mahathir is very much a duly and popularly elected Prime Minister?

The repeated standing ovation by the hundreds of thousands of Malaysians given to him during the Commonwealth Games (and at the height of the unruly demonstrations) speaks for itself.

The vast majority of Malaysians support and respect Dr. Mahathir as Prime Minister. The refusal of the West to accept this is undemocratic. E.T. Cheong, Kuala Lumpur

[END OF QUOTING]

Where the most objection comes is from such articles as referred to above in the South China paper as well as repeats of articles in every Western journal around: The pictures and tales are of the original upheaval when a massive march was planned to disrupt the Commonwealth games. Further it should be noted that after investigation into who was responsible—one by one the demonstrators who were arrested and not guilty were released with much appreciation on their part—for being so very well treated.

Anwar is being detained in a special room with all the comforts he could have anywhere. He has special food and dines with the Head of the Correction Authority. He is both well and totally comfortable.

Now, citizens of the world, if you are content with adultery, deviant sexual appetites in practice in the highest office of your lands—then you may well be the one with the problem. No man who would handle his private affairs like Mr. Clinton will do other than place your nation into the same corrupt practices—and that includes nuclear war. That very point has been tossed about over and over. If you have naught but flawed character traits—you will have flawed character working in action. And if you can't believe the press when it comes to such as a 10,000-member gathering being a direct lie—how can you even think to consider the "polls" who give Clinton those ridiculous rankings for "doing a good job". He is doing one of the most lousy jobs ever attributed to any national leader anywhere—where are your brains?

Every day in every way this fine man called Mahathir brings honor and distinction to his position and to his nation—not shame and embarrassment—and would never interject himself into another nation's affairs. He is in Japan and national pride has never been higher toward his leadership. Oh would it be that you Americans could say as much—and yet you would send that derelict from the gutter to interrupt and embarrass a gathering of Asian nations trying to survive the mess thrust upon them by just such as Clinton and his rag-tag buddies who manipulate him.

Frankly, it breaks my heart to see the anguish and sadness on the face of this Godly man as he struggles to hold his nation together and out of the pits of total destruction—while you throw stones at him. God never forgets the stoned—but neither does he EVER FORGET THE STONE-THROWERS.

The topic of his most recent speaking is expectedly good in presentation and actual perception.

[QUOTING:]

CAPITALISM'S FRIENDLY FACE HAS VANISHED

by Dr. Mahathir Mohamad

We are fast approaching a new millennium, a new era which promises to be very different from the previous two. The millennium will surely see not only changes but a rapidity of change that will truly leave us breathless. [H: I'd say that is a gross understatement.]

The changes may be the result of technology but they will also be the result of new sociological ideas and philosophies, new creeds, and new values.

Change requires adjustments on the part of everyone. Some will adjust well and will benefit from change. Some will not be able to adjust so well or may fail to adjust altogether.

And when they fail completely or partially they will have to pay a price in terms of being left behind and misfortunes.

We are now being given a preview of some of the things to come.

The 19th century saw progress in the conversion of the agrarian economy to the industrial economy. The feudal lords seized on the industrial opportunities to exploit their former serfs.

The conditions of labour in Europe were inhuman and demeaning. The sole concern of the industrialists was to maximize their profits.

By the beginning of the 20th century things were coming to a boil. Workers' resentment grew. Despite repressive actions by the democratic Governments, workers formed unions and took industrial action to demand better pay and working conditions.

In the meantime some sociologists began to rethink the social and economic order which prevailed then. In a violent rejection of the capitalist system they promoted their socialistic and communistic theories.

They insisted that exploitation of workers must be stopped, if necessary through violent revolution. The Russian revolution of 1917 was the epitome of the communist creed of expropriation and the liquidation of the capitalists.

Communism appeared set to spread worldwide. Fearful of the fate that had befallen their Eastern counterparts, the Western capitalists reined in their greed.

A friendlier face of capitalism was presented, one which accommodates some of the demands of the working class. Workers were allowed to form political parties and to contest elections. Socialist Governments emerged as alternatives to Communism.

World War II ended with the world divided into two blocs, capitalists and socialists on one side and communists on the other. The break-up of the Western empires resulted in the emergence of numerous ill-prepared independent countries in Asia and Africa.

The struggle to win the minds and the support of the newly independent non-aligned countries was set in motion. For a time the newly independent countries enjoyed being wooed by both sides.

But unfortunately the leftist communist bloc collapsed. The need to frustrate the communists by pandering to the wishes of the neutral independent countries disappeared.

Now these countries have no choice but to submit to the Western capitalist. Now they all must accept the only ideology—capitalism in its worst form.

The new capitalist insists upon the right of capital to go anywhere and to shape all Governments in their own image. Nobody should do anything to obstruct the flow of capital across borders. Those who oppose such free flows must be deemed heretics.

Admittedly, a free flow of capital can result in poor countries becoming enriched. Many poor countries therefore welcome foreign capital in the form of direct investments. And indeed the poor countries seemed to prosper with the ever-increasing inflow of foreign capital.

What the developing countries did not realize is that capital can also flow out freely and rapidly. When this happens the wealth can disappear overnight.

As the end of the 20th century approaches the friendly face of capitalism has disappeared. Devaluation of the currency and share prices as capital is rapidly pulled out resulted in the destruction almost completely of the wealth of many developing countries.

Along with the collapsing economy have gone the political stability and social well-being of the people of these countries.

And so as a result of the assaults on the currencies and the stock markets of the previously rich nations of East Asia, we now see widespread poverty and depression. Where before there was wealth and plenty, where before there was political and social stability, we see today extreme deprivation, turmoil and utter confusion.

Governments which before had engineered miracles of economic development are now being overthrown and replaced with Governments which can do no better.

Still capitalism, the free flow of capital, deregulation, and globalization are trumpeted as the new religion, the new ideology, the only ideology for the whole world. Question it and you will be labelled a heretic.

If democracy stands in the way it too must be brushed aside. And so duly-elected Governments must allow themselves to be disciplined by market forces, meaning the rich with their billions invested in funds which indulge in currency trading and raids on stock markets.

This is the world of the new millennium.

Developing countries must take note of this. If we are not careful, if we do not take this job of developing our countries seriously, we may revert to becoming colonies again.

East Asia is well known for the economic miracles we were supposed to have achieved. Actually they were not miracles. They were just the result of hard work and discipline, something which everyone can acquire and practice, whether they are Asian or European or African.

The most difficult part is the acquisition and practice of these traits, which incidentally have been described as part of Asian values. Actually the Europeans had these values too when they were on their way up. So they are really universal traits which can be cultivated by anyone.

I think that Asians should share their experience with others so that all can enjoy growth and development. Our experience is quite recent and it is still fresh in our minds. We should be able to pass it on with greater ease.

The post-independence turmoil lasted a bit longer in Africa than in Asia. Socialist ideologists clouded the views of those who gained power after African independence.

Now that period is over. All over Africa there is a keen desire to give the people the kind of life they deserve as independent people. The desire is there but the skills and the means are not.

That is why it is timely that Asian countries like Japan and to a lesser extent Malaysia and others should stretch out a helping hand. It will not cost the Asians much and they will eventually be amply repaid.

When the Japanese came to Malaysia to invest they not only profited from it but they also helped Malaysia to prosper. As a bonus a prosperous Malaysia has become a good market for Japanese goods.

The benefit for those extending a helping hand to develop countries are therefore two-fold. The benefits are also mutual. It is truly a win-win venture.

In the early days after independence when the objective of the donors was political affiliation rather than economic well-being much of the help was in the form of grants and loans for projects which were not quite needed by the countries concerned.

The result is that today these countries are grossly in debt so that all their income has to go towards paying debts. East Asia concentrated less on aid but more on skills and technologies. The East Asian approach is therefore a better model.

If the countries of Africa are going to develop the way East Asian countries develop, then the strategy should be the same. True, the countries of East Asia seem to have failed recently but it is not really due to the true Asian way. The failure is due to something unforeseen.

Currency trading and raids on the stock market are not the fault of Asians or their ways or value system. Any country subjected to such destructive attacks will fail.

Thus the Latin American countries have failed and so has Russia. And recently even the rich Western countries have exhibited their vulnerability to such attacks.

So adopting the Asian approach and the Asian way towards development is still a good strategy. Besides, there is much to learn from the Asian weaknesses also. Although they are not peculiarly Asian, as for example corruption, there is much to be gained from avoiding these weaknesses.

While European-style capitalism should be avoided, it must be remembered that Europeans have a lot to contribute also. Besides, the Europeans themselves are not averse to working with and for Africans.

France for example has expressed a willingness to work closely with Japan and Malaysia in assisting Africa to develop. The three have in fact initiated a trilateral co-operation to assist Africa.

The trilateral initiative premised on African countries taking ownership of their development and with the overarching objective of building a partnership rather than a donor-recipient relationship with African countries is a unique approach through which the three countries hope to contribute, in a modest way, to promote the social and economic development of African countries.

I am sure that Japan and France would sincerely want to help Africa develop and prosper. As much as Japan profited from Malaysia's prosperity, Japan and France will profit even more from African development and prosperity.

[H: Ah but here comes the rub as usual—who can AFFORD to do the helping since the hit on all the resources of the nations. You must have a way to form an alliance, base resources on a foundation of VALUE and then everyone at least has a fighting chance to grow and prosper. If the Elite continue to make all the wealth and shift it away from the masses—you can have no freedom and finally the masses will actually die out. You have to have more and only through God can those avenues of recovery be claimed.]

Africa is naturally rich. Its resources are huge. In fact it was these resources that had attracted the Europeans in the past.

Certain parts of Africa have become more peaceful. The Governments are interested in the development of their countries and the well-being of their people. But they are handicapped due to the poverty of their nations and the lack of experience and expertise.

Japan and France and even Malaysia are in a position to help the Africans overcome their shortcomings. They can help set up job-creating industries.

[H: I CERTAINLY HOPE OUR FRIENDS IN AFRICA ARE PAYING VERY CLOSE ATTENTION TO THIS DISSERTATION AND ARE PREPARED TO MOVE!]

Africans are very skillful. With a little orientation the basic skills can be turned to industrial skills. Industries should do well in Africa as they have done well in the countries of Asia, including Southeast Asia.

The countries of Africa have lost almost half of a century. Malaysia had tried in a small way to be of help. But we are a developing country with meagre resources. With Japan and France pitching in I am sure we can make up for the loss of time.

Japan's relatively new-found interest in the well-being of Africans, Asians and even Europeans will benefit from the stabilization and prosperity of Africa brought about by the cooperative efforts of three continents.

I hope this conference on African development will help everyone to focus on Africa. There is everything to gain and nothing to lose by prospering Africa, a close neighbour in a shrinking world.

(Prime Minister Datuk Seri Dr. Mahathir Mohamad delivered this speech at the Tokyo International Conference on African Development, in Tokyo, yesterday [Sun., Oct. 18, 1998].)

[END OF QUOTING]

I don't feel I need to make comment on most of this information. It is not as simple as just gathering up some nations and helping with a bit of input here and there. There must be strong enough and large enough input to, for goodness sakes, be able to finish what is begun. A man cannot just be given some food, for instance, he must run through cycles of growing it for himself so that he can train the next generation and then the next.

WE STAND PREPARED, READY, WILLING, AND ABLE TO SEE THIS THROUGH BUT WE WILL NOT DO IT "FOR" ANYONE AND NEITHER WILL WE PUSH AND SHOVE ANYTHING OFF ONTO ANYONE. HOWEVER, I SUGGEST YOU IN AFRICA NUDGE YOUR CONTACTS BECAUSE THINGS ARE GOING TO MOVE RAPIDLY PRETTY QUICKLY NOW. WHEN THIS HAPPENS THE ONES WHO HAVE DRAGGED THEIR TOADIES IN THE SANDBOX ARE NOT GOING TO REMAIN VERY POPULAR WITH THE NEWLY INFORMED. YOU HAVE NOW LOST OVER A YEAR AND THE YEARS ARE VERY PRECIOUS INDEED, AS YOU END A MILLENNIUM AND START ANOTHER—MOST PARTICULARLY AND SPECIFICALLY THIS ONE.

Good afternoon and thank you for your assistance. Salu.

Knowledge Gives You “Eyes” To See

10/8/98 KORTON

Good afternoon. Commander Tomeros Maasu Korton here in Radiance and Light. I come in service to God and The Creation, to aid mankind during his most turbulent of times.

As the usurpers of freedom once again increase their thrust upon their fellow human beings, God too increases His assistance to those who are pledged to bring Truth that man can find his way through that which is intended to all but smother and extinguish the life of yet another “Earth” of experiencing humans. To see to it that that does not happen to another planet in this solar system, ways are and have been provided—both financial and physical life-sustaining ways—to ensure that a REMNANT does make it through.

Your world is overpopulated, approaching 9 billion people. Thus, with your “elite” trying to rid themselves (any way they can) of all who are not to be part of their “utopia”, a great many of you are not slated to survive very long into your year 2000.

It certainly does not have to be that way, but as you march along to Satan’s drumbeat, which steers the masses toward the rocky abyss as blind goyim (nonhuman animals as translated from the Jewish-Khazarian language known as Yiddish), you show your enemy AND GOD that you are willing to accept whatever fate comes your way, with little or no effort to save yourselves. In this I speak of the masses who see it coming, yet do nothing to save their own lives and stop that which is devouring their world.

When (not if) war comes, it will be man’s fault for not stopping the few who will have caused it when you had the chance. For those who effort to stop or limit it by whatever means are available to them, BUT ALSO FAIL TO PREPARE FOR THEIR OWN SURVIVAL, they too will just as surely perish, and it will be by their own ignorance.

How many warnings and prophecies do you need to hear before you realize you ARE in the days called Armageddon? Being forewarned is forearmed, and you have been warned—repeatedly.

WE WILL WALK WITH YOU
UNTIL THE “END”

We of God-Aton’s Hosts will walk with you through the valley’s ominous shadows until there is once again peace and harmony on your world, or until there is no habitable ground upon which to walk. This newspaper and the Phoenix Journals are among the instructions mankind has been waiting for these past 2000 years in your counting. It is these words, and the messages “between the lines”, which will “deliver you from evil”. However, you must make yourself informed about what is being offered.

Your news media does not give you news. At best you can know WHERE things are happening, but lies and fragments of truth are all you can expect, for the media prostitutes are the mouthpieces of your enslavers, nothing more and nothing less.

However, to not be informed of what your adversary is up to is just as gross an error as not availing yourselves of God’s Word. How are you to fix a thing if you know not “where” the problem is? When the Lord (Teacher) said “my people are destroyed for their lack of knowledge”, that was a reference to these very days you are living in.

Is not this your “Information Age”? Data and documents flow with lightning speed through your so-called information superhighways. These are things that have come into being (publicly) only within the past 20 years or so. Never before, in your recorded history, has so much depended on what you know and the insights gained from this knowing. Indeed, at the close of your twentieth century, knowledge IS power!

The power of God’s Word is, simply enough, in the Word. You have a brain that is relatively empty for the most part. The reason you use so little of it is because you do not have that much for it to do. What do you think is meant by the phrase, “When the student is ready, the teacher will come”? It means that when you have a need to know something, and you are diligently pursuing all methods you are aware of to gain the answer, Guides will help to give you new tools (inspiration, books, or whatever is most practical and beneficial to a particular individual) with which to allow YOU to find the answer.

Your mind is the first and foremost tool God gave the spiritual, eternal, soul “you”. It was the only thing you needed to receive all that Creator had to give you. Today it is still all you need, for God’s way of speaking to you has never changed since man’s creation—it didn’t need to. In God’s mind-universe, a brain is what the physical aspect of you utilizes to function in a physical manifested world. All else you do in that physical world is of your own free-will choice. God’s “gift” to Higher Universal man (HU-man) is to CO-CREATE with God, and thereby experience that which you need to experience to further your growth AND KNOWLEDGE.

But man has used his free will to experience those things which go against God’s Laws and those of The Creation, and has reaped bitter fruit for himself and his descendants. When you developed your other physical flesh tools (such as a mouth, hands, feet, etc.) you began to “create” physical things to enhance your ability to further create in the electrical compression of third-dimensional reality. By learning from your mistakes, as well as from your successes, you evolved into wiser beings who had the ability to shape your environment into that which better suited a more harmonious balance between people and Nature herself.

When knowledge became secondary to your learning experience, and “sensual” physical sensing became your all-consuming passion (this includes food, fashion, sports and war—as well as sex), the upward growth toward harmony and balance became a downward spiral toward stagnation and moral and spiritual decay.

In the Higher Realms ALL is a positive experience because there is no physical dimension in which to get “lost”. Remember that the physical realm is only a simulation of reality. However, while you are part of the physical experience, IT BECOMES YOUR REALITY—and remains so until you cross back into the spiritual domain from which all manifested experience comes. Any endeavor or desire or sensing that is rooted exclusively in the physical is likely to lead to error (sin) because it is based on something that is not real.

KNOWLEDGE AND WISDOM IS ALL THAT MATTERS

All that matters in God’s Mind-universe is knowledge and the wisdom gained from it, for it is all your soul takes with you when you make transition to another plane of existence. In other words, while all your worldly possessions don’t go with you, your experience—gained while borrowing and utilizing the physical tools available in physical reality—does become a forever part of your Higher Self.

If you would just contemplate that thought for awhile, it will begin to make sense to you why such is a fact of God’s universe. Since all that you encounter in the physical is composed fundamentally of electrical frequencies of infinitely differing rates of vibrations—hence different apparent compressions—there is no solid physical matter to deal with in the first place, only multitudes of electrical simulations for your senses (themselves comprised of still more electrical frequency variations) to record.

In the vast void of space, from where comes all manifested physical “reality”, electrical potential is very low by comparison to that which you can see and feel as “solid mass”. Space is the uncompressed or unwound electric substance that is used to manufacture your physical dimension. God’s “hands” are the right- and left-turning (in and out) vortex-spiral principle used to wind-up low-potential static (still) electricity into fast-moving, high-potential hot bodies of seeming solids.

Whether these solids are microscopic atoms or macrocosmic suns, THEY ARE STILL NONPHYSICAL THINGS in origin. When their lifestreams are completed, they go back to being low-potential, still, electrical, INVISIBLE substance from which God will again wind-up suns and atoms in a never-ending cycle of creation.

IN ALL OF THAT CREATING, THE ONLY THING THAT IS RETAINED IS THE MEMORY OF THOSE THINGS WHICH WERE CREATED. AND WITH RESPECT TO MAN-PHYSICAL, THAT MEMORY IS THE KNOWLEDGE AND WISDOM GAINED FROM HIS EXPERIENCE WHILE MANIFESTED IN THE PHYSICAL.

These writings are given to man to allow him to find his path back in the direction of peace, harmony, and balance. Aton, The One Light, will always provide His Lighted fragments (you) with guidance that is most beneficial and direct for His ones to find their way home. AND IT WILL BE THROUGH THE WORD THAT SUCH WILL BE DONE.

Or did you think such guidance was coming from Jerry Falwell, or Mr. Netanyahu of Israel? God is within, chelas! He needs no intermediaries—and certainly none who themselves repeatedly and continually break His Laws.

It is through experiential reminders and thought-provoking parables that man learns best. Any worthy teacher would never take the learning experience from you by giving you all the answers and doing your job for you—as do your so-called leaders and Sunday preachers.

Am I against those who profess to show you the way from the pulpits and the Crystal Cathedrals? That is not for me, Korton, to judge. However, they have not given you very much in the way of methods of ridding the evils that are consuming your world. In fact, more blood has been shed in the name of religion and worship than you can imagine. Is it not time YOU “save” yourself and stop putting YOUR responsibility off upon a Teacher who lived among you 2000 years ago?

Can you not avail yourselves of the teachings offered by Esu “Jesus” Immanuel Sananda and find your own salvation? (By the way, Sananda is the “new name” your Bible refers to; he is who the ancient Egyptians labeled the Master Teacher.)

The time is rapidly approaching when your elected leaders will cave-in and cause to be stricken for all time the allowance for “separation of church and state” in your United States. [Editor’s note: This is certainly a timely comment, considering that this week’s Front Page story was only just faxed to us on 10/23/98 from a concerned reader in Oregon, while Commander Korton’s scribe in Los Angeles wrote this on 10/8/98. Korton’s explanation (below) of the true extent of the sinister motives behind the shenanigans reported in our Front Page story makes for a better introductory Editor’s note to that material than what is actually there!]

YOU ARE A NATION BIRTHED “UNDER GOD” OF LIGHT! THERE CAN BE NO OTHER FOUNDATION OF LASTING VALUE!

THE ONGOING, VEILED DISPUTE REGARDING THE SO-CALLED

“SEPARATION OF CHURCH AND STATE” IS IN ACTUALITY THE ATTEMPT TO SEPARATE GOD FROM YOUR CHRIST(IAN) REPUBLIC AND THE SUBSEQUENT ASCENDING TO THE THRONE BY THE ANTI-CHRIST OF (MAN PROPHESED) BIBLICAL PROJECTION.

THE “NEW RELIGION” GOES BY THE NONSENSICAL LABEL “JUDEO-CHRISTIAN”—THE TERMS THEREIN ARE MUTUALLY EXCLUSIVE AND MEAN THE EXACT OPPOSITE IN CONCEPT! WHEN THE ADVERSARY MAKES HIS PRESENCE KNOWN IN HIS ATTEMPT TO TAKE THE WORLD, THE DOWNFALL OF YOUR PRESENT FORMS OF RELIGIOUS WORSHIP WILL BEGIN WITH THE REALIZATION THAT THE PEOPLE HAVE FALLEN AT THE HANDS OF THE BASTARD “FALSE RELIGION” CONJURED BY SATAN HIMSELF.

This will prove to be a fatal blow to those who have believed with their very souls that what they are following is THE religion. The ones who tout this union of Jews and Christians are the ones who are plotting the demise of both! How else are you going to start a war in the Middle East if there are not generated circumstances to “cover” the true agenda?

This is not to say that Christians and Jews—and other “faiths”—should not join together! Unity and brotherhood is the only way you can save your world. It is just that, in the case of the unknowing, this is also the arena which evil utilizes to further divide the people, making them ripe for conquering.

KOSOVO: A REENACTMENT OF WORLD WAR II FOR THE TWENTY-FIRST CENTURY

There is a concerted effort to start a war. All hot spots—whether they be ancient battlegrounds or newly created places to intentionally foster disputes—are going to be manipulated. Kosovo, a Bolshevik-manipulated region of southwest Serbia, is secretly being controlled by Kissinger Associates, Inc., the low-profile, political “consulting” group which specializes in promoting violence for the express purpose of furthering UN-based global control.

You will recall that this is the same kind of tactic focused several years ago upon Kuwait—a region AND LAWFUL PROPERTY of southeast Iraq. The “sleight of hand” worked there once and can easily work there again—so long as so many Americans remain asleep to or silent about the truth of the matter.

This Kosovo region is the other major area to watch because it is there a World War can be sparked and Slobodan Milosevic, Serbian Yugoslav president and the newest “elitist” to fall out of favor with his New World Order benefactors, is the point-man of focus in this little segment of the play. Remember he was the puppet carrying out the “ethnic cleansing” orders in Bosnia not long ago.

[Editor’s note: Again, Commander Korton’s choice of topics to cover in this article acts as a connecting rod to yet another story in this week’s CONTACT. This time it’s the News Desk Special Report on Bosnia on page 7, wherein we read how Kissinger Associates played the dominant role as trouble-maker engineers there, too.]

Kissinger, Bush, Scowcroft and other heavy hitters—former advisors and power brokers—still pull the strings in global politics. All three are British subjects and each, respectively, controls a substantial portion of world politics, world military forces, and world religion. Brent Scowcroft is a longtime leader of the Mormon (The word means “Satan” in the Asian world and Mormon worship is outlawed in their countries.) “cult”—which is to ultimately replace Judeo-Christianity as the religion of choice. (You see, even the Jews lose out as all eventually are double-crossed by the Prince of Deceivers.)

These ones are major participants in what is happening in central Europe. Why is this location so important to ones who play at war? Because its central position forces—by clever structuring of international treaty—your G-7 nations and their allies to participate whether they want to or not.

A war in Kosovo, with the Serbians as the “bad guys”, provides all the ingredients necessary to create and fan a BELIEVABLE escalated conflict. This is why Mossad and CIA massacres in Albania are being blamed on president Milosovic. Every time air strikes are threatened, he withdraws his troops immediately—as your operatives on the ground report and your spy plane pictures show—and is continually goaded into more and more tenuous positions until all-out war breaks out. Let us not forget who his ally is—the media never seem to put enough emphases on “the Russian Connection”. Remember from my past lectures just how formidable is that Russian Military aspect of this chess game.

By the way, the reason your FBI is taking such an active role in world policing and investigations is because Central Intelligence is up to their ears in covert terror campaigns with Israeli-backed (as well as -staffed) death squads, and the Agency is trying to keep the focus off of what they ARE doing abroad.

Getting back to the chess game with the Russian Military, this is why former MI-6 (British Intelligence) agent, Richard Tomlinson, is such a hated man by your world governments—with the exception of Switzerland and possibly Russia. In addition to his providing you with the opportunity for physical proof of that which we already brought to you regarding the assassination of Princess Diana and Dodi al Fayed by British-Israel, French, and American operatives, he also knows enough to expose—AND BRING TO AN END, WITH YOUR SUPPORT—the entire World Domination plan.

Believe me, chelas, there is a heavy price tag on Tomlinson’s head, and if it were not for the protection of God’s Lighted Shielding (and perhaps a few Godly Russians), he would have been long ago assassinated during one of his plane trips as he fled from country to country seeking asylum.

BRITISH SECRETS ACT IS THE DIRECT CAUSE FOR THE DOWNING OF SWISSAIR FLIGHT 111

When Tomlinson was denied entry into the United States, after trying to disclose British-

Israeli plans (which quite literally are for the downfall of your free world), he went to Geneva, Switzerland, where you have neutral laws concerning banking and politics. When he got there, he was allowed to speak by satellite link to Matt Lauer, a high-level Mossad agent, on the Today Show.

Incidentally, there are various ways in which the average citizen can utilize the same clues that ones within the intelligence community employ to pass on information. One ridiculously obvious “red flag” is in their clothing—ties in particular.

In Israel, suits are normally not worn with ties because that “uniform” is a sign of a lower “worker” class of servant in the eyes of your Khazarian-Israeli “elite” masters. However, GREY WILL ALWAYS BE THE PREDOMINANT COLOR OF RECOGNITION BETWEEN THE COVERT BANKSTER THIEVES AND THEIR AGENTS. High-level active secret agents will wear a very expensive tie in shades and patterns of grey. These patterns are usually in a motif of plaid-like or sophisticated Scottish tartan, and being that the Scottish Rite of Freemasonry is also an extension of British Intelligence, I would imagine that this is more than a passing coincidence.

Likewise, other colors represent different signals. As a for instance, remember when Mr. Clinton was “ordered” to Russia, while taking refuge in a cottage in New England to dodge the opening salvos of the Lewinsky-Israeli coup attempt. Remember the infamous yellow tie given to him by her as THE “gift” that made world headlines. (One reporter even joked about Chelsea probably taking the scissors to it when the family all got together that evening.) None of this publicity stopped him from boarding the blue-Israeli-embled Air Force One WEARING THE EXACT TIE as he waved to you-the-people on his way to the Kremlin!

Indeed, it IS as blatant as that, chelas, for your Israeli master manipulators do enjoy these “inside jokes” in the face of an uninformed world populace. I intend to point out every significant indicator of how they have you ones by the throat in a series of outlayings, for you need to see just how vast is the reach of the self-labeled “Serpent People”. I guess vanity does have its dangers.

Anyway, after this four-paragraph digression into symbols, let me continue with the Tomlinson interview on the Today Show. He spoke of exactly the method used to assassinate Diana and Dodi, based on documents he saw while at MI-6.

When prominent persons are killed by your secret government hit men, it is not a haphazard “send someone to bump them off” Mafia-style hit. The “target” is set up and the “problem” is approached just like any secret wartime paramilitary operation. In cases like this it is ever the more important since exposure of the death(s) AS ASSASSINATION would cause worse trouble for the perpetrators. Plans and contingency plans are drawn up, with the one most likely to succeed being selected, including several backups ready as standby, should last-minute changes be necessary.

The plan which was ultimately selected to kill the princess was one borrowed from plans in place to assassinate Yugoslav president Milosevic, should he need to be gotten out of the way. (Small world, isn't it?) In documents from MI-6 headquarters, a very similar “accident” in a tunnel was to be used to kill the Serbian Yugoslav president so that “elite” plans to start a war there could continue without further interruptions.

As has been given to you prior to this, a laser flashgun was used to outright kill the driver, Henri Paul, himself a British operative (the princess' bodyguard was and is also on the payroll of MI-6), and Dodi. Diana was subsequently killed en route to the hospital. They had to be sure she was dead; that is why it took so long for a ride that should have taken only a few minutes.

SDECE (French Intelligence) dossiers stated that Diana's fatal injury was a “ruptured aorta”. Since the aorta is the main trunk artery out of the heart, a ruptured aorta would result in almost immediate death, with virtually no chance of survival. If that were true, she most certainly would not have been able to talk, much less move, several minutes after the accident. Then later, as the culprits tried to rectify their mistake, the injury was identified as a torn pulmonary (from the heart, to the lungs, and back to the heart) artery or vein. Well, which was it?

As always, when prominent individuals, or many hundreds at a time, are slaughtered by the death squads of the Global Manipulators, their flimsy cover stories never pass muster with any who earnestly search for TRUTH among the major media drivel doled out to placate you. Their stories don't have to be anywhere near perfect to satisfy most of the sleeping public; moreover, the fabrications need only last long enough to allow the next orchestrated incident(s) to distract you, one after another—until the “elite” controllers capture you without you ever knowing what actually happened.

All this sounds like something from the late author Ian Fleming of James Bond “fiction” fame, but you must come into understanding of what we are speaking of, and there are no stranger tales to write about than the real life characters of your governments' inner circles. (Remember from my past articles that Mr. Fleming was himself an officer of MI-6 who also tried to give “fictionalized” information to the public which he got from actual agency files. Because of the daring way he chose to inform the public, he walked a fine line for his personal safety on many, many occasions!)

“The Conspiracy” against you-the-people is a very real thing. However, it is riddled with conflicts between your oldest and wealthiest families of inherited AND ASSUMED power, and warring RELIGIOUS factions vying for world rulership—with you nice unassuming citizens caught in the middle.

British-Israel and Islamic “tribes” have been at war for centuries, and they have never lost sight of who is related to whom and what lands supposedly belong to which kingdom. Do you actually think the British crown welcomed with open arms the introduction of an Arab child into the blue bloods of England?!? Diana was killed because she was pregnant with Dodi's baby AND because there is a secret war going on between the royal families of those two religious kingdoms.

Remember: the war of wars in your “Ending Time” conflict is between, ultimately, the Muslims and the Jews. Your Master Teacher Esu “Jesus” Immanuel told you that. You are merely witnessing the “tip of the iceberg” preceding the bigger battle yet to come.

Why am I telling you these things? To show you what is happening and what is being planned, so that you have more of an opportunity to turn things around. It does not have to be this way! You can cause a different outcome if you act while you still have the tools and the means to effect PEACEFUL change.

By allowing you to see what is taking place at your level of information dissemination, and providing a bit of insight about the closed-door meetings of your would-be global slave-masters, you can more easily discern the steamroller gathering steam as it prepares to roll over you. And like the slow, lumbering steamroller, if you but open your eyes IN TIME, you can easily side-step that which is on a path to crush you. True knowledge about what is going on around you gives you “eyes” to see—as a first step toward taking corrective action.

In the spy business, “sheep-dipped” operatives and agents change their identities with the same frequency you change your wardrobes. Therefore, whether or not they are exactly who they say they are, or are just information bringers out to make a name for themselves, there are many ones such as Tomlinson, David Shayler (an MI-5 agent jailed in France and awaiting extradition back to England), John Coleman, Gunther Russbacher, Bo Gritz, Victor Ostrovsky, and many other former “insiders” who can bring you truth—even if it is in the form that spy novelist Ian Fleming employed through his James Bond character.

YOU NEED THIS KNOWLEDGE BECAUSE THEY ARE THE ONLY PROOF YOU ARE GOING TO GET REGARDING NOT MERELY THE EXISTENCE OF YOUR SECRET PARALLEL GOVERNMENTS, BUT A GLIMPSE AT THEIR INNER WORKINGS AS WELL.

Do you think just because an operation goes wrong that the director of the multi-headed beast is going to come clean and air their misdeeds on CNN? Of course not! So pay close attention when a truthful sound bite or two makes it to such as the Today Show. A little truth may just come out when the bad guys are being scrutinized under the public spotlight—and we will add as much detail as time and writing space permits.

As Mr. Lauer repeatedly tried to make Tomlinson look ridiculous, the former British agent spoke truth and did not allow Lauer's bantering to cloud his giving you the facts. Instead of coming off like a lunatic, Tomlinson caused many ones to think twice about the unexplained flash in the tunnel that tragic, late August, 1997 night in France.

In New Zealand (Tomlinson has dual citizenship there and in England), France, as well as in all of Europe, and most other countries elsewhere, it was PROVEN that your “free world” is coming completely under the rule of the British Crown as the Official Secrets Act prevents even the mention of anything British Intelligence decides it does not want individuals or media organizations to disclose. By airing Tomlinson's short interview, your U.S. government violated the Official Secrets Act. And shortly thereafter a Swissair jet—from your premier American airport, JFK, headed for Geneva—was blown out of the sky.

Given the fact that (1) a double sonic blast was heard over many miles of inland Nova Scotia, and (2) there were several Kidon (“K” or assassination) teams as passengers on the aircraft who were unaware of each other’s presence, SOMEONE wanted to be sure that the message got through that Tomlinson was to be silenced. I would say that tit-for-tat is heating up among various factions of your “elite” would-be-kings.

GOD HAS PROVIDED YOU WITH WHAT YOU NEED TO SLAY THE BEAST

As your world teeters on the brink of massive change, you don’t need fortune tellers to tell you what and who is behind your failing world financial markets, the sudden rekindling of your world’s “hot spots”, and the “crisis” in your White House. You KNOW the time is at hand for your adversary to begin to make his move for final conquest of your planet. It remains to be seen whether or not you-the-people rise to meet the challenge to prevent total collapse of your sovereign way of life.

God has provided you with what you need to slay the beast, but it is going to take the masses to do it—not the politicians. They CAN be at the forefront of your actions to save your economy and provide shelters for your citizens—and be in the front of the action, digging the canal alongside you, that nurtures your dying financial and barter infrastructure. But, if they are unwilling to “put their backs into it”, then they must stand aside.

As for actual earthen shelters, whether or not you have a major war, your environment has been irreversibly altered. Your present dwelling structures will not endure the sustained high winds, radioactive fallout, and other hazards you can expect as you AND YOUR PLANET make the transition into cleansing and rebirth, as your aboriginal brothers have been warning you about for some time.

(As an aside here, even if you never explode another nuclear device in your atmosphere, you are now being irradiated by radioactive particulate from all your past detonations. This is actually the major insult killing your AIDS victims once the immune system becomes compromised. When your body’s defenses are down, the most prevailing menace to your health is what usually ravages the body first. This is also why there has been such an increase in skin cancers in recent years. Your radioactive predicament is yet another “little” surprise your so-called “elite” have kept from you. However, if their Larger Picture agenda is massive depopulation of most of you “useless eaters” from this planet, then what better, more innocent-looking way to murder so many of you-the-people than through hiding behind manufactured “natural” excuses such as a thinning ozone layer in your atmosphere?!)

The ancient ones have gone back to their caves and deep caverns to await the cleansing. Those of you who wish to survive will make similar, but more practical, adjustments. And for that which is beyond your ability to prepare—that is our concern as your elder Cosmic Relations.

A corporation called Shelters Across America, Inc. is being set-up to assist those who may want to purchase used shipping containers from ports such as Long Beach, California to use as inexpensive makeshift shelters for individual families and community areas set aside for emergency use. These metal cargo containers are in great abundance in your country. In fact, you send shiploads full of EMPTY CONTAINERS just so the Asian markets can have enough to send back to you all the goods you’re purchasing which are backlogged and piled high waiting on their docks! (Well, so much for balanced trade.)

Should you not make use of that surplus to aid in your own survival? And at the same time another “industry” would be created—that of manufacturing more shipping containers to handle the already huge shortage of these very useful and versatile boxes that are easily transportable by rail and truck to anywhere in your nation. These shelter-containers could be outfitted and offered in various “conversion kits” for combining two, three or four, or however many may be needed for a given corporate or community project.

Companion “survival packages” could be offered for sale with each shelter to provide medical and health supplies for a predetermined number of people per shelter. These would contain basic, but absolutely necessary items, such as: storable food and water, as well as water purification means; a battery-less shortwave radio; a basic survival instruction manual: the Family Preparedness Handbook by James Talmage Stevens is an excellent reference source; electrical power from such as the new Craftsman computer-adjusted-output 3,600-watt generator (as referenced in Dr. Overholt’s The News Desk, printed in the September 15, 1998 issue of CONTACT on page 5) which runs only fast enough to satisfy existing electrical loads, thereby reducing noise and saving fuel: the generator can provide electrical power for up to 29 hours on 4 gallons of fuel; portable waste management modules, as well as other “necessities”, could be easily acquired or manufactured specifically for these proposed Shelter Kits.

Shelters would need to be placed partially or completely below ground-level and covered with four to ten feet of earth, depending on whether or not added composition material that shields radiation is used. Other types of structures, manufactured as “add-ons” for animals, vehicles, earth-moving equipment, or for those who just desire more living space for long-duration occupancy, would also be made available. These structures could utilize naturally efficient domed architecture (what we utilize in Pleiades) made from compressed earthen material which is several times harder (and more radiation resistant) than standard hardened concrete.

Upkeep and readiness maintenance could be done by assigned “neighborhood watch” groups, or for more ambitious setups where ample space is allotted near or in the major cities, the homeless could be charged with that task in exchange for a place to live. Moreover, a project like this would be a good opportunity for your local and state elected officials to do that which you pay them to do: help provide for the welfare (as in safety) of their constituents.

We of the Hosts and of the Intergalactic Fleets stand ready to assist you with that which is outside your ability to deal with. An example of this would be if your primitive (by our standards) and poorly understood (by your so-called super scientists) beam-weapons technology accidentally starts a chain reaction igniting your atmosphere.

However, if you utilize what we bring in the way of suggestions, which are the methods given to you as inspired by God—concerning matters such as health, corporate business, and common (constitutional) law—then the severity of what may occur could be greatly diminished.

As for how long (and to what extent) you have to live below ground and off of stored and hydroponically grown foods, that is up to you. If you wait until your choice is only the emergency scenario option, then your stay will be quite long, as it will take time to repair the damage that will result from massive wars and plagues.

However, if you turn your plight around with no further destruction of your environment and your peoples, then the process of “clean-up” can begin immediately and all you have to do is shelter yourselves long enough to live comfortably during some portions of Mother Earth’s rebalancing process.

God has no wish to make matters more difficult for you than you have already made them. It is you who push things to the limit of allowable time for a smooth turning around back to goodness. The confusion and manipulation by your adversary has made it all the more difficult for you to literally know right from wrong—though at the soul level you innately know Truth.

Always allow Godly inspired thought to be your guiding Light, and waste no more time following up those inner promptings with right action for, as always, it is you who will (one way or another) make the world “a better place”. This is directed especially to those who are new to these writings—as well as to ones who have agreed to be our physical hands and eyes, such as this scribe.

God-Aton allows for the human aspect to function as humans do in the third-dimensional format. However, consider well that you are rapidly moving into a higher-dimensional plane of experience!

As you make your plans and attempts to organize that which you perceive to be in disorder in your life, Life marches onward. You must learn to integrate, in balance, that which the physical realm requires for existence with whatever is your “appointed” Higher task or tasks at this time of planetary transition. If you put God FIRST in all your plans and endeavors, you are going to find that all else falls into place in a balanced way.

May you know that, as things seem to be their worst, and you feel you cannot take another step, it is then God carries you by giving you the inner strength that is your very essence. Understand that it is Creator’s Light which forms and gives tremendous energy to suns and galaxies—and it is that same energy which resides within you, just waiting to be tapped. Call upon it now—don’t wait—for it can move mountains!

Korton to standby, please. Salu.
