Art Bell Says Everybody Is Sick

Watch Those Contrails In Sky!

Coming up this week on Art Bell’s late-night talk-radio program (on 2/18/99) is a guest, William Thomas, whose first appearance on Art’s show on 1/25/99 sent chills up and down every listener’s spine. My almost 84-year-young mother, who is part of an eight-lady crew who feeds 700 children at my old grade-school cafeteria every day near Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, just told me that many of the kids are sick with “odd flus” and Pittsburgh’s Children’s Hospital is filled to overflowing with emergency cases.

In years past CONTACT has provided much information about biological and chemical warfare testing of the toxic variety upon various population centers of we-the-people. As if that is not diabolical enough, the crooks in high places have even written various clandestine laws to make such shenanigans “legal”. (Doesn’t that just help you to sleep peacefully?!)

The following is the first part of what will be at least a two-part series on recent matters related to this nasty subject. Part One (this week) is provided by our News Desk guru, Dr. Al

THE STATE OF THE NATION

From the INTERNET, Larry P. Gries <lpgrises@cac.net>, 2/6/99: [quoting]

The letter below was written by sixteen-year-old Christopher Vincent. It appeared in the Arkansas Democrat Gazette, and was picked up and read by Chuck Colson on his national radio show, Break Point. Colson called the letter "brilliant".

I am 16 years old. Though I am not old enough to vote, I am writing this on behalf of my generation. The recent speech by the President and the reaction of our nation to it gives me reason to write this letter in hope that those who read it will be challenged to look closely at the condition of our nation.

In the President's speech he admitted to having a relationship with Monica Lewinsky that was "improper" and "wrong". Then he said that it was time to move on. Many people have said that the President's private affairs are his own business and people should not pry. Others have said that the President's private affairs do not affect the job he does. The President himself touched lightly upon the supposed injustice of prying into his personal life in his speech.

Hugo Grotius once said, "That a man cannot govern a nation if he cannot govern a city, he cannot govern a city if he cannot govern a family, he cannot govern a family unless he can govern himself, and he cannot govern himself unless his passions are subject to reason." The President is accountable to the people.

We must know whether he can control himself or not. If the President cannot control himself, he certainly is not capable of governing a nation. Yet we sit in our selfishness and refuse to look at the truth because it does not feel good. We look at the nation and see a booming economy. We look around and see prosperity and say, "Why should we mess this up?" And yes, Mr. Clinton has helped with all these things. But there are better things than financial security, and there are worse things than poverty. We give the control to a man who can make us feel good but cannot control himself.

I would like to call your attention to a recent international affair where Pakistan and India were developing nuclear weapons. The President offered a deal to Pakistan saying that if they would stop developing nuclear weapons the United States would protect them in the case of an attack. The Pakistani minister of foreign affairs said that he did not believe that the President (Clinton) would follow through on his promise. This was because he saw the character of our President and realized he could not be trusted.

This endangered the lives of the citizens of Pakistan and India, more than 900 million people. Although war has not broken out, we must heed the warning: the character of the President affects the entire world. The American people have chosen to become selfish, and my generation—your children—are growing up seeing the highest authority in America, a man who cannot control himself. Why should I put others first when the President himself will not even put his duty to his wife or his nation before his sexual desires?

I'm asking you, the generation that holds the voting power, to think of your children and the future of the world. If we cannot trust our President to fulfill his marriage vows, can we trust him to do what he has promised us? And if we cannot trust the man our parents elect, can we trust our parents? You owe it to the world, you owe it to God, and you owe it to your children to consider this. [End quoting]

How does this make us, the elder generation, feel—after what the majority of us have given our children as an example?

CONGRESSIONAL IMMUNITY FOR UFO WITNESSES?

From the INTERNET, <para-discuss@tje.net>, 2/2/99: [quoting]

Nick Pope's Weird World: Another initiative making the news in America is a campaign to grant congressional immunity to anybody speaking out about official involvement with UFOs. The public position of the American Government on UFOs is the same as the British Government's.

Essentially, this consists of a denial that there is any official knowledge of an alien presence. In that case, argue ufologists, would there be any objection to granting congressional immunity to any members of the military or the intelligence community who wanted to speak openly about the subject? After all, if the information doesn't exist, nobody could come forward. The campaign was given a real boost by ufologist Peter Robbins, who raised the issue at a public discussion of secrecy policy, last year. Senators Daniel Patrick Moynihan and Bob Kerry agreed that they would be willing to support such a move. Will this move get wider support, and be enacted? Could it ever happen here, in the UK? I'll keep you posted. [End quoting]

Why don't we speak up and demand that the governments come clean with us about this "alien" situation. Don't you think we've waited long enough?

HILLARY IS COY PAT IS MAD

From NEWSWEEK, 2/8/98: [quoting]

No one close to Hillary Clinton thinks she really wants to spend her post-White House days in Washington. But so far the First Lady has refused to shoot down rumors that she might make a bid for the seat of retiring New York Sen. Daniel Patrick Moynihan. Friends say Mrs. Clinton is flattered by the attention and polls showing her easily defeating Rudy Giuliani and Alfonse D'Amato. But Mrs. Clinton's indecision is infuriating Moynihan, who announced his retirement early so a Democratic candidate could raise the $20 million it will take to keep the seat. "If Hillary Clinton's not going to run she should say so," says Liz Moynihan, his wife and top political adviser. "As long as she's out there, the Democrats won't be looking around for a New Yorker." [End quoting]

Hillary is probably just waiting for instructions from her behind-the-scenes handlers.

LOCKHEED WINS SPY DEAL

From THE ORLANDO SENTINEL, 2/2/99: [quoting]

Lockheed Martin Corp. and British Aerospace have won a $146 million contract to design a new stealth-armored spy vehicle for the United States and Great Britain. Lockheed's Orlando missiles unit is a major player in the joint venture, known as SIKI International. [End quoting]

DISEASE HITS HERDS IN IRAQ

From THE MODESTO BEE, 1/29/99: [quoting]

Baghdad—Hoof-and-mouth disease has crippled at least 1 million sheep and cattle here and the lack of vaccines for the highly contagious disease threatens the country's livestock, a U.N. official said Thursday.

The implications of the disease are catastrophic, the official said: Farmers could be ruined, and meat and milk could become even more scarce in a country where 8½ years of U.N. economic sanctions have already made shortages commonplace.

At least 50,000 animals—mostly lambs, kids and calves—have died from the viral disease, the official said.

Amir Khalil of the U.N. Food and Agriculture Organization in Iraq said almost all of the nation's 18 provinces have suffered outbreaks of the sickness.

Because grazing herds wander across borders, the danger extends beyond Iraq and into neighboring countries. [End quoting]

This sounds highly suspicious as attempted genocide by the "elite".

SHAW, 82, CHANGED SOUND OF U.S. CHORAL MUSIC

From THE DAILY NEWS, Los Angeles, 2/99: [quoting]

Robert Shaw, the dominant figure in American choral music for more than half a century, died Monday in New Haven, Conn. He was 82 and had suffered a stroke. He was visiting Yale to see a production of Samuel Beckett's Endgame, which his son Thomas directed.

With the founding of New York's Collegiate Chorale in 1941, Shaw launched a career that changed the way American choruses sounded. In 1948 he founded the Robert Shaw Chorale, which toured the world and recorded many central masterpieces of the choral literature as well as best-selling albums of Shaw's arrangements of folk songs, Christmas carols, and spirituals.

Shaw worked with Fred Waring, creating a 24-voice glee club for the popular tours and weekly broadcasts of Waring and his Pennsylvanians. In 1967 he became music director of the Atlanta Symphony, a position he held until 1988.

He was born April 30, 1916, in Red Bluff, Calif., and studied at Pomona College. Survivors include his sons Peter, John and Thomas and a daughter, Johanna. No services have been announced. [End quoting]

He was one of the true greats in the musical world, creating the best choral music that America has probably ever heard.

VACUUM TUBES AND THEIR NECESSITY IN ELECTRONIC MIND-CONTROL TECHNIQUES

From the INTERNET, <para-discuss@tje.net>, 1/18/99: [quoting]

Technologies were developed in the Montauk Project by which our very thoughts and even psychic-level experiences can be interfered with, tweaked, twisted and controlled.

I received an e-mail on the subject of music as utilized in mind-control operations, which read in part as follows:

"With the advances in technology since Dick Sutphen's book The Battle For Your Mind first came out, is it still impossible to reduce various frequencies to detect the subliminals when they are psycho-acoustically modified and synthesized so that they are projected in the same chord and frequency as the music?"

Though I'm unfamiliar with the book mentioned above, the topic is certainly intriguing. Here's my response to the question, based upon my admittedly limited familiarity with the nuts and bolts of such operations.

Certain people connected to the Montauk Project have made repeated references to the way popular entertainment—in particular music—has been and is being utilized as an aid to EM/RF mind-control programming, either directed towards a population as a whole or towards smaller groups or individuals.

Preston Nichols has relayed information about some of the more esoteric technologies which utilize music as a medium for dissemination. He referred to what he calls a "quantum" waveform of some kind which is not in either the audio or electromagnetic wave spectrum, and which can transmit extensive amounts of information. This quantum information signal apparently interacts with certain levels of consciousness and awareness: there is no commonly available technology at this time with which the information can be decoded.

One point made by Nichols which I, as a musician, found intriguing is that the equipment used in implementing this quantum information wave is highly dependent upon vacuum tubes [emphasis mine], as much of the Montauk Project technology has been in general, although transistors are utilized to some extent. Interesting that many electric musicians, especially guitarists, have adamantly withstood the tidal wave of solid state technology when it comes to instrument amplifiers: as many rock fans know, most electric guitarists, bassists, miked vocalists and other musicians swear by the vast superiority of the tonal qualities of vacuum tube amps and the ability of such equipment to convey a far greater range of subtle nuances of feeling than transistor amps.

Nichols indicated to me that a substantial amount of popular music during the 1960s, 70s, 80s and of course now has been utilized in service of a covert (of course!) MK agenda using various methods and technologies, and as I've pointed out, similar charges have been made by a number of other people, for example Cathy O'Brien. (Nichols worked as sound recording engineer before going to work at Brookhaven Labs around 1970). [End quoting]

There are many musicians who have a good ear for music who don't like transistors or CDs because they miss the more pure sound of vacuum tubes.

PLASTIC MUSCLES RUN DRY

From POPULAR MECHANICS magazine, June 1998: [quoting]

Researchers at Basque University, in Spain, say they have constructed the first plastic muscles that work in open air. Previous materials that mimicked human muscles by changing their shape in response to electrical stimulation had to be immersed in fluid.

The dry muscle consists of plastic impregnated with a lithium-perchlorate electrolyte and sandwiched between sheets of polypyrrole, a conductive polymer. Passing less than 1v through the electrolyte pushes the perchlorate ions, causing a slight swelling that remains until the current is removed. Depending upon the voltage, the swelling causes the muscle to flex in different directions.

The muscle's developers expect its first use will be in instruments for microsurgery. Plastic replacements for human muscle are at least 20 years away. [End quoting]

This invention could benefit us in many, many ways.

PUBLIC OUTCRY FORCES USDA TO REVERSE ORGANIC LABELING STANCE

From THE DAILY NEWS, Los Angeles, 1/22/99: [quoting]

In a reversal, the government is drawing up rules saying that food cannot be labeled "organic" if it has been irradiated, genetically engineered or treated with antibiotics, a top agriculture official told farmers Thursday.

The labeling plan was developed by the U.S. Department of Agriculture in response to an outcry last year against an earlier set of rules organic farmers considered too permissive.

"I'm telling you we are looking at every possible way to protect the integrity of your industry," said Keith Jones of the department's National Organic Program.

The new rules governing fruit, vegetables and livestock will probably be published next summer in the Federal Register and could take effect in the fall, Jones said.

The department is trying to develop the first national standards on organic food labeling to replace a hodgepodge of state rules and industry guidelines.

U.S. sales of organic foods have grown 20 percent annually for the past seven years. In 1996, they exceeded $3.5 billion. There are now more than 10,000 U.S. farms trying to raise organic crops and livestock, according to the Organic Farming Research Foundation.

Farmers have their own informal guidelines for what they call organic. For instance, fruits and vegetables shouldn't have pesticides, herbicides or preservatives, and livestock should be raised in an open-air environment, without antibiotics or hormones.

Last year, the USDA proposed allowing food to be labeled organic even if it was irradiated to kill germs, genetically engineered, or subjected to sewage sludge or chemical spraying.

Organic farmers, marketers and consumers sent more than 280,000 protest letters, prompting Agriculture Secretary Dan Glickman to withdraw the proposal. Jones shared details of the department's latest proposal at the Ecological Farming Conference, the nation's largest gathering of organic farmers.

Holding a hand-drawn paper target to his chest, he conceded that the federal agency has failed the organic farmers in the past.

"It seems that in the current environment, the USDA can't do anything right," he said. "But I can tell you today we have a commitment to get it right."

He got a generally sympathetic reception. "I'm very encouraged," said Bob Anderson, who runs Walnut Acres in Penn Creek, Pa., and is on the National Organic Standards Board, a coalition of organic farmers. "There's nothing like 280,000 comments to get the government's attention."

However, some farmers were skeptical and said they want to see the rules in print.

"We farmers in West Texas joke about never having seen rain but we still believe in it. That's kind of where we are in this process," said Michael Sligh of the Campaign for Sustainable Agriculture, based in Chapel Hill, N.C. [End quoting]

It's wake-up time as you can see. The politicians and "elite" are beginning to listen ONLY because they know we are waking up to their dastardly actions of the past. Please don't let up on the pressure to make even better and more drastic changes to their rotten plans.

BUILDING SMART ORGANS FROM SCRATCH

From the INTERNET, <para-discuss@tje.net>, 1/26/99: [quoting]

With the problem of organ shortage looming as great as ever, researchers are moving towards growing new tissue or even entire organs for transplantation. From sprouting new cartilage on smart grafts to building new hearts through genetic engineering, the field is fast graduating from an intellectual curiosity to a tool for treating medical ills.

Through routine transplantation of laboratory-grown organs into humans remains years away, the field is sprouting like never before. The ultimate goal, researchers say, is to take a small piece of a person's own tissue and grow a "patch" or entire organ that is suitable for transplantation back into the patient.

Such an approach would eliminate problems related to rejection, which occurs when tissue or an organ is transplanted from one person to another, experts say. Moreover, the new methods are expected to be associated with less pain and fewer complications, while solving the problem of supply that now limits transplants of all kinds.

STIMULATING SMART CARTILAGE

Closest to routine use is test-tube cartilage that can be used to replace damaged tissue in people with arthritis, athletic injuries and other joint disease. [End quoting]

This sounds much better and safer than harvesting others' organs.

GIVE THANKS FOR Y2K

From NEW BEGINNINGS, at <http://www.spiritual-endeavors.org>, 2/3/99: [quoting]

In their infinite, albeit unconscious wisdom, a small group of computer programmers have presented this world with a most tremendous opportunity. That small and select group writing the infamous COBOL code were surely guided by the unseen hand of God when they made that seemingly innocent decision to use just two digits for computer dates instead of four. We do indeed owe them our sincere gratitude for that y2k bug as it is now referred to.

I have given much thought to this little bug lately, and I am truly in awe. Sometimes I just have to stop and smile as I hear a voice whispering in my ear: "The Lord works in strange and mysterious ways."

Strange indeed. Being a graphic artist and a web designer, I earn my living working 10-12 hours a day on these blessed computers that are going to prod us onto the next, and oh-so-important, step in the evolution of mankind. Mysterious indeed! How could that decision to save a few hours worth of work [See below comment]—the time that it would have taken to write the couple hundred lines of code necessary for computers to recognize the first two digits of a year's date—lead to perhaps the greatest gift of the millennium?

Please join me in the understanding that the y2k bug comes to us as a dear friend offering aid in a time of great need.

We should be ever so grateful for it. Without the y2k bug, we would all soon be up the proverbial creek without a paddle. Indeed, give thanks to the powers that be for this most wondrous messenger!

Before you think I've fallen completely off my rocker, consider the situation. Consider it well. Should the crashes crash, and the outages out, what exactly are the consequences going to be? It is ever so important that you ponder this question. For if you look into it deeply, you will come to see that should only half of what some experts are predicting come to pass, the only way through the disruptions will be together. Together in every sense of the word.

If we resort to hoarding food and purchasing weapons and such, if we go out and buy gas-powered generators so that we may have light while our neighbors stumble in darkness, if we diligently collect all the material needs that would see us through 90 days of lawlessness and violence while we hide in our boarded-up basement or bomb shelter as some experts advise, does this sound anything at all like togetherness? Yet, as I have said and you will see if you give serious thought to the situation—the only way through it will be together. [End quoting]

The main cause of the computer bug seems to be the fact that, when computers were new, memory was extremely expensive and to store the memory for 2 more digits, especially when they were using the old IBM cards for memory, ate up needed space and of course they could always change it later—right? Well, it so happens the "elite" had their own purposes for having such a bug, as Hatonn has told us.

Also I would caution anybody that has not readied some emergency equipment and supplies by now that it isn't just for y2k—how about all the storms and earthquakes? Be prepared.

CITRIC ACID COULD CLEAN TOXIC SLUDGE

From THE ORLANDO SENTINEL, 2/1/99: [quoting]

Citrus is already a familiar and well-advertised ingredient of household cleaners, but scientists have found it can remove more than just everyday grease and grime.

Federal researchers discovered that citric acid, the "One by-product from citrus peel already goes into soaps and detergents, but this new product is very interesting," he said.

The cleansing process was tested on contaminated soils from uranium processing plants in Ohio and Tennessee and was successful in taking out 99 percent of the uranium, according to the Brookhaven laboratory scientists. It can also remove large amounts of lead, zinc and copper.

Citric acid works because it can bind with the toxic metals and the new compounds can be drained away from the nontoxic soil or sludge, Francis said.

The patented process surprised one researcher—Bill Stinson who heads scientific research for processed products at the Florida Department of Citrus.

"It's totally different from any process in use," said Stinson, who studies potential uses for citrus by-products in foods, cleaners and fragrances.

He noted that citric acid can be synthetically produced at a price cheaper than squeezing it out of fruit. "It would be very cost-intensive to derive it from juice because of the large quantities of juice you would need," he said.

Francis isn't certain whether this cleaning process will catch on and be used by federal energy officials, but acknowledged it wouldn't be a bad thing for Florida. "With the citric acid and the sunshine used in the later steps, this does have a strong Florida connection," he said. [End quoting]

There are many other ways of accomplishing this if the "elite" would just let us use the technologies they have hidden, but this sounds like it would sure help in the interim.

IN LOVING MEMORY

From a CONTACT reader, 1/99: [quoting]

Not how did they die, but how did they live?
Not what did they gain, but what did they give?
These are the merits to measure the worth.
Not what was their station, but did they have heart?
And how did they play their God-given part?
Were they ever ready, with words of good cheer,
To bring a smile, to banish a tear?
Not what was their church, nor what was their creed,
But had they befriended those really in need?
Not what did the sketch in the newspaper say,
But how many were sorry when they passed away? Aho!

Excellent thoughts—very well put.

same type found in oranges and lemons, can clean up soil or sludge contaminated with radioactive materials, which could be a new solution to a top environmental problem.

Using a three-part process, researchers at Brookhaven National Laboratory, in Upton, NY, found that citric acid is effective in washing the toxic waste and removing the contaminants from the soil. Using sunshine and common bacteria, the toxins are then extracted from the citric acid into a concentrated form that is easier to store.

"We used citric acid like that found in oranges, because it's a naturally occurring compound that had the type of chemical products we were looking for. It's biodegradable, and it's environmentally benign to the soil," said A.J. Francis, a Brookhaven Microbiologist and one of the inventors of the cleaning process. "The soil that has been cleaned can then be put back into normal use.

Francis and co-inventor C.J. Dodge tested the cleaning process at the direction of the U.S. Department of Energy, one agency dealing with tons of the waste left from nuclear activities. The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency said about 214 million tons of hazardous materials was produced in 1994 and 1995 alone.

The potential for using citric acid to clean waste wasn't lost on one Volusia County citrus grower, Steve Crump of the family-owned Vo-LaSalle Farms in DeLeon Springs.

"It sounds great for us," Crump said. "We always wanted additional uses for the citrus by-products because it improves the value for our product."

FRIENDSHIP WEEK

From the INTERNET, 2/5/99: [quoting]
Hello Friends,

This is one of the best examples of obedience to Philippians 4:8 that I have seen in my short lifetime. I am thanking the author and all who have passed this along through their hands so I would have the opportunity of reading it.

Time = Money, Money = Time; the formula never changes.

God bless you real good.

I don't take the time often enough to tell my friends how important they are to me. Please take the time to read the following as an expression of the value I place on your being in my circle of friends.

TIME AND FRIENDS

Imagine there is a bank that credits your account each morning with $86,400. It carries over no balance from day to day. Every evening the bank deletes whatever part of the balance you failed to use during the day. What would you do? Draw out every cent, of course!!!! Each of us has such a bank. Its name is TIME. Every morning, it credits you with 86,400 seconds. Every night it writes off, as lost, whatever of this you have failed to invest to good purpose. It carries over no balance. It allows no overdraft. Each day it opens a new account for you. Each night it burns the remains of the day. If you fail to use the day's deposits, the loss is yours. There is no going back. There is no drawing against the "tomorrow". You must live in the present on today's deposits. Invest it so as to get from it the utmost in health, happiness, and success! The clock is running. Make the most of today. To realize the value of ONE YEAR, ask a student who failed a grade. To realize the value of ONE MONTH, ask a mother who gave birth to a premature baby. To realize the value of ONE WEEK, ask the editor of a weekly newspaper. To realize the value of ONE HOUR, ask the lovers who are waiting to meet. To realize the value of ONE MINUTE, ask a person who missed the train. To realize the value of ONE SECOND, ask a person who just avoided an accident. To realize the value of ONE MILLISECOND, ask the person who won a silver medal in the Olympics. Treasure every moment that you have! And treasure it more because you shared it with someone special, special enough to spend your time with. And remember that time waits for no one. Yesterday is history. Tomorrow is a mystery. Today is a gift. That's why it's called the present!!! It's National Friendship Week. Friends are a very rare jewel, indeed. They make you smile and encourage you to succeed. They lend an ear, they share a word of praise, and they always want to open their heart to us. Show your friends how much you care. Send this to everyone you consider a FRIEND. If it comes back to you, then you'll know you have a circle of friends. HAPPY FRIENDSHIP WEEK!!!!!!! [End quoting]

Sounds like very good advice!

CONFIRMATION: THE HARD EVIDENCE OF ALIENS AMONG US?

Hello Everyone,

Just got my new On-Sat book in which is for TV listings for (Satellites) and there was a pretty good article in it on the show coming up for next week! Please read on! Love & Light—Louise

ALIENS AMONG US?

NBC presents a special that purportedly proves that aliens are alive, well and living with us here on Earth. (by Polly Vonetes)

Are we alone in this vast universe? Are there other life forms "out there", outside the realms of animal, vegetable and mineral matter that we know on Earth? Have we been visited by other life forms? Are they here right now—behind a hill, hiding in a cave or hovering over your home?

Are you concerned? Even just a little curious about it?

If you are, tune in to NBC's Special, Confirmation: The Hard Evidence of Aliens Among Us? The two-hour special is based on Whitley Strieber's best seller Communion, which attempts to answer some eerie questions about alien life on Earth, that leaves the final—perhaps devastating—conclusion up to the viewer's own imagination.

Hosted by actor Robert Davi, the program explores evidence suggesting that Earth has been visited by UFOs and alien beings. Home videos of spacecraft, testimonials from people who say they're been abducted by aliens and eye-witness accounts from policemen who've witnessed alien craft will be presented, all balanced by the voices of scientists, therapists and even special effects experts who give viewers the "other side" of the picture.

Some of the highlights of the amazing two hours are:

THE TREMBLE COUNTY DISTURBANCE. A recreation of a 1993 incident in which four different police departments chased a large UFO through the Ohio countryside. Sgt. Toby Meloro, who stood directly under the UFO and got a close-up view, is interviewed and the audio recorded at the time of the incident is replayed.

KIDNAPPED BY ALIENS. Dr. John Mack of Harvard University states his views and Budd Hopkins, world-renowned abduction expert, conducts a therapy session with his abduction support group with dramatic and overwhelming evidence.

UFO EVIDENCE. Viewers will see a montage of the most dramatic recent footage of UFOs taken all over the world. A highlight of the sequence is the famous 1950 "Paul Trent Photo" of a UFO, which is examined by the Brooks Institute, the most prestigious photographic school in the country, and pronounced genuine.

THE JESSE LONG STORY. A dramatic, in-depth profile of a Los Angeles abduction and implant victim. He talks about his abduction experiences that took place over the years as he grew from small child to adult.

THE BLACK VAULT. A precocious Los Angeles teenager created a web site that gets almost 20,000 inquiries per month. Time and time again, he has requested information about UFOs and alien visitations of our government, using the Freedom of Information Act as his weaponry, yet the information arrives with pages of data blacked out, censored. At age 17, he is a thorn in the government's side.

WHITLEY STRIEBER. The author of Confirmation: The Hard Evidence Of Aliens Among Us? and Communion, which was one of the biggest best-sellers of the 80s, says, "I think it's important that the evidence be presented to the public so that science will realize that it's more or less essential that they pick this up and tell us what is going on. Right now, the scientific community is ignoring this and that's a big mistake."

What is Strieber's goal with the show? He says in earnest, "I want the average viewer to come away with an attitude of, "Hey, this is a big deal. It would be very valuable to our society if we set out answering these questions in an organized and scientific manner."

CHINA CROSSING

From ANGELS ON EARTH, Jan/Feb, 1999,

Guideposts, 39 Seminary Hill Rd., Carmel, NY 10512: [quoting]

After years of drifting from place to place, searching for some sense of purpose, I ended up on a deserted Maui beach one night in 1986, feeling more lost than ever. "God, who am I? How do I find my way?" I gazed up at the sky as if the answer were written in the stars. "How do I find you?"

I heard a voice, gentle yet firm, coming not from outside myself, but from inside. Go to church. Church? I had given that up years ago. But I'd tried everything else, so that Sunday I went and sat in the back pew of a small chapel. I could slip out if I didn't like it.

Amazingly, the sermon seemed to be directed at me. "Jesus wants you just as you are," the minister declared. "He'll set you on your feet again." The next thing I knew, I was walking up to the altar. "I give myself to you," I promised God. "Please lead me where you want me to go."

Not long after, an opening came up on the staff of Youth With a Mission (YWAM). It was the direction I'd been seeking for my life, I was sure! Though I was a little disappointed to be assigned to mundane janitorial duty, I threw myself into my job, and even more, into studying the Bible. I wanted a complete understanding of every aspect of my faith. That way doubts couldn't creep in and stall me as they had in the past.

The book that fascinated me most was Acts, the stories of Jesus' disciples crisscrossing the Mediterranean to spread his Word—maybe because I wanted to do missionary work myself. I couldn't get the images out of my mind. An angel opening the prison doors and escorting the apostles out to the temple in Jerusalem. Another angel in Antioch loosening the chains that bound Peter between two soldiers and leading him right past the guards undetected. An earthquake shaking a Macedonian jail to its foundations and freeing Paul and Silas from their shackles. It all seemed so wild—and at the same time, so real!

But the more I read, the more I questioned. Did the present day measure up to biblical times? Did these kinds of things happen anymore? Although Christians were still imprisoned for their beliefs—for instance, in China, where the government cracked down on pretty much any form of worship—I had yet to hear of angels coming to their aid. I felt the wonder of my new found faith starting to fade.

Then one day a supervisor took me aside. "We need someone to smuggle a thousand Bibles into China," he said. "It'll be dangerous, but people there have no other way of getting them. Think you're up to it?"

"Of course!" Now this was the kind of work I had imagined myself doing for God, a mission that would make my faith exciting again.

I was briefed down to the last detail. I would be teamed with a more experienced smuggler, another guy who worked for YWAM. We were to rendezvous in the British colony of Hong Kong, then travel by train to mainland China.

"There aren't any X-ray machines at the Shenzhen border crossing," my supervisor told me. "The inspectors won't find anything unless they hand-search, and they won't bother as long as you don't look suspicious." After we made it across the border, Chinese pastors would switch bags with us, taking the Bibles to distribute in their underground churches.

I flew to Hong Kong, suitcases laden with pocket-size Bibles. My anticipation mounting, I stepped into bustling Kowloon Tong railway station, our designated meeting spot. Though I'd never met my partner (I had only been given his description). I spotted him right away by the ticket window. It wasn't hard to pick out the tall, skinny American amid the Chinese people hurrying to catch their trains.

We'd been instructed to do everything we could to avoid drawing attention to ourselves. So instead of chatting, we just nodded hello, then went upstairs to the platform, lugging our precious cargo.

A silver train glided to a stop, and the doors slid open in front of us. We settled into our seats, our suitcases by our feet, where we could keep an eye on them. As we left the station, my partner opened a paperback. I looked out the window. The emerald hills and rice paddies we passed seemed a world away from the mirrored skyscrapers of Hong Kong.

Forty-five minutes later our train pulled into Lo Wu station, the entry point for Shenzhen. With the other passengers, we headed for the customs and immigration area. Remembering my supervisor's warning, I glanced at my partner, weighed down by his bags. If I look as jittery as he does, I worried, we'll be in hand-cuffs within minutes.

Soldiers with machine guns were posted around the perimeter. Stay calm, I told myself. My companion's face paled. I followed his gaze. Something more frightening stood at the far end of the room—a battery of X-ray inspection units!

"We're finished," my partner whispered. "Well have to turn back."

I was too tense even to nod. Then I thought of the Chinese pastors and their congregations. They risked their lives every day to do what we took for granted. We want to help these people, God, I prayed, but you've got to tell us how.

I looked around the room frantically. Did we have any other options? To the right of the X-ray machines was the exit corridor from mainland China. A phalanx of armed guards kept close watch over those coming through it, Chinese citizens who wanted to visit Hong Kong.

Go through that corridor. Walk backward.

I recognized that voice! The same interior voice had urged me to go to church that lonely night months earlier—exactly the advice I'd needed then. But what was this now? Enter through the exit corridor? Walk backward? The only Americans in a roomful of Chinese people, we already stood out. Why risk drawing any more attention to ourselves? It didn't make sense.

But I whispered the instructions to my partner anyway. "We'll be shot!" he said. "Trust me, we've got to do it this way," I insisted, trying to quell my doubts as well as his. There was no time to argue.

The crowd pushed us up to the customs declaration table. I shakily filled out the form. At the window, the immigration officer checked my passport and visa, then waved me toward the X-ray machines—and definite disaster.

I took a deep breath and made for the exit corridor. God, it's tough to follow you when I don't understand your plan, but I don't have a choice here. I turned around to face the room. With a single hesitant step, I moved backward into the hallway. I took another step, then another.

Mutters of protest went up as I walked into the people who were going in the right direction, heading out. I could only pray the guards couldn't hear the commotion. My heavy suitcases bumped an elderly lady in the knees. "Sorry," I whispered, stumbling. She clucked at me disapprovingly.

I fought through the crowd. It was hard, like trying to do the backstroke upstream. Sweat dripped down my neck. I kept checking over my shoulder so I wouldn't crash into anyone, but it didn't help much. I was going the wrong way, after all.

As I neared the mouth of the corridor, a guard strode forward, gun at the ready, combat boots thudding on the floor. He said something in rapid-fire Chinese, then paused ten feet from me and scanned the crowd. I didn't dare peer over my shoulder, but I could feel his eyes raking over me.

Still walking backward, I inched closer to the end of the hall. The guard didn't stop me. When I pulled even with him, he looked right at me. But he didn't react at all. Not a flicker of expression crossed his face. I might as well have been cloaked in some magical veil. His gaze bored not into me but through me. How was this possible? Then I saw my partner. He'd followed my instructions. Awkwardly, he backed toward me, worriedly glancing at the soldiers. But they looked past him too. Although everyone else could see us, to all the guards we were invisible!

Moments later I emerged from the corridor. I'd made it! I was safely across the border in Shenzhen, China. I turned and faced forward again. There was a wooden bench in front of me. I collapsed onto it to wait for my partner, feeling as if I'd just stepped from the pages of one of the Bibles I was smuggling.

Maybe I didn't see the angel who draped us in her wondrous veil. Maybe I didn't fully understand the power that had rendered us invisible. But there was no question that my partner and I had been shielded from the guards and led right past them. Kind of like the apostles I'd read so much about in Acts. And like them, I had been set free. Free from the doubts that had always plagued me. Free to follow God's direction. Free, at last, to truly believe.

Editor's note: To fulfill the legal requirements, we are presenting the following as a Legal Notice for four consecutive weeks. This is the fourth and final presentation. Contact information for Global Alliance Investment Association (GAIA) is: 5300 W. Sahara Ave., Suite 101, Las Vegas, Nevada 89102; phone: 702-873-3488.

—LEGAL NOTICE— CERTIFICATE OF DEBT

The CONSTITUTION of the UNITED STATES OF AMERICA and the UNIFORM COMMERCIAL CODE (international) provide a procedure for the legal authentication of a debt in the case of the Debtor refusing to acknowledge such debt. This procedure includes the notification of the Debtor of the details of the debt and a notice of intent to collect. After a period of ninety (90) days from the date of the notice and if there has been no response from the Debtor the debt is made authentic and collection procedures may begin. There is no appeal from this procedure; it is final.

On April 28, 1998 the then owner, Rick Martin, of a debt (described in detail later) of the UNITED STATES TREASURY/FEDERAL RESERVE SYSTEM (UST/FED) assigned the debt to GLOBAL ALLIANCE INVESTMENT ASSOCIATION (GAIA), a Nevada corporation. GAIA immediately initiated the procedure by informing UST/FED of the nature of the debt and of GAIA'S intent to collect. GAIA then took the additional step of running the legal notice in a weekly newspaper of world-wide circulation four consecutive weeks beginning May 5, 1998. UST/FED has made absolutely no response and the statute of limitation for countering the legal notice has run its course. Now, this document and its publication in the same newspaper four consecutive weeks serve as adequate and final verification of the UST/FED debt to GAIA. Nothing further is legally required; no denial or appeal is possible.

The debt referred to is described as follows: The principal and interest accrued to Bonus Contract-Certificate Number 3392-181, approved by Legislative Resolution on April 24-27, 1875, Duly Authorized by the President of Peru, April 26, 1875 and Acknowledged and Accepted May 1, 1875, Re-affirmed, Re-confirmed and Reconformed on behalf of the government by the Consulate General of Peru, August 21, 1989, Order Number 7309, Document Number 046, Duly Sealed by said Counsel General of Peru at Los Angeles, California, United States of America, assumed and guaranteed by the United States of America pursuant to Presidential Order confirmed by the US Senate per petition of Elihu Root, Secretary of War, in 1906, further assumed and guaranteed by the Federal Reserve System pursuant to the Federal Reserve Act of 1913 and recorded August 1, 1994, by Deed, Instrument Number 1893, Book of Deeds Number 433, Page 849, City of Nashville, State of Illinois and subsequently recorded August 10, 1998 at 8:35 A.M., Clark County Recorder's Office, Las Vegas, Nevada, Official Records 980810 Instrument 00323.

The principal and interest are payable in gold coin or gold bullion and portions thereof may be assigned, sold, loaned or leased to others as collateral, but only as collateral, and no claim will be entered by any holder directly to the UST/FED without the express written consent of GAIA. Further, no holder, including GAIA, will in any way use the asset to the detriment of the national security or economic stability of the United States of America. The assignor of the debt to Mr. Martin, Russell Herman (also spelled Herrman and Herrmann), a very patriotic American, requested of Mr. Martin that Herman's business partner, V. K. Durham, be given a certain amount of time to implement his wishes and, if unsuccessful, to use the asset to the benefit of all people, reserving forty-eight percent (48%) of its value for the express benefit of the citizens of the fifty States of the United States of America. When appropriate, the granting of such an asset to the citizens of America (we-the-people) will result in an era of enormous prosperity which will, when also distributed to other nations, buoy up and expand all of the world's economies for all of its people, not just the rich as is now the condition.

Mr. Martin and his associates have worked for years, first in an attempt to assist V. K. Durham and later as the direct assignee, to find a way to work with the UST/FED within the United States to effect the use of this asset for the benefit of the American people FIRST. That effort was given no aid by the UST and was steadfastly blocked by the FED, even though at least four different "offers" have been made to Mr. Martin and GAIA ranging from $5 million to many billions "to go quietly away". The FED has been on notice for some five years that the debt would be perfected through public notice and they have arrogantly ignored that warning. It is authenticated and validated and will be used as collateral in as many ways and situations as possible for the benefit all of the people without any mindfulness of race, religion, creed or color.

Overholt, from Internet sources. Part Two (next week, hopefully) will be a discussion presented by our own Sherlock Holmes writer, Ray Bilger, and will pick-up where this week's information leaves off.

Keep an eye on the sky, for sure. Those curious, cross-hatched contrail grid patterns, appearing over so many locations now, seem to be connected with the latest attempt to bring we-the-people under New World Order control.

PART 1

Last night Art Bell, on his talk show that broadcasts on over 300 radio stations [20 million listeners] said that everybody he knows is sick and he didn't know what was making them sick. I'll now put down some information that is so bad that if you are not sick already you may be sick after reading this. Incidentally, I'm not sick myself, although some may question that statement. I know that in the past I have said that the contrails are made by jets that have a substance in their fuel that is making us sick. That may be still partially true. I then said that the government is spraying us with some substance that will immunize us against any attack that may come from terrorists who may try to kill us with Anthrax. That may be true. I don't know what is really happening but that hasn't stopped me from saying what may have been happening in the past. Here's the latest dope on the subject and I do claim to be the world's expert on putting out dope.

Subject: U.S. Military Conducting TOXIC Biological-Chemical Warfare Against Civilians

U.S. feds well on their way to reducing population to further New World Order goals!

Dear Citizens, Patriots, and Veterans: For the past 3 weeks I have been receiving first-hand reports of U.S. Military jets spraying toxic substances over populated urban areas testing the effectiveness of their biological and chemical warfare protective suits and monitoring equipment. The substances are SUPPOSEDLY "harmless" simulants which have extremely toxic effects of their own. To date, literally thousands of civilians have been made very sick, mostly with respiratory illnesses and distress and even scores of deaths.

The military has deceived the public and other authorities by saying that what they are spraying are harmless simulants while in actuality they are really conducting chemical and biological warfare with weapons of mass destruction under the guise of merely a "test". Yes, a test, to see how many people will be made ill, contract respiratory diseases, and how many die. So, do you call that a "test" or actual warfare?

We do not have to wait any longer for Clinton to antagonize the Middle Eastern countries to the point of them lashing out with international terrorists against U.S. cities and U.S. citizens, as Clinton is doing what he is told to do by the Insiders, the Elites, the bosses of the Illuminati and New World Order. As I posted to you all numerous times in the past, if Clinton can't get the Islamics to attack the U.S. then Clinton will just go ahead himself and do it. That is exactly what he is doing now.

Citizens, Patriots, and Veterans, no need to wait for these NBC—Nuclear, Biological, and Chemical warfare attacks against us because they have been going on for quite some time now. Why? Because the New World Order's Elites plan is to reduce the population of the world by 25% by the year 2000 (y2k is truly an appropriate crisis), 50% by 2025, 75% shortly after that, and by 85% to 95% as a final goal to leave only 200 million people alive world wide. Of course these surviving people will only be comprised of the Elites and their prison-labor slaves incarcerated in Clinton's Civilian Concentration Camps here in the U.S. and in other concentration camps around the world.

Why? Because the Elites want to "save" the world's natural resources for themselves. They don't want other people using them as they think our sources are running out when in actuality all we have to do is use our technology to use them more efficiently and produce replaceable natural resources. Like, why use up our finite petroleum resources when we can use bacteria and yeasts to grow on discarded organic matter to produce alcohol for fuels?

England has had 6,000 deaths in the past two weeks from respiratory failure caused by this Military spraying currently.

Please read the following post forwarded by <jham@iahf.com> (John Hammell) and by William Thomas regarding the information from Leonard Cole's Clouds of Secrecy: The Army's Germ-Warfare Tests Over Populated Areas, by Leonard A. Cole <<http://amazon.com>> and from numerous personal reports nationwide about the crisscross spraying by our U.S. Military.

Please take care and prepare. The NBC attacks against U.S. Citizens are occurring NOW.

DRAW YOUR OWN CONCLUSIONS: BLOWN PROVEN BEYOND ANY SHADOW OF DOUBT <jham@iahf.com> (John Hammell)

IAHF LIST: I have hesitated, until now, to forward this information about contrails, because it seemed just too bizarre and outrageous. But look at the information below from Christine Smith, Will Thomas, and Ian Goddard.

Listen to the audio file of Will Thomas discussing this on the Art Bell Show, and read what Will has to say below. Read the testimony below of Dr. Cole from Rutgers University re Military Experiments involving spraying of toxic substances on civilian populations.

Draw your own conclusions. This is Genocide, and WE, the people of the world, are clearly being targeted. You think I've lost it? Don't take my word for it, read this:

To: John Hammell From: William Thomas
Subject: TAKE COVER IMMEDIATELY

John, A retired friend in Santa Fe—one who reads your information that I print out, but doesn't have a computer—just called me to say that planes have been making contrails in the sky there since 7am this morning. Her comment, "People need to know about this!" She's staying inside. —Christine Smith

John, yes, absolutely!

Tell everyone to STAY INDOORS when contrails are being woven overhead.

I've got a BBC photo of a freezer—semi-filled with dead bodies in England—all from sudden respiratory ailments. We're talking (according to the BBC) 6,000 deaths from respiratory failure in two weeks.

People are VERY SICK here. And spraying continues after heavy spraying last Friday over Asheville, Knoxville, Dallas and other US centers. I have this morning received reports of "many deaths" from a "cough that never leaves" in Louisiana.

This is big. This is real. I have positively verified that Emergency Rooms are overflowing with acute respiratory cases from coast to coast.

Doctors are telling the New York Times that this is NOT the flu. People are dying they say far more quickly and at rates far beyond "flu".

The only lab test I have shows JP8 present in soil samples after spraying. The ethylene dibromide in JP8 is banned by the EPA as a known carcinogen and an extremely toxic substance that attacks the respiratory system at very low doses of exposure.

There may be a viral component to the spraying, as well. I am tracking this and will get back to...

STOP PRESSES! I have just this minute received a call that confirms my worst fears. According to a source within the Canadian Intelligence Service, heavy spraying taking place over Victoria, BC (near me) and other population centers throughout North America are classified "tests". I now know what the "tests" are aimed at achieving. And it is not pretty.

This is a MAXIMUM RED ALERT for everyone on your list, John. TAKE COVER! Stay indoors during spraying. This is NOT "woo-woo". This is NOT a drill.

Good luck to all of us, William Thomas

With respect to the question of the nature of widespread reports of jets (many identified as U.S. Air Force) that are spraying something that dozens of people around the nation claim makes them and their communities sick, the following testimony of Professor Leonard A. Cole is most relevant and alarming. In the following testimony before the U.S. Senate, Dr. Cole covers facts regarding the U.S. military's spraying of HUNDREDS of populated areas in the U.S. with harmful chemicals and infectious pathogens as part of biological warfare experiments. Dr. Cole has a book on the topic that has received much praise: Clouds Of Secrecy: The Army's Germ-Warfare Tests Over Populated Areas, by Leonard A. Cole <<http://amazon.com>> Environmental News Service reports on U.S. Air Force jets seen spraying something that makes people sick: <<http://ens.lycos.com/ens/jan99/1999L-01-12-01.html>>

BEGIN DR. COLE'S TESTIMONY

<<http://personalpages.tds.net/~kknowlto/openair.htm>> United States Senate Testimony before the Committee on Veterans' Affairs, May 6, 1994, Open Air Testing With Simulated Biological And Chemical Warfare Agents by Leonard A. Cole, Ph.D.

[Quoting:] My name is Leonard A. Cole, and I teach science and public policy at Rutgers University in Newark. My research interests include biological and chemical warfare policies, and I have written in particular about testing done in the U.S. Army's biological defense program. I appreciate your invitation, Senator Rockefeller, to testify about experiments involving simulated biological and chemical warfare agents. These agents, which the Army calls simulants, are intended to mimic more lethal bacteria and chemicals that might be used in actual warfare. As described in my book, Clouds of Secrecy, the Army began a program in 1949 to assess the nation's vulnerability to attack with biological weapons. During the next 20 years, the Army released simulant agents over hundreds of populated areas around the country. Targets included portions of Hawaii and Alaska, San Francisco, St. Louis, Minneapolis, New York City, Washington, D.C., Key West, and many other cities. The purpose was to see how the bacteria spread and survived as people went about their normal activities. Evidence suggested that the tests may have been causing illness to exposed citizens. Nevertheless, as Army spokesmen subsequently testified, the health of the millions of people exposed was never monitored because the Army assumed that the bacteria and chemicals were harmless. Vulnerability testing continues at Dugway Proving Ground, 70 miles from Salt Lake City. Several smaller communities are closer to the base, and Dugway itself is home to hundreds of civilians and military personnel and their families. The stated purpose of the tests is to evaluate biological detector systems and protective gear. Since tests involve spraying simulants outdoors, it is important to understand how much risk they pose to humans who are exposed. Official statements have not always been clear on this matter. A July 1993 news release by the Dugway Public Affairs Office indicates that "no specific safety controls or protection are required for testing with simulants". The statement implies, erroneously, that the simulants are harmless. In fact, during 45 years of open air testing, from time to time the Army has stopped using certain simulants for reasons of safety. In each instance the Army belatedly recognized they could be causing disease and death, although such information had long been available in the medical literature. This was the case in the 1950s when it ceased using the fungus Aspergillus fumigatus as a simulant. The fungus had long been known to cause aspergillosis, a disease that can be fatal. Similarly, in the 1960s the Army stopped using zinc cadmium sulfide, a chemical that had been known for years to cause cancer. In the 1970s, the bacterium Serratia Marcescens, a source of infections that can lead to death, was taken out of service as a simulant. And in the 1980s, dimethyl methylphosphonate, a chemical known as DPP, was removed from use as a simulant because of its carcinogenic and other toxic potential. I understand that one of today's witnesses, Earl Davenport, was exposed to DMMP at Dugway in 1984 and may still be suffering health problems as a result. Indeed, simulants now used at Dugway continue to pose risks. The chemical ethylene oxide, which is present in some of the mixtures used in outdoor spraying, is a known carcinogen. The bacterium Bacillus Subtilis, while not generally seen as dangerous, is cited in medical textbooks as able to cause serious infections. In truth any microorganism that seems harmless under some circumstances may cause illness under others. Exposure to high concentrations of any microorganism can be critically dangerous to people in weakened conditions. The elderly, the very young, people with AIDS and others who have weakened immune systems are more susceptible to life-threatening infections. Nevertheless, the Army has not monitored the health of citizens who may have been exposed during its tests while maintaining that its bacterial agents cause no harm. In addition to people who are unwittingly exposed to the Army's bacteria and chemicals, human research subjects may not be receiving appropriate information. A test at Dugway in November 1993, for example, raises important questions in this regard. The test was intended to assess the ability of chemical agents to penetrate protective clothing. Test subjects wore special outer garments and were then sprayed with chemicals in simulated battle conditions. An Army Environmental Assessment before the test indicated that some of the chemicals could be toxic. Yet the consent form that the subjects signed in advance of the test said nothing about any of the chemicals. Subsequently, two of the test subjects said they were asked to sign another consent form sometime after the test had been completed. The second form described the chemicals.

But having the subjects sign a consent form after an experiment, rather than before, makes little ethical sense.

The procedure renders meaningless the notion of informed consent. Finally, several physicians at the University of Utah Medical School in Salt Lake City continue to express concern about the tests at Dugway. They do not feel they have information that would enable them optimally to handle infections and complications that might be caused by the tests. Dugway officials have thus far not satisfied their concerns either about field tests involving simulants or indoor tests with highly pathogenic agents. These are a few of the disconcerting issues associated with testing at Dugway. If such tests must continue, several policy suggestions seem appropriate:

—Inform people in the area before each test that they may be exposed to the Army's biological and chemical agents.

—For a substantial period after each test, monitor the health of the exposed population.

—Provide comprehensive information in understandable language to human subjects before they participate in any test.

—Fully inform the neighboring medical community about the nature of each test and its possible medical complications.

—Above all, strive for safety, candor, and openness. <<http://personalpages.tds.net/~kknowlto>> [END OF DR. COLE'S TESTIMONY]

This is interesting, John, and concerns me quite a bit. I haven't noticed any "spraying" here in Montgomery, AL. But that's not to say it's not happening.

I spend all day inside anyhow because it's so hot so I'm sure I'm not as bothered as others working outdoors.

What I found interesting after reading this, is a certain advertisement that's been playing on local TV these past few weeks. It's a call for studying certain "flu" conditions. People aged 12 and up are asked to join within 36 hours of the onset of symptoms—these are mainly respiration symptoms. I'll have to see the ad again to clarify that, but it just struck me as a coincidence. As far as I know, this study could be statewide, not sure on that yet. Blessings, Aerin [End quoting]

This is the best writing I've come across on this subject so far. It looks like things are getting very serious. TAKE HEED!!

A History Lesson About Value-Based National Banking

2/12/99 E.J. EKKER

In the United States of America a legislative coup was accomplished in the night and early morning hours of December 23 and 24, 1913. It was called the Federal Reserve Act. It gave all but the expensive operations (coining, minting, and printing currency with accounting therefor) of the central banking functions of the Department of the Treasury to the Federal Reserve System (FED), a corporation owned, at the time, by European banks, and later also by subsidiaries of those European banks set up in the US, and referred to herein as the Cartel. This is the most perfect banking system in the world, for the Cartel. The US Dept. of Treasury coins or prints the money, the FED pays for it at cost (approximately five cents for a 25-cent coin, two-and-one-half cents for a $100 bill) and distributes it to the commercial banks as loans at face value. US Treasury Notes, Bills, and Bonds are sold at slight premiums or discounts depending upon their coupon rate, current interest rates, and the term of the debt—but the interest is paid to the FED. The FED collects interest each year on the US national debt because it furnished the money (by having it printed at cost at the US Treasury), in the early years retaining most of the debt and later selling it to other countries and to banks, insurance companies, pension funds and so on. Since 1933 virtually all “income taxes” have gone to the FED to pay the interest on the national debt; the expense of wars and running the nation is issued as new debt and added to the old debt each year. This is why the US is the world’s largest debtor with some $6 trillion in “visible” debt and at least $20 trillion in hidden, “off-balance sheet” debt.

Is this taught in Economics 101 or Advanced Banking 211? No. It is one of the best-kept secrets in the world. During its many years of virtually complete dominance of the world’s banking systems, the Cartel has managed to establish laws, rules, and regulations, as well as “practices”, “principles”, and “truths” that are designed to assure its maintaining its dominance. It accomplishes this through its financial support of all of the major schools of economics and banking, whether public or private, and through its absolute control of economics and banking textbooks. (Banking is not the only interest of the owners of the Cartel; through their ownership and interlocking directorships they control all forms of “Western” media, public as well as most private education, and virtually all industry and commerce. These facts are well documented in

Dr. John Coleman’s book CONSPIRATORS’ HIERARCHY: THE STORY OF THE COMMITTEE OF 300.)

The Cartel, using the FED, has established an elaborate network of cheque-clearing and wire-transfer systems to facilitate (or control) the international flows of funds, making it difficult, if not impossible, to move significant amounts of funds without the Cartel’s knowledge, and perhaps its permission. To further its control it set up the Bank of International Settlements, the World Bank, and the International Monetary Fund. In recent decades the World Bank and the IMF have functioned effectively as conduits of the taxes collected from the companies and peoples of the “developing nations” back to the Cartel banks to serve much the same function as the FED serves in the US (the interest accumulated on Cartel bank loans is paid for with IMF/WB loans which transfers the debt to the taxpayers, thus siphoning away the liquidity [tax money] and causing the nation to have to borrow more for its current expenses). The result is an endless downward spiral. It is aptly said: YOU CANNOT BORROW YOUR WAY OUT OF DEBT.

As soon as they had control of the US through the FED, the Cartel began its subtle campaign to discredit gold as the basis for banking, especially international banking, all the while garnering as much of the world’s gold as it could to protect its position should some of the world’s leaders wake up to the fact that the Cartel’s entire money system is as baseless as Monopoly money. We have been told that at the break-out of World War II a lot of that gold was moved to London and then to Singapore where it was captured by the Japanese and scattered in caches throughout Southeast Asia, terminating with Yamishita in the Philippines. With the exception of Switzerland (which continues to use the gold standard), all of the world’s currencies have been purposefully “freed” of any foundation, using the rationale that “international” currencies are necessary for international transactions. This is a fallacy that has been repeated so many times that it is believed. Gold reserves can, and did, serve the same function while at the same time providing a huge gain in stability and credibility. (But the Cartel doesn’t like it because it is much more difficult to manipulate.) By 1972 all of the gold stored in Fort Knox had been removed and Nixon, one of a long line of Presidential Puppets, “closed the gold window” to foreign claimants. In 1933 Roosevelt had, by Executive Order, abrogated the US government’s commitment to its own citizens to redeem its currency for gold, thus ruining the real value of the US dollar by changing it from an asset (gold)-based currency to a debt-based currency.

The purpose of this foundational information is to demonstrate that there is a Cartel dominating most of the financial affairs of the world, and working to dominate the rest. The two primary ingredients necessary to this domination are baseless, manipulatable currency, and usury, i.e., interest rate spreads so that currencies as well as other debt securities can be traded for a profit to the traders.

Additionally, it is useful to create the illusion of complexity so the “ordinary” people cannot fathom “finance”, which is done with a myriad of financial “instruments” and a lot of technical language in the same turf-protection technique as is used by the professions of law and medicine. Finally, and of utmost importance, is to indelibly imprint the unquestioning “knowledge” that only a very few currencies (of the elite club) could be acceptable for international trade, that funds issued by a non-club nation would not be honored, and that if non-club nations issued currency exceeding amounts recommended by the club (IMF, etc.) the result would be the dilution of the value of their currency, called “inflation”.

This is not a lie as long as the currency referred to is of the “base-less” variety. But in a nation with an asset-based currency (gold standard, like Switzerland and, formerly, the US) wherein the issuance of new currency REQUIRES the purchase of additional gold, the nation’s wealth is being added to as the amount of currency is increased, thus helping to balance the assets of the nation with its liabilities (non-precious metal coins and paper currency are a liability), it is a lie, and is used to discourage any independent thinking on the part of government people and central bank people. A complement of the inflation bogey is that “foreign investment” is required to “stoke the engine of growth” in an “emerging” economy. This is a lie, in any economy or system. “Foreign investment” is a euphemism used to hide the fact that foreigners are being allowed to invade a sovereign nation, acquire property in that nation, and (through dividends and bond interest) siphon away the wealth of that nation. “Foreign investment” is also a new term for “colonization” and the new form of colonization is much “cleaner” and more profitable than the old one, which required a military presence and some interest in the health and welfare of the colonized. (The Cartel has, at any given time, virtually complete control of the “value” of every currency, except the Swiss franc, and lately the Malaysian ringgit, so that it can “make an example” of any nation that might “get out of line” in the matter of issuing its own currency.)

“But our currency is not acceptable as foreign exchange and we have to buy supplies from other countries,” will come the comment. Does Switzerland have such a problem? Of course not. Switzerland has less than eight million people. But it has US$25B in gold reserves, roughly 10 ounces per person—the Swiss franc is as good as gold anywhere in the world. Another instance of quality being far more important than quantity. Does Switzerland need foreign money? No. How can a little country in the mountains where only 10% of their land is arable achieve such independence? There may be many answers to that question but one of them must surely be that their currency is gold-based and they never violate their reserve commitment. And they only issue new currency to match the increase in the VALUE of the nation (not PRODUCTIVITY as the Cartel is wont to preach).

Can “emerging” or “third world” nations hope to achieve such control over their own affairs? Of course, and contrary to the usual cliché, no great “sacrifice” is necessary. Only understanding of the principles and a commitment to “stay the course”, once begun, because the Cartel and all of its minions will do their best to dissuade everyone who might have some influence, and their money buys a lot of influence.

Is it worth it? It is to the people, including the local banks and companies. To the people it means freedom from want; zero unemployment; high-quality education and healthcare; fast, inexpensive, pollution-free transportation; spacious and modern roads, freeways and tollways; plentiful recreation, sports, and quality entertainment facilities; and reliable, inexpensive utilities.

How about the high-level politicians and bureaucrats, the so-called “movers and shakers”? It depends upon whether the current administration is new, young and aggressive, or mature and just trying to get all it can before it retires. The latter will opt for the “status quo”; the really dedicated new leadership will see the opportunity, not only to do some good but to also perpetuate itself for having done so. Their relationships with the Cartel’s representatives will not have become quite so entrenched (to put it delicately) that they might not be able to see another point of view.

Is it difficult—does it require great knowledge and skill, i.e., expensive consultants?

Yes and No. It is difficult because it will be opposed by the Cartel and its minions who already have strong connections within the nation (even new administrations have “hold-overs” who will show favoritism to the Cartel—remember, the Cartel contains the IMF and the World Bank and all of the so-called regional Development Banks—a formidable bureaucracy in itself). It is not difficult because it is based upon common sense, not erudite financial gobbledy-gook. It requires some self-discipline, which is not uncommon to successful ventures of all types, even sports, but most of all it requires the desire to do something really worthwhile for the long-term benefit of the nation. That does not mean that there are not immediate, major benefits or that the vision of accomplishment cannot be shared from Day One.

A very modest (in cost) PR campaign based upon returning to asset-based money and keeping the earned wealth at home can have the support of the people in weeks, if not days. And in Southeast Asia there are still a few news sources that are not completely under the control of the Cartel which, if given some advance information, could be most helpful in marshalling support. (People-support will become necessary to overcome Cartel propaganda and they have a big checkbook to maintain their control of their colonies.)

And the details? First: Investigate. Global Alliance Investment Association offers the collateral which can empower the nation to purchase very large amounts of gold with no need for any “foreign exchange”. Do a small transaction and find out if it works. Second: Keep it private; make sure it is not compromised and/or discredited by any outside influence. Third: Evaluate as many of the problems and benefits as possible so that a decision to move ahead is an informed decision with little or no chance of failure. Fourth: Pray. God helps those who help themselves.

Spying On Iraq: A Commentary

2/3/99 NORA BOYLES

For the sake of an alternative view, the following News Analysis article by Ahmed Rufai, International Editor for The Final Call newspaper, 1/19/99 issue, is being shared. It is titled, “US spying taints UN mission in Iraq”. My comments will follow: [quoting]

US SPYING TAINTS UN MISSION IN IRAQ

by Ahmed-Rufai
International Editor

In 1991, following the Gulf War, the United States and Britain succeeded in influencing the UN Security Council to establish an Inspection team (to destroy Iraq’s weapons of mass destruction), UNSCOM. Despite UNSCOM’s confidential report confirming that Iraq has had no weapons of mass destruction since 1991, the world is still made to believe the contrary. The reason: Public acknowledgment will defeat US and British aims to destroy Iraq and pave the way for Israel to become the region’s dominant power.

NEWS ANALYSIS

“The US objective in the Persian/Arab Gulf,” said Brian Becker of New York-based International Action Center (IAC), “is to prevent the emergence of any regional power that dilutes US plans for regional domination.”

UNSCOM has been an active instrument of this US “plot” against Iraq since February 1996. An electronic surveillance team to be operated by the international UN inspectors was put in place in that month to “track Iraq’s concealment mechanism”, which is believed to have been used to evade the inspectors. The United States government supplied UNSCOM with eavesdropping equipment, including commercial scanners and U2 spy photographs to monitor the activities of the elite intelligence apparatus allegedly responsible for hiding Iraqi weapons. The equipment not only allowed UN inspectors to monitor conversations on cell phones, radio and walkie-talkie communications by members of Iraq’s security, but observers say it also was used to track and monitor conversations on the security of Iraqi President Saddam Hussein as part of US plot for his assassination.

“We knew a hell of a lot of information about presidential security,” said Scott Ritter, a former UN weapons inspector. The Iraqi government accused Mr. Ritter of being an American spy on the UNSCOM team.

Mr. Ritter told the Boston Globe that the surveillance equipment was monitored by the UN with the support of British and Israeli intelligence, until March 1998, when the US pressured both countries from supporting it and finally took it over in April.

“The US decided this system is too sensitive to be run by UNSCOM,” Mr. Ritter told the paper. “They bullied their way in and took it over. Now any data collected by the activity is not being assessed by UNSCOM. Now, the US gained 100-percent access and is not feeding any of it back.”

Mr. Ritter said the US takeover was with the approval of UN chief weapons inspector Richard Butler.

Before the US takeover, UNSCOM had in February insisted on Iraq granting access to Iraqi Presidential homes and other sensitive sites. On Feb. 22, UN Secretary General Kofi Annan secured a dangerous and humiliating concession that Iraqis thought would lead to an end to seven years of sanctions. They yielded to the UNSCOM demand. In return, what Iraq got was more negative reports by the UN chief weapons inspector alleging Iraqi continued noncompliance and “hiding” of weapons.

“Now we know that this was all a US spy operation, precursor to a new war. An attempt to collect information so that the US and Britain could try to assassinate Iraq’s political and military leaders with aerial bombardment—after the country had been effectively disarmed,” said Mr. Becker.

Mr. Becker, who returned from Iraq three days before the Dec. 16-19 bombing, wonders why after 9,000 inspections UNSCOM says it “still has reason to believe that Iraq is hiding its weapons of mass destruction.”

He quoted Iraqi officials who expressed concern about President Bill Clinton’s Dec. 13-14 visit to Israel and Gaza. Saleh Al-Mukhtar, chairman of the Iraqi solidarity and Friendship Organization, had told an IAC delegation, Dec. 9, that “We will be bombed and we think it will be in the next week.”

“President Clinton is going to Gaza in a few days to meet with the Palestinian leadership. This trip is meant to appear to offer concessions to the Arab people. When he returns to Washington, D.C. from Gaza we believe that they will begin bombing Iraq,” Mr. Mukhtar said.

In the wake of the current report, analysts wonder what action UN Secretary General Annan could take. A comparison could be made from the 1960s when UN Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld opposed US plans in the Congo to remove Prime Minister Patrice Lumumba. Mr. Lumumba was assassinated in a CIA operation under the guise of a UN monitoring mission.

Mr. Hammarskjöld was also killed in a plane crash in the same year. The recent South African Truth Commission reportedly found evidence that implicated South Africa and the United States in Mr. Hammerskjold's death. When former UN Secretary General Boutros Ghali fell out of favor with the United States, Washington ensured his exit after a term in office.

The Washington Post newspaper on Jan. 6, said Secretary General Kofi Annan had evidence that UNSCOM members had helped Washington listen to some of the Baghdad government's most sensitive communications. Mr. Annan is reported to have received classified US intelligence, passed to him through intermediaries, about the eavesdropping activities, the Post said.

Mr. Annan was reportedly convinced that Washington used the operation to penetrate the security apparatus protecting Saddam. But Mr. Annan later denied knowledge of the US-UNSCOM spying cooperation. With the fate of Dag Hammerskjold and that of his predecessor Boutros Ghali as a reminder, it is unlikely that Mr. Annan will pursue and publicize the truth of the tripartite Israeli-British-US spying operation.

While Mr. Butler angrily denied the charges in New York, he did not give guarantees that none of the UNSCOM officials is likely to have carried out the spying operation. Nor did he respond to the French accusation of his bypassing the UN Security Council by first informing Washington about his report on Iraq's noncooperation with the inspectors. Mr. Butler has yet to explain his withdrawal of UNSCOM inspectors from Iraq a few hours before the Dec. 16-19 bombing without consulting the secretary general.

French Minister of Foreign Affairs Hubert Vedrine condemned the attack, saying UNSCOM has become ineffective and unnecessary following the bombing and questioned the US-British aim.

"For months we have been telling them that a strike would not solve the problem as we saw it. Their [US, Britain] objectives have varied. You don't monitor hidden stocks of chemical weapons better by bombing them, while at the same time saying that you're not bombing them because it would be too dangerous. Are they seeking the fall of Saddam Hussein?" he said.

It is widely speculated that the data collected from the eavesdropping devices were possibly used to track Mr. Hussein in an attempt to kill him.

Also, reports obtained by The Final Call show that the missile attacks were planned to coincide with a coup plot within Mr. Hussein's inner circle. But the US plot was threatened by redeployment of key members of the US coup conspiracy. The leaders of the plot were executed hours before the US bombardment. (More on this in the next issue). Meanwhile, UNSCOM continues to receive a large chunk of the blame.

Russian UN envoy Sergei Lavrov pulled no punches, telling reporters on Jan. 6, "We have been saying that UNSCOM must be reformed and the report by UNSCOM, which was the trigger for the air strikes in December, was a provocation."

It was "a report with bad intentions and inaccurate and half-truths and sometimes not the truth. So we said that after that report we cannot trust the chairman of UNSCOM, ambassador Butler," he added.

Iraqi government officials say information gathered by the inspectors helped US and British jets score direct hits during the Dec. 16-19 air strikes. They cite the sprawling General Security Directorate: Amid the maze of buildings, just two key structures were destroyed—the only two visited by the inspectors. Hundreds of Mr. Hussein's elite guard were reportedly killed in their sleep during that attack.

Iraq's UN ambassador, Nizar Hamdoon, said the reports in the Boston Globe and the Washington Post supported his country's claims and put into question the whole history of UN weapons inspections and Iraq's cooperation with them.

"If this has been established now as a fact, that the whole issue of Iraq's compliance would have to be dealt with differently," Mr. Hamdoon said, calling the reports the "nail in the coffin" for the UN inspections program. [End quoting.]

My comments follow the sequence of points as presented in Mr. Rufai's article as much as possible. However, they mostly reflect the information provided to the American public by our media.

To begin, it should be very carefully noted that the major players in the spying operation were Britain, Israel and the U.S., and it is Britain and the U.S. that monitor the no-fly zones over Iraq, which cover a good two-thirds of Iraq and have been in operation since the Gulf War. U.S. planes monitoring the northern no-fly zone originate from Turkey, and for the southern no-fly zone from ships in the Mediterranean, Persian Gulf and the Red Sea. With such lengthy and close surveillance any "weapons of mass destruction" must have already been located, if there were any. Add to this the U.N. sanctions against Iraq since the Gulf War, which sanctions financially crippled the country, and you realize that Iraq has been effectively prevented from rebuilding any large military or stockpile of weapons of mass destruction. Yet this excuse, among others, has been presented to the American people by our government and the controlled media in order to justify our presence in the Persian Gulf. We are wasting our money, resources and lives—for what, and for whom?

It would also be well to remember here that the monarchy of Great Britain identifies itself with the Jewish-controlled secret society of Freemasonry and with the people of Israel. The British-Israel movement is trying to sell the idea that the seedline of the ruling house are distant descendents of Israel's former King David. This is also the monarchy with relatives still claiming to be King of Jerusalem since the time of the Crusades. It is also the monarchy with high administrative positions in the International Monetary Fund, the environmental movement, and plans for the "New World Order" within the Club of Rome, vital parts of the functioning of the World Government Federation, which is planned to take-over the U.N. and government of the world. It should also be noted that while our Congress is pressured into voting ever larger sums to the International Monetary Fund (IMF) to "bail out the bankers", we do not pay our fees to the U.N. So—who is really "calling the shots"?

In regards to the U.N. inspectors spying on Iraq: The American people were propagandized with the old political refrain that we were "supporting and upholding the U.N. sanctions against Iraq". The U.N. is, or was, supposed to be an impartial representative of all people. If, while one pretends to be looking for "weapons of mass destruction and germ warfare" one is in fact giving their greatest energy to spying on the leaders of the country for other reasons, then it certainly cannot be considered a neutral or impartial operation, much less one of integrity or one tending to lead to world peace or world safety.

However, again, with a possible shred of intent to support the U.N. sanctions against Iraq, even this bare cover-up disappears when President Clinton, upon information from his National Security Advisor, Mr. Freeh, who was said to be monitoring the meeting of Mr. Kofi Annan with the U.N. Security Council, sitting at the time trying to decide what to do about Iraq's reported lack of cooperation with the U.N. Inspection Team under Richard Butler, usurps their authority and gives the order for U.S. ships in the Persian Gulf to bomb Iraq. The reaction by Kofi Annan, Russia, France and China was clear. Clinton and his "National Security Advisors" do not now enjoy the support of the majority of the U.N. Security Council. The leaders of this country have definitely taken their own direction together with Britain, Turkey, and Israel. We are in fact, not supporting the U.N. or its decisions, while wanting the world to think we are. Notably, Mr. Richard Butler is an Australian, and therefore part of the British Commonwealth of Nations.

Now, according to Dan Rather on CBS Evening News of 1/4/99, we "own" the no-fly space over Iraq. How come? More propaganda? Or are Americans being prepared for the total takeover of Iraq and to what purpose? Who really benefits from all of this? One could start by listing British interests in oil-rich Kuwait, which territory is a former part of Iraq and an issue in the Gulf War. Are we totally defending British interests? Well, not quite. There are Turkish interests in northern Iraq which were reported in a short news release not long ago. The Turks invaded northern Iraq and were fighting the Kurds there; they also spilled over into northern Syria, which also has Kurds. Is the Iraqi northern no-fly zone really "protecting the Kurds" or is this also propaganda? Further, Israel's old belief that God intended to give them all of the land between Egypt and the Euphrates River, according to biblical accounts, comes to mind. The Euphrates River runs through Iraq! Could this Gulf War be part of a larger and ancient Israeli plan to effectively secure the land of this so-called "covenant" of "God", which would bring devastating harm and loss to His other children? These questions must be asked because, in my opinion, events are surely moving in the direction of an ever-expanding confrontation in the Middle East.

The actions of Israel pertaining to Palestinian lands easily prove to the rest of the area that Israel's aggression onto neighboring land involves taking "ownership" of the land. The most recent example of this is, again, Prime Minister Netanyahu's approval for Israelis to settle more disputed land in East Jerusalem, which action again put the "peace for land" agreements with the Palestinians on hold. To be sure, there are Israelis who want to live in peace with the Palestinians. However, peace activists protesting at the development site in East Jerusalem were summarily dealt with by the police. President Clinton's trip to Israel did nothing to change, correct or stop Netanyahu's wrecking of the peace process. Clinton's most notable media event in Jerusalem was his and his wife's trip to the grave of assassinated former Prime Minister of Israel, Yitzhak Rabin, who was killed upon his return to Jerusalem following an earlier "peace talk". In retrospect one wonders if Clinton was more worried about his own possible assassination than in insisting that justice in Israel go along with all of America's support of that nation.

What about "protecting the neighbors from Iraq's chemical and biological weapons", is that too propaganda? It is possible that Iraq still retains some of these weapons which they received from the United States during the time when we were supporting their war against Iran. I do not know. However, according to a former military general who led the Desert Storm War, and who appeared on CBS Evening News with Dan Rather shortly after the four-day bombing of Iraq ordered by President Clinton, who was asked but said he could not explain the present military action, because in the former military action all precautions had been taken to insure that if they bombed a chemical or biological weapons site that the spores from the biological weapons would not live. They purposely bombed during daylight hours to insure the hottest temperatures, and they used heat-penetrating bombs to kill the spores. He could not explain the recent nighttime bombing with conventional missiles! So—we know that the recent four-day military strike against Iraq was not about concern over the effect of biological weapons on the citizens of Iraq, or the destruction of same. In fact, a Pentagon official reported on CBS Evening News a day or so after the four-day attack that the operation had secured no military advantages whatsoever. It is interesting that an editorial report by Ramadan Mubarak in the 1/5/99 issue of The Final Call newspaper tells about the loophole in the Chemical Weapons Convention treaty of 1997 whereby the United States is allowed to veto inspections at suspected sites and bar inspectors from taking soil or other types of samples from U.S. chemical facilities out of the country. According to Mr. Mubarak, "what is good for the goose is good for the gander." Others could follow this "double dealing" as well.

In spite of General Zinni's recent apology on CBS-TV for killing civilians during return fire on an Iraqi military installation, we know that killing civilians was not his consideration during the four-day bombing of Baghdad. Civilian targets were hit and no apologies were offered. If there had been any germ-warfare weapons hit in the area, the entire city and its population could have been lost.

So what is left of the stated "U.S." and British purposes in Iraq? Well—there are the so-called reported "documents" on Saddam's military establishment—documents the Iraqi government states they have already turned over to the U.N. And who needs "documents" when there has been such tight surveillance of another sort? But then, are we talking about "military" documents, or perhaps some other kind of documents of a more personal and individual concern, not something appropriate for the military action of a large country such as the United States and its "allies"? According to Hatonn, a real source of perturbation are documents held by Saddam about George W. Bush's handling of Savings & Loan scandals in the U.S.—documents which could prove the involvement of Bush and others. And then, there are the ancient stone Sumerian Seals held by Iraq, which just might knock a big hole in Israel's claim to be the "chosen people", as well as their biblical "history". The documents, of both sorts, may very well be more threatening to the would-be leaders of the world than anything else. Hopefully, evidence of the Truth will surface sometime in the near future. Nothing can be hidden forever. Are the documents the real reason why "Saddam must go"? A very personal reason in fact, and not one which in past times would call out the forces presently arrayed against him.

Does this mean that Clinton has committed U.S. troops to war for personal reasons, blackmail or death threats perhaps? I really don't know. It is certain that someone or someones are controlling "Mr. Clinton". How is that? There is one way everyone in the United States and mostly elsewhere can prove to their own satisfaction—that there is more than one "Mr. Clinton"! Take a good look at the face on that videotape of "Mr. Clinton's" testimony before the grand jury about his affair with Monica Lewinsky. Notice, the hair is a kind of blond, and the hairline directly above the forehead is straight. Now take a good look at any other photo of him, and note the discrepancies in the hair and hairline. We either are seeing a look-alike or a robotoid.

The implications of this information are staggering. Who was the fellow giving sworn testimony to a grand jury and acting as if he were Mr. Clinton? Or is the more generally observed one the actor? Or are there more? Which "Mr. Clinton" should be impeached? It would appear that the Congressional investigation of Mr. Clinton's testimony leaves a great deal to be desired. Why? (The early copies of the video tape should provide the best proof; any later copies or TV reports can easily be doctored to look more like the generally observed "Mr. Clinton".)

The Final Call newspaper can be obtained at 734 West 79th St., Chicago, IL 60620. It is a forum for the Nation of Islam and Minister Louis Farrakhan. However, it has close ties to the Arab and African world and also reports on news from them. I believe the view of the Arabs and Africans will have an affect on what happens in the Middle East and our understanding of it.

Time magazine, 1/18/99 issue, has an article written by Bruce W. Nelan, using reports from William Dowell/U.N., Mark Thompson and Douglas Waller/Washington, which confirms most of Ahmad Rufai's report quoted at the beginning of my article. However, the report in Time gives the entire affair a different slant. Its title is "Bugging Saddam", with headline reading: "Sure we did it, says the U.S., but only to help the U.N. dig out Iraq's most horrible weapons." In my view, the world will surely judge our actions and find us very wanting in the integrity and credibility departments. It is one thing to be on a spying mission, it is another to pretend to be representing a world body such as the U.N. while you do it. No one trusts your so-called, "peacekeeping" after that.

The actual role of the U.N. in all of this is not very clear, and a report from Kofi Annan is not likely at this point.

What About Y2K?

Editor's note: We have been holding this gem for an appropriate space slot. Always remember that NOTHING happens by accident!

12/10/98 DR. JOHN COLEMAN, W.I.R.

The debates and dire portends are flying thick and fast as the year 2000 approaches with consequences being forecast, which if they come to pass, are likely to bring the whole world to a stop as the year 2000 is ushered in. I have read no less than forty different versions of what we can expect as mainframe computers go off line and just about everything from parking to banking gets all tangled up.

With so many experts in computers swearing an oath that the "oversight" by computer manufacturers and program writers in not allowing for the abbreviation "00" will play havoc with everything but the kitchen sink, I began to ask a lot of questions and to query some of the responses I got.

Let's go to the opposite end of the spectrum. Those of you who have read my book, The Committee of 300 will know that there is a super-corporate structure controlling virtually everything that happens. Now we are supposed to believe that this elite group, with the best brains in the world, are so dumb that they were unable to see that all of their computer systems around the world would go belly-up as the year 2000 dawns?

The Bilderbergers are one of the executive arms of the "300". It has top-secret conclaves annually, at which security is so tight that not even fleas on a dog could get inside. Every year we have a certain newspaper writing speculative accounts of what went on at those secret meetings. They speculate who the Bilderbergers at the meeting were, and what they were doing. I have a list of the current and some past Bilderbergers. I also have a list of their banks. I have not seen such a list published. I can tell you, the Bilderbergers are a pretty awesome lot. Am I to believe that these men are also utterly stupid in plotting and planning for events beyond 2000—events, which much of the time they actually create? And with the huge resources at its disposal, Bilderbergers didn't see a problem with 2000? I don't think so.

We must, therefore, ask ourselves these questions: "If y2k is an overstatement, an exaggeration, or mere speculation, what is the purpose? And is it part of the great conspiracy, and if so, what is hoped for, and how will the plot be carried out? These questions are examined in the following pages and response given, based on secret reports from the Club of Rome to the Bilderbergers. I don't know for sure, but my report may just be the first one in America which has the secret identities of Bilderbergers, and their bankers, and my copy-report is the only one in private hands in the United States.

To me the whole 2000 scare looks suspiciously like the work of the Tavistock Institute. This is just the sort of project the Tavistock planners would love to promote. Tavistock is fresh in my mind as I witness how its long-range-inner-directional conditioning worked so dramatically ever since the Whitewater-Flowers-Paula Jones-Monica Lewinsky scandals broke over Mr. Clinton. We have seen how Mr. Clinton is credited with being clever enough to turn his situation around from disaster to advantage. We have seen how the ends of justice have been defeated. And they ARE DEFEATED, although this is not yet apparent to the American conservative movement.

This apparent miracle for which Mr. Clinton is given credit is not his work at all. It is the work of the Tavistock Institute which has provided the scripts and the answers for every predicament into which Mr. Clinton has fallen. It is not Mr. Kendall and Paul Begala who deserve credit for the successful way Mr. Clinton has threaded a pathway through the minefields in which he placed himself. I am in a position to know these things simply because I know precisely how Tavistock works. I am the only private individual who has one of their training manuals. This enabled me to say from the very beginning of Mr. Clinton's troubles that he would survive them all and remain in office for the rest of his term.

Again, in my opinion, the furor over y2k looks and sounds suspiciously like the work of the Tavistock brainwashers, whose specialists demonstrated just how good they are at mass brainwashing by turning every single one of Mr. Clinton's problems around, thereby creating the "Comeback Kid" legend. My opinion is bolstered by some information I was able to "acquire" which points in the direction of y2k being a project of the New World Order inside a One World Government.

Let us examine the goal of the One World Government. Simply put, it is to exercise control over a world bereft of national borders and cultures, where pride of face and pride of place will give way to a polyglot mob of disoriented people who no longer know or care about who they are and where they are headed. Evidence of this abounds and is all around us. The U.S. Immigration Reform Act of 1965 is one instrument being used to implement the ideal. The Education Act of 1980 is another example of how the face of the United States is being altered forever. Add abortion and gun control legislation and you will begin to get the picture. The United States in the year 2080 will be so radically different from what it was in 1900 as to make one weep. The European Union or "Common Market" is but a step in the direction of eradicating nations and countries.

In 1986 there was an exchange of ideas between the Club of Rome and the Bilderbergers. What was being explored were ways of hastening the advent of the New World Order. Within these two organs of the Committee there was general discussion about how to push the One World Government timetable forward. Several possible scenarios were discussed, some workable, and others not.

What was being sought was not the gradualism which, almost unnoticed by the American people, has overcome them, but some catastrophic prediction to which a firm date could be assigned.

According to my information, the Bilderbergers were charged with the responsibility of coming up with a workable plan in which the recalcitrants of the world could be brought to heel. This would involve governments, private sector companies, banks, government departments and a massive propaganda drive devised by Tavistock to popularize the project. Spreading confusion seems to be one of the themes of the paper, while another aspect deemed useful was to accelerate existing plans "to unify banking and bring smaller, independent banks to a position where they could be more readily absorbed by the major banks".

We know from what has been mentioned by the press that banks, especially smaller banks, are expected to be hard hit by y2k confusion. Does this fit in with the Club of Rome-Bilderberger conspiracy? "What we must emphasize," says the Club of Rome memo, "is a situation where a series of problems will come to the fore at more or less the same time. These events would have the effect of demoralizing certain groups whom we know to be troublesome and highly critical of our efforts to unify the world. Unfortunately, these actions will also affect many who are our friends. It is a case of the rain falling on the just and the unjust."

Reading the many accounts of what "experts" predict will be the result of y2k, is that in a remarkable way, most writers emphasize that while big banks, big government departments will be only slightly affected, it is the small businesses, banks and companies who will suffer the most. Does this not perhaps tie in with what the Club of Rome-Bilderbergers would like to see happen? Would the y2k crisis, if it materializes in a serious way, demoralize such groups? Could anti-government persons be selected as targets for y2k, and their businesses disrupted by what might appear to be the year 2000 bug?

TELEPHONE HOTLINE 805-822-0202

As an adjunct to CONTACT, the Telephone Hotline keeps you as informed as possible on current events and other important information that needs to get to our subscribers before our publishing date.

The message machine will answer after 2 rings if there are any new messages for that day, and after 4 rings if not. Thus daily callers can hang up after 2 rings and save toll charges if no new message has been recorded. If the Hotline does not answer your call, then there is currently no Hotline message.
